CUTTER RACES TO DISTRESSED TUG

Coast Guard Vessel Leaves Seattle to Answer to Roosevelt's Call For Aid

SEATTLE, Dec. 23 (AP)—Distress calls from the tug Roosevelt, which was fighting mountainous seas together with the schooner Commodore in a gale off Cape Henry to-night, sent the coast guard cutter Snohomish in a 70-mile race to its aid.

The call for aid, picked up here at 3:30 P. M. by the harbor radio, said the sturdy little tug, on which Admiral Peary made a trip into the Arctic when he discovered the North Pole, was shipping water. The tug was an hour and a half, nothing more was heard from the tug. Meanwhile the Snohomish, stationed at Port Angeles, had been lying ready all day to go to the aid of either the Commodore or the Roosevelt, if the tug was in danger.

With steam up in preparation, the Snohomish put to sea at 5:35 P. M. when nothing further was heard from the Roosevelt, the coast guard here reported. The Roosevelt and the Commodore, which has just completed a successful race from Hawaii to Puget Sound, had been battling bad weather all day.

Captain B. N. A. Krasa, anxious to reach port with his crew by Christmas and to collect a better wage, had been ordered to return to Seattle by the Coast Guard.

DEMAND FOR IDAHO'S POTATOS DIMINISHES

Idaho shipments for the week ending Dec. 23 are estimated at 10,000 cars this week, however.

Anticipating an improvement in the market and preparing for brisker trading after the holidays, operators have shown no disposition to force heavy loadings in the face of the present unfavorable situation, the review says.

It is stated that tariffs for new freight rates from Idaho Falls and Utah points to points east of the Illinois-Missouri line are now in the hands of printers has been received here. These new rates should show a reduction of 10 to 20 cents per hundredweight to most points in official classification territory and become effective 30 days after being printed.

German in Boise Recalls Shellfire Of War at Capital Legion Meeting

Cleaning Shop Employee Tells of Fierce Battles and Retreat After Yanks' Drive

(By The Associated Press) BOISE, Dec. 23—Back in 1918, an American officer and a German soldier faced each other across a mine field of shell-torn ground, each a handful of the other's presence. A shell came along and sent the American to the hospital. The German retreated under heavy shellfire. At a weekly meeting of the post of the American Legion, Lester P. Albert, state adjutant, and Martin Blumenthal, one-time German corporal, met, shook hands and were glad they had not met on the former occasion. Albert now lives in the States and Blumenthal in Germany. Blumenthal, now an employee of a local cleaning shop, told the Legion his story of fighting first on the Russian front, then the Rumanian and Western fronts. A youngster of 17 at the time he was inducted into service, Blumenthal was barely 18 when he was thrust into the battle of Amiens in April.

It was a fierce battle, he said, but the Germans finally penetrated the little village of Arrertrieres where they fought up all the chickens left by the fleeing residents and planned a meal that would make up for several they had not had in the past several days. When the first fire was burning in many abandoned dwellings as the German soldiers began cooking the chickens. But the appearance of the smoke from the chimneys was the signal for a heavy artillery fire which quickly drove the German troops back.

"It was awfully funny to see those half-cooked chickens dangling from packs of the soldiers as they ran from the town," Blumenthal said. Many did not return, he said.

Taken Prisoner He escaped without harm and later was moved over to the Chateau army front facing a regiment of Scotsmen. They exchanged "complimentary" rides for a few days and then in came the well-mounted Americans. The retreat began. British and American troops pressed them back to the Oise river. Before

CREAM SEPARATORS GET ADJUSTMENT AT BURLEY

BURLEY, Dec. 23 (Special to The News)—Cream separator testing done by several Cassia county agencies acting in cooperation, in a campaign held early in the year, showed that 52 per cent of the machines test-being lost too much cream. Samples of separated milk were taken from 122 separators and analyzed. Some of the milk was very poor, some by hand. Testing was done by the Mini-Casella Dairymen's Association, Inc. of Chicago, Ill., lubricating and taking up the testings. But, adjusting of faulty machines was done by repairmen of the separator manufacturing companies and by County Agent W. W. Palmer and the county agent of Wisconsin. He said the data and faured reports to the farmers and dairymen whose machines were tested.

Causes of loss of butterfat, by it not being recovered from the whole milk, were attributed to the following: separators, worn spindles, broken and loose discs, too slow revolutions of the separator, too much cream in the amount of milk, irregularity in feeding, and vibrating machines.

The greatest loss of butterfat by one farmer whose yearly loss was $108, based on an average production of 20 gallons of milk per day, the total value of lost butterfat, for the 122 separators, which could have been prevented, he proposed.

SPIRIT OF YULETIDE MOVES COMMUNITY ON CHRISTMAS EVE

Gay Decorations, Charitable Work and Preparation For Religious Services Mark Approach of Nativity

Twin Falls never showed more evidence of the Christmas spirit, both in regard to festive decorations, plans for religious observance and organization to meet the requirements of the need than it has upon the present occasion. Stores will be open to customers tonight.

Places of business have all decorated for the occasion and have been filled with buyers who, while more conservative in amounts purchased than on the eve of some previous anniversary of the Nativity, have been large in the aggregate. Street decorations are artistic, Christmas trees in the windows and lawns of private homes give a Yuletide air to the residential part of the city. Tonight when the joint committee of the Twentieth Century club and the Red Knights go forth to award prizes, there will be many donations to complete the Twentieth Century club illuminated tree in the courthouse lawn, has attracted much attention.

The Associated Charities organization is preparing on a larger scale than ever before to take care of needy and aged people. The Christmas comes into the home on the anniversary of the day on which Mary bore her first-born child, Jesus, by birth in a stable to which a large amount of labor on earth. ISOLATED SCHOOL DISTRICT PASSES

Petitioners Propose Annexation of Soldier Creek's 612-Mile-Square Area

Soldier Creek school district, comprising four and one-half townships, 160 square miles, of largely mountainous country at the corner of Twin Falls county, Idaho, is isolated nearly two years ago because it lacked fire persons to maintain the law requires to maintain a school district.

The district, with approximately 100000 property values, has no school population, but 10 of its electors have joined with electors of the surrounding school districts in petitioning for annexation of the Soldier Creek district to the Rogerson district.

The petition was presented this week to Twin Falls county commissioners who set January 11 for hearing on the petition. At that time the commissioners may fix a date for election on the proposed annexation, in both districts. The proceedings probably will occupy three months' time.

During years when school sessions were held in Soldier Creek district, terms of the school were held in the winter months because of pupils' difficulty in traveling long distances to attend school in the winter season.
