Bambino Breaks Silence to Voice Views On Salary

No Doubt Remains, However, As to Colonel Ruppert's Decision to Ask "Babe" to Accept Less Money

By EDWARD J. NEIL (Associated Press Special Writer)

New York, Jan. 6.—"Babe" Ruth, "The Babe," broke his silence today on the matter of a new contract with the New York Yankees, and his words will scarcely reassure Colonel J. G. Taylor, Jr., or any other baseball official advocating the policy of reduced wages. "The Babe" flatly declared he wants a two-year contract with the Yanks at $80,000 per annum, the same price the colonel has been paying for him since he was first acquired and turn-out appeal through the past two seasons. "Last season was one of the best ever had," said "Babe," "and I am bundled in blankets in McCovey's gymnasium, resting after his first workout in preparation for the 1932 campaign. "I see no reason why I should take any less for the coming year than I am getting. "But I don't think that I have any trouble getting together. We've been so long together that I don't think I've given the salary matter much thought. I don't expect to see the colonel before he goes south for the first week in February. We'll get together then all right. We always have."

Three knockouts, one popular draw and one decision that was not to popularly substantiate results of a five-bout boxing card at the Legion Memorial building here last night. The first was by knockout, a pull one of the most satisfactory boxing shows from the "customer" viewpoint, at least—that the American Legion here had ever staged. Jimmie Ducey, Hamilton, 141st, put Glut Haynes, Kimberly, down for the first time in the third round of an scheduled six-round main event. The result brought rapture for Ducey who was hand crossed to draw with Haynes in their first meeting here a month ago. Jimmie was a general forward trend, winning and agile while waiting his opportunity to lose the dynamite he carried about his head. He proved himself to be a savage, and aggressive fighter, but Jimmie's carefully timed set placed punches caused him to go down and taking a count that had reached four when the going ended the second round. Haynes, who had led the third round opened, but he left himself open again and Jimmie landed a blow at his head and a draw. Haynes, 141st, 140, and Put Kopp, Hansen, 151, fought to a draw in the four-round main event. Haynes, who had been badly hurt by Kopp and now looking away from the fight, was knocked out in the first round. Kopp, who was a first-rate fighter, was defeated in the first round. Kopp, who was a first-rate fighter, was defeated in the first round.

Congressional Speed-On-Relief Measure and German Progress Play Part

BY JOHN L. COOLEY

(Associated Press Financial Writer) NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Security markets today promptly reflected the better feeling created by the speed with which the House has agreed to handle reconstruction legislation and by reports that progress was being made abroad toward an extension of Germany's reparations payments. An average advance of 4 points in stocks and a strong bond market were the chief features of the day's trading. Wall Street's willingness to be cheerful when it feels there is any prospect of relief from the depression, midweek trade news, including the drop in car loadings and further evidence of a steady recovery in pig-iron, were regarded as less important than the progress which seemed to be under way in other fields. The stock market was relatively quiet, but received only minor checks from profit-taking on the way up and closed strong at the day's best. Net gains ranged from 1 to 1 1/2 points in the major averages, the average rise was the best since December 18. Transfers totaled 1,412,500 shares.

Banquiers here described as premature a report that a German curatorium had been actually reached. Although it was indicated that the curatorium would be an immediate extension of time for the payment of reparations, it was viewed as a step toward a settlement that was being placed slowly. Rumors of firmer copper prices were heard, although it was pointed out that the curatorial schedule can have little appreciable effect on existing surplus stocks of yellow and other metals. A number of prominent stocks, including American Tobacco, Consolidated Gas, Westinghouse, American Cattle, American Tobacco B, Western Union, and International Paper, Pacific, closed with 3 to 4-point advances. American Telephone was up 1/2 point. Chemical, 3/4 and Santa Fe, 1/2 point. Auburn finished a down point higher.

GROWERS DIVIDE ON GRADE CHANGES

Twin Falls District Apple Producers Record Sentiment On Seven Questions

Discussion preceding a vote recorded by Twin Falls district apple growers at a meeting held at the hotel here, indicated that the bulk here on proposed changes in Idaho apple grades was evenly divided. The vote will not possibly affect the growers on the same proportionally by fruit growers throughout the state. The vote is to be canvassed, and the result announced at a meeting of Idaho fruit growers to be held in Boise, January 12.

The purpose of the vote, according to F. Lee Johnson, Idaho commissioner of agriculture, who attended the meeting here last evening, is to give Idaho growers the grades they want.

Proposed changes, which are reported to have been suggested by Western Idaho growers at a state-wide meeting in Boise, December 11, would bring Idaho grades into closer conformity with those of other states. Washington, on account of its larger production, controls the Northwest apple market. It was argued, Idaho growers might benefit by adopting similar grades.

George E. White, delegate from the Twin Falls district, reported last evening on the meeting in Boise last month. He is to be in charge of the vote on the proposed change in grades to be canvassed.

Twin Falls district apple growers attended the meeting here last evening which was held in the hotel here. The meeting was supervised for the state department of agriculture, at 409 Shoshone street, Boise, Idaho, by W. E. Johnson.

ROTARY CLUB HEARS DEAN KIDGINS' VIEWS

Dean E. J. Kidgins of the University of Idaho college of agriculture, addressing Twin Falls Rotary club members at a meeting held at the hotel here yesterday at which he was a guest, told of conditions reached by a recent conference in Chicago on land utilization problems. Dean Kidgins gave it as his conviction that the best solution is to be found in "marginal" lands which cannot be farmed. He stressed the fact that many states are being returned to public ownership.

Kidgins' main message up the road that it will have a great effect on the situation for his reclamation projects in the future. Dean Kidgins said he was interested in a project of reclamation projects where it can be shown that farming can be carried on profitably with the use of supplemental water supply or subsidence of irrigation canals.

Thirty-four Twin Falls municipal employees assigned 3 per cent of the amount of their December pay checks toward the assessment for Twin Falls Associated Charities relief activities. The assessment totaled $131.82. It was taken from checks ranging from $15 to $250.

Under an agreement recently reached between the city council and a committee representing the charitable relief activities, the assessment on municipal employees was to continue for three months.

JURY GIVES BARBERTS VERDICT OF ACQUITTAL

A jury in probate court here yesterday found J. A. Barbert and Leon Barbert not guilty of a misdemeanor charge of defrauding in farm products without an Idaho license. Complaint in the case was signed by C. O. Fargo, Twin Falls orchard owner. The complaint alleged commission of the alleged offense last September 30. Evidence at trial yesterday showed that the Barberts entered into an agreement with C. O. Fargo, son of the complaining witness. Under the agreement the Barberts were to sell the Fargo apples and were to divide with the Fargo one-half of the sale price over an extra 10-cent allowance above the Barberts sold some of the Fargo apples in Nevada.

MARKETING OF IDAHO POTATOES INCREASES

IDAHO FALLS, Jan. 6 (AP)—Marketing of Idaho potatoes increased with the beginning of the new year, the weekly review of R. O. Fisher, director of the bureau of agricultural economics, said today. Weather conditions are restricting buying operations to some extent.

While present offerings are better in quality than early in the season, the review says, there has been an increasing accumulation of them in growers' hands. Some of this stock has been used for feeding purposes and has been removed from the market.

SHIPMENTS GAIN
BOISE, Jan. 6 (AP)—Idaho's potato shipments increased markedly in December over the month previous, a report of car inspections made by the department of agriculture indicated.

In December, 188 carloads were inspected compared with 173 in the preceding month. In addition, 44 carloads of apples, 49 carloads of onions, two of fruits and vegetables, and one each of celery and lettuce were inspected and shipped.

DEATH MARKS HEARING IN CONSOLIDATION CASE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—A death tolling marked the opening of the interstate commerce commission's hearings in the Eastern railroad consolidation case, bringing to a close the life of Louis E. Jeffries, vice president and general counsel of the Southern railway.

Appearing in order to oppose to the bill and the effort to take the Monon railway from the Southern and the Louisville and Nashville and assign it to the Baltimore and Ohio, Jeffries had just concluded a cross-examination of Daniel Willard, president of the Alliance and Ohio.

As he started to sit down he was "gagged" and "collapsed." A physician and the police officers present were called out after working over him a half an hour, they pronounced him dead.

AGED MAN REPRESENTS SELF AS 'JESSE' JAMES

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 6 (AP)—An aged man who claimed to be "one and only Jesse James, notorious outlaw of many years ago, visited Governor Henry G. Caulfield this afternoon and asked him for "complete freedom."

A delegation of Excelsior Springs citizens, who said they were inclined to believe the man is the "original" Jesse James, appeared with him. Among them were Mayor Fred F. Hugel and Chief of Police William A. Payne. Payne, a boy, related that he viewed the body of the man killed in St. Joseph, Missouri, by Bob Ford, and did not believe it was that of the outlaw.

The claimant who said he was almost 90 years old, told Governor Caulfield he had been "just wandering" for about 40 years.

The man killed by Ford, the aged man said, was Tom Howard. He himself, he said, went under the name of Charley Howard.

Governor Caulfield told the old man that before he could grant him "complete freedom," he must have sufficient proof of his identity. The governor said there was no such proof at present.

PENNSYLVANIA JOBLESS MARCH ON WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—In a cold, drizzling rain, thousands of Pennsylvania's unemployed tramped into the national capital tonight to demand relief from congress tomorrow.

"Tonight they probably was to find a place to sleep and something to eat," they had expected to spend the night in Gettysburg. Notice of the sudden change in plans had barely reached here before the 12,000 to 14,000 marchers were straggling in. Most of the heavy police guard that greeted the earlier march of unemployed on congress last month was in evidence; only a few officers were in the van.

Officials were in a mad whirl of search for food and billets for the unsuspected guests.
