Historian Paints George Washington As Scientific Farmer

RECORDS INDICATE FIRST PRESIDENT ENJOYED FARMING

History Shows Generalship and Presidency as Side Issues to Father of Nation

WRITER POINTS TO VAST REAL ESTATE HOLDINGS

Clements Reveals Examples of Painstaking Experimentation to Help Crops

(Whatever Washington might advise in the present agricultural situation, his "deeds" in farming would make him sympathetic. A noted historian here tells of farming—and of real estate—through both of which Washington made much money—Editor)

Dr. Randolph G. Adams, Director of William L. Clements Library, American University at Washington, Mich., Feb. 27—George Washington was a scientific farmer and a successful real estate man. He gave 10 of the best years of his life to serve as commander in chief of the armies and as President of the United States, but nevertheless built an estate which would be valued at several million dollars.

If ever it could be said of a man that he went and he did the same thing, that can be said of George Washington as a farmer. In 1783, between the Revolutionary war and the presidency, he wrote to a friend: "The more I am conversant with the details of the affair, the better I am pleased with them."

RUPERT'S POTATO MEN STUDY TUBER OUTLOOK

RUPERT, Feb. 27 (Special to The News)—Minidoka county potato growers, numbering 50 by exact count, attended a potato outlook meeting called by County Agent Buford E. Kubisa at the courthouse here Thursday afternoon. E. E. Drobish, secretary of the Northwest potato committee; E. R. Bennett, state potato specialist; and Johnson, state commissioner of agriculture, were present.

Secretary Drobish confined his remarks to a general outlook, advising the result of the survey of potatoes throughout the country and advising the growers to watch for the survey that will come out in March. Potato grading and shipping regulations were topics discussed by Commissioner Johnson.

REVEALS HOW TO GET THE MOST OUT OF THE SOIL

There are numerous examples of this painstaking experimentation. Farmer George Washington was forever anxious to learn to find out how to get the most out of the soil, by fertilizing, by inventing new plows, by inventing a seed drill, by rotating crops, by experimenting with alfalfa long before it came in general use in America, and by constant personal supervision of his overseers and slaves. Washington's interest in real estate was manifested. Especially

"I think... that the life of a husbandman is the most delightful. It is honorable, it is amusing and with judicious management it is profitable."

Despite a revolution which took him from Mount Vernon to a public career as leader of the colonists' armies and the nation's first president, George Washington found time to tend vast estates and to pioneer work in scientific farming. When he died his holdings totaled 60,000 acres.

A farmer, he required more land to plant the acres exhausted by the crops.

In 1748, George Washington, civil engineer, acquired 800 acres in the back country of Virginia. Two years later, when he was only 18 years old, he bought 400 acres more.

In 1749, at the age of 19, he was in 1780, at the height of his military career, he was paid in full the sum of $100,000 for his land in the Ohio Valley.

After the Revolution he furnished ready cash to his veterans and took over 2000 acres of land, the present location of Cincinnati.

When he died Washington owned 60,000 acres of real estate. Located variously in the modern states of Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, New York, Kentucky, Ohio and District of Columbia.

"In including these facts I am led to reflect how much more delightful to the uneducated mind is the task of making improvements on the earth than all the vain glory that can be acquired from ravaging it, by the most unscrupulous career of conquest."

"I think you," Washington wrote, "that the life of a husbandman is the most delightful. It is honorable, it is amusing, and with judicious management it is profitable."

"To see plants rise from the earth and flourish by the superior skill and bounty of the laborer fills a contemplative mind with ideas which are more easy to be conceived than expressed."

Two dominant attributes were largely responsible for Washington's success as a farmer—prodigious personal physical strength and unflagging interest in agricultural research. The books on agriculture in his library were among his favorites.

Scientific Worker

"Think of the man who won the Revolution not as a hero of battles, but as a farmer establishing his own agricultural experiment station. Think of him constructing a large shallow tray, carefully boxed off into separate compartments into which he placed different mixtures of soil."

Into each compartment he planted the same number of the same kind of seeds. Then in three weeks time, he would inspect his miniature seed beds and carefully record the growth of the plants.

There are numerous examples of this painstaking experimentation. Farmer George Washington was forever anxious to learn to find out how to get the most out of the soil, by fertilizing, by inventing new plows, by inventing a seed drill, by rotating crops, by experimenting with alfalfa long before it came in general use in America, and by constant personal supervision of his overseers and slaves. U. S. Veterans met at a paper on Missions in Korea. It was announced that the Presbyterian would meet in the next week. The entire division was held following this meeting. Mrs. E. M. Cline presided. The nominating committee reported, and the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. E. M. Cline; missionary, Mrs. C. L. Barclay; secretary, Mrs. G. L. Stephenson. Those officers resume their duties April 1. Other officers will be appointed. The Aid division will meet next with Mrs. George Goodwin as hostess. A social will be given.

The women voted to serve a covered-dish dinner at the church at the next congregational meeting. Mrs. R. Blocker announced the district meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union to be held Saturday, March 28, at the church. Tuesday, March 1.

Methodist Ladies Aid society met in three sessions. Mrs. L. A. Huston had charge of the meeting held at the home of Mrs. Lee Dewey, while Mrs. J. G. Jensen, Mrs. Leo Robinson had charge of devotionals. Plans were made for the Easter bazaar to be held Saturday, March 28. Mrs. Dewey was assisted by Mrs. George Peacock in serving dinner refreshments.

Mrs. Roy Penter had charge of the meeting held at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Dunn, with Mrs. George Lytle as the speaker. Mrs. Martin Moore led in devotion and gave a talk on the life of Washington. Plans were made for serving a dinner on March 3 in the church dining room. Mrs. Penter retained as chairman and her place was filled by Mrs. Martin Moore. Mrs. George Lytle was chosen secretary. Mrs. W. Brown was selected assistant. At the close of the meeting tea was served by the hostesses.

The Third division met at the home of Mrs. M. B. Berg with Mrs. Henry Hagman presiding. The division voted to serve the banquet for the business women when they have their public-relations meeting March 10. Two new members were received. A social hour with tea followed the business.

Rebekahs held a social meeting at the Old Fellows hall Thursday evening. Their husbands served a banquet. There were about 75 in attendance and an enjoyable evening was spent. Roy Penter gave a humorous address and Mac Hull furnished musical numbers. The friendship quilt made by the women was presented to the association by Mrs. J. B. Stewart had charge of the

There's nothing old to which you can compare The new SUNBEAM WARM-AIR FURNACES

New design—new construction—new features—the New Sunbeam has every modern improvement that experienced heating engineers could suggest. Comparisons are difficult, so far in advance of old furnace-building standards, it is amazingly better product.

For one thing, all the objectionable joints have been eliminated. You'll never find a cleaner heating system. And special attention has been given to fuel consumption. A Smoke-Consuming Fire Heat Converter converts the smoke and gases given off by the burning fuel into valuable heat. They no longer escape up the chimney to be wasted.

In addition, there are a score of other modern features heard of only a short time past. They have elevated the standards of home-heating in a revolutionary fashion.

The Sunbeam Heating System does more than heat. By providing ventilation and moistening the air you breathe, it gives you the healthiest and most comfortable kind of warmth.

A reasonable down payment installs this modern heating system in your home. Buy the financing in regular installments. The advantage of these terms to replace out-of-date, fuel-wasting, under-size heating plants. Consult your dealer for full particulars.

2 Reasons WHY Goodyear...is the... LEADING TIRE

The famous Goodyear all-weather tread is superior in traction. Note how the deep-cut, tight-gripping blocks press the palm of the hand on this tread and feel how the blocks grip and pinch the flesh. This illustrates the all-weather tread's high-fast action on pavement or road.

The patented Goodyear superwrist cord carcass is superior in vitality and long life. Under continued flexing or sudden road-shock, where ordinary cords fatigue or snap the extra-elastic superwrist cords stretch and recover like rubber bands. Ask us to show you our cord-testing machine. It's the extra stretch of superwrist cord over the best standard cord.

CAR WASHING IS A SPECIALTY

BORAH FORECASTS REPUBLICAN PARTY TO OPPOSE REPEAL

They concluded that a speed of seventy miles an hour on an open road is both safe and efficient. It is not at all uncommon these days. Some states have repeated their speed laws to permit it, putting emphasis on responsible driving rather than on speed.

Another discovery is that when traffic is heavy, thirty-five miles an hour or less is better than a higher speed. A survey of a stretch of highway between Washington and Baltimore showed that a one-hour fifty-five mile car can do as much as thirty-five miles and hour, and two thousand nine hundred cars at thirty-four and five miles miles. Surveys of city streets gave much the same result. The best speed there was about twenty miles an hour.

TRAINING CAMP OPEN FOR YOUTH OF REGION

Quotas for 1932 have been fixed providing for 500 young men between the ages of 17 and 29 years from Idaho, Wyoming, Nevada and Utah to attend a Citizens' Military Training camp at Fort Douglas, Utah, July 6 to August 4, according to information received by John C. Harvey, Twin Falls American Legion post commander, who has again been appointed representative of the Fort Douglas camp in this county.

The benefits to be derived from attendance at Citizens' Military Training camps are secured without expense to the student as the war department provides transportation to the camp and return, board, lodging, expert medical attention, uniforms, equipment, and most service.

No obligation for future service in any component of the army of the United States attaches to attendance at a Citizens' Military Training camp, although the training received may lead to issuance of an army officer's commission, if the student desires.

Objects of the camps are to bring to younger young men of high type from all sections of the country and thereby develop closer national and racial unity, to teach the physical standards of American youth training in military exercises, athletic games and sports, conducted by expert directors.

Applications must be made by school teacher, clergyman, officer or ex-officer of the army, national guard, reserve corps, navy or marine corps, or any prominent and reputable citizen who is personally acquainted with the candidate.

News In Twin Falls 19 Years Ago

Taken From The Twin Falls News Files Thursday, February 27, 1913

Boise, Feb. 26.—Division in the ranks of the Twin Falls county delegation resulted Tuesday afternoon in the overwhelming defeat of the bill to establish a state agricultural college in South Idaho. The vote on the bill when it came up for final action was 17 to 37.

Floods of Latah county this morning introduced the Twin Falls county division bill in the senate. Senator Robinson denounced this as the first step in the payment of the debt owed the Twin Falls people by the northern men for their activity in endeavoring to secure the agricultural college. He said that before the house, securing but 25 votes of the two-thirds necessary.

A number of the friends of Mrs. J. W. WAR ROMANCE PLAYS AT ROXY SHOWHOUSE

At-Loxette sequences in "Chance", starring Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., now at the Roxy theatre, cover only a small portion of the pleasure, no picture was too good to make these scenes perfect in every way. They deal with the Royal Horse Artillery and are unusual and spectacular. Two weeks were spent rehearsing the men and horses for these scenes and two weeks were spent filming them. So carefully planned were the rehearsals that not a man or horse was injured though they worked amid a holocaust of exploding shells and gunfire. The cast includes: Hubbell lead the support. Alvin Dwan directed. Completing the program are a Mickey Mouse cartoon and "Believe It Or Not" by Ripley.

BREAK IN PIPELINE DRAINS CITY PLANT

Twin Falls Water System Goes Dry For Brief Period When Main Gives Out

Twin Falls was at the mercy of the first storm that night for the first time following the break of the main waterworks 20-inch cast iron pipe in the city. The break occurred at about 9:15 P. M. and quickly drained all the mains in the city and at the same time emptied the tank at the filler plant. The break took place near the plant of the Jerome Cooperative Creamery, and a short distance on the city side of the railroad tracks. Investigation indicated the hunter man had spent more than a year past in and about Twin Falls, working in garages and on farms. He was traced to Indiana, and is said to have told officers here that he was arrested and re-arrested in Indiana following the robbery of which he is accused.

Detective Casey said, evening expressed positive conviction that Esleri is the man Indiana authorities have been seeking in connection with the robbery. Casey said, were implicated in the robbery, in which approximately $200 was taken.

mining to thaw heavily in the eastern section of the county.

THAW FILLS CANAL SYSTEM LATERALS
Despite the fact that water from thawing snow is filling laterals while frost is coming out of canal banks, little trouble has been experienced so far in keeping the system of the Twin Falls water company in good condition; it was stated last yesterday by John W. Iron, manager of the system. Snow was disappearing rapidly in the Castelford section and more or less all over the rest of the county, he said, while it was

Terre Haute, Indiana, Officer Comes Here For Paul Esleri, Wanted For Robbery

Paul Esleri, 25, hunted for more than two years in connection with robbery of a grocery store in Terre Haute, Indiana, early in January, 1930, will leave this morning returning to Indiana in custody of Detective Michael Casey, veteran officer of the Terre Haute police department, to answer to the robbery charge.

Esleri was arrested here last week by Sheriff E. F. Prater on request of the Terre Haute police department. Investigation indicated the hunter man had spent more than a year past in and about Twin Falls, working in garages and on farms. He was traced to Indiana, and is said to have told officers here that he was arrested and re-arrested in Indiana following the robbery of which he is accused.

Detective Casey said, evening expressed positive conviction that Esleri is the man Indiana authorities have been seeking in connection with the robbery. Casey said, were implicated in the robbery, in which approximately $200 was taken.

SUIT REVEALS BANKER'S LATE STOCK PURCHASE

J. A. Keefer, former cashier of the Twin Falls National bank, closed since November 23, acquired 90 shares of the bank's stock the preceding September 4, it was disclosed yesterday when Raymond B. Haase, receiver, started suit in district court here to recover approximately $21,000 from the former cashier. Since February, 1927, and prior to last September, Keefer had owned 100 shares of the bank's stock. The receiver's suit called for $10,000 on account of 100 per cent assessment on the bank's stock which demand was made January 11, and which was to be paid on or before February 18. The receiver also called for $11,000 and INTEREST on account of an $11,000 promissory note which J. A. Keefer executed in October,

TWIN FALLS BOWS TO RUPERT SQUAD

After the conclusion of the game, the last for Rupert before the Class A tournament opens at Twin Falls, Coach Marneau took occasion to comment on the probable outcome of the approaching class in which Twin Falls will not participate by reason of its being the host team. The Twin Falls team automatically goes into the state tournament, also at Twin Falls, competition on the part of the Bruins in the district tournament not being necessary.

"Oakley should win the Class A tournament," with "Bull" Fitter, Burley and Rupert fighting it out for second place," in the words of the
