are my assistants will voluntarily fall in line.

Attorney General Fred J. Babcock has no comment to make. Mrs. Myrtle R. Davis, state superintendent of public instruction, who was not at the meeting, said she was going to recommend to the state board of education that the $500 salary of W. D. Vincent, superintendent of education, be reduced as well as all faculty members under control of the state board. This would include the university, southern branch, Lewiston and Albion normal schools, the Gooding school and the blind and deaf state industrial school.

Departments affected included the department of public works with the highway bureau, the departments of public welfare, reclamation, public investments, finance and agriculture, the state game department and one or two smaller bureaus.

The public utilities commission and the supreme court were in Boulder, Idaho. Neither will be affected by the reduction ordered by the governor unless it chooses to follow voluntarily.

The action was decided upon at a meeting of the department heads last night in the governor's office at which it was reported—although it was not publicly acknowledged—that the action was decided by the governor.

"I dislike to make salary reductions," the governor said. "But it is in keeping with the times. Salary reductions inevitably curtail the purchasing power of the people, which is already low. But the fact remains that farmers, who constitute a large part of our population, are receiving almost nothing for their crops. It is a very bad condition under these farmers are compelled to take for their work a return which will not insure them a fair living."

Along with the reduction, the governor said that during the last year he had dispensed with the services of seven engineers in the state highway bureau, and was preparing to eliminate one or two more, bringing about a saving in the aggregate of more than $30,000.

State produce inspectors have also been placed on a "piece work" basis by which they receive $2 a carload for inspections instead of the flat salary of $150 a month. None will be allowed to exceed $150 a month in earnings, and a report of last year indicated the earnings of several ran as low as $5 a week. The action, the governor said, was necessary to bring the inspection service "out of the red" where it dropped when produce shipments declined sharply during the winter.

Babson Recalls General Dearth Of Improvements 10 Years Ago And Takes Optimistic Attitude

Noted Statistician, Despite Injury of Leg, Points to Opportunities for Investment and Compares Present Business Conditions to Elevator Going Up—Halted Temporarily

By ROGER W. BABSON BABSON PARK, Pa., March 1—A few days ago while climbing out of a "steeple" on my horse here at my ranch, my horse slipped. As she reared on her hind legs, she lost her balance and we both went over backwards into the water! Unfortunately I was caught with my left leg under the mare. As a result, I am now in a hospital with my foot and leg in a plaster cast.

Comparing 10 years ago While here I am thinking of the great improvements within a decade. Ten years ago there was no hospital in this section of Florida. Today we have a perfectly equipped and excellently operated institution. Ten years ago I would have been brought in from my ranch on a terrible and no both went over backwards into the water! Unfortunately I was caught with my left leg under the mare. As a result, I am now in a hospital with my foot and leg in a plaster cast.

merely stopped climbing for a while. We have lost no ground. Our cities, farms, industrial companies, railroads, stores, and wage workers are better off than 10 years ago. Only those who speculated have really lost—their real estate temporarily. When we study stock market prices we are surprised at what we find. General Electric, for instance, at today's price, is still double that for which it was selling 10 years ago after allowing for stock dividends, etc. General Motors, at today's price, is greatly in excess of the price of 10 years ago. The dividends paid by all companies the past month of January were nearly 50 per cent greater than all the dividends paid during January, 1921—only five years ago. Almost all large corporations—with the exception of the railroads—have today greater cash resources and less debt per dollar of assets. We are like a man going up a 40-story building in an elevator which got caught at the thirty-third story. We are frightened not because the elevator has stopped, but because we are so high! Four Reasons For Improvement There are four reasons why prosperity will return and why sensible farmers, manufacturers, and merchants should hang on and cheer-up. These are as follows:

1.—During the early part of a business depression people are usually only temporary and avoid changing their habits of living and methods of business. Prudence prevents the burning of the property era.

2.—An optimism and self-confidence were over-developed during a period of prosperity and credit. People are now being forced to get down to earth by substituting honesty for dishonesty—efficiency for inefficiency, and a real desire to be of more use instead of getting something for nothing.

3.—Business is being forced to get down to earth by substituting honesty for dishonesty—efficiency for inefficiency, and a real desire to be of more use instead of getting something for nothing.

4.—The money piles up during the period of depression, this money will allow their money to remain idle only about as long. Idle money eventually "bursts a hole in one's pocket." Banks—must loan money in order to pay dividends.

5.—The money piles up during the period of depression, this money will allow their money to remain idle only about as long. Idle money eventually "bursts a hole in one's pocket." Banks—must loan money in order to pay dividends.

too late. It is just as foolish to follow Wall Street now and sell as it was to follow Wall Street in 1929 and buy.

Conclusion The fear which develops during a business depression is just as unreasonable and dangerous as the over-confidence which develops during a boom. This means that the present attitude today is just as crazy as the bullish attitude of early 1929. Some day we will look back upon the low prices of 1932 as we today look back on the high prices of 1929. Then you will be just as sorry you did not buy in 1932 as you are now sorry you did not sell early in 1929. Furthermore, you can today perform as distinct a service by buying as you could have by selling before things got "out of bounds three years ago. Yes, I am optimistic. Perhaps this is because I am on my back in the hospital where there is only one way to look—namely, upward.

TRUCK RUNS WILD AND STRIKES CHILD

Six-Year-Old Evadna Elder Narrowly Escapes When Machine Enters Yard

A heavy motor truck piloted by Sam Schuyler, Twin Falls, plunged across the curb and sidewalk into the yard at the Ben Elder residence, 1242 Kimberly Road, where a group of children was at play about 10 o'clock yesterday. The truck struck six-year-old Evadna Elder as she turned to run toward her father from in front of the machine. She was believed to have escaped with only bruises and was suffering from effects of shock. The driver of the truck got out of his control when he overtook one car and was forced to turn sharply to avoid collision with another car coming toward him. The child's father who only a few feet distant when the truck struck, said the truck lurched 40 feet across the lawn and mired down in the snow. He said the truck which is a 1931 model, was driven by Schuyler. The truck struck the child a glancing blow as she was in the yard. Her father, after starting toward the house. The child was taken to a physician in the car which the truck had overturned, and returned to her home following an examination. She was reported to be resting quite comfortably last evening. The truck belonged to T. O. Prescott, Twin Falls, livestock dealer.

RABBIT BREEDERS UNITE FOR SALES

Association Authorizes Formation of Marketing Corporation to Buy for Cash

A largely attended meeting of the Twin Falls County Rabbit Breeders' association in Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce office last evening authorized the formation of a marketing corporation and placed L. C. Walker, Twin Falls, a former president of the association, in charge of it. The marketing corporation, according to the plans outlined, is to be a non-profit organization, members' rabbits, paying cash for the live animals. The association will discontinue its present method of marketing rabbits. With view to increasing production of rabbits in this region, the marketing corporation also is to distribute breeding stock, accepting meat rabbits in part payment. Production of rabbits in the district, it was stated, has declined 50 per cent since 1930. The association is about four years old. While production has declined, demand for rabbit meat is reported to be active, and prices, while low, have not fallen to the extent that poultry and other meats have declined. Association members at last evening's meeting were enthusiastic over the promise of expansion of the rabbit industry in this district through operation of the marketing corporation. Live rabbits, it was announced, will be received as usual at the Jerome's Cooperative Creamery plant here, but breeders will be paid in cash for their rabbits.

E. B. Darlington Says Four Inches More Snow Will Insure Water Supply

Four inches of snow in addition to 60-inch average snow depth reported here on the Snake River, Snake river watershed will make certain Jackson Lake reservoir, with 675,000 acre feet, and American Falls reservoir with 1,000,000 acre feet capacity, will fill and overflow this season. E. B. Darlington, Burley, Snake river reclamation project manager, told American Falls reservoir director at a meeting here yesterday. Both reservoirs were virtually drained last year. American Falls reservoir last week held 47,000 acre feet. Factors affecting Snake river valley's storage water supply, Mr. Darlington said, include extent of replenishment of moisture in the ground, and the type of run-off, a gradual run-off being more beneficial than a rapid one. All members of the reservoir district board attended today's meeting—H. E. Shephard, Jerome; W. H. Egan, Kimberly; J. H. Barker, Buhl; A. A. Davis, Piler; F. E. Johnson, Burley, and H. K. SIGNATURES ON RECEIPT BLOCKS PROTEST RIGHT

When William Spencer, Piler, signed a receipt for labor and materials that the county applied over his property and other interested parties, he was asked to sign a petition to protest against the transaction, District Judge Adam E. Haysley held in granting a motion for new suit in district court here yesterday. Spencer testified that he did not remember signing the receipt, which attorneys for the county placed in evidence, but admitted the signature was his.

Spencer sued the county for cancellation of $2663 charges for labor and materials used on weeds on his farm. He asserted that the county had served notice requiring him to terminate the weeds, and that he protested against the work being done. Attorneys for the county argued that the receipt, which attorneys for the county placed in evidence, had been placed on the tax rolls, and as a clinching argument they produced the receipt which they asserted Spencer signed after the work was completed.

Judge Haysley said that Spencer would have been justified under the circumstances in refusing to permit the county weed department employees to enter upon his farm, but that signing of the receipt constituted a waiver of rights to protest thereafter.
