Hearst Finds New Symbol For Insurgent Democrats

The Jackass rabbits have become a pest in Washington, a source, as they have been heretofore in some other parts of the country; and the only thing for the citizenship of the nation to do is to adopt the usual measure of dealing with jackass rabbits, and have a jackass rabbit drive at the election this fall, and get as many as possible of these insubordinate animals in a corral, and proceed to knock them politically on their silly heads.

Naturally the result of this drive will be the re-election of Mr. Hoover, and that is not pleasant to contemplate, but anything is better than having the government of our great country in the control of jackass rabbits.

General Grant once said that no matter in what a desperate plight the Republic might find itself, they need not to their party emblem, would always do some jackass thing to give the Republic the victory.

Unquestionably, the regular Democrats in congress, under the able leadership of a student of the law, are making such a commendable record as to seem wholly to belie this statement.

Then came the great plague of jackass rabbits, like the great plague in the middle of the century, which was reported to be in the commercial quantities, chiefly bentonite, gypsum, barium, feldspar, garnet, malachite, talc, calcite, and gravel.

These minerals are known to be no more so scarce as they were in the days of the late President McKinley, and the development and utilization of these minerals is the national interest.

Mr. Tullis' suggestion that the location, use and development of these minerals should be left to the private enterprise, is a suggestion that is not only unwise, but also un-American.

Mr. Hoover, of course, can be grateful to the jackass rabbits for the pleasant Easter surprise of re-election to the presidency which they have given him, but the rest of the country has nothing to thank the jackass rabbits for.

IDAHO PHOSPHATE ROCK DEPOSITS PROVE LARGE

MOSCOW, April 11 (Special to The News)—Idaho's phosphate rock deposits, the largest in the United States and one of the largest in the world, were reported today by the U. S. Geological Survey.

Mr. Tullis' suggestion that the location, use and development of these minerals should be left to the private enterprise, is a suggestion that is not only unwise, but also un-American.

Eleventh-Hour Developments Mark Eve of Diamond Campaign

Trades Involving Stellar Players Change Prospect

Reds, in Final Move to Insure Strength, Acquire Aoe of World Champion Team For Fine Outfield

By ALAN GOULD (Associated Press Sports Editor) NEW YORK, April 11.—A series of eleventh-hour developments today, all calculated to have a distinct bearing on the pennant race, led to the announcement of the preparations of major league baseball clubs for the general opening ceremonies, scheduled tomorrow in eight cities "undoubtedly with the best of weather."

Whites a cold wave blew into the Middle West and a rainstorm swept the East, the world champion Cardinals made their final move today by trading the National league batting king, Chick Hafey, to the Cincinnati Reds for pitcher Benjie Freeman and Harvey Hendrick, all-around handy man.

Together they give the Reds one of the most complete lineups in the big league and increase the prospect that last season's eight place outfit will be a sensational factor in the 1932 race.

Face Strong Challenge The Cardinals now face exceptionally strong challenges, minus two of the biggest ones. In their championship machine they and the Yankees remain to be seen whether the world champions can offset the loss of these stars by the acquisitions of the new men like Frey, Carleton and Dean and finding an outfield punch in the form of Collins or Ray.

Several earthquakes were recorded throughout the southern tip of the continent, none of destroying intensity.

Over the American league camp starting lineups were affected by line developments.

Washington's star shortstop and cleanup hitter, Joe Cronin, was not sufficiently recovered from an attack of tonsillitis to be included in the opening game against Boston.

WATER CHARGES IN LINE FOR FALL IN GENERAL REDUCTION

Twin Falls Council Deals With Prospect For Operating Next Year With 20 Per Cent Lower Revenues

Twin Falls municipal water service rates probably will share in a general reduction affecting the municipal income and expenditures during the fiscal year beginning May 1, according to plans expressed by members of the council at a regular meeting last night.

Definite action was not taken with respect to water rate reduction, but discussion indicated that a substantial cut probably is to be made, and that the 6000-gallon base for the minimum charge probably will not be reduced.

Estimating a decline of 20 per cent in the city's total revenues next year as compared with the fiscal year ending March 31, L. A. Chapin, commissioner of finance, suggested that each department head should draw up a budget to curtail his budget to that extent, and to make reductions or eliminations in every item before estimates of the general fund revenues next year, according to estimates submitted by the city clerk, should approximate $118,000.

Of the first 11 months of the current year, according to the clerk's figures, total $131,441, and income from the remaining months is estimated at $8300, making a total of $137,741 for the current year. The current year's estimated income amounted to $150,500.

Indicating cut to be made in water rates, the clerk's figures included an estimate of $7200 from the water works department the coming year, as compared with waterworks revenues totaling $9200 for the first 11 months of this year, plus $5000 to be collected this month.

Out of a $168,735 total general fund budget for the current year, the clerk's figures showed, there has been collected $131,441, out of which $110,504 had been spent up to April 4.

Tots Play Part In Securing Leniency For Store Burglars

William Criss and Charles Marler, each 23 years old and each the father of three small children, appeared in district court here yesterday to receive sentence on burglary charges for their part, with three other men, in burglary at the Wilson Brothers store at Kimberly the night of February 21. The father of each family held an infant in her arms, while Marler's two-year-old twins and Criss' older children, 2 1/2 and 4 years-old, played about the courtroom as Harry Bennet, Twin Falls attorney, presented petitions for leniency. Petitions asserted neither of the accused men had been convicted previously of a felony, and that each was the sole supporter of his family, and that both men had voluntarily surrendered when summoned by the sheriff.

In consideration of these circumstances, District Judge W. A. Babcock admitted both men to parole after sentencing them to serve 1-15 year term each in the state prison. Some clothing, shoes, ammunition, pocket knives, candy and tobacco were taken by the burglars at the Kimberly store.

Of the five men involved in the burglary, all of whom pleaded guilty, only one was sentenced, without parole, to serve a prison term. That was James E. 24, who was sentenced to serve 2-10-15 year term in the state prison. He had been convicted of a previous burglary, and was admitted to parole on that occasion.

Criss and Marler were sentenced to officers here for 30 days after the other three men involved in the Kimberly burglary were arrested, two of them being taken in a 2000-hour car at Curry, and one, Taylor, being taken off to train and brought back from Pocatello.
