COYOTE PACKS INCREASE WOE OF INDIAN TRIBE

GALLUP, N. M., April 21 (AP) - Coyote packs have been added to the woe of the Navajos in the Indian country where winter storms decimated the tribes.

Drawn to the areas by the large number of carcasses of sheep that died during the blizzards, the coyotes are hunting in small packs and are killing many Indian sheep.

The Indians are confronted with a perplexing question because coyote is a sacred animal and killing them offers likelihood of difficulties with the government.

Some of the Indian herders, however, are killing the prowlers, but they do not skin them - because they believe the sacrifice in the eyes of their gods.

DAWES WOULD MIGHT AGAINST BONUS PLAN

WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP) - Charles G. Dawes, head of Reconstruction Finance corporation, assailed new money plan for cashing soldiers' bonus today and denounced them as promoting "complete economic ruin."

For many hours, Dawes threatened and pleaded with the house ways and means committee in its plans to pass a bill for the cashing of his famous "Hell an' Hell" speech that Representative Rainey, the Democratic leader, said after the session.

"Dawes statement has applied the blow movement just as another blow to the bill," he said, "and the war expenditures investigation."

More the soldier than the banker, Dawes said the bill would be labeled as congressional critics of the Reconstruction Finance corporation which he heads, with charges of "financial mismanagement" and drove home his argument with pounding fists.

With uttering scorn he denounced the bill as "a bill to give a 'peanut shell' in comparison with what he termed the real business of the country."

"Every whole country is looking at placidly transactions of speculators on the stock exchange," he asserted, "and the result is that Wall street is down there at that point and the people who are feeling better: take it from me."

"Great credit is due the credit repair corporation but I don't think that helps. Prosperity is bound to return as sure as the sun rises in the morning."

With a gesture of emphasis, he said at another point: "I keep politics out of the Reconstruction Finance corporation. The bill is in this talk that only the big fellows are being helped by the corporation and that the small man is being crushed by the bill."

"The corporation is working for the whole people of the country," Dawes began by reading a prepared statement in which he said that the $1,000,000,000 corporation, stressing the number and amount of loans to small banks, gas, trust companies and dwelling particularly on the $17,000,000 Pacific railroad loan which drew severe criticism.

BOISE, April 21 (AP) - Rewriting of the school laws with perhaps a revision of the financing scheme will be undertaken by a committee appointed today by R. E. Shepherd, former president of the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce.

In appointing the committee, President Shepherd said he believed that the members you are aware that a considerable number of our school districts are in financial distress and are having great difficulty in paying their obligations. Some schools have been compelled to close, others have shortened their terms, others voided their contracts with teachers in a frantic effort to keep their doors open.

"Banks in some instances are refusing to honor school warrants and warrants of some districts are being returned to the issuer with a 10 per cent charge."

"On the one hand there are those who contend that we are tending to build an educational system beyond our means to maintain, while on the other we see complaints that many children are now being deprived of their education."

Governor Of California Flatly Declines To Free Tom Mooney

Tom Mooney Sympathizers Throughout World Receive Verdict of Fourth Chief Executive to Deny Clemency

(By The Associated Press) SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 21 - With a blunt finality that stunned those who had hoped for executive clemency, Governor James Rolph, Jr., today unconditionally declined to grant a pardon to Tom Mooney, ex-labor leader convicted of bombing the San Francisco preparation day parade of the state's national guard.

The governor, the fourth to flatly refuse to liberate the man, whose sympathizers throughout the world have long regarded him as a martyr to the cause of labor, made his findings public in an atmosphere charged with emotion and expectation.

As he read his brief statement, the silence of the packed room was broken again by the cries of taunts and instruments which caught his words as they fell from his lips and flashed them to the four corners of the world.

The decision came after nearly five months' deliberations during which Governor Rolph had the advice of Matt J. Sullivan, former chief justice of the state supreme court, Sullivan, Louis Bricker, a superior court judge, and Daniel J. O'Brien, head of the state department of penology and the state department of corrections.

December when after nearly three years of queasy, Mooney's conviction again became a national issue through the championing of his cause by Mayor James J. Walker, New York.

In an adjoining room, Mooney's aged mother in the care of her daughter, Ana, and a member of the Tom Mooney support committee, waited uncomplainingly the reading of the decision that once again closed the door to hope for exoneration and freedom.

"The words, a mere drop of 'sympathy' would have been enough to bring me back to my feet," said one of the supporters. "What is he saying? What is he saying? He's not speaking, and when he does, the decision has been unfavorable. It was a disaster."

Tom Mooney, 40, was arrested in 1931 on charges of bombing the San Francisco post office. He was convicted in 1933 and sentenced to life in prison. He was paroled in 1935.

Today he laid down his party knife long enough to confer with his wife and to learn from Alexander J. Holohan, chief of the police for San Francisco, that the plea for pardon, upon which such hopes had been built, had been definitely denied.

Newspapermen were gathered in the warden's office to hear his reaction to the decision. Mooney himself seemed to find the rest of his life "in the shade."

To them he spoke briefly, commenting that his remarks were dictated by his position as a convict, and pronouncing a statement in his name from his defense committee in San Francisco.

Even as he spoke, messengers delivered that statement to newspapermen here. The statement included a warning that any policy in continuing fight for Mooney's freedom.

"This makes me the outstanding figure in the world's labor movement and a symbol of the struggle of labor for its rights."

"Mrs. Rena Mooney, wife of the prisoner, did not accompany him into the warden's office. The fact he was invited to enter alone, she said afterward, made her feel the decision was a disaster."

LINDBERGH RETURNS TO HOPEWELL HOME

HOPEWELL, N. J., April 22 (AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh returned to his home here at midnight tonight after a two-day absence.

His return apparently was the result of his considerable activity at the Lindbergh estate. Lights glared from almost every window and two automobiles drove up one preceding the car driven by Lindbergh and another arriving shortly afterward.

Lindbergh's absence gave rise to reports that he had attempted to establish contact with the kidnapers of his 20-month-old son. What success he had, if any, was conjectured.

He left the house Tuesday night alone and returned alone. No word was forthcoming as to where he had been.

About an hour after his return an automobile identified as that belonging to Edmund B. Bruce, Minn., drove into the estate. Bruce is a friend of John W. Curtis, a North Minneapolis resident who is the shipbuilder associated with the Very Rev. H. Dobson-Peacock in efforts to contact the kidnapers, and the arrival of his machine coincided with reports that Rev. Mr. Peacock had been seen from Minn. today.

Two men sat in the rear seat, and the driver, witnesses said, resembled Bruce.

The first car to arrive, which appeared some 40 minutes before that driven by Lindbergh, was identified as the property of Mrs. Albert Morrow, mother of Mrs. Lindbergh. The car left after discharging its woman passenger.

rubbed toward the close of the day by exchange with Chairman Markok, who complained the witness replies were unsatisfactory. Meanwhile, Henry a score of New York brokers had been summoned to the committee room, where they were waiting under subpoena to take the stand. They will be heard tomorrow.

Whitney's testimony was broken by a spirited executive session in the course of which the future conduct of the investigation was determined. Despite the high, but finally upon the subject of the group agreed to press the inquiry to the bottom.

It was proposed that special investigators be sent to New York to study the records of the exchange and of various brokerage houses to discover who was behind the spurious names appearing on the list submitted by the exchange.

The list of short sellers produced the greatest sensation of the day though it did not include any names.

FORECAST FOR TODAY AND TOMORROW

Forecast for today and tomorrow—Clear; with snow in southeastern Idaho; probably fair tomorrow; temperatures below normal.

Temperature ranged between 45 and 50 degrees in the 24-hour period preceding 3 P. M. yesterday, according to the report of E. A. Cheyne, government weather observer here. The snow held 61 of an inch of moisture. Wind was westerly, the barometer, rising slowly, registered 30.71 inches at 5 P. M. Humidity ranged between 91 and 92 per cent of saturation.

Usually known figures. It contained, however, the names of some well known Wall Street traders.

One of the largest short accounts, 45,000 shares in 23 stocks was in the name of the American Trust company. In New York, associates of William C. Bruhl, generally recognized as an active short trader who has been subpoenaed by the committee, said they understood he had a trust account by that name. Mr. C. Bruhl was also listed with a short account of 10,000 shares in several stocks.

Harry Content, another well known trader who has been subpoenaed, was recorded with a short interest of 7000 shares in General Motors, Louis Kaiser and company, a number of corporations; and the Travelers bank had a short account in 16 stocks including 35,220 in General Motors.

Another large account, of 43,835 was listed under the name "Brooseco corporation."

Last in the day, Watson made his charges against the International bankers.

"I have a solemn conviction," he said, "that international bankers through their brokers have tried to smash the market and hold up the recovery of American business. It is our duty to force cancellation of war debts."

"What's their game and we hope to prove it."

Whitney's appearance again drew a spirited executive session, in which the committee members sat through the examination which lasted until dusk.

GOVERNOR OF CALIFORNIA KEEPS MOONEY IN CELL

present governor.

It was said that the words Governor Ralph used in declaring his conviction that Mooney was guilty and that the bombing and their connection with the crime for which they were convicted.

"These inmates failed to see the red flag of revolt for the stars and stripes, impelled them to commit the deed."

Mooney was convicted with Warren K. Billings, now a prisoner of Police penitentiary, of setting the bomb which killed 10 persons and injured 40 others while the Preparedness day parade marched up Market street, headed by the then Mayor James Rolph, Jr.

The governor's decision reviewed the progress of the case since Mooney first applied for executive clemency to Governor William D. Stephens. The latter commuted his death sentence to life imprisonment upon the intercession of President Wilson and James J. McLaughlin, who had applied for his release from Alcatraz prison cell without gaining clemency from Governor F. W. Richardson.

"We have examined, read and studied all available documents and information and have planned plans to conduct an investigation for the purpose of ascertaining every available fact throwing light upon the question as to whether Thomas J. Mooney was justly convicted."

Including as far as obtainable the history of the life of Thomas Mooney, Governor Rolph said in his decision.

"We have also examined and read and given consideration to all of the evidence and investigated the labor unions of the state supreme court."

"I believe it proper to state that we approached the hearing of the case with an open mind, in a spirit of fairness and without any bias or prejudice of any kind against Thomas J. Mooney."

"The facts taken in conjunction with the other matter, here mentioned, have convinced us that Thomas J. Mooney was guilty of the offense charged against him; that he was justly convicted by the jury before whom he was tried; and that the application made on his behalf for the pardon should be denied."

Mayor Walker was not mentioned by Governor Rolph but Sullivan referred to his conviction for "eloquence misapplied."

"We were very much interested in the recent appearance of the distinguished counsel for Mooney at the hearing of his application for pardon. He stated, as we stated, 'we believe however, that they must have been ignorant of the past life of Mooney, his record as a dynamite maker in his early private ventures in favor of anarchy and revolution, his publication of the 'Revolt' (a San Francisco newspaper) after Mooney published before the bombing; his connection with the 'Bliss' and the 'Bliss' (a San Francisco newspaper) which Sullivan's 1926 report recited the life history of Mooney and Billings, their connection with the relations with Mooney prior to the bombing and their connection with the crime for which they were convicted.

The report quoted many extracts from letters and from the papers. The testimony of John McDonald and Frank C. Ozman was referred to at length. As to Ozman's testimony the report echoed the findings of the state supreme court in its decision on Billings' application for clemency, in saying:

"We do not here pass upon the truth or falsity of Ozman's testimony given at the trial of Mooney, but whether true or false the other evidence in the case suffices to establish the verdict of guilty."

As for McDonald's testimony the report recalled that he testified at four different trials connecting Mooney and Billings with the explosion of which they were convicted and often swore to an affidavit in which he confessed he was guilty of perjury.

"The affidavit signed by him and produced at the hearing of Mooney's application for a pardon," the report said, "would not be accepted by any court of justice in the civilized world, but would be and should be treated by any self-respecting tribunal as a worthless scrap of paper."

BURLEY CONSOLIDATES POSITIONS IN SCHOOLS

BURLEY, April 21 (Special to The News)—George E. Denman has been re-employed by the Burley independent school district as school superintendent for the coming term. As an economy measure, his duties will also include those of the principal of the junior high school, and the term of J. M. Whiting, the present principal, will be terminated.

These two offices have been consolidated, and the action was no reflection on the worth of the present principal, it is declared. Denman's salary has also been reduced. He came to Burley from Postlewood, where he had been principal of the senior high school the third year as superintendent here. The length of the coming school year has not as yet been determined.

Mississippi Valley Becomes "Tornado Center" Of Nation

"TWISTER" RECORD IN UNITED STATES COVERS 25 YEARS

Iowa, Missouri, Arkansas, Illinois, Kansas and Texas Fall In Path of Storms

POPULATION DENSITY GOVERNS DEATH TOLL

Loss of Life From Whirling Winds Reaches Peak in 689 Dead in 1925 Tragedy

By F. R. COLETON (Associated Press Science Writer) WASHINGTON, April 21

The "tornado center" of the United States is located in the extreme geographical center and somewhat west of the southern areas ravaged by late March storms.

Conditions are most favorable for the formation of tornadoes in the middle Mississippi valley, says Dr. C. L. Frazier of the United States weather bureau.

A map in his office on which this region is marked shows that it includes part of Missouri, Arkansas, and most of eastern Kansas and Oklahoma.

Low Likely Elsewhere Likelihood of tornadoes decreases steadily in all directions from this "center," he explains.

Tornadoes have been most frequent since 1874 in Kansas, Texas, Iowa, Missouri, Arkansas and Illinois.

Some states have averaged three a year in years when records were kept.

States having between three and one a year include North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, South and North Carolina, Maryland and New York.

Figures cover 25 years. Other states have averaged less than one a year. The figures are not complete, but cover 25 of the years since 1874.

Detailed records kept at the bureau go back only to 1916. Since then the most tornadoes reported in any one year has been 203 in 1925 while the lowest number was 85 in 1916.

Loss of life from the "twisters" reached its peak in 1925 with 794 deaths caused by 119 tornadoes.

The smallest number of deaths was 22 for 1928, with the exception of 1931, which shows only 24 deaths with figures incomplete.

One Tragedy Set Record A single tornado, in 1925, accounted for 689 of the deaths that year, setting a record for the number of deaths caused by one such storm. The least number of deaths caused by any one storm previous to 1921 was 14 in 1923.

Property loss from tornadoes has been more than $2,000,000 every year since 1916, reaching $43,445,650 in 1921. Figures are not complete for 1931.

Thirty-seven tornadoes since 1916 have caused damage of at least $1,000,000, and destruction from 316 has reached $100,000.

Population Density Is Factor While the frequency of tornadoes and destruction caused by them vary widely, damage from the "twisters" has increased the country has become more densely populated, the weather bureau points out. Damage always is heaviest in and near cities.

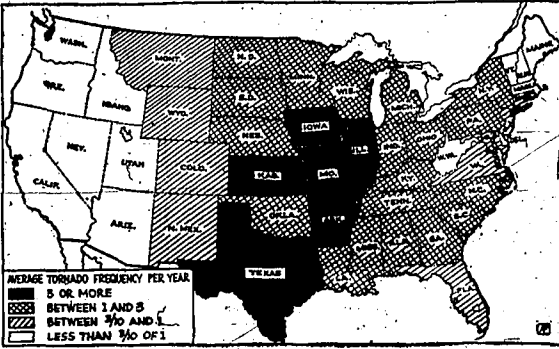

Tornadoes usually move from west to east, and a position north of the storm's path is safer than a similar distance to the south. Property who take refuge in cellars, the southeast corner is the safest place because debris is most likely to be carried away from that point if the building above the cellar collapses.

ALIENS GAMBLE IN BELGIUM STAMBOUL, Belgium (AP) - The local casino here has plenty of custom this year. Only foreigners are allowed to play at the three Belgian gambling resorts, Ostend Spa and Namur.

SHOOT ALBINO TIGER QUIDHAR, India (AP) - The Maharaja of Quaidah shot an albino tiger in the jungle, the animal measuring 9 feet 2 inches from nose to tail.

FUR STORAGE We are equipped with special cold storage rooms for fur and fur garments.

PHONE 191 TWIN FALLS FEED & ICE CO.

Weather bureau records from 25 years of the period since 1874 were used to compile this tornado map of the United States. Deaths from the twisters increase with density of population, but the tornadoes themselves are more frequent in the middle Mississippi valley, as the map indicates.

RUPERT'S ROTARIANS HEAR TALK ON SUGAR

RUPERT, April 21 (Special to The News)—In an interesting educational session, the Rupert Rotary association, addressed by Rupert, Idaho, on Wednesday noon at the regular weekly luncheon, discussing conditions of the sugar beet industry.

Pointing out that the acreage contracted for beets on the Minidoka project, while larger than the average year, was less than had been expected, he sounded a warning against planting too many potatoes and beets.

He discussed damage from whirling winds and of measures being taken to lessen such damage. He gave it as his opinion that in 1934 the sugar industry would be able to furnish a disease-resistant seed that would prove of great benefit.

Rupert Rotary then agreed to cooperate with the State Chamber of Commerce in advertising Idaho to members of the association through the sale this summer en route to the international convention of Rotary in Seattle.

Sixteen members of the local agreed to attend the inter-city meeting of Rotary clubs to be held in Twin Falls next Wednesday evening.

OAKLEY FOLKS ENJOY TWO SOCIAL SESSIONS

OAKLEY, April 21 (Special to The News)—Two Oakley social groups gathered for meetings in the first half of the week.

A group of friends surprised Vera Simmons at her home Monday night on the occasion of her birthday anniversary. Present were Alice Booth, Whittier, Moelle Baker, Layman Martin, Maurine Robinson, Dorothy Cummings, May Simmons, Hazel Lake, Arva Robinson and Rosemary Clark. An entertaining evening was spent playing cards. Refreshments were served at a late hour.

Bevieve girls of the Oakley first ward gave a program at the Mutual Improvement association Tuesday night. All the girls and their teachers, Theims, Hansen and Lily Bates, were dressed as Negroes and gave the following program: No dance, Rosella Meyers; story, Moelle Hale; recitation, Louise Curtis; songs, "My Old Kentucky Home" and "Swanee River," Gito Baker, Moelle Hale, Curma Young, Louise Curtis, Rosella Meyers and Faye Mortildale.

BLAIN WOMAN IGNORED TRIPOLI (AP) - A woman who might and died in the heroic defense of Tripoli near her against a fierce attack of rebel tribesmen, June 21, 1915, has just been commemorated by a monument dedicated by the governor of Tripoli, who was Maria Brighenti, relative of one of the Italian residents of Tripoli at that time.

FILINGS PROVE SLOW IN LINCOLN COUNTY

SHOSHONE, April 21 (Special to The News)—Although there are only three more days left to file petitions for candidacy, the petitions are coming in slowly.

The latest filings follow: Fred Martin, seeking re-appointment for commissioner of the First district on the Democratic ticket; Mr. Martin is a farmer from North Shoshone and has served as commissioner of the First district for the past two years.

Jack Hamilton, rancher from North Shoshone, has filed his petition to run as commissioner of the First district on the Democratic ticket against Fred Martin.

E. L. Clinger is seeking re-election on the Democratic ticket for justice of the peace. Mr. Clinger is a resident of Shoshone, and several years ago he served one term as probate judge.

With the filing of two more Democratic commissioners, one from Richfield and one from Dietrich, the Democrats will have a complete ticket.

WATER SHORTAGE LOOMS IN CASSIA COUNTY AREA

BURLEY, April 21 (Special to The News)—Water for irrigation purposes may not be so plentiful in the outlying districts of Cassia county as the reports being sent from the mountains gave good promise. Snow is disappearing rapidly, and much of it is evaporating and vanishing to the high winds.

Apprehension is felt that the Goose creek reservoir, above Oakley, will not have enough water for crops. The snow sinks into the ground, or is evaporated. The early runoff came when the frost was out of the soil, and the dry ground, made so from a long cycle of dry seasons, drank up much of the water in the high portion of the reservoir watershed.

At the Minidoka forest office officials say that the dry years have about worn out growing grasses and shrubs, and that even a wet spring can not wholly renew the range. Drought has prevented growth from seeding, and even the perennials have become weakened. The result is that a succession of years without adequate rainfall.

The spring runoff, though sinking into the ground in most localities, cannot be relied upon to replenish streams somewhat later into the season than common. Small foothill springs will probably be renewed again, to provide water for livestock and broaden the area of the ranges.

With the filing of two more Democratic commissioners, one from Richfield and one from Dietrich, the Democrats will have a complete ticket.

COUPLES IN LINCOLN COUNTY PLAN TO WED

SHOSHONE, April 21 (Special to The News)—Notice of intention to marry was filed yesterday by Russell Eborieta and Eborieta Giallandia, both of Shoshone; also Francis Woods and Fern Armstrong, both of Richfield.

BURLEY THINS TREES TO FURNISH WINTER'S FUEL

BURLEY, April 21 (Special to The News)—Trees along the streets of Burley have been noticeably thinned out the past winter. They have been growing a quarter century, and one of these big trees, cut up into stove wood, has furnished fuel for some needy family for many days. They were planted along the streets of the newly started town by the Burley Townsite company when the boom began and grew and flourished until the city became noted for its shady streets and lawns. They are Carolina poplars, a quick growing tree but having drawbacks. And now, they provide both winter work and fuel for the needy, and are making way for young hardwood trees that are destined to be planted in their place.

HERE'S WHY HILLS BROS BANISHED "BATCH-AND-BULK" METHODS OF ROASTING COFFEE...

Unavoidable flavor variations in bulk roasting led Hills Bros to Invent Controlled Roasting

Patented process roasts "a little at a time" ... produces same exquisite flavor in every pound

As the accuracy of the hour-glass depends upon an even, continuous flow ... a little at a time ... so the uniform flavor of Hills Bros. Coffee is produced by Controlled Roasting ... the patented process roasts evenly, continuously ... "a little at a time."

Imagine roasting several hundred pounds of coffee at a time, and roasting every berry alike. And imagine duplicating the roast in each batch. It can't be done! Every batch usually varies — and so does the flavor. Hills Bros. replaced that ordinary method with their own invention and patent—Controlled Roasting. Hills Bros. Coffee flows through the roasters evenly, continuously ... a little at a time.

to expect ... the smoothest, richest flavor of the rare coffees! Hills Bros. Coffee is packed in vacuum cans, and can't go stale. The vacuum process of packing coffee is the only method that fully preserves coffee freshness—the air is removed from the can and kept out. It was originated by Hills Bros. over thirty years ago. There is no magic about a vacuum can—it will not make poor coffee good, but it will keep good coffee fresh. Order Hills Bros. Coffee, by name, and look for the Arab trade-mark on the can.

TWIN FALLS CONVENTION HEARS DR. M. G. NEALE APPEAL FOR COOPERATION

The taxpayers and the patrons in making every sacrifice that may be necessary in order that the effectiveness of the schools may be maintained.

He spoke of the Parent-Teacher associations as most effective allies in this cause, and in emphasizing its importance he referred to the wide time spirit of the French people who during that crisis kept their schools in operation close to the front line trenches.

Other speakers at the evening session included Eugene Klie, University of Idaho, southern branch, Pocatello, who discussed "Seven Objectives of Education," identifying these objectives with the objects of Parent-Teacher associations, concluding with the purpose to "secure for every child the highest, advanced physical, mental, moral and spiritual education."

John I. Hillman, Boise, executive secretary of the Idaho Education association, gave a talk on "School Finances," and in conclusion recommended reversal of taxation methods so that state and county would raise 70 instead of 30 per cent of the tax money required for operation of schools, and declared taxes for school purposes upon income, tobacco and other luxuries, whose death occurred like Christmas eve.

Mrs. John E. Hayes, Twin Falls, who was yesterday nominated as president of the Idaho Congress of Parents and Teachers the coming year, read last evening an eloquent appreciation and tribute to Dr. Russell Congdon, Cincinnati, one of the foremost of American educators whose death occurred like Christmas eve.

Mrs. Hayes, as president of the Idaho organization, would succeed Mrs. Thomas Ogden, Boise, who is presiding at convention sessions and giving the address. She was formerly a vice president and chairman of the publicly committee of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers and now is an associate editor of the National Parent-Teacher magazine.

Other candidates named in the nominating committee's report which was submitted yesterday by Mrs. H. D. Coche, Boise, chairman, were: Mrs. P. M. Sydney, Boise, for first vice president; Mrs. Wendell Phillips, Lewiston, fourth vice president; Eugene Klie, Pocatello, fifth vice president; Mrs. Louis Nagel, Boise, treasurer.

Electoral delegates numbered 127, the convention's first day, the registration being regarded as very satisfactory and proceeding that of previous years' conventions. Delegates were joined by many interested Twin Falls citizens in attendance at last evening's session.

Boise Physician Speaks
A Boise physician, Dr. Harmon Tremaine, in a remark incidental to his report to the convention on a pre-convention health conference yesterday, seemed to have taken note of the convention which had adopted as its motto, "For every child."

In these times when our children are the most assets we have, Dr. Tremaine said, "It would seem that we should make the most of them."

He presented the conference recommendation for giving special attention the coming year to study and practice relating to food and garden values, proper exercise, adequate rest in the interests of child welfare.

"Preparation for one of the big steps in the life of children—from home to school—must be made with great care," Dr. Tremaine told the pre-convention conference.

"The child's health must be satisfied, regular habits, sense of responsibility and other factors must be made part of the child's education, and the first time the child is taken from his free and easy babyhood to a place where he is expected to be on time, to remain for fixed periods and for his use has been designated in certain places, to perform certain duties."

"Large numbers of children in school are in poor condition," said. "Many of them start school poorly equipped in physical and mental health."

Much work in training students could be saved if they were in good health mentally and physically, at all times, he said, declaring it was economically good policy to give the pre-school, age child careful attention and treatment.

Thirty members of the organization, including the executive board, consisting of the officers and department chairmen, met at the Bohemian lodge, Pocatello, to consider the budget and proposed by-law for district associations which were adopted by a 2:30 P. M. when delegates and visitors assembled in the Methodist church for the opening session were welcomed by W. I. Sackett, chairman of Twin Falls board of education and Mrs. A. R. Johnson, Lewiston, district president and delegate who traveled over 800 miles to attend the convention.

Exhibits were on hand with posters illustrative of the various activities, including health, life, playground, music, character building, reading and safety. Several tables are laden with literature for guidance and inspiration of workers in these activities. One of the most interesting of the exhibits is one of a quartet composed of T. T. Bainbridge, Miss Mabel Barnes, Paul Barwell and Raymond Schwartz, with piano accompaniment by Miss Bickelstein.

Twin Falls lately organized Mother Singers chorus, composed of two public appearance at last evening's convention session, and met with a cordial reception. It is to have a part in the banquet meeting this evening, which is scheduled as one of the convention's highlights.

Mrs. Thomas Ogden, president, presided at all sessions, except the evening assembly in the high school auditorium at which Mrs. P. M. Sydney presided at a complimentary luncheon. Mrs. A. R. Johnson, Lewiston, and Mrs. Roy Evans, Twin Falls, general chairman of the local convention committee, presided. A musical program during this period of recreation included a violin and piano number by Rose Jensen and a girl string instrument group composed of Esther Jolyan, Barnes, Sarah Lauschlein, Alvin Duan, with piano accompaniment by Maxine Bickelstein.

Exhibit hall was lined with posters illustrative of the various activities, including health, life, playground, music, character building, reading and safety. Several tables are laden with literature for guidance and inspiration of workers in these activities. One of the most interesting of the exhibits is one of a quartet composed of T. T. Bainbridge, Miss Mabel Barnes, Paul Barwell and Raymond Schwartz, with piano accompaniment by Miss Bickelstein.

During a conference on "The Home and the Child," Mrs. Concho, Boise, chairman of the discussion, and good will committee, read a paper on "Training for Citizenship," in which she indicated the part to be played by the three factors, home, school and community, in this undertaking.

Leads Discussion
Mrs. Frank W. Black, Nampa, chairman of study groups department, led a round-table discussion, which developed into a practical demonstration of study group method in dealing with the members of childhood, including eight orthodox bedtimes and parental visits to attend the convention, responded, and thereafter delegates and visitors repaired to an adjoining room which, during the convention and for its use has been designated "exhibit hall," where president of Twin Falls Parent-Teacher association presided at a complimentary luncheon.

EVERY WOMAN faces this question

"How do I look to other people?"
If you have a lovely skin, attractive eyes, and plenty of enthusiasm, you need not worry.

Many women, though, risk their beauty by neglect of complexion. It often causes loss of eyes, skin, hair, eyes, plagues.

Yet constipation can be overcome by eating Kellogg's ALL-BEAN. This cereal provides "bulk" to stimulate the intestinal tract, and VITAMIN B1 tones the intestinal tract. ALL-BEAN also supplies iron for the blood.

"The All-BEAN diet is a much more palatable and not harmful process than the diet of laxatives. Special cooking processes make it easy, more palatable than a diet of laxatives.

Surveys this is safer than abusing the system with pills and drugs—so many laxatives daily will correct most types of constipation.

If your intestinal trouble is not relieved in any way, see your doctor.

Babson Recommends Slashing Of Government's Expenses And Sees Necessity For Balanced Budget

Statistician Finds 1931 Cost of Running Governments $13,000,000,000 — Fifth of National Income — and Declares Expenditure Must Be Reduced to Match Private Incomes

BABSON PARK, Florida, April 21 (Special to The News)—The current trend toward economy in Government shows that we are at last coming to our senses. This movement merits the support of everybody who wants to see a recovery in business.

England is working out of her depression by slashing expenses and curtailing her budget. The United States must follow her example.

Government costs, federal, state and local in 1931 were 13 billion dollars—more than one-fifth of the entire national income. Business, industry and agriculture in 1931 were in 75 years, is crying out for relief from this staggering burden. People have no longer the will to give one day's income out of every five to run the government. It is time to stop paying out more revenue to balance the budget, but let us not forget, while imposing taxes, we should look upon the most sweeping economies.

The trouble with government financing is that they follow the crazy principle of spending the money first and trying to raise it later. The business principle of estimating the income first and then approving the outlay is the only way that will permit there is a definite limit to the income which the government may expend without the public mind laying the golden egg, namely, business.

Current financial reports show that the only way to bring the government back to normal is by cutting out the golden eggs, namely, business. Current financial reports show that the only way to bring the government back to normal is by cutting out the golden eggs, namely, business.

It is time the public insisted on the sane and financial policy in government that applied to individuals and corporations.

PUBLIC SALARY CUTS

States	1	1	3	4
Cities and Towns	37	33	21	31
Counties	14	9	3	33
Total	52	40	28	118

The reason the states and local governments are leading the way toward cutting operating cost and curbing expenditures is that they were the first to feel the effects of impaired credit. Difficulty in accomplishing financing in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, and other cities has weakened the public in time to avoid a disastrous collapse of state and city credit.

In the meantime efforts to make similar economies in the federal government have been blocked by political grounds. A carefully planned program of salary reduction throughout all branches of the government from congress down would not only mean worth-while cutting of public costs, but more important still, would set an example which would have a good psychological effect on the whole country.

Business recovery can be speeded up only as every group makes the necessary sacrifice. With 6,000,000 totally unemployed, several million more on part time, and nearly all private workers having taken substantial reductions, there is no reason to exempt the vast army of public employes from the sacrifices which all other groups are making.

MUST BALANCE THE BUDGET
While new taxes are necessary and will be imposed to create some sort of balance for the national budget in the emergency, the real cure for our financial troubles lies in controlling the outgo.

The multitude of bureaus, commissions, and other appendages which have fastened themselves on the federal payroll in such profusion during the last 20 years should be thoroughly evaluated and those not absolutely essential should be eliminated. Unquestionably the trend of our political system since the war has been toward ever-increasing and costly bureaucracy.

This trend largely accounts for the increase of 475 per cent in federal government costs since 1913. No other nation in the world has shown such an increase. England is nearest, with 275 per cent; Holland third, with 275 per cent; Switzerland fifth, with 252 per cent.

In the United States even in our most prosperous times the public expenditures were growing much more rapidly than our national income. Now with the average family income reduced about 35 per cent since 1929, we are paying 20 per cent more than in 1929 to run our government.

WAY TO HELP BUSINESS

As I have said, the vigorous cutting of expenditures in England has brought back a balanced budget; reduced the expenditure ahead of their due date, of credits advanced to her; brought a sharp rise in sterling exchange; and a better spirit of confidence and courage to British business.

Aggressive action on our part along the same lines of government economy will do more than anything else to reestablish business confidence in the United States.

To do this, all groups must unselfishly make sacrifices for the common good. Each congressman should think that his main duty is to get something out of the federal treasury for his own section. Every community should let its congressmen know that local and sectional interests are subordinate to the big task of balancing the national budget. I believe that this change in attitude is coming, because people now see that as individuals and communities they suffer only as the whole country suffers, and prosper only as the whole country prospers.

Duck Springs Hermit Decides To Run For Office On New Platform

Eccentric Character Favors High Taxes and Plenty of Leisure For Women Folks

By LEW SWETHEE (Bury News Correspondent) "Here—sign this." The Duck Springs Hermit thrust out a document. I took it and found it to be a declaration of candidacy. Amazed, I looked up at the old man...

"I'll sign, but why do you want to run?" I asked. "The election is a dramatic feature of natural vital into a pool of dust before my gate post. He looked up at the auto whizzing past along the highway, and then down over the bluff at the broad sweep of Snake River moving leisurely and with dignified majesty toward the west."

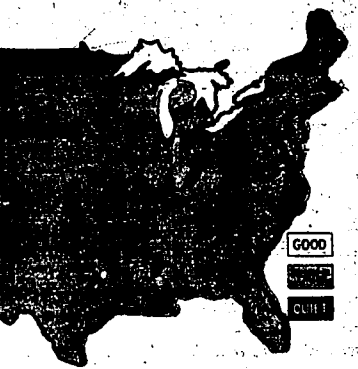

"I'm called," he proclaimed, waving both arms in a dramatic gesture. "I feel the urge to hurry to a great group of long-suffering humans who are in need of help. I have a message to deliver to them. I have a message to deliver to them. I have a message to deliver to them."

"I'm for what the people want," he replied. He pulled a splinter from his gay post, and fished about for his hat. "That is rather indefinite," I suggested. "You should have a platform."

"I'm for plenty of spendin' money," explained the Hermit. "I favors high salaries or wages. And I'm for work for us as we want it. If any does. And free sittees on the shady side of the main street corner. I'm for the purring brooks up in the hills under the wherperin' pins, and 'Here, hold on,' I blurted out...

778 FINE CHENEY TIES

At Reductions of 33 1-3 to 50%

When I closed out these ties I felt that it was the best lot of style and quality merchandise that Cheney ever gave us. Mr. McFarland and the Boys in the Department said the same thing after they came in. To procure this wonderful assortment I made a trip from New York up to their big factory and warehouses in South Manchester, Connecticut. A half day was spent in their job-lot department going through thousands of ties and selecting the stock for this sale, tie by tie. If you want some new spring ties the economical way, you will never do better than to take advantage of this offering. If you do come in I hope you like them because we are more than sold on this lot.
