

TORRENTIAL RAINS PRODUCE FLOODS

Residents in Texas, Kansas, Ohio and West Virginia Face Inundation Threats

KANSAS CITY, July 6 (AP)—Torrential rains over the holidays, accompanied by a tornado which killed three persons at Washington, Kansas, and one in Nebraska, caused floods tonight in Texas, Kansas, Ohio and West Virginia.

Even flood drains were listed in Texas where turbulent waters of the Guadalupe, Colorado, Nueces and Rio rivers; other smaller streams in the southwest part of the state damaged highways, railroad lines, swept away some houses and inundated thousands of acres of agricultural and grazing lands.

Warnings of impending danger were issued to settlements along the lower stretches of the rivers which empty into the Gulf of Mexico. Some loss of livestock was reported. The Neosho, Cottonwood and Marais des Cygnes rivers in western Kansas were on a rampage from heavy rains. At Council Grove 7.18 feet of water were reported.

It was officially predicted the Neosho and Cottonwood rivers would overflow their banks at Emporia (tomorrow). Water stood a foot deep in houses at Dunlap, 18 feet southeast of Emporia, and there was a slight overflow into a residential street in Council Grove.

Open sufficient to cause destruction as well as high water in various parts of eastern Kansas.

In southern West Virginia, flood waters left their beds, causing damage to highways, railroad bridges, farm fields and homes. Clinton and Clanton were isolated and the basements of some residences there were flooded.

The village of Garden, Ohio and Arion in Belmont county, Ohio, were inundated. Although the Ohio river was rising, it was not believed the flood threat was serious.

A two-hour downpour of nearly 2 inches started families in the Shawnee, Oklahoma, lowlands for higher ground today. Many Shawnee streets were under a deluge of water. Oklahoma City streets were turned into rivers by a deluge of 1.8 inches and the municipal airport was a lake for more than two hours.

Texas reported 1.63 inches of rain during the day.

scheduled to be presented in the house tomorrow, but there was apparently a disposition on all sides to cut red tape and reach an agreement as soon as possible. The senate and house conferees agreed on the legislation today.

In addition to congressional leaders, President Hoover called into the conference Secretary Mills and the directors of the Reconstruction corporation, Eugene Meyer, Wilson C. Carter and Jesse Jones.

Senators at the conference in addition to those named in conference tomorrow were: Watson, Republican leader; McNary, assistant Republican leader; Reed, Republican; Pennington; O'Connell, Democrat; Virginia, and Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi.

Other members of the house were: Treadway, Republican, Massachusetts; Hawley, Republican, Oregon; Crisp, Democrat, Georgia; Custer, Democrat, Mississippi; chairman of the ways and means committee and Bacharach, Republican, New Jersey.

Crisp announced the decision to postpone action in the house on the conference report.

"I have been authorized to say to the house tomorrow morning that as well as it now," Crisp said, "that the president will not approve this bill. Therefore, it is necessary to have a sub-committee to meet with him tomorrow in a further effort to reach a compromise."

The White House statement gave little additional information.

"As a conference with leaders of the senate and house," the statement said, "the president stated his objections to the form of the relief bill as it now stands."

There was general discussion of these objections and a general disposition to meet them and to reach a compromise agreement acceptable to all.

In an effort to arrive at a definite conclusion it was agreed that a sub-committee should meet with the president tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

President Hoover's sudden decision to confer with congressional leaders shortly after the final approval of the $2,100,000,000 bill today by house and senate conferees.

Before the conference was called, however, Senator Watson announced the president would veto the bill and forecast that action probably would be postponed until next congress this week end.

The president today signed another relief bill making 450,000,000 bushels of wheat and 500,000 bales of cotton held by the farm loan board available for relief of distress.

Meanwhile, President Hoover, in a brief message to congress, asked for a special appropriation of $10,000,000 to continue organization and employment relief headed by Walter S. Dill.

The president said if the funds were not provided, there would be grave danger of national, state, and local volunteer groups concluding that services such as they have rendered were no longer necessary.

SHARP CRITICISM

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt's utterances since becoming the Democratic presidential nominee Friday were sharply criticized today by two administration spokesmen—Secretary of the Interior, Senator James H. Doolittle.

The cabinet officer, who spent the week end with President Hoover in the White House, said that Roosevelt's plan for economic rehabilitation through reforestation as their visitors in Berlin some simultaneously, in another statement, Senator Moses said the New York governor's call for reforestation at Tammany Hall celebration "marked the day when Franklin D. Roosevelt threw his surrender to Tammany Hall."

"This grand project is worthy of the name," Doolittle said about the plan, "with only a reasonable degree of efficiency, one man can plant about one acre, or something near 1000 trees, per day. One million men therefore, could plant about 1,000,000,000 trees in a day. But all the nurseries in America, whether publicly or privately owned, do not produce more than 100,000,000 seedling trees available, a million men could plant them in about three hours."

"This immediate employment and economic reforestation program is a hand in hand with Roosevelt's plan," Doolittle said. "It is a plan which will create 1,000,000 jobs over a period of 15 years at a cost of $400,000,000."

of abuse at the hands of her American husband, John Barry, a theatrical singer, shortly after their marriage. Then came her passion-allow-wife affair with young Stephen, an eminent family who had been a designer of women's gowns but was without work.

In addition to supporting him, the defendant said, she gave him money for gambling, and she gambled with another woman, to whom she objected.

After the May 31 cocktail party, Mrs. Barry testified, Stephen and another man accompanied her to a apartment and went to bed. A quarrel developed and he got up and dressed, saying he was going to leave, and she told him that if he did she would kill herself.

He rushed to an arm chair, where she kept a pistol, the defendant told the jury, and seized it, saying: "Well, anyway, you won't do it with me. In the subsequent struggle," she said, "the gun was discharged and Stephen was shot."

After she related her story, the defense counsel turned to the judge and said quietly: "The case of Mrs. Barry's program would be around two millions of dollars and the man employed in the office in the bank of New York's program, 270,000 permanent employees."

50-Year Record Shows Chances In Gamble With Weather For Rainfall

Official Compiles Statistics Showing Four Degrees Of Dependability of Rain

(Associated Press Science Writer)

WASHINGTON, July 5 — Rain, never a "sure thing," is more of a gamble for farmers in some states than in others.

Dr. Oliver L. Passig of the United States weather bureau has prepared a map from statistics gathered over a period of 50 years, in some states the map shows a certain amount of rain is "sure as death and taxes" year after year. In others it may come and it may not.

Dependability of rainfall, the points-out, is as important as its amount. Knowledge that a certain amount of rain is sure to fall, year after year, even though the amount is small, is better than uncertainty whether or not it will fall in any year.

It shows four degrees of dependability, or lack of dependability. They vary from the degree of high certainty to almost complete lack of dependability in regions where irrigation has to be used in dry years.

Dr. Passig's degree of dependability are based on the ratios between the annual rainfall recorded in any one year, and the smallest.

Nine states, under this system of figuring, have the most dependable rainfall. They are Missouri, Indiana, Tennessee, New York, Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Delaware, New Jersey.

A larger group, in which it rains almost as dependably each year, includes: Washington, Oregon, Colorado, South Dakota, Kansas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, Florida, North Carolina, South Carolina, Illinois, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Maine, Connecticut, Rhode Island.

Next on the list, states where rainfall is fairly uncertain, are Idaho, Montana, North Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Kentucky, Virginia, New Mexico.

The most variable states, where any given amount of rain never can be depended upon, are listed by Dr. Passig as California, Nevada, Utah, Arizona, Wyoming, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Texas, West Virginia and Maryland.

This classification does not necessarily indicate what state has the most rainfall. Mississippi, for example, averages 52 inches of rain a year, 12 inches more than New York's average of 40. Its dependability of rainfall is less, however, for Mississippi's rain varies from 45 to 60 inches per year, while New York's annual precipitation runs within the narrow range of 35 to 45 inches.

POPE AND ROSS PLAN PLAN SESSION IN FILER

FILER, July 5 (Special to The News) — James P. Pope, mayor of Boise and Democratic candidate for United States senator, and Governor C. Ben Ross, will be speakers at a meeting held at the Filer fairgrounds tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

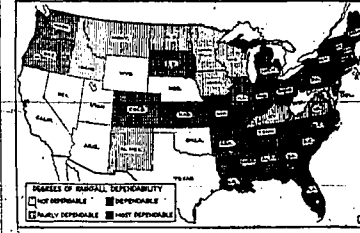

The meeting is being held following a picnic dinner at the home of Mrs. T. D. Connor this afternoon.

The general public is invited to the speaking, it was announced. Democratic women, whether members of club or not, accompanied by members of their families, are invited to the picnic dinner at 6:30 p. m. to which those attending are expected to bring covered dishes and silver.

Eleven Grand Army of the Republic posts in Indiana were suspended in the past year, leaving only 13.

Map shows four degrees of dependability of rainfall by states, based on information compiled by Dr. Oliver L. Passig, of the United States Weather Bureau in a study of variations during 50 years from 1880 to 1930.

The most variable states, where any given amount of rain never can be depended upon, are listed by Dr. Passig as California, Nevada, Utah, Arizona, Wyoming, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Texas, West Virginia and Maryland.

This classification does not necessarily indicate what state has the most rainfall. Mississippi, for example, averages 52 inches of rain a year, 12 inches more than New York's average of 40. Its dependability of rainfall is less, however, for Mississippi's rain varies from 45 to 60 inches per year, while New York's annual precipitation runs within the narrow range of 35 to 45 inches.

MAN CONFESSES

ERWIN LINER, 45-YEAR-OLD, FILM-PROJECTOR, ADMITS GUILTY OF KIDNAPING COUPLE

LOS ANGELES, July 5 (AP) — Police said tonight that after nearly 36 hours of questioning, Erwin Liner, 45-year-old film projector, had confessed the slaying last night of Edwin H. Clarke, 35, and his wife, Mrs. Joseph Clarke, 31.

Mrs. Clarke was killed in their home, where Liner had been staying. Liner admitted, the police said, that he shot Clarke through the head and then battered and stabbed Clarke to death.

The tragedy was preceded, he declared, by a quarrel in which Clarke accused him of improper dealings with Mrs. Clarke and in which both attacked him.

Clarke was a retired official of the New Jersey Bell Telephone company. At first he told police the couple was attacked by two intruders while he was in the front yard, and that he struggled with the men, receiving a wounded hand.

Police who went to the bungalow late last night in response to a telephone call from Liner found the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Clarke side by side on the floor in the middle of the room.

Liner told the officers he was watching the lawn when he heard Mrs. Clarke cry for help and that he entered the house to encounter an intruder in the dark, who began to strike him with a hammer.

The police detective Inspector David Davidson said, Liner's story revealed discrepancies and the police continued to question him until, late today, the man allegedly admitted he had not been telling the truth.

"I was told to tell the whole story," Liner said. "I want to tell the whole story." A short time before he "broke," Liner said he had been in the vicinity to the bungalow and "remembered" his original version of the story.

He said he had been in the room in re-telling the story, hammering where he saw a hammer whose handle had been broken by the force of blows raised on Clarke.

When he was confronted with his own recollection of the crime, he was ending the lives of the two he abducted again, but even when he was told the truth he continued to insist that the strangers had used it.

The crime here about two years ago from East Orange, New Jersey. He was an engineer in the construction department of the Bell Telephone system there and had filled similar positions with the New York Telephone company and Newark, New Jersey. He retired on a pension and came here for Mrs. Clarke's health.

Police said they understood that the brother of Clarke, a Syracuse automobile salesman, left today to plane for Los Angeles.

Police learned that his family and the Clarke had been friends for years. Last December, Mrs. Liner left for Manila, Philippine Islands, to visit an ill son. Stewart Liner, 21, was a shipyard worker while working for a private radio firm. Liner remained here.

BOISE, July 5 (AP) — William M. Carson, president of the Boise-Payette Lumber company who died today in Burlington, Iowa, was one of the best known lumbermen of the Pacific Northwest.

He merged the old Barber Lumber company, Boise, and the Payette Lumber company into the Boise-Payette Lumber company which has operated for a quarter century in the forests of the Boise and Payette river watersheds, supplying the market with one of its principal sources of western yellow pine.

A frequent visitor to Boise, he had a host of friends here and was identified by company officials with being responsible for operation of the plant at Boise and at Emmett to keep men employed as much as possible even when the lumber market was very poor.

He had two children, Mrs. Philip Fleming, wife of an army officer stationed at West Point, and Miss Billie Lou Carson, Burlington.

BORAH ENDORSES MATE IN SENATE

"If I Can Be of Any Service to the Nation, I Shall Be Happy"

IDAHO FALLS, July 5 (Special to The News) — Senator William E. Borah has endorsed the record of his Republican colleague, Senator John Thomas, and in a letter to M. B. Yeaman, veteran Bonnellville county legislator, declared that "if I can be of any service in the matter of his (Thomas') re-election I shall be only too happy to render it."

Because the question of Senator Borah's attitude toward Senator Thomas was often the subject of conversation, he gave attention to but Yeaman wrote Senator Borah asking for an expression of his attitude on the subject. He did not frankly tell Mr. Yeaman follows in full:

"In reply to the question which you say is being asked as to whether I am interested in my colleague's re-election I desire to say I am very much interested in it. The personal relationship between my colleague and myself is most cordial. No matter arises here of importance that we do not frankly discuss with each other. In addition to that, he is a faithful, industrious, capable senator."

"No one could be more vigilant than Senator Thomas in looking after the interests of his state. You can be assured that if I can be of any service in the matter of his re-election I shall be only too happy to render it."

"I do not know just when I shall reach Idaho. I have some matters of a personal nature which must give some attention to but I expect to be in the state before many weeks after the adjournment period. With best wishes, I am, sincerely, 'WILLIAM E. BORAH.'"

Scotland and North Ireland who are leaving America and returning to their native lands. They are not looking back for some years, and their friends and relatives are returning again. Their tickets are one-way tickets.

There is the same situation with respect to many other countries. The migration "urge" is going on from Europe to America, is now definitely setting out. The immigrants have become emigrants. We are looking for more people than we have. An era has ended.

Will our native Americans, those whose family stock has been here for generations, ever follow the backward swing and move to Europe as pioneers? It is hard to think so. That would mean a revolution indeed. Here are still the big opportunities. Here are great natural resources, still more plentiful than in the Old World. There are space and inspiration and the promise of growth. We shall have Europe battering at our doors again.

IF KIPPLING HAD WRITTEN IT (Author Unknown) "If you can see what some folks call 'depression' As nothing but a spin of Fortune's wheel; If you can keep your poise and self-possession No matter what you think or how you feel; If you can view a stupid situation All cluttered up with 'ifs' and 'ands' and 'buts' And take it as it proper valuation— A thing of your own common sense and 'guts'; If you can rise above the mass and herd— When Doubt and Dread and Fear are in a huddle And hope is being measured for an hour; If you can keep a saving sense of humor For stories that are slightly inhumane; If you can disregard Report and Rumor; And not accept a statement as a fact; If you can spread the gospel of accuracy; If you can sit at the spirit that is intangible; If you can live in the stream and the foam; And lift the lathes above a thousand; If you can spend an extra dollar; If you can pry the sacred Roll; And buy another shirt or shoe or collar; And act as if it didn't break your heart; If you have faith in those with whom you make a trade; If you can be a friend and next door neighbor; And heed examples pioneers have made; If you expect the sun to rise tomorrow; If you are sure that somewhere there is a better day; Wake up and pack away the futile sorrow; For the better days are largely up to YOU!"

TIP FOR VACATIONERS

A newspaper man who habitually spends his summer vacation in an out-of-the-way part of the Atlantic coast reports with much indignation that he hasn't seen any signs of depression there. Indeed, there seems to be more activity than usual, more building of new cottages, more opening of new shops and restaurants, more painting, repairing, etc. A native explains the anomaly thus: "You see, hardly anybody that lives here is ever in a position to be hurt by a business slump. We're all poor folks and always have been. And the summer people that come here are hearty all around, writers and such, who are not used to having much money, either. The only way we or the summer visitors know about the depression is hearing other folks talk about it. We don't see any change, so that makes us feel sort of prosperous."

There is many a place like that in the United States. In fact, the situation is characteristic of the sections and localities that have never shared in the abounding prosperity of the industrial and commercial centers and rich agricultural areas. They are accustomed to a certain manner of life which, though lower than the national standard, is better than because they know nothing better. It is good for people who are discouraged by their own decline in prosperity, real or fancied, to visit such places and discover that material well-being is, after all, mainly a matter of what one is used to, and that it is possible to be as happy with little as with much.

WASHINGTON Bystander

By KIRKE SIMPSON (Associate Press Feature Writer) CHICAGO, July 2.—This city of big things done in big ways, where the latest of the world's fashions is being put on the late show, seems destined to become the political hub of the 1932 political campaigning. Announcement of the Republican campaign in this city is being made by the party here transferred bodily from Washington. The idea behind that shift which was arranged for Hoover, approval of the Chicago bid for the nomination of the national committee, Everett Sanders, went to report to the chief at the White House, as to get away from the last of administration propaganda which might otherwise attach to every Washington date line during the campaign.

Democratic Chance 'Still, Washington will likely continue a Democratic campaign center, and for precisely the reason that the Republicans are giving it the garden party in a dress of black and chiffon with a coat of the same material. Her large hat was black straw.

WHITE FELT HATS GO WITH GAY SPORT TOTS PARIS, July 2.—White felt hats are back in style. With white and artificial silk sport frocks topped by bright colored jackets and scarves, white felt hats with trimmings and medium sized brims are the latest word in cheapsie chic.

Moscow Mining Expert Reports On 3000 Idahoans Searching for Gold

Most of Army of Prospectors Realize Only Meagre Wages to be Expected MOSCOW, July 2 (Special to The News).—Three thousand men, possibly even more, who are prospecting for gold in Idaho this summer, know rather well what they are up against, believes Dr. John W. Finch, dean of the University of Idaho school of mines. Although most of them are amateurs, they are not the type of men who expect to get a "strike" and the more experience and fortunate may come across an occasional rich placer pocket or even a gold bearing vein worthy of development.

Reports from men in the field show that the placer deposits of Idaho were mined by the miners and Chinamen, and no reports have come to the school of mines of an all-around good placer. Placer mining is yielding a living to men in Idaho, Valley, Custer, Boise, and some of the northern counties. The Idaho bureau of mines and geology is watching the movement, and one of the bureau staff members, Frank W. Shattuck, is out in the field to observe districts of the state.

Most of the men out in the Idaho hills have written at least once to the school of mining for advice and information, judging from about 3500 such requests received during the past year. All have been warned of the "strife" and the more experience and fortunate may come across an occasional rich placer pocket or even a gold bearing vein worthy of development.

UNEMPLOYED AWAIT TRAINING INSTRUCTION

W. W. Staley, Moscow, Comes To Twin Falls To Teach Placer-Gold Manipulations

W. W. Staley, Moscow, instructor in the University of Idaho, and engineer in the Idaho state school of mines and geology, will conduct a course of placer mining at the Parish hall at 10 A. M. and 2:30 P. M. today. This school is held with a view of instructing those who desire to seek placer gold how to manipulate effectively the simple piece of machinery which has changed little in design since it was utilized by man before the pyramids of Egypt and the hanging gardens of Babylon were built; and at the same time to warn workers that while under favorable circumstances they may make fair wages their chances of becoming modern examples of the fortunes of Midas are slim.

Home from Paris—H. H. Boehm, accompanied by his family, has returned after a trip to Yellowstone park.

Here from Postville—John Hood, Postville business man, was in Twin Falls yesterday looking after business interests.

Go to Mountain—Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Foy, of Postville, are spending the week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Pringle, Mrs. Foy's parents.

BURGLARS TAKE GUNS VALUED ABOUT $100

About $100 worth of pistols and ammunition was stolen from the Gorman sporting goods store, 232 Main avenue south Monday night, it was estimated last night by the proprietor, O. W. Gerrish.

Entrance was gained through a rear window from which the place was broken. There were about seven pistols, mostly 22 caliber, taken, Mr. Gerrish said. The burglars scattered ammunition over the floor after breaking open boxes in an evident effort to find cartridges that would fit the pistols. The crime was discovered by the police Tuesday morning shortly after midnight.

Mr. Gerrish said that he was unable to check up fully regarding his losses, as he and a party consisting of Mrs. Gerrish, their two sons, Ellsworth and Howard; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mahonen, and Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Whittaker had returned from the hills yesterday too late for him to go through his stock thoroughly.

He thought it possible that boys might have perpetrated the crime, he said.

FIRECRACKER TIME EXPIRES IN TWIN FALLS

Continuation of discharge of fireworks inside the city limits and firecrackers inside the city limits yesterday led to a complaint by W. C. Davis, who expressed belief that the ordinance passed June 7 prohibiting the discharge of fireworks after midnight, July 4.

The ordinance permitted discharge of fireworks inside the city from June 21 to July 5. Asked at his home last night regarding the matter, Captain E. M. Sweeney, city attorney, said that he did not have a copy of the ordinance at hand, but his recollection was that it was intended to permit such firing on June 21 and July 5 but not before or after these dates. He said that the subject was discussed at the council meeting and that the opinion was expressed that some purchasers of fireworks might carry a few left over and that it would be best to give them another day to get rid of them.

This would mean that the time limit expired at midnight last night.
