committees 1,000,000,000 revenue bill. It was reported on the house floor after a bitter struggle which eliminated a general manufacturing excise tax.

In the senate too, the sales tax was rejected. Through taxes were boosted higher and additional revenue was sought in other directions as the treasury officials estimated toward the $2,000,000,000 mark. Following the tax law to the White House was a national economy measure that reduced government salaries and other outlays, cutting over $150,000,000 from federal expenses. Appropriations too fell the economy measure, and the regular annual supply bills were slashed far below the current year's allowance. Outside the emergency program congress disposed of two legislative proposals. A constitutional amendment to abolish the lame-duck session of congress was submitted to the states. Legislation to prohibit national injunctions in labor disputes became law. Both houses passed a Democratic tariff bill to restore the flexible adjusting powers to congress, but it failed to get an adequate vote for the senate floor. The house voted overwhelmingly for Philippine independence, but the senate failed to act. Likewise Muscle Shoals legislation, another familiar stand-by of the Democratic majority, failed to get through. The house also adopted a bank-guaranty bill which the senate did not reach.

CONGRESSIONAL SESSION COMES TO END SHORTLY BEFORE MIDNIGHT HOUR (Continued From Page One)

Marching up and down. The iron gates to the grounds were swung closed. Then police in a brief tussle, cleared the street and Lafayette park, opposite the mansion. An effort to attach the McNary-Haugen equalization plan to the house bill carrying forward the house loan banking board failed, as senators refused to consider it. Offered by House majority, McNary-Haugen, it would have applied the equalization plan only to wheat as an experiment. The last hours of the senate session were filled with a mixture of humor, oratory, and bitterness. The crowded galleries were frequently warned by Vice President Curtis to maintain order as the protractor-relate was introduced. Twice during the evening Curtis warned senators to observe the rules of parliamentary procedure, once when Senator Cousins, Republican, Michigan, was making a bitter attack on Senator Watson, Republican leader. Cousins said he hoped Watson would be the first to be ousted from the senate. The Michigan senator's speech was on the decision to grant funds for operation of the home loan bank system, it finally being voted to al-passed and sent to the senate, a $200,000 appropriation for administrative expenses of the new loan system. Representative McAdams, Republican, Pennsylvania, was the principal speaker in opposition to the currency clause. He said the Glass amendment was a violation of national laws throughout the United States, and that the house had been misled by a lobbyist from Philadelphia who informed the leaders that if the house yielded there was "no chance" the president would not sign the bill. Walter Newton, one of the president's secretaries, had been on the floor frequently during the evening. There was a flurry of pleas for assistance in the "new" currency clause came over that the house had passed and broken the deadlock. The bill was passed, and supporters of the currency measure, were surrounded by their congratulatory colleagues.

The relief bill carried with it the provision for publicity on all loans to be made by the reconstruction corporation. The measure will make available $222,000,000 for public works program, when and if the treasury department can be financed without damage to government credit, and $1,500,000,000 expansion of the home loan bank system. The reconstruction corporation to be used for making loans on employment-producing self-liquidating structure. The home loan bill, in the final version, called for establishing a federal loan board supervising a system of eight to twelve home loan banks which would take up from building and loan associations, savings banks, insurance companies, and other institutions which the institutions need to unload in order to relieve themselves of foreclosure. The effect expected would be to prevent largely forced foreclosures and ease the entire mortgage loan market.

Under the disputed amendment, national banks would have the right to issue currency against United States bonds paying 3 per cent interest or less. Mrs. and Mrs. W. R. Clark entertained the Friday Evening Bridge club at their home on Normal avenue with a 7 o'clock dinner Friday evening. The after-dinner hours were spent playing bridge. Prizes were given for high scores.

Exciting arguments are under way for the observance of Pioneer day here July 23 and 24. The officers of the Burley Mutual Improvement association, organization are planning for an all-day picnic at the East park. Games and sports of various kinds will be enjoyed throughout the day with a basket lunch at noon. In the evening, a party at the Moonbeam club air-raid will bring to a close the day's entertainment. The sports in the evening will be starting for an all-day meeting with a picnic dinner at noon. The afternoon devoted to the game of music and a short program. A ball game will be a feature in the afternoon and refreshments will be served. This will conclude the day's celebration. A large crowd is planning to spend the day at the fair. A celebration is being staged. The public is invited to enjoy these celebrations and enjoy the sports.

LEAF HOPPER PROVES SCARCE NEAR BURLEY

BURLEY, July 16 (Special to The News)—Sugar beet leaf hopper is having an off season in the best fields of the Minidoka project this year, say farmers and sugar company officials. This pest, which in some years reduces the crop, is scarce in many fields, is now noticeable by its absence.

The white fly has its breeding grounds in the wild mustard and Russian thistle areas in the waste lands, and during season of migration to cultivated fields it migrates in great swarms from its desert home, during June or July. No such migration has been reported by the United States bureau of entomology at Twin Falls, this year. And beet has reached such large size, and are in such healthy condition, that the pest would have little effect on the crop from now on.

In order to record the movements of the white fly, the bureau of entomology has installed a large number of traps in the beet growing territory from Mountain Home to a point east of Declo at the border of the Minidoka project.

CASSIA COUNTY BOARD REDUCES LAND VALUES

BURLEY, July 16 (Special to The News)—Cassia county commissioners, Tuesday, reduced valuations for assessment purposes the coming year on irrigated lands.

Lands under the Cagley canal system were reduced 15 per cent, while those in the balance of Cassia county were reduced 10 per cent. Only irrigated lands were involved in the reduction.

Commissioners who took the action were Eugene Fickett, chairman, and Orson Sanders.

BURL GIRL MARRIES CONTRACTOR IN UTAH

BURL, July 16 (Special to The News)—Announcement of the marriage of Dorothea Childs Dalton to Lawrence Childs Dalton, of Utah, was received Friday by friends of the bride.

The marriage took place at Ogden, and the couple returned to Burley, where Mr. Whedler is engaged in operating a contracting and building firm. They will make their home in Burley.

The bride, who had been a resident of Burl since early childhood, is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Childs.

A NEW YORKER IN LARGE

By MARK BARON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

NEW YORK, July 16—A young man of 30, who has spent several months planning a return to his native land, was today admitted to the city of New York by the immigration authorities.

The young man, who is a native of Italy, had spent the last year and a half in New York, where he had worked for a number of years in a factory.

He is now in the city of New York, where he has a number of friends, and he is planning to stay here for some time.

FUTURE BALANCE OF POWER

By J. M. Mulvey, former secretary of State and author of "The Balance of Power in Europe"

Frank H. Kelly, former secretary of State and author of "The Balance of Power in Europe," has spoken at the Fourth of July dinner of the American Chamber of Commerce in Paris.

He spoke first of the long friendship between America and France, and then urged an end to all political and economic divisions.

Our countries, he said, are the originators of the only world-wide declaration against war. But the minds of the people and their leaders in public life are still oppressed by fear.

There have never been prevented by armed alliances. I do not believe, he said, that any nation can be secured by any other nation.

Some day, perhaps, statesmen and people will come "groping in the dark" for the final thing they need—peace.

There was a light frost in the neighborhood of Kimberly Monday morning but no damage resulted.

House of Modernized Architecture Offers Innovation in Roof Lines

By MARK BARON (Associated Press Staff Writer)

Brooklyn, N. Y., July 16—The house of modernized architecture, which was designed by the architect, offers innovation in roof lines.

The style of this house has been worked out by designers, who have taken into account the needs of the present period.

A radical departure from customary procedure has been adopted in having the roof come down behind the house walls instead of over them as is usual.

Typical requirements have been considered for a family of four to five persons who wish to build on a 50 by 100 foot lot.

Of all his facets, the most assuredly a city of vigilance, street along any street, busy through a subway, are certain to see a show as well as a drama, as tragic, as far as the scene of the water tower.

By JOEL SELBY (Associated Press Staff Writer) NEW YORK, July 16—The feeling that he has been produced a bestseller must be comforting to the author of the book "The House of Modernized Architecture."

Guiding Your Child

By MARK BARON (Associated Press Staff Writer)

A child girl out walking with her mother in a park in Boston, where she was physically incapacitated, began to look at him. She was looking at him, but her mother, grasping her by the hand, would not let her touch him.

What was the difference? queried the irremovable listless, "Boston was so far away from me as if I were a million miles away from you."

Personal note: A New Yorker's report from Wall Street, tells that they don't call them confidence anymore. Now they are called a "bull" and "bear" market.

Do you know a man in your neighborhood who is a "brownsinger"? He is a man who sings in a way that is very different from the usual singing.

Taken From the Twin Falls News Files Thursday, July 17, 1918

State Horticultural Inspector John D. McPherson and Dan J. Hart, special irrigation engineer for Idaho, were visitors in the city last Saturday, and both had occasion to make on the conditions as to work on the Irrigation Department.

The school tree growing contest, which has been conducted in Twin Falls this season, closed last Saturday with the third and final exhibition of the trees on display. The exhibits were judged by J. A. Waters and Mrs. W. E. Nelson.

Jack Diamond went to Salt Lake City to open a new recreation for the weather too hot, so he returned to Twin Falls, Idaho, and his daughter's home.

Members of the Order of the Eastern Star, the Elmer Cas, have held a meeting at the home of Mrs. J. A. Waters, where a fine supper was served at 8 o'clock.

Miss Beatrice Colander entertained a luncheon at the Rock Creek Club Sunday afternoon in courtesy to Miss Pauline Davis of Pueblo, Colorado.

The speed with which Chairman James A. Farley of the new Democratic national committee, made his way to the state Governor Roosevelt, began trying to persuade Roosevelt to accept the nomination.

In effect, Mr. Roosevelt's refusal to accept the nomination is the most decisive vote which made him governor of New York in 1920, by a mere 26,000 majority over his opponent.

When their ambitions finally crown one or the other had to go down. Youth was served again, and Al Smith, the veteran, was off the stage before the last curtain.

That is, as it were, the history of the presidential election of 1920. It was a year that has had a profound influence on shaping that "billion dollar demand for reform" which is now being heard in Chicago.

Another conference is being organized for this and coming summertime. Tentative plans for it have recently been made by the committee headed by a group of men headed by Richard Washburn Child, former ambassador to Italy.

That last distinction might be regarded as disparaging somewhat the work of other conferences and institutes, such as those of Williamson, Massachusetts, and Virginia, it is not necessary for one group to belittle the work of any other group.

COLORED COMPOSER SCORES WITH OPERA

Miss Shirley McCanns, One-time Director of Singers At Flier, Wins Praise

"Tom-Tom," the first Negro opera ever staged and performed by an all-Negro cast, which had its world premier July 1 at the Cleveland, Ohio, before an audience of 10,000 persons, marked a triumph for the composer, Miss Shirley McCanns, an outstanding musician and musical instructor and renowned student of the history of the Negro race.

Miss McCanns is remembered by a number of Twin Falls people as being the director and pianist of the Portland, Oregon, Oliver Jubilee Singers who furnished jubilee music at Twin Falls opera fair in 1927. She also gave a talk on Negro music at the Methodist church here at that time. A schoolgirl friend of both Mr. and Mrs. Herman Yarbrough, she was a general at their home during her visit in Idaho five years ago. She is the daughter of a Methodist minister and her parents are living now at Kokomo, Indiana.

Miss McCanns returned, following the jubilee singers' tour five years ago, to Columbia University, New York, to continue her study and research of the history of the Negro race. She studied also at the University of Paris, where she was one of the Negro race at the World's Aims conference two years ago. She is a member of the National Negro college, a Methodist institution for Negro young people, at Baltimore, and is now studying the music at Oberlin, Ohio.

Press dispatches received here are telling of the premier of Miss McCanns' opera "Tom-Tom" as an unassuming composer is being swamped with congratulatory expressions and her fine work as one of the world's finest race opera.

Claimant to Falls Starts Inquiries

Members of Twin Falls county sheriff's force last evening were investigating reports turned in by a number of Twin Falls citizens the past few days of a swarthy individual claiming to have repossessed lands about Shoshone Falls for the Indians, and attempting to collect a fee from visitors at the rimrock observation point, and on the first bench below the rimrock.

This individual, who claims to be an Indian, according to these reports, has told visitors the Indians have taken over the property and are planning to build an amusement resort at the falls, and fees collected from visitors are to be used for this project. Requests are made for a time or more from each visitor.

Several persons are reported to have paid the fee for the first two of last week while water was being diverted from Twin Falls dam into the river, and a considerable stream of water was running over the falls.

One evening later in the week the collector was reported to have told one visitor he would not accept the payment of a 10-cent fee that he had demanded, because "the falls are not very good this evening."

Citizens reporting to the sheriff's office expressed curiosity and resentment over the occurrence, and one of them noted disappointment over apparent neglect of earlier opportunity to secure the grounds about the falls for the public.

"I expect to run out to the falls this evening," Sheriff E. F. Prater, said yesterday, "and if anybody tries to take anything from me for looking at the falls, I am going to bring him in."

Crash At Contact Halts Park Trip

Abraham M. Parry, Jr., Los Angeles, and Henry Sullivan, Santa Monica, California, university students on a vacation trip to Yellowstone park, are laid up in Twin Falls for repairs after their car was involved in a crash without warning, on Highway 21, a short distance south of Contact last Thursday night, and crashed against two big boulders. Sullivan received a deep scalp wound and his right arm was badly bruised. Parry, who was driving, escaped without injuries. A motorist following them on the road, took them to Contact where Sullivan's wounds were dressed by a physician summoned from Wells.

The car leaped 30 feet after striking the boulders, overturned two or three times and came to rest, with two wheels missing, in a sandpit after the car had rolled over. No warning sign to indicate the road ahead in the road, it was stated.

Sullivan is the son of a former president of the University of California, who attended schools at Kellogg, Idaho.

The young men expect to continue their trip to Yellowstone. They are guests at the Perrine hotel where their car is in the repair shop here.

Traffic Officer Studies Mishaps

Three fourths of the automobile drivers involved in accidents here the first six months of this year were Twin Falls residents, according to a summary of reports given out by Ted J. Goodner, Twin Falls traffic officer, yesterday.

During six-month period, the summary shows, there were 61 accidents involving 721 motor vehicles, which 141 were passenger cars and 5 trucks. In three cases pedestrians were struck by cars. Four persons were injured in 22 accidents, and property damage was estimated at $885.

The Price of Gasoline Is DOWN And We Are Keeping It Down

Today gasoline is selling at various prices at the different stations in Twin Falls, but the price on our pumps remains the same— We forend gas to this price from 26 1/2¢ when we refused to raise our prices out of proportion to the income of the farmers and residents of this tract. Our price is the LOWEST possible price which can be put on FIRST QUALITY GASOLINE.

REMEMBER: We are selling the same quality gasoline as we have always sold in the past—the best. Do not confuse this with inferior gas made only for the purpose of so-called "price wars," which some dealers try to sell the motorists under the guise of first quality gasoline.

You will notice that the cheap "competition" gas is usually colored—possibly to cover up a cloudiness which is often noticeable in inferior gas.
