United States Submarine "Lung" Curbs Marine Disasters

MANY DEVICES AID ESCAPE OF CREWS IF VESSELS SINK

New Equipment Would Prevent Tragedies Like Recent French Calamity

NAVAL EXPERTS PLACE RELIANCE UPON "LUNG"

Steel Rescue Chambers, Radio Instruments and Buoys Also Contribute To Safety

By F. B. COLTON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—United States submarines are now better equipped than ever before for rescue of the crew in case of sea accidents.

Should an American submarine sink to the sea bottom as the French submarine Prometeo, recently lost off Cherbourg, the crew probably would be able to escape unaided provided they could keep the water from flooding the entire vessel.

Rely on Individual "Lung"
The "lung" individual rescue device developed by the navy, which would enable a submarine crew as deep as 100 feet to breathe fresh air, is the most important piece of equipment for the rescue of the crew.

Subs Also in Escape
When a submarine is in an emergency, if possible, to one compartment, the water-tight door is closed and the men in the other compartments are rescued.

Each man then grasps the buoy rope and floats out through the hatch along the rope to a distance depending on the depth.

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, Aug. 2 (AP)—Thirteen-year-old Donald Boers committed suicide tonight soon after he was reprimanded for failure to wash his hands and face.

Deaths from automobile accidents in 86 large cities have been under the 1931 figures since the middle of February.

Naval experts place great reliance on the submarine "lung" (photo), an individual rescue device developed by the navy. Procedure calls for flooding a water-tight compartment until no more water enters, air and water pressures reaching an equilibrium. Then each man, standing in the water but with his head in the big air "bubble," attaches the "lung" and passes out the hatch to safety.

OTTAWA CONFEREES ON NEW BUREAU

Conference Hears Proposal For Standardization of Industrial Materials

OTTAWA, Ontario, Canada, Aug. 2 (AP)—A permanent bureau in London to standardize industrial materials throughout the British Empire—and thereby wipe out one of the trade advantages enjoyed by American steel producers—was advocated today at a meeting of the Empire's economic negotiators.

The duties of such a bureau would include such items as ensuring that the same standards be used for ordered steel from a British mill would get the same product he is accustomed to receive from America.

In order to gain any material share of the Canadian market for such items as machinery, industrial and agricultural equipment, British manufacturers either must adopt the same standards as the American or bring about a wide swing in the British pattern.

Conference observers waited with considerable interest today for the British minister, Sir. Bennett, Canada, to a British request for a wider use of metric measurements in Canada.

Preference on wheat might arise in two days, either by quota or by tariff, he said. Both have been explored by consultation as yet.

Answering a question as to whether he intended the representation made against tariff and quotas by spokesmen of the grain industry last week, Bennett said that the government would not discuss the matter until the time was ripe.

BONUS ARMY GETS ORDERS TO "STICK"

"You fell three hours in Johnsonville to stick until we can formulate some other plan."

Waters' aid at the bonus marchers' camp in Washington, had been minimal all day. None of the marchers seemed to know where he was.

Waters announced after a conference with Governor Albert C. Ritchie in Annapolis late today that "local difficulties" prevented the projected haven at Waterford, Maryland, for the present and that therefore he would advise his followers here to disband.

These Bonus seeking war veterans in Washington had to make way for the march of progress as the government set up its equipment to tear down their temporary shanty town homes along lower Pennsylvania avenue. When eviction orders were carried out some of the groups were seen peacefully as these fellows showed their ire by hurling bricks at the officers. — (AP) Photo.

General Manager of Amalgamated Sugar Company—And Party—Visit Here

"Best beet prospects for Idaho and Utah are the best that they have ever been in the history of this section," declared H. A. Bunnag, general manager of the Amalgamated Sugar Company, on his arrival last night, with a party of five other company officials to visit the Twin Falls factory today.

"Sugar prices are going up," he continued, "and we hope that they will continue to do so. It is to be hoped that more beet sugar and less cane sugar will be used here. Under the terms of the contract with the growers and the company, divide live, live, every bag of sugar bought in this section will mean increased profit to the local grower, on account of the saving in freight and extra handling charges."

"General conditions are apparently improving as evidenced by increased prices for stocks and for a number of products, and we have recently reached the bottom and are on the upward grade."

Other members of the party were R. H. Fullman, who works here as a district manager for the combined Twin Falls, and Durley, Rupert and Pocatello, W. B. Bagnall, Ogden, Utah, manager; J. R. Bachman, Ogden, secretary and assistant general manager; W. H. Bagnall, general superintendent; and A. J. Forbe, Ogden, chief engineer.

THRIVING CROPS OF SUGAR BEETS TAKE EYE OF TOURISTS

Growers in Day's Travel in Hansen and Murtaugh Districts See Some of Region's Promise of Wealth

Nearly 100 growers and other interested persons participated yesterday in the first of a three-day series of sugar beet tours, inspecting 44 farms in the Murtaugh and Hansen districts. Some of this region's thriving beet crops, that give promise of yields ranging from 15,000 to 20,000 tons per acre.

Exceptionally good beet crops are growing throughout the Twin Falls area. The county agent who arranged the tours in cooperation with the Amalgamated Sugar Company, said, beet yields already have reached a stage of development where they would yield 15 tons per acre if dug today. There is practically no evidence of curling top or other defects in the Murtaugh and Hansen districts, crops are being well cared for.

Besides the county agent, Ray Hansen, district manager of the Amalgamated Sugar company agricultural superintendent, and other men in the district, a number of the federal bureau of plant industry, made the tour yesterday.

With growers, discussed production methods and conditions. The second day sugar beet tours will center at the Amalgamated sugar plant here at 1 P. M. today and spend an hour on the Matt Hansen farm, where the advantages of fall plowing, relative advantages of fall and spring plowing, and extending the season of beet production are being discussed.

On Thursday afternoon the third day of the tour will take the party to farms in the Piler and Duhl districts.

Fertilizer Pays

Growers on yesterday's tour found convincing evidence of the advantage of fertilization of the beet crop, by use either of phosphate or fertilizer. Phosphate had been used on fully one-third of the fields visited during the day.

A marked contrast in the drill used for seeding and fertilizing the crop at the same operation on the Hansen farm was noted in the field in which the row that failed to receive the fertilizer was plainly visible between other rows of more luxuriant growth.

In several instances, members of the tour were told, producers of crops that growers had previously considered plowing up earlier in the season, had been left, and in four such fields yields of from 15 to 18 tons per acre were indicated.

Late planted crops, on account of cold, wet season and chances of curley top seemed to be making satisfactory progress. One field on the M. Bergrove farm that was re-seeded May 12, to replace a poor 10 to 15-ton-per-acre crop. The crop was heavily fertilized with phosphate.

Financial conditions of the county crop or other disease this season was strikingly exemplified on the Hansen farm where nearly 200 acres of beet had been grown, and where the crop grown from ordinary commercial seed shows less than one-half of 1 per cent disease, and a disease-resistant strain is virtually free from disease.

In general, fields that were plowed last fall showed a better stand than the spring-plowed fields. Irrigation with 12-hour runs at intervals of 7 to 10 days, is indicated as most satisfactory for successful crop production in the season.

None of the beet fields visited yesterday will yield less than 10-ton yields according to the county agent's forecast. Last night, and today, there were plenty of fields that will yield 22 to 24 tons per acre.

RECORD-BATTERING TALENT RUNS WILD AMID WORLD MARKS

en are the hammer throw, broad jump and high jump.

The women's record in the discus throw twice was surpassed before Lillian Copeland, American girl who won the Olympic gold off the decisive throw of 133 feet 2 inches, was enabled her to beat Ruth Osborne, Shelbyville, Missouri, who had previously set a record of 117 feet 6 inches. Stella Walsh, the Polish girl who won in crevice, tossed world record 130 feet 2 inches in the third day when she won the women's 100-meter championship in 1:19 second. This was her time for each of two years.

Yankers Shine in Hurdles

The prospect of a 1-2-3 finish for America in the high hurdles final tomorrow was increased by the dazzling performance of the United States' team. After Jack Keller, Ohio State, had skinned the 110-meter barrier in 1:43 seconds, the American record, Galing came right back, in the second semi-final, to nose out his team mate, Harold, in 1:44. Galing, another slice off the Olympic mark books touching the world record here, finally by two Scandinavian, Wainstrom, Sweden, and Bjork, Finland.

Bjork, who eliminated in the semifinals, finishing no less than fifth in the race won by Keller.

The United States' son in third place, the responsibility of the American team, Gordon, Iowa Negro, came through with the best leg in the broad jump.

Lambert Reed, second and Dick Harbo, southern Californian, fifth.

Former Champions Defeated

The big surprise was the defeat of the two-time world record holder, Chubb, Kansas, who had held the world record for the 100-meter dash since 1928, did not qualify among the six finalists.

This was the 200-meter dash, where just a breeze, in the first round, for the American side, including Edie Toan, New 100-meter champion, Ralph Biscione, and George Simons, Nov. of the entire, apparently seeing the handwriting on the wall, failed to qualify.

Canada, 1928 champion, Williams pulled a muscle in the 100-meter dash, and in the 200-meter dash, he was eliminated yesterday.

Metcalf was clocked in 2:15 seconds in the first 200-meter quarter-mile race. Olympic records that has stood since 1904 at 2:16. The American Negro was not extending himself as he had been wont to do, South Africa, by a close margin.

Taken Comes Back

Tolan came right back in the second 200-meter quarter-mile to equal Metcalf's new Olympic mark of 2:15 seconds, or the best Pearson, Canada, and Williams, according to the results of two American Negroes, only a 2 inches apart in the 100-meter final yesterday. This was on even terms for the day.

The Argentine, Carlos Lutz, breezed through the 100-meter dash, beating the Greek, George Simons, and lowering the Olympic mark another notch to 1:15.2 seconds, a brilliant performance.

The old Olympic mark of 2:16 seconds taking a severe beating, because of the fact of 2:09 seconds set in final of the final round.

Oregon Boy Wins in Trials

Billie Hill, Oregon boy running for the United States, won the broad jump by out-running the famous Finnish star and world record holder, Lutz Lehman, in the 1:51 5000-meter trial. Hill set the pace all the way and raced away from Lehman when the latter was on the last turn, winning by 30 yards.

The second 1000-meter heat was won by Billie Hill, England, in the time of 1:52.83. He had Paul Hecker, United States, by 10 yards, thereby becoming the first American in the qualifying list of 40 runners for the final, scheduled Friday. Dan Dean, Pennsylvania boy, was in the seventh and thus qualifying position in the first heat.

The customers set a new Olympic attendance record during the first day, approximately 45,000 strong, to increase the total for three days of track and field to approximately 120,000. The total attendance for eight days at Amsterdam in the 1928 games was 100,000, a new high for the turn-of-the-century world.

Experts in estimating attendance suggested that the total would be in excess of 400,000.

ACCUSED YOUNG MEN ACCEPT LEGAL AID

Youths Face Prosecution For Automobile Theft, Elect to Stand Trial

In the district court here yesterday, Leonard Begonia, 19, and his companion, Wayne Baller, accused in a grand larceny charge of theft of an automobile in Twin Falls last July 24, declined to avail themselves of an attorney's assistance, and were led back to the county jail to await trial during the September district court term.

On arraignment in justice of the peace H. M. Hollers court here last Wednesday, the accused young men waived preliminary hearings and, according to the magistrate's records, advised that they were guilty of the theft charge.

In the district court yesterday, though, when District Judge Adam B. Barclay, Jerome, inquired whether they had retained counsel or desired a legal adviser, they promptly let it be known that they would welcome such assistance.

The accused young men are charged with theft of an automobile belonging to Lee Logan, Twin Falls. They were arrested and brought back here on July 24.

A parcel that they left at the Boise police station, according to a report of the Boise police, is thought to contain two loaded revolvers.

The young men are held in the county jail here for lack of $1000 bond each.

GUARDIANSHIP TRUST FALLS UPON FRIENDS

The will which William Zenas Beaman, for nearly 25 years a prominent Twin Falls citizen and business man, dictated and signed on July 2, 1921, a little more than a year before his death last Tuesday, provided for the guardianship of his only son, William, who was named as executor.

Under the will there was bequeathed to four persons each, the residue of the estate consisting of insurance and securities exceeding $100,000, and real estate, including residence property in Twin Falls and three summer cabins on Lake Shoshone, being left to the children—Virginia Smith, the only surviving child.

The daughter, the will suggested, is to make her home with Mrs. Elizabeth Shattuck, her deceased mother's sister, and in any event she is to make her home where she will be happiest and where she will have fullest opportunity for development into ripe, rich womanhood.

Mr. Taylor was named in the will both as executor and guardian, and William Beaman, his son, was named as trustee.

Maxwell as trustee in the event the trust could not be completed.

Persons named in the will are Miss George Combs, sister of the late Mrs. Smith; Mrs. Lulu McGowan, her aunt; Mrs. Stella Smith, the widow of W. M. Smith, and William Zenas Smith, his nephew.

Mr. Ashton and Edwin A. Wilson signed the will as witnesses.

Hearing on the petition for probate and for issuance of letters testamentary will be held next August 13.
