Oliver Dutra Wins Medal On Links

Ripping West Wind Blows Several Big Favorites Out of Golf Competition

PAUL, Aug. 30 (AP)—Rippling winds of the coast west wind today blew several big favorites right out of the picture. Oliver Dutra, gay Calaveras golfer, captured the professional golf championship medal at Kailash today.

Dutra, always known as one of the best midwesterners, out of the four rounds of 72, out of the 36 holes, to win the medal for the 25-year margin over Horton Smith, Chicago, who came in with a last-round run of 71 for his 144, equalling last year's.

Three of the greatest championship favorites in the starting field of 104 fell in the headless struggle against the wind—Harry Gurney, who had a red hot pick because of his great record in the 1929 St. Paul open over the same course, and Gene Greenwell, Connecticut, 1921 national open champion, and Tommy Arnold, Detroit, a former champion. The great triumvirate fell in a "udden death" play-off at one hole, but each won 20 strokes down the fairway after two places. Two of the longest shots in the parade, Art Espinoza, Chicago, and Al Collins, Kansas City, won with birds' three.

Johnny Farrell, another former national open king; Mike Turusa, Willie Scott, Morris Davis, and the Hawaiian, Dave Clendenen, also were numbered in the victims. Their scores booming from the play-off point of 181 to 183.

Dutra's iron carried him to victory along with the devastating wind today. On his morning tee, he was so accurate with his approach that he pulled for birdie on almost every stroke of the 69th yard lay-out, ending up with a 67. He had 33 for a 67.

As Kailash, Ralph Blounthouse, Indiana, and a former champion, North Carolina, who crashed in with a pair of 70s on the morning round 4, and the other elements of the afternoon, Dutra stormed over the course with a 33-36-69 that sent him over the 180 mark this time.

Nothing Venture

by Patricia Wentworth

STONOR: Nan, horrified as she saw the plot to kill her, was the man she had married. A "business proposition" to save her from a large fortune, she was to meet and marry him. Robert Leonard, friend of her father, was the man who had arranged for her to meet him. And she was to be married to him in a little while. She was to be married to him in a little while. She was to be married to him in a little while.

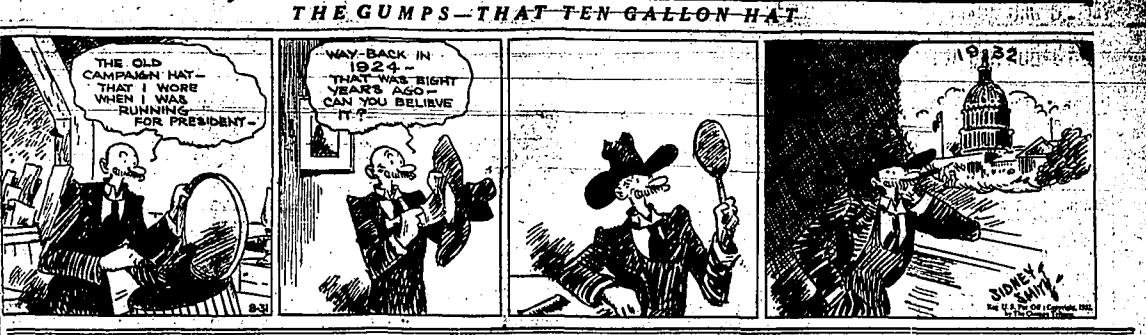

Chapter 9
"A WARE TALK"
Francis left Nan and Jerry standing where he had found them. Nan and Jerry looked at each other and for a moment a gleam of humor gave to each of them a sense of intimacy. To be able to laugh at a moment like this one of the three indissoluble bonds.

"You explain about my not being able to dine with him - won't you?"
"Jerry put his head back a little; it made his chin jut out. It was an obstinate chin."
"Why didn't you dine with him?"
"If Nan had assumed that she was going to dine with him, Jerry would probably have felt annoyed."

"You'd have heaps to say to each other, I should be in the way."
"Well, if you start come, he'll think you're offending."
"Do you want me to come?" she asked.
"Well, I do - if it wouldn't bore you too much."
"Oh, it wouldn't bore me," she said.
"You see," he said, "if you don't come, I'll think it odd, or he'll think you're angry. I'm very fond of you and I hate to see anything hurt that way, and..." He hesitated, then flashed her a look of something like appeal. "I don't think there's any really any reason why he should think anything about it."
"I'll come if you want me to," said Nan.
"That's ever met, and Jerry felt something that he had not felt before."
Both of them came out of that moment with a faint sense of shock. Jerry sought sight of the station clock and exclaimed,
"Poor old Page will be cursing me!"
With a queer leap of pulse Nan remembered that she had forgotten to actually forget, why she had come to meet Jerry.

TEMPERANCE UNION OF FIFTH DISTRICT HOLDS CONVENTION

Federal Prohibition Officer Says Six Southern Idaho Sheriffs Fail to Give Full Cooperation

Mrs. Zora Elder, Twin Falls, was elected president of the fifth district Women's Christian Temperance Union at a meeting attended by 70 persons from Buhl, Burley, Paul, Rupert and Twin Falls in the afternoon of the first Christian church yesterday. Other officers elected were: Mrs. J. M. McHenry, Buhl, recording secretary; Mrs. Edith Knight, Twin Falls, corresponding secretary; and Miss Hattie Rhymerason, Burley, treasurer.

Resolutions at the morning session were offered by Mrs. O. P. Burton, Buhl, in the absence of the president, Mrs. Elder, due to the illness of Mr. Elder, the meeting was presided over by Mrs. May O. Blake, state recording secretary, who was introduced and introduced Miss Lilla Grace Matheson, Neenah, Wisconsin, field secretary of the national organization, who spoke briefly. Mrs. J. A. Bennett, Rupert, responded to the address of welcome. Mrs. C. C. Corfield, Twin Falls, made an address, after which reports of different standing committees were made by Mrs. J. Bennett, Rupert; Mrs. Lila Benedict, Paul; Mrs. Porterfield, Twin Falls; Mrs. L. Driscoll, Buhl; and Mrs. Florence Smith, Twin Falls. Miss Matheson led community singing for which Mrs. F. B. Sell played the accompaniment.

The following committees were appointed: Secretary—Miss Mattie Luntz, Buhl; Mrs. Rhymerason, Burley. Resolutions—Mrs. M. A. Trucklow, Twin Falls; Mrs. Bennett, Rupert; Mrs. Benedict, Paul.

Membership—Mrs. Theodora Colson, Twin Falls; Mrs. Mary A. Wells.

Following donations led by Mrs. Donahue and election of officers, the convention was taken up by addresses by E. D. Paris, Twin Falls, federal prohibition enforcement officer of the district, and Mrs. M. A. Bennett, and Miss Matheson, and by the reading of the plank of the national Republican platform on prohibition, by Mrs. F. A. Goody, Buhl, Twin Falls; Mrs. Ducklow, Neenah, Wisconsin, in acceptance speeches of presidential and vice presidential candidates on the subject. Disapproval was either indicated or voiced regarding all of them, except that of Vice President O'Brien, which received approval. It was noted that the delegates at the national convention at Seattle were greatly disappointed at the address of President Hoover on this subject. Democratic nominees were not specifically named in the general discussion.

In his address, Mr. Paris said that enforcement during the last eight years under federal prohibitions had been greatly improved conditions. During his three years service in Twin Falls 10 large distilleries across the Nevada line had been put out of business and four proprietors had been sent to the penitentiary. Some of these plants had been set up as $3000 a contract, he said. Reno federal officers, he said, had cooperated when requested. Not only one distillery, evidently a small one in the vicinity of Contact, is operating, he declared, and so far has been located. He said that he passed a full year of nights on roads leading to Nevada, during his three years here.

Asked regarding cooperation of local officers, Mr. Paris reminded the meeting that his district included 10 counties. He said officers were cooperating, though now inclined to be on the fence, perhaps on account of the approaching election. Later, Mr. Paris said "Six outfits in this district are as good as shut out from the fence, and one in O. K." He did not name the officers in the three districts. He declared that the government urged the federal officers to get those making sales, and to get at the source of supply. It is the duty of the local officers to get after sales of home brew, he declared, as the federal officers are assistants to the local men in cases of that kind.

Willie Willis by Robert Quillen

However, if anyone would let them know where sales were being made and indicate that such were probably taking place, he would cooperate and the matter of those giving information would not be revealed. He said he had known instances where Mr. Paris did not state whether these cases took place during his three years in southern Idaho or not.

He said that large distilleries in this section no longer existed. The people now largely had what they wanted in the way of entertainment in Idaho the law was well enforced; in Nevada and Montana which are not now state-wide the law was not well enforced. He criticized drinking scenes in motion picture shows but said that was something working at a disadvantage on an important stage at the Legion Memorial building here last evening, Birch, the magician, and his company entertained the audience throughout their program by nearly two hours duration with a series of colorful and baffling illusions. A half dozen and a flow of wit and clever repartee.

Alternately Birch had his audience chuckling with mirth and gazing in wide-eyed wonderment at his almost miraculous feats of magic.

With his opening numbers Birch called the small boys and girls in the audience to his assistance, and it is a tribute to his ready wit that he had his own in a rapid-fire conversation.

to be taken care of by the national head, and could not be handled well locally.

He vigorously denied the statement that there has been an increase of drinking among young folks under the operation of prohibition.

Miss Matheson cited figures in which she showed a two-thirds quantity of liquor, from alcoholism in numbers of deaths in a hospital under operation of prohibition. She made an eloquent plea for cooperation in law enforcement and maintenance of the federal prohibition service.

At the night session at the First Christian church, following a banquet in the parlors of the First Methodist Episcopal church, Miss Matheson traced the history of the United States from 1772 in Massachusetts until the present day and made a plea for retention and enforcement of the Eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act, as a patriotic and religious duty.

The outstanding, spectacular acts came later in the performance, when Birch created the illusion of actually quaring a beautiful young woman with a huge meat axe, and of driving spikes through the wrists and neck of a young man drawn from the audience and screamed reluctantly to play his part in the performance. Then Birch caused the pony Princess to disappear, while a half dozen boys and girls stood near at hand and couldn't tell where the pony went.

In just one-sixteenth of a minute Birch was discovered outside the wooden box in which the Twin Falls operator who built it had two assistants had secretly nailed the magician, shaking hands with him just before they lowered the lid.

The program was well balanced with gorgeous display of color in lighting and setting and equipment. It was a great prediction that if and when Birch returns to Twin Falls, he will play to a packed house, because every one in his audience last night is an enthusiastic booster for him.
