KIMBERLY HEARS CAMPAIGN TALKS

Dr. S. W. McClure Comments On Roosevelt's Position Regarding Sugar Tariff

KIMBERLY, Oct. 18 (Special to The News)—Dr. S. W. McClure, D. M., former secretary of the National Growers' Association, told an audience of about 100 persons at a Republican rally in the high school building here this evening that reduction of the sugar tariff to which Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic presidential candidate, has just secured approval, would close permanently every sugar factory in the Intermountain region and in the United States.

"Governor Roosevelt does not dare to repudiate his implied endorsement of a 50 per cent reduction of the sugar tariff, which constitutes an 80 per cent reduction in the present sugar tariff," Dr. McClure said. "He is not to be trusted. International bankers who have a billion dollars invested in Cuban sugar plantations would at once cease contributing to the Democratic campaign fund."

Other speakers at this evening's meeting were R. K. Dillingham, Filner, one of the county's three Republican candidates for state representative, and Captain F. M. Swezey, Twin Falls city attorney. Dr. J. N. Dyer, member of the Republican committee, introduced F. C. Shuesberger, Republican county chairman, as chairman of the meeting. The audience united in community singing at the opening of the meeting, and at the close Robert E. Smith, secretary of the county and elder, presided.

Mr. Dillingham outlined a program for Republican members of the next legislature, including reduction of state automobile excise, reduction of state highway building, and reduction and allocation of the gasoline tax to provide for maintenance of state highways and reimbursement of counties and highway districts for their part in building the state highway system.

Hills Blazing Taxes

Captain Swezey renewed his criticism of Twin Falls county commissioners' business and financial policies, and called upon them to explain 1932 county tax appropriations totaling $1,025,000, which, he said, are almost double the amount of appropriations for the same time in 1930. He pointed out that county taxes have increased to such an extent without necessity for redemption of bonds or maintenance of roads or bridges that it is necessary to take up a $60,000 deficit caused by commissioners' expenditures in excess of income last year, and he said, the commissioner will go into next year with a still bigger deficit.

"In two years," Captain Swezey said, "the commissioners haven't yet found out that the taxpayers have a right to know what they are getting for their money, and to intelligently question county expenditures to offset these excessive conditions."

Dealing with commissioners' mileage claims, Captain Swezey said, "The commissioners' bills in September when the county auditor refused to issue warrants for their mileage claims, that the attorney general and the county attorney held these claims to be illegal. In spite of that, though, both commissioners who are candidates for reelection put their bills for mileage, and allowed it to themselves at their first meeting in October."

Captain Swezey took from the county records a number of individual bills filed by the commissioners. One of these claims, No. 1446, paid by Warrant No. 2780, was for $218.25 for mileage, bananas, cantaloupes, cookies and "one fry, 50 cents." Another, No. 1454, paid by warrant No. 2783, was for lemons and oranges, oysters, candy twice, berries, pineapple and apples. Captain Swezey said he had written to make public his letter to them last January inviting a conference in regard to safeguarding of public funds deposited in banks.

baby which, she says, is expected early next year.

Reynolds' letter again reiterated the family conviction that Smith was not of the mental temperament to commit suicide, and that the "old maid" was not a "spooking Smith" at all, and that realizing the true state of affairs, she had, in fact, convinced that his attitude toward life was such that he would never have intentionally killed himself.

At the inquest, Mrs. Reynolds and Walker both testified young Reynolds had made suicide threats at various times, and especially in the days before he died.

Young Reynolds, one of four heirs to the tobacco millions of his father, died at Reynolds, was found lying with a bullet wound through his head about 1 A. M. July 6 at Reynolds. The family called Bert Short after a birthday party had broken up.

In the inquest, Mrs. Reynolds recalled that she had seen her son in her bed on the sleeping porch, with a bullet hole in his head, and then everything "went black."

Aviator Tells of Flying Serum West to Mrs. Borah's Physician

BOISE, Oct. 18 (Sp.)—A Hindu drama of night flying over the Pacific, which was the story of the flight of William F. Borah at sea, was related here today in a letter received from one of his friends.

The story was related in the letter from Mrs. Walter Seebree, Pasadena, California, to Mrs. Borah, and she quoted from a letter from her son, who had been flying to the west, to his mother.

"I carried many important messages in my four years of night flying, but this was somewhat different. I couldn't say I felt thrilled—all I know is that I was glad to be home and to see you once in that trip. I really felt that I myself was doing what I could to help you."

He flew the serum to Cleveland where another plane was waiting to speed it on to Boise. It arrived early in the morning of Saturday, September 24, and Mrs. Borah's physician immediately administered it. Her improvement was marked from that period and she is now, her physician reports, well on the road to recovery."

from parliament.

The start of the demonstration was very peaceful and escorted by the police. Banners waved and the demonstrators sang.

Then came a rush for Westminster bridgehead, a prelude to a dash for the forbidden territory of parliament square, where a monster demonstration for additional unemployment relief apparently had been planned.

The police summoned motor reinforcements and for the first time in the history of the city, the demonstrators began to fly and in a very short while there were many bloody heads among the police as well as the demonstrators.

As the afternoon wore on, it appeared that the police were going to prevent the riot from spreading across the Thames. Then the demonstrators executed a strategy that smacked at military tactics.

The "Bobbies" cleared the crooked narrow streets one at a time around the council hall, only to find swarms of door protesters advancing along some quiet and quiet streets.

In Bonhill street, under the shadow of the walls of Lambeth palace, where seven centuries ago the monks of Canterbury had lived, three boys were trapped by a surprise charge of rioters, and one of them was injured, but not before one officer dropped under a barrage of rocks.

Other ancient streets close by the lower ecclesiastical precincts saw the same kind of thing, and at St. Thomas' hospital nearby a virtual clearing house for casualties.

At night, the rioters, who were in the hands, however, and the trouble would have been over, had not gangs of rosy youths taken advantage of the turmoil to commence looting.

They chose Diney Marsh street to start. A tailor lost an entire window display. A candy store was wrecked. A huge lump of concrete crashed through a radio shop window, and the proprietor fended off the crowd with a cudgel.

By 11 P. M. most of the troubled area was quiet, the demonstrators having been dispersed and started on their way home, although the police were still busy clearing the streets.

A force of constables remained to guard the county hall, and all approaches to parliament square from the south were ordered heavily guarded throughout the night.

A check at midnight showed 20 policemen had been severely injured by missiles, kicks and blows. They were granted sick leave until they recovered, but many others suffered minor injuries.

Eight of the rioters were seriously hurt, and treated at St. Thomas' hospital. Many disturbed the peace, who had been hurt by police clubs went to their homes without applying for treatment. Others described as demonstrators or looters were arrested by police during the outbreak.

serious conditions, at least it is important to know that unmistakable signs are of inauspicious of a throwing off of the depressed feeling to which business has been subjected.

The recent improvement in general business "data indicators" generally speaking, was widely to accommodate seasonal increases in demand and to prepare distributor inventories for such increases. The survey adds: "There is, to be sure, a fairly general opinion that the upturn recently was fundamental and that a further expansion will be witnessed in late winter or early spring. For the immediate future, however, production schedules will be based strictly on orders for replacement of stocks and to fill seasonal needs."

Of companies reporting, 86 per cent experienced an expansion in September over August, and only 12 per cent, a decrease.

largely on whether the state cooperation manifested in the production compact of September, 1931, and in the creation of the oil states' advisory committee, is continued on permanent basis through an interstate compact, or is relaxed as conditions improve.

"Unless satisfactory machinery for stabilizing the production branch is adopted, no improvement in refining and marketing practices will be wholly effective, but if constructive tendencies on the production side are met by permanent and corresponding improvements in the other branches may be expected to follow."

In a section of its report dealing with balancing supply and demand, the board said:

"Both the immediate potential supply of crude oil and the quantity recoverable over a period of years are dependent upon a factor which no state has found means to effectively control, and which stimulates production without direct relationship to the demand for oil—a system of offsetting necessitated by the prevalent doctrine of ownership."

The state's authority to control this basic factor, drilling, is largely untested except for some successful efforts to control spacing of wells. No state has endeavored to declare an oil pool to be a unit and to require the development of it as a unit for the common protection of all owners.

Start With Production

In the main, efforts of the states to effect stabilization have commenced with the production phase and have left the development phase entirely untouched.

"There has been increasing recognition that the states can solve the problem if they act together, and that an interstate agreement for coordination of production programs with joint estimates of demand, coupled with strict control of output, is an effective method."

The body recommended uniform gasoline tax laws, explaining that it did not mean a uniform tax rate, but contending existing rates "are resulting in 'diminishing returns' of tax money." It set forth as five major requirements of a uniform tax law:

"The rate should not be unduly high; the incidence of the tax should be uniform, with no exemptions for material actually used as motor fuel; definition of the material subject to the tax should be broad; funds from the tax should not be diverted to uses other than for the benefit of motor vehicles; prompt payment of tax collections to the state."

FRIENDS PAY TRIBUTE TO EDISON'S MEMORY

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 18 (Sp.)—Memory of Thomas A. Edison, the great inventor, was honored here today at a simple ceremony in which his former co-workers and family played the principal parts.

At 3:34 A. M.—the time the inventor died just a year ago today—hundreds of his former associates stood in the dark and rain and placed a wreath on the Edison grave.

Not a word was spoken. The men bowed in silent prayer, then filed silently away.

At noon, a memorial service was held in Mr. Edison's laboratory at the West Orange plant. The laboratory had not been used since the inventor's death. His workbench was sealed. It was draped in purple and surrounded by flowers. Regalia, including a "top hat" of the inventor, were on the table.

There were about 300 persons at the memorial service. Mr. John E. Sloan, the three sons of the late inventor, Thomas J., Theodore and Charles, accompanied by Mr. John E. Sloan and his former secretary, William R. Meadowcroft.

YOUR CAR WILL NEED ANTI-FREEZE TONIGHT

EVEREADY PRESTONE

You're right—it's cold. And you need anti-freeze in the cooling system of your car at once! In unheated garages, and out on the street, cars won't be safe tonight without an anti-freeze. You must act quickly—go to your dealer or garage-man and have him put in Eveready Prestone without delay. Why Eveready Prestone rather than something else . . . ?

BEFORE YOU BUY ANY ANTI-FREEZE, read these facts

EVEREADY PRESTONE is different from all other anti-freezes—there is nothing else like it. In developing Eveready Prestone, the Laboratory of the Carbide and Carbon Company, keeping in mind the requirements of the U. S. Bureau of Standards for an ideal anti-freeze, have perfected a product that satisfies the following specifications:

Eveready Prestone does not boil away. So it does not require frequent renewal, nor does it leave the car unprotected when a cold snap follows warm weather.

Eveready Prestone is different from all other anti-freezes—there is nothing else like it. In developing Eveready Prestone, the Laboratory of the Carbide and Carbon Company, keeping in mind the requirements of the U. S. Bureau of Standards for an ideal anti-freeze, have perfected a product that satisfies the following specifications:

Many products, because of their thickness in the concentrated form, are sold as water-diluted solutions. The cost of carrying and shipping plus water is thus borne by the public. Eveready Prestone is packaged as a concentrated product, not water-diluted. It's ALL anti-freeze! You know what you are getting for your money!

NOW REDUCED IN PRICE

Eveready Prestone now comes to you at a substantial reduction in price. Today it offers the safest and most economical anti-freeze you can buy for all-weather protection.

And Eveready Prestone also brings you protection against rust and corrosion. On brass, copper, solder, aluminum and zinc, it reduces the corrosive action of the water in the cooling system at least 75%. On cast iron, 95%.

Eveready Prestone is approved by all car manufacturers and guaranteed by National Carbon Company. Put it in—today.

NATIONAL CARBON COMPANY, INC.
General Office: New York, N. Y.
Date of Patent: U.S. Pat. 1,644,000

THIS POPULAR-PRICE CAR, operating in a colder-than-normal season, needs only one half gallon of concentrated Eveready Prestone to protect it all winter long. Cost $225. No scale, no corrosion—absolute safety.

If you buy a water-diluted anti-freeze for a car, remember that you are paying for a large amount of plain, ordinary water, as well for anti-freeze material. The latter, per gallon, therefore, cannot be compared with the cost per gallon of concentrated Eveready Prestone. Obviously, you will need a much greater amount of the diluted product to get the same protection.

If heavy anti-freeze is used, there must be one-half gallon of the same protection cannot be computed on the number of cold snaps. Mean-while frequent renewals, checking, trouble and depend.

THIS MEDIUM-SIZE CAR, in an average-weather season, needs only one gallon of concentrated Eveready Prestone to protect it all winter long. Cost $225. No scale, no corrosion—absolute safety.

The cost of enough water-diluted anti-freeze to give this car the same protection cannot be computed unless you know how much anti-freeze and how much water there is in the product you buy. Some brands contain as much as 25% plain water. Low cost per gallon, therefore, means nothing. If heavy anti-freeze is used, there must be one-half gallon of the same protection cannot be computed on the number of cold snaps. Mean-while frequent renewals, checking, trouble and depend.

THIS LARGE CAR, operating in a severe-weather season, needs only two gallons of concentrated Eveready Prestone. Cost $225. No scale, no corrosion—absolute safety.

You can buy a water-diluted anti-freeze at a lower cost per gallon, but you will have to buy much more than two gallons to get the same protection. If heavy anti-freeze is used, there must be one-half gallon of the same protection cannot be computed on the number of cold snaps. Mean-while frequent renewals, checking, trouble and depend.

OUR BANK

The people of Twin Falls have before them an opportunity to perform a very wonderful community service by lending their aid in the work of putting over the plans of the local committee for the reopening of the Twin Falls Bank and Trust Company.

Undoubtedly the plan is the best which can be devised. Local business men in conference with officials of the Federal Reserve Bank and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation have worked out the plan...

If it is put into effect it will work. If the depositors of the closed bank attach to the business men of Twin Falls generally what it is put into effect, and are willing to help it...

It is up to the people of Twin Falls. If enough of them want it opened it will be opened; if not it will be another case of reversivity with all that that implies.

It is up to the old Twin Falls spirit would do it. An attitude of indifference, suspicion or even unwillingness to wholeheartedly support the movement will defeat it.

The committee has done its work and it is up to you to open it. It is up to you to accept or reject the plan.

GOVERNOR ROOSEVELT has not attempted to deny that he favors a reduction of at least eighty per cent in the present tariff on sugar.

When it was first learned that Governor Roosevelt had replied to this Cuban suggestion with the statement that it afforded him a great deal of pleasure, the news was received with interest and appreciation by his friends in neighboring countries.

Now he finds that he did actually sign the letter, but he says, "At the time I signed it I had no knowledge of any reference to that tariff that communication from La Osa Grande."

PEOPLE who live in glass houses—will they never throw a stone? It is to those alone that Franklin D. Roosevelt is now revealed as one of these—hurting his brickbats at the administration of the man whose name he bears.

Read it in the facsimile reproduction herewith. It is the first of a series of United European Investors, Ltd., Franklin D. Roosevelt, a concern proposing profits in the holding of German marks and German securities.

This appeal to the American public was published just five months before the German financial collapse, when three thousand million marks were equal to about thirty cents in American money.

From this glass house Candidate Roosevelt hurls his rocks at the "international bankers" who are the unsuspecting American public with worthless foreign securities.

What is an "international banker"? There has never been a definition. When all Germany went bankrupt in 1923, Roosevelt was there over more worthless foreign securities than any other man.

Idaho Attorney General Sues Strange Issue Based on Officials' Obeying Law

DAKLEY, Idaho, Oct. 18 (Special to The News)—Frank J. Babcock, Idaho attorney general and Republican nominee for re-election, today announced that he is suing the state attorney general for claiming the attorney general's office failed to support his program.

"This," Mr. Babcock said, "is in regard to the claim that the Republican party is being based upon the fact that a state officer has obeyed the law. The argument of the Democratic party is that the present time of stress warrants the board's violating the law in order to accomplish some relief."

Mr. Babcock reviewed litigation over income and alcohol tax laws and other matters in which his office has been engaged, and pointed out that "this office has not lost a civil case which originated in the litigation of the supreme court of this state, or any of the federal courts or in the supreme court of the United States."

In the prosecution of Henry Guzman, Idaho Equipment company president convicted of fraud against the state, Mr. Babcock said he used the entire resources of his office at the governor's disposal in November, 1931, and delegated two assistants from his office to assist the prosecuting attorney.

A PATH TO PARADISE

by Connelly DAWSON

SYNOPSIS: Clive waits in the deserted house of Santa Dawn's parents for Santa. He waits to propose to her. Santa has been waiting for him. Santa is beautiful, but Clive cannot penetrate her flippancy, and dashes out of the house when she flirts about a "sample" many authors know whether she wants him. But Mrs. Dawn hurriedly snatches her daughter away to Europe, feeling that Clive is making an impression after all.

CLIVE'S NIGHT RIDE

From the hotel behind him Clive could hear the thump of dance music. From the veranda where he sat alone in the blue August dusk, he could see dimly the girls escaping by their escorts. In the rose-garden below the terrace, couples began to appear. With groping headlights automobiles shot out, gathered speed and vanished. He could guess their errand by imagination he followed them. A girl and a man who had not known each other till within the past few hours, had accidentally on the bathing beach or golf-course, had taken a momentary shine to each other. Tomorrow, they would be married.

What did they gain by experimenting? When the real thing arrived, it would find them with blunted appetites. On the other hand there was the bright theory. One might step through life saving up for a great event that never happened.

Suddenly he caught a glimpse of himself. Good Santa, see him now, how he could imagine!

"Clive, darling, you are a dumb-bell!"

Because he was saving himself for her, he was acting like a monk. She wouldn't thank him for his loyalty; she would treat it as an injury.

"Time enough for that, when you're married," she would tell him. Her name made his head throb. He applied that. Her face was instinct with longing, yet longing that was impetuous. Her dark bobbed head was boyish; her hazel eyes melting. She had a trick of incoherence, very appealing, in the way she employed her capable hands. She created the impression of needing protection.

It was out of the question that she should live up to his ideal of appearance. She didn't attempt it; she was outrageously modern. Yet she had all and sundry with ray-line, particularly the red that was a flick beside the still waters of her gentleness. She had the belief that she could restore their souls. Clive's soul was an example of his fastidiousness. All and sundry had whined her off to Europe, his days had been a protracted torment. On shipboard, he had planned to marry her, but a more eligible Apollo. Every detail of her conduct and attire would be planned to startle him as was accessible. Each time the picking-up process had been accomplished by her mother, having an air of respectability, would decidedly vary.

(Copyright 1931-1932, Connelly Dawson)

Clive's heart beat in his throat. He was emerging from his corner when a bell-hop accosted him. "A telegram. Been paging you ever since you came in." Clive's heart beat in his throat. He was emerging from his corner when a bell-hop accosted him. "A telegram. Been paging you ever since you came in." Clive's heart beat in his throat.
