SPEAKER GARNER FINDS HOOVER'S POLICIES FAULTY

Executive "Must Do More Than Apologize for Things As They Are," Declares Texas Man in Statement

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Speaker Garner, in a formal statement today asserted "President Hoover must do more than apologize for things as they are." He said he would answer on his record.

"The Democratic vice-presidential nomination was made through the Democratic national committee. He quoted from the 1928 campaign address of Mr. Hoover and the recent speech by the president at Cleveland. He commented:

"Mr. Hoover must say why the promises which he made in other days have not been carried out to the letter. He must give a general text to which Mr. Hoover should have confined himself. He should have said that he would do his best to carry out his speech of acceptance four years ago.

"Every man," he said, "has a right to ask of us whether the United States is a better place for him, his wife and his children to live in because the Republican party has conducted the government for nearly eight years."

"Mr. Hoover must say why the promises which he made in other days have not been carried out to the letter. He must give a general text to which Mr. Hoover should have confined himself. He should have said that he would do his best to carry out his speech of acceptance four years ago.

GOVERNOR REPLIES TO H. C. BALDRIDGE

Treasurer's Daily Balance On October 18 Revealed

Cash Total of $1,560,919

BOISE, Oct. 20 (AP)—Governor Ross replied in an open letter to former Governor H. C. Baldridge today to the challenge of the former chief executive to save savings made during the administration when the general fund of the state treasury, two weeks ago, showed a balance of $400.

Declaring that expense of this year are payable out of collections from the last half of this year and the first half of next year, Governor Ross said the treasurer's daily cash balance at the close of business October 18 was $1,560,919.

"As to the balance you refer to, Mr. Baldridge," the letter said, "you may not know that there is in excess of $200,000 due to the state from various counties for state taxes levied in 1931, and the reason these state taxes have not been collected is because of the Hoover property, and because what is called a similar action in the present great economic crisis.

"When this $200,000 unpaid balance due to the state from the counties is paid in we shall have ample money to meet our obligations, and this administration is in no wise responsible for the existence of this condition."

He presented a summary of savings in payments and appropriations which he said totaled $388,241, which, coupled with savings by the legislature in necessary and special sessions, he said, would bring the total savings to $586,241.

"These savings," he said in the letter, "represented the amount deposited in the state treasury by the budget officer would be carried over from their appropriations at the end of the biennium, December 31.

BURLEY WELCOMES BYRON DEFEENBACH

In view of the current national and local depression. Party recognizes the dire need and distress of the people of Idaho, as expressed in the Democratic platform of two years ago. Mr. Deffenbach said, "Our only course has been to respond with any remedy.

Enlarging on this theme, the speaker showed that the budget which Governor G. Ben Ross presented to the state legislature in 1931, in connection with his message, called for the largest appropriations contained in any message ever presented in the history of the state.

"That is our campaign," he declared. "Our party is pledged to a 25 per cent reduction in cost of state government."

Mr. Deffenbach began his address with a brief reference to national affairs. He said there is a political theory that in times of distress the American people demand a change. He said that in times of stress the people of the United States turn to the Republican party, and they have never failed to do so.

"The speaker declared that a similar action in the present great economic crisis.

Arthur Dunn, prominent Republican leader, introduced the chairman of the Young Republican club, G. Reed Lewis, who presented Mr. Deffenbach. The county ticket, was introduced and George Day, Oakley, appeared as the other principal speaker. The meeting was at the Latter-Day Saints hall.

FRED E. LUKENS ANSWERS CRITICS

Secretary of State Attributes Department Savings To Decreased Business

BOISE, Idaho, Oct. 20 (AP)—Replying to charges that his operations as secretary of state have cost the department $17,000 more than during a year of the present administration, Fred E. Lukens today declared in an address here tonight that the savings should have been considerably smaller because "the business of the department has fallen off."

He said the department under the present administration had saved over $5041 in clerical expense while it should have made a saving of $1,298, because there was a reduction of 7 per cent in car licenses and 43 per cent in new car sales, with consequent reduction in certification and title work.

"The balance of the savings claimed by the present administration, $11,993, because there was a reduction of 7 per cent in car licenses and 43 per cent in new car sales, with consequent reduction in certification and title work.

"But what record of accomplishment can the present administration show for 1931?" he said. The patrol under his administration turned in $12,542 in fines, $20,000 in fees, a total of $32,542, he said, while the total was $31,900. In addition, he said, the force made 1149 arrests, tested 62,960 lights and tested and corrected 14,733 brakes.

Answers—Other Charges

Answering charges of excessive postage expense in his administration, he replied that the falling off in business of the department during 1931 would account for the difference.

"On the matter of saving of postage," he said, "I myself in 1931 instituted the present plan for distribution of license plates by the seasons rather than by mail. This has resulted in a saving of postage of at least $50,000 for the eight years.

"Taking up the attack of his trip in 1929 to Boston and Toronto, Canada, to the American Prison Congress and the Association of Secretaries of State, he said the expense was kept under $5 a day other than car expense, and a saving of freight by buying the automobile back East had reduced the cost of the trip to $16.

ment upon whether the president himself might mention the Pittsburgh address either in Detroit or at any of the 19 stops of his special tour route.

Meanwhile, plans for the president's campaign activities after his return to office were further rounded out. Republican leaders in New York said arrangements were being made for him to speak there in Madison Square Garden either on October 31 or November 1. It was said requests were being made that the chief executive appear in Boston, Newark and Philadelphia also.

Information Not Available

One of the chief executive's secretaries said today that definite information would not be available for some time as to the White House upon the president's future campaign plans.

Mr. Hoover, after his early morning medicine ball game today, was immediately to the Lincoln study and did not appear in the executive offices until last noon. After conferring briefly with those who waited to see him there, and posing for two photographs on the lawn outside, he returned to his study again for the remainder of the afternoon.

Secretary Stimson joined him at luncheon.

Representative Bowman, Republican, West Virginia, one of the more vocal critics of Hoover, said Mr. Hoover there was a swing toward him in West Virginia, but that depressive factors in the bituminous coal industry there were in need of correction.

The railroads and other purchasers, Bowman said, have come to dictate the prices they will pay for coal.

ENGINEER BAGS MOOSE WITH BOW AND ARROW

BRING GEORGE, British Columbia, Oct. 20 (AP)—With a bull moose as further proof of the effectiveness of the bow and arrow in big game hunting, Forrest Nagler, hydraulic engineer of Wauwatosa, Wisconsin, left here today on route home.

Nagler said he brought down the moose in 47 yards with his third arrow in the big game country north of here.

As the animal crossed his trail at 27 yards distance, he said, he made his first hit, missed at 40 yards and threw the moose at 47 yards with an arrow through its heart.

The property tax rate at Clearwater, Florida, was cut 0.5 mills this year.

"The Democratic party contained no false prophecies such as the spokesman of the Republican party during that period. There is nothing in the record to show that any Democrat made a fallacious claim like President Hoover's when, in his speech at Madison Square Garden, he said:

"Property is no idle expression. It is a job for every man. It is the safety and safeguard of every business and every home. A cancer in the policy of the Republican party, it is fundamentally necessary to the future advancement of this program and other

A survey of United States religious bodies, conducted by Dr. George Linn Kieffer (right), indicates virtually all shrinking in the increase of 4,743,049 over the five-year period 1926-1931. The accompanying chart shows how three of the religious bodies most important numerically shared in the widespread gains.

Virtually every large religious body in the country made membership gains between the government census of 1926 and Dr. Kieffer's survey for 1931.

The highest of these were 1,507,825 for the Roman Catholic, 931,339 for the Baptists, and 811,274 for the Methodists. The total net gain between 1926 and 1931 was 4,743,049.

Dr. Kieffer tabulated reports from 100 religious bodies, 720 of which were divisions of the 20 major groups.

Catholic Increase Noted
The Roman Catholics, numbered 20,000,000 in 1926, a five-year gain of 1,507,825.

Two other Catholic bodies, the Polish National Catholics and the Old Catholic Churches in America, brought the total membership of what Dr. Kieffer calls the Western Catholics to 22,277,000, an increase of 1,332,753.

The 18 bodies of Baptists numbered 9,311,339 in 1926, and 10,191,274 in 1931, a gain of 880,000.

The 17 bodies of Lutherans gained 2,000,000 members, a gain of 422,236.

The 1926 government census of religion showed a membership of 4,081,242 in Jewish congregations.

The nine Presbyterian churches showed a total membership of 2,603,009, a gain of 59,721.

With a total of 1,973,442, the two largest of the Protestant churches registered a gain of 164,133.

The Protestant Episcopal church had 1,924,798 members, a decrease of 27,103.

The combined Congregational and Christian churches had a total of 1,037,714, a gain of 43,223.

Later-Day Saints Gain
The total gain of the Latter-Day Saints was 97,719, making a total membership of 703,247.

The United Methodist Church had 702,018 members, a decrease of 44,819.

The 11 Free Evangelical bodies gained 46,227 to make their total 567,247.

The four bodies of the Reformed Church had 570,231 members, a decrease of 46,720.

The five groups of United Brethren showed a gain of 18,622 to bring their total to 414,577.

The only figures available for the Church of Christ, Scientist show 202,008 members in 1926.

The live groups of Brethren (Dunkards) had an increase of 18,172, making a total of 176,711.

Oliver's Trend Upward
A gain of 61,278 for a total membership of 102,355 was registered by the five bodies of Adventists.

The Assembly of God had 121,566, an increase of 73,616.

The 10 branches of the Mennonites gained 16,707 to bring their membership to 103,262.

The four groups of Friends totaled 107,262, a decrease of 3,160.

Locally, the Salvation Army totaled 3,072, a gain of 26,005; the Church of the Nazarene gained 27,721 for a total of 91,300; the three bodies of the Scandinavian Evangelical Church increased their membership 4103 to total 52,887; the three Pentecostal churches staged 6863 for a total of 37,616; the bodies of Moravians gained 7711

RIVAL CANDIDATES' TRAILS CROSS HERE

Byron Defenbach and C. Ben Ross Bring Campaigns to Twin Falls Country

Rival candidates for election as governor of Idaho will carry on their campaigns the next few days in and about Twin Falls.

Byron Defenbach, Republican nominee for governor, addressed a meeting at Burley last evening, came here last night and will be introduced at a public meeting at the Legion Memorial building in Twin Falls at 1 P. M. today at which John McCall, San Francisco, the man who nominated Herbert Hoover for the presidency four years ago, is to be the principal speaker.

Mr. Defenbach will speak at Eden at 4 P. M. this afternoon and at Jerome this evening.

On Saturday evening he is to address a meeting at Rupert, and on Monday evening next he will speak at Burley.

Governor C. Ben Ross, Democratic candidate for election is to speak in Twin Falls next Monday evening. He will be accompanied here by the usual other Democratic candidates for state offices, including Harry C. Parsons, Twin Falls, candidate for state auditor, who has been campaigning in north Idaho for several days.

DRIVER ESCAPES HURTS AS CAR SKIDS ON TOP

Passers-by who saw a light coupe overturn and slide on its top for 30 yards in the middle of the highway

Two-and-one-half miles west of Twin Falls yesterday afternoon, found the driver, unharmed, and permitted him to continue piloting the machine toward Twin Falls after they got it upright again on the road. Word of the occurrence came to police headquarters, and officers met the driver at the city's outskirts. The driver, E. N. Hubbard, residing north of Curry, was held pending the outcome of investigation into the occurrence. The car was said to have been borrowed from I. D. Amos.

VOLVA ECLIPSE THEORY
CHICAGO (AP)—Wilbur Glenn Voliva, overseer of the Zion City religious colony near here, saw no reason for retreating his contention that the world is flat just because of the eclipse of the sun. "All it is in Twin Falls next Monday evening, moon gets in the way the sunlight other Democratic candidates for state offices, including Harry C. Parsons, Twin Falls, candidate for state auditor, who has been campaigning in north Idaho for several days.

JUDGE ASSESSES HERDER FOR SHEEP THAT DIED

A shepherd is not liable for payment to the owner for sheep that die from natural causes, but must pay for a sheep that falls in a canal and drowns while under his care.

Probate Judge Guy L. Kinney ruled here yesterday in entering judgment in favor of Merritt Finney for $103 from Sam Elrod, Twin Falls. The suit was tried two days before.

Finney sued for $108 wages while employed by Elrod as a shepherd, from April 12 to July 20, 1930. Elrod admitted the claim but contended Finney should pay for seven ewes and one buck that he failed to return to the owner out of 120 ewes, 88 lambs and seven bucks.

Evidence indicated six of the animals died from natural causes and one drowned in a canal. The judge ruled that from Finney's claim to pay for the sheep that drowned.

ITALY AIDS VETERANS
ROME (AP)—Italian ex-servicemen out of work are to be assisted in finding jobs on farms, according to an agreement between the ex-servicemen and the National Confederation of Fascist Syndicates of Agriculture. The agreement gives veterans greater freedom in migrating from one province to another than the average Italian worker enjoys.

Bovis tuberculosis in Idaho reached a new low mark of 101 per cent infection during the fiscal year ending last June 30.

RUSSELL TAKES OVER CONTRACT OF BURNS
E. E. Burns who had had the contract as merchant policeman has disposed of it to Thomas Russell. Mr. Russell has been working for Mr. Burns for the last four years during which time Mr. Burns was on the regular police force and had Mr. Russell employed to perform the duties of merchant policeman. Mr. Burns is now connected with Bert Eberhart in the second-hand furniture business formerly owned by Henry Poler at 240 Main avenue south.

SHAW FLYER FOR MOSCOW
MOSCOW (AP)—Translation has been begun here of George Bernard Shaw's play, "To Be or Not to Be," which is to be produced here during the coming theatrical season. It is produced in the "real bolshoi manner."

Democratic Candidate for Congress Brings Campaign To Home Here of Veteran Opponent in Election

Thomas G. Coffin, Pocatello, Democratic candidate for Second Idaho district representative in Congress, addressed a gathering of about 300 persons in the Legion Memorial building here last night, chief of the inauguration of the Republican national administration, and the expulsion of the "boon" expeditionary force from Washington as an example of asserted impudence on the part of the president, and explained at length his reasons for advocating modification of the Volstead act and repeal of the Eighteenth amendment.

John W. Taylor, Buhl, former Twin Falls county prosecuting attorney, brought an instant Republican political in explanation of his own recent transfer of affiliation to the Democratic party, and the reasons for his county affairs, attributed to inherited delirious the causes of increased county tax levies.

John Campbell, Bole, Democratic candidate for state mine inspector, spoke briefly referring to his own work in the important industry, and suggesting improvements in administration of the mine inspection office.

Democratic candidates for legislative and county officers were mentioned by J. J. Gammart, Democratic county chairman, following two numbers at the opening of the meeting by Twin Falls ball players, who were singing red, blue, and white songs, and were paraded through the business district immediately.

"A Different Age" Introducing Mr. Coffin, Adner B. Wilson, Twin Falls, Democratic congressional district campaign chairman, said in the address in Twin Falls of Addison T. Smith, member of congress for 20 years and Mr. Coffin's opponent at the coming election. "We all like Addison T. Smith," Mr. Wilson said, "but we have a different age in the national administration that should be repudiated."

"Coffin did not refer in any manner to his opponent in the congressional race. 'I am, appealing to your judgment,' he asserted. "The American people," he said, "are interested in the cities of the world. Their concern with respect to the great depression has nothing whatever to do with the cities of the world. These causes, when understood, may point the way to the remedies. The interest in political platitudes and prayers. What we want is action rather than rhetoric, and applied to the moon rather than excuses and explanations."

Finally for Father "In the affairs of government there is no such thing as a free lunch. An administration, and that penalty is applied whenever the electorate is convinced of a crime that the administration has failed. The disappointing and wholly futile effort of the Republican administration to balance the national budget leaves no ground for doubt among informed men that a change is needed. When the genuine receipts of the treasury finally brought home to our governing bodies that we were going into the red to the extent of $100,000,000 a month, when drastic retrenchment in expenses was demanded for our country, our administration in effect said to the people, 'We cannot reduce our expenditures, and we will continue to bring our tax revenues up to our expenditures, and we will continue to increase in tax burden the experience of the American people in years, the treasury report of the first quarter of this fiscal year made public on October 1, revealed a deficit of over $400,000. In other words we were going into the red more than at any similar period—New-Harbert—Hoozoo—President of the United States."

"Common sense applied to the situation would result in a practical program rather than continuing to include in hope for better things to be brought about by the government, in grape juice."

and other materials for making in-ventions—baseballs. "With prohibition, that is no longer a moral or economic experiment," he declared, "we have placed in the hands of the underworld a liquor business from which it derives an annual revenue of $3,000,000,000 a year, one-third of which amount, at least, is used to corrupt the administration of the law."

Dance Requires Skilled Footwork ---But Head Also Plays Vital Role

Dora Duby, the American dancer who began as a protegee of Pavlova, says that success in the dance art depends upon headwork as well as heelwork. 'Good dancing is no longer just a question of legs and arms,' she contends. These photos show her rehearsing on the rooftop in Paris, where she has been developing new numbers.

afterward to present her program in New York. The Spanish and glittering robes she wore when she paraded across the stage of the Casino de Paris with Maurice Chevalier a few years ago have been swept from her scheme of things.

Costumes, she thinks, should be colorful and fascinating, but not so glamorous that they detract from the dancer. The musical comedy and the crash of jazz which accompanied her pirouettes in New York have been banished too.

SUGAR MAKERS PAY $16,000 IN WAGES

Semi-Monthly Payroll at Amalgamated Plant Here Puts Money into Circulation

Cash in the sum of $16,000 for the first 15 days of October was paid yesterday to employees of the Amalgamated Sugar company of Pocatello, which includes the Idaho factory here. It was stated last night by R. H. Tallman, district manager. This includes pay for employees in the factory and on the dumps. About $14,000 of this goes to workers in this county, mostly in Twin Falls.

HILLS BROS' PATENTED PROCESS "DOES RIGHT" BY THE RARE BLEND OF COFFEES

Controlled-Roasting develops every berry to its fullest and finest flavor. The marvelous flavor of Hills Bros. Coffee is partly due to skillful blending. But if the blend were roasted by ordinary methods, it might have a flavor you wouldn't like! This coffee really owes its flavor to Hills Bros' patented roasting process.

Ordinarily, coffee is roasted in bulk. But Hills Bros. roast a little at a time... evenly, continuously, by Controlled Roasting. Under roasting or over-roasting, resulting in a varying flavor, is possible with the bulk method. But Hills Bros' patented process positively prevents that! Every berry is evenly roasted... done to the perfect degree that develops the most delightful flavor.

Hills Bros. Coffee is packed in vacuum cans, and can't go stale. The vacuum process of packing coffee is the only method that fully preserves coffee freshness—the air is removed from the can and kept out. It was originated by Hills Bros. over thirty years ago. There is no magic about a vacuum can—it will not make poor coffee good, but it will keep good coffee fresh.

Order Hills Bros. Coffee by name, and look for the Arab-trade-mark on the can.

SYNOPSIS: Olive, driving wild, reviews his situation. He loves Santa, daughter of his guardian, Dana. Dana, the blonde, filled in favor of the handsome man who became his father. Parly through jealousy of Olive, Santa's mother has had Santa confined, most of what they said.

Suddenly, with premeditated abruptness she flung down her racket.

"Gather up the balls, Dicky, and carry them to the house. Olive and I will be with you in a second."

She led the way to a little room where an arched stool beside the swimming-pool. The men was profligate.

"Get rid of him," Olive-whispered.

"Rid-of-whom?"

"The foreigner."

"He? He? Olive dear and as much American as you are."

Having gazed herself in the arched mirror, she smiled.

"Nice old thing."

She shot him a melting glance. "But I'm a widow," she said. "I'm a widow, and you're a young man across the net spoke with equal fluency. As far as Olive was concerned, most of what they said."

Suddenly, with premeditated abruptness she flung down her racket.

Chapter 4

ENTER, DICKY DAWK.

Spick and span after a bath at his club and a telephone-call to Santa, Olive set out on the last lap of his long drive from Cape Cod to the Dawn country place in New Jersey.

The Dawn butler had told him Santa was out, and he had suspected the lie. This time, however, he thought the butler's motive. Preliminary speech would spoil the high ecstasy of their impetuous drama. Like all lovers, Olive was hastening to an ambush.

After an hour's drive through lovely summer country defaced by advertisements and hot-dog stands, he came to a village. Here, in a green area of stately lawns grew up a cool white house, immaculate as a yacht at anchor. Partly screened from public gaze by flowering shrubs and rose-covered pergolas, turning in at the neat drive, he came to a hall with a flourish beneath the smiling windows. Springs-out, he took his horn accidentally.

Before he could knock his uniform maid had opened. She invited him to sit on the bench. During her service with the Dawns she had seen so many of these girls in Client uniforms, the orgie's treasure was still intact, and the spry young Jacks, where Olive's Santa was on the courts playing tennis. With a grateful grin he signified that he would go to it.

At this point his romantic imaginations related a box on the table, her voice close to him through the brooding stillness, addressing someone as "Dicky, darling," and the girl was quickly followed by another who took the girl's hand and kissed her on the cheek. "Daddy's been told, if that's what you call consenting. He was atrocious. She shrugged her delicate shoulders.

"Daddy's not complimentary. He's my life partner, a tennis."

"Good grief, Santa! What kind of a mother gave you?"

"She asked on the defensive."

"I'm a widow on horseback!"

"You mean to learn about each other," she chafed him.

Olive concealed his ebullience by shouting—Santa's bells—meaning she had made French with the man across the net spoke with equal fluency. As far as Olive was concerned, most of what they said.

Suddenly, with premeditated abruptness she flung down her racket.

"Gather up the balls, Dicky, and carry them to the house. Olive and I will be with you in a second."

She led the way to a little room where an arched stool beside the swimming-pool. The men was profligate.

"Get rid of him," Olive-whispered.

"Rid-of-whom?"

"The foreigner."

Having gazed herself in the arched mirror, she smiled.

"Nice old thing."

She shot him a melting glance. "But I'm a widow," she said. "I'm a widow, and you're a young man across the net spoke with equal fluency. As far as Olive was concerned, most of what they said."

Suddenly, with premeditated abruptness she flung down her racket.

"Gather up the balls, Dicky, and carry them to the house. Olive and I will be with you in a second."

She led the way to a little room where an arched stool beside the swimming-pool. The men was profligate.

"Get rid of him," Olive-whispered.

"Rid-of-whom?"

"The foreigner."

Having gazed herself in the arched mirror, she smiled.

"Nice old thing."

STRIKING ILLINOIS coal miners who gathered at Taylorville, Illinois, to commemorate the anniversary of the historic Pullman strike, were prevented from marching by national guardsmen, who arrested hundreds. (P) Photo.

"Nearby everything," he blurted. "Put yourself in her place and suppose you had a girl like her. Wouldn't you rather see her single forever than the wife of a man nearly old enough to be her father?"

"Don't exaggerate, Olive. It's only fourteen years older than I."

"Only? Then he's only six years younger than your mother. She must be crazy old!"

"You've got it wrong, Olive. I'm following my instincts—doing what I consider wise."

"Consider a girl," he snapped. "Let me ask one question. Do you love him?"

"No, it's so dumb as to marry for love nowadays."

"Then for what?"

"Companionship."

New Merchandise Arriving at the Idaho Department Store

And that's what makes shopping so interesting at the I. D. Store these days. While most stores are only buying the barest necessities we are continuing to give Twin Falls people a style service as in the past. If it's good and in demand you have probably noticed that the I. D. Store shows it first.

TWIN FALLS' ONLY HOME OWNED DEPT STORE GUARANTEES YOUR PURCHASES—"IF IT ISN'T RIGHT BRING IT BACK"

Thirty per cent of the total butter production of the Challenge Cream and Butter association comes from Idaho, and 12 per cent of the total production from the Jerome Cooperative creamery. It was stated last evening by C. W. Mitchell, Los Angeles, production manager of the company, who was here attending the meeting of the board of directors of the association.

W. J. Higdon, president of the association, said that while the future of the dairy industry is difficult to predict at this time, the dairy industry is at least equal to any other in the world and always actually sell its product, which was not true of all industries. Mr. Mitchell stated that wool could always actually sell its product, which was not true of all industries. Mr. Mitchell stated that wool

Considers Legislation

All of the organizations connected with the company were represented yesterday and spent the day in consulting with the legislative committee devoted its time to legislation pending in California, but has no fixed list report, though legislation complete. It was stated that so far there had been no consideration of national or Idaho legislation, and so far as could be ascertained none would be taken up, it is said.

The legislative committee spent the day considering routine business, it was said. No information regarding its report was given out. The by-product committee will meet this morning to take up consideration of canned, dried skim milk and dried buttermilk. All the directors of the affiliated organizations were represented yesterday at the sessions in the Park hotel. A large number of members from all parts of Idaho are expected today. It was stated that the general board meeting will come to order this morning.
 A feature of the session yesterday was a business dinner for the directors given by the Jerome Cooperative Creamery under the direction of Roy D. Smith, manager of the Jerome Institution and one of the vice presidents of the Challenge organization.

ONLY ONE CONSOLATION

There is only one consoling thing about our present depression and that is, everything one has to buy is much less now than during the good times. Especially is this true with the cost of foods. Last year we thought prices could never be lower, but many new 1932 foods are selling for less than last year. Shop around and learn where your money
 goes the farthest,
 then you will do all your buying at our store.

FLOUR

Some people say that new wheat does not make the best flour. Well, old wheat flour is still available if it would be well to buy in a supply. Today we are selling the 45-lb. bags of Gold Standard 85c or standard 85c (all hard wheat) for 85c.

TOMATOES

Fresh Tomatoes are about gone. Many people are using large quantities of cans and tomatoes
 now for the harvest crew. Today we are selling the large size can of solid pack tomatoes at 8c per can or $1.92 per case.

WILL BE OFFERED IN THE MEN'S STORE FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

I closed out this lot of winter outdoor garments last February at the end of the season from the largest manufacturer of fine leather clothing in Boston, Massachusetts. They have been packed away in our warehouse ever since. Leather garments touched their low point at that time. Every one was cashing in their left over winter stocks for anything they would bring. I knew they were sold to me for way less than the market but I didn't know how much less until we checked the town this Fall. You can save real money on every garment in this lot. Please verify our statements by your comparison.
