group of men could be assembled in Wall street whose combined opinion would be more highly respected by the insurance community than the stock directors, representing the strongest banking interests in the country. And as the dividend action was awaited as an indicator of their play of the financial market outlook, it was not surprising that the stock market all but stood still for two days in advance of the announcement made after the close of today's trading.

After all charges, the deficit for the quarter ended September 30, 1932, was $2,171,709, the largest ever reported by United States Steel. This compared with a deficit of $1,717,171 in the corresponding quarter of 1931, and $1,875,313 in the September quarter of 1931. In the corresponding period of last year, however, the deficit was wiped out by the crediting of a profit of $7,130,996 arising from the sale of property, which left a net balance for the quarter of $1,717,171.

But despite the unattractive results of the last quarter, the preferred dividend, amounting to $6,364,819, was ordered, making a total distribution of surplus for the quarter of $2,171,709. After provision for the preferred dividend in the same quarter, the amount available for common dividends was $2,171,709. Common dividends were depressed with the market in the September quarter of last year's distribution of all was ordered in the common dividend, together with the payment of a dividend of $1,717,171 for that period, taken from surplus of $11,823,311.

With the distribution ordered on the preferred shares today, the company will have paid $16,000,000 from surplus in addition to the excess of earnings during the last two years.

What the Governor proposed was a further reduction of 500,000... The question, if there had been no law at all in the premier, would have been whether to spend the money now, and go without it next year!

Common sense indicates that there must be two sides to the story, and a spirit of fair play demands that the other side be given a hearing.

Fortunately for most of us the Democratic campaign management in Idaho has put a printed statement... Out of the mass of words and figures with which the Governor presents his case in his address it is difficult for a listener who is not familiar with all of the facts and circumstances to get a bird's-eye view of the subject.

The first item is savings, (actual expenditures under appropriation accounts) accomplished in 1931 and to August 31, 1932, plus estimated savings during the remainder of this year, totaling $350,000.

The second item is the balance of the income tax for 1932, estimated at $400,000.

The third item is the estimated millage tax accrual for the months of August to December, 1932, figured at $400,000.

The fourth and fifth items are unexpended legislative appropriations of the regular and special sessions, totaling $1,475,000.

The sixth and final item is the total of actual salary reductions of employees (other than educational, and the offices of the Auditor, Attorney General, Treasurer and Secretary of State, and the offices controlled by these members of the Board of Equalization), amounting to $18,000.

The grand total of these items is $4,885,000. From this sum the Governor has deducted $1,200,000 for 1931-1932 budget provisions for cash on hand at the close of the biennium, and the remainder is the $3,685,000 which the Governor argues should have been deducted from the State's 1932 tax bill.

There are two reasons, according to Republican members of the Board of Equalization, why this deduction was not authorized—and neither reason, they say, could have been set aside without violating the Constitution and State laws.

In the first place, the State Treasurer, George Barrett, says the Governor did not propose this tax reduction until five days subsequent to the time the State Auditor was required by law to certify the State's ad valorem tax to the County Auditors and twenty days after filing the Board of Equalization's adjourned sine die, by law.

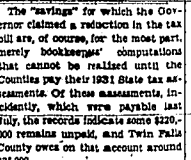

In the second place, as pointed out by Attorney General Fred Babcock, Section 3 of Article VII of our Constitution plainly directs that the Legislature determine the revenue for the State, and the Legislature determines the amount of money to be raised for each of the two years of the biennium and directs the Board of Equalization to raise that amount. The Legislature takes the State's revenue and divides the revenue for the State, and the Legislature determines the amount of money to be raised for each of the two years of the biennium and directs the Board of Equalization to raise that amount. ### CASTLEFORD HEARS CAPTAIN SWEETLEY ON COUNTY FINANCE

F. N. Pettigrove, Hansen, and E. V. Larson, Twin Falls, appear on program in West End Town

(Special to The News)
CASTLEFORD, Oct. 25.—Continuing an analysis of Twin Falls county's financial affairs, Captain E. V. Sweetley, Twin Falls city attorney, told an audience here this evening that Twin Falls county is "in the year 1933 with the biggest deficit the county ever saw."

Other speakers were E. W. Pettigrove, Twin Falls Republican nominee for re-election as state representative, and E. V. Larson, Twin Falls Republican nominee for county attorney. Other Republican candidates for legislative and county offices were introduced by F. C. Sheuberger, Republican county chairman.

Captain Sweetley replied to a question submitted by J. W. Larson, former county attorney, to the effect that "predecessors of the present county commissioners set up a budget of $200,000, of which the present board expended only $190,000 and $100,000 of that was for a deficit in 1929."

"Chief Apologists" "Whoever goes those figures to Mr. Larson, the county commissioner, didn't know any more about the county finances than I do," Captain Sweetley declared. He referred to the auditor's report to the effect that the county had expended only current expense fund expenditures, and said there was nothing in the report to show that any money was being used to pay any previous deficits. On the contrary, he said, the preceding board had spent the money to meet all of its warrants and notes outstanding at the end of the year, and leave a surplus.

"The present board of commissioners," Captain Sweetley said, "have spent $40,000 more than the state allowed this year to pay last year's bills, and about $10,000 registered voters and still owe the state $10,000 for the same reason. A total of $74,000 in expenditures which they haven't the money to pay and for which they have not authorized levy this year to pay if all the taxes were paid."

"None of the commissioners," Captain Sweetley continued, "nor anyone authorized to speak in their behalf, has indicated what they are going to do about it. They have kept their silence as a protective measure."

Captain Sweetley asserted the commissioners have not voluntarily reduced their 1932 tentative budget figures; that they had adopted the tentative budget and fought against any reduction, and were in only when threatened with legal action.

"The stenographic report of the budget hearing last February, which is a public document," he said, "shows what the commissioners' attitude was at that time."

Mr. Pettigrove told his audience that the state's ad valorem tax which is levied by the legislature, amounts to "20 per cent or less of the state's total expenditures that amount to $20,000,000 for each and every legislator."

"The legislature has no control over the state's expenditures," he said, "and the legislature has no control over the state's expenditures."

Mr. Pettigrove declared for a "holiday" for major highway construction, and for the legislature to tax revenues to make a portion available to counties and highway districts.

BANK'S AFFAIRS INVOLVE SALE OF DIAMOND RING

Manuel Bell, Shoshone, who gave an account of the Twin Falls National bank a diamond ring to sell for him in August, last year, three months before the bank closed, preferred raising to his claim for $994.50 which he claims as his share of the $1000 proceeds of the sale of the ring.

Bella says in his complaint that he made repeated offers to pay the Twin Falls National bank $1000 for a $2500 diamond ring he had bought from a Salt Lake City bank. He says the Twin Falls bank, although its officials had known of his offer for two years, refused to honor the offer of his daughter Mary Bell, and of another member of his family, Fernando Bella, on checks drawn with his permission to transfer the proceeds of the Salt Lake City bank, and that the money remained in the Twin Falls bank when it closed at the end of the year.

"The ring was brought through Russell and Bird, Gooding attorneys."

Mr. Larson appealed for support of Republican candidates for office in the nation state and county. He outlined the duties of the prosecuting attorney's office and stated that the prosecution of criminals is a relatively small part of the work.

"I expect," Mr. Larson said, "with the financial situation it is such that it cannot handle the work alone, to do without a deputy in the office of prosecuting attorney, thereby saving the county's taxpayers $1500 a year."

Mr. Larson said that the legislature has no control over the state's expenditures, and that the legislature has no control over the state's expenditures.

Mr. Pettigrove declared for a "holiday" for major highway construction, and for the legislature to tax revenues to make a portion available to counties and highway districts.

Veterans' Vote Constitutes Only Small Portion of Nation's Total

"Farm" and "Labor" Groups Of Electorate Prove Much Larger Than Ex-Soldiers'

(Associated Press Feature Writer)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The pinching of the bonus issue has sharpened interest in the so-called "ex-soldier" vote as a factor in presidential and congressional elections.

It constitutes numerically a comparatively small fraction of the total voting strength of the nation and is smaller than such groups as the "farm vote" and the "labor vote." Political observers nevertheless consider it a very valuable unit—its power demonstrated by outstanding veterans' combinations in the face of formidable opposition.

4,277,000 U.S. VETERANS (OF 1914-1918)

LABOR 25,000,000 (DISABLED VETERANS INCLUDED)
HOW CLASSIFIED (ABOVE GROUPS INCLUDE MANY EX-SOLDIERS)

4,277,000 Veterans
The veterans' bureau estimates that on January 1, 1932, there were 4,277,000 living American veterans of the World War. That is only 10 per cent of a potential voting population in the United States, including men and women, of 67,290,000 as figured by the census bureau.

Representatives of veterans' organizations point out, however, that the total voting strength of the ex-soldier vote is probably considerably greater, due to the influence on members of their families, not to mention distant relatives and friends.

They contend that a more accurate picture of the ratio is obtained by comparing some 4,000,000 families with the total of 20,000,000 families in the United States. That would make a potential veterans' vote of 10 to 14 per cent of the total.

Not Entirely Sold
Officials of veterans' organizations admit, of course, that there is not complete voting solidarity among ex-soldiers. Like other groups, the veterans have sought legislative benefits by bi-partisan campaigning.

Leaders here who maintain that sentiment among the ex-soldiers is proceeding for immediate payment of the bonus contend that the American Legion's convention of 1931 of 100 for payment of the bonus reflects the attitude of the largest veterans' organization that must be

DISABLED AMERICAN VETERANS 64,000
VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS 200,000
AMERICAN LEGION 280,000

Projection of the bonus payment issue into politics during the presidential and congressional campaigns has aroused interest in the size of the potential "soldier vote." The sketch and chart above reveal several comparisons.

taken into account in comparing the potential voting strength of any group with that of the veterans.

The Legion has about 850,000 members with an auxiliary numbering 400,000. The Veterans of Foreign Wars group, which went on record recently for immediate cash payment, numbers some 200,000, while the Disabled American Veterans' organization has enrolled 64,000.

More than three times as large as the veteran vote is the "farm vote" in 1930 there were 15,000,000 men and women eligible voters, residing on farms. Since then about 600,000 people on farms have come of age, the department of agriculture estimates. That would make the farm vote about 23 per cent of the total potential vote of the country.

That there are many thousands of ex-servicemen laboring on farms and in industries is an oft-reflected attitude of the largest veterans' organization that must be
