Re-Elect Three Members The association members at yesterday's meeting re-elected three members of the board of directors, whose terms expired—J. T. Anderson, Kimberley, W. C. Pool, Harrison; W. E. Bush, Jerome, A. H. Jones, Duhj, Ray, Pettibone, Coe, Wood.

Two Resolutions Approximately 80 bean growers attended yesterday's meeting which in 1931 had approximately 100 members representing production of some 400 carloads of beans.

The association's annual meeting last year instructed directors to continue a contract with the Twin Falls Elevator Company, marketing agent, which had brought into the Twin Falls Bean Growers' association.

J. H. Glendon, president of the association, reported that the federal intermediate credit bank officials $70,000 from the association and that 108 carloads of beans, belonging to association members.

These claims, he explained, are based on money which the state borrowed in 1931 at the rate of 3 cents, and in 1932 at the rate of one cent per pound on beans. A major part of this borrowed money was distributed as advance payment to growers—20 cents per pound in 1930 and three-quarters of a cent per pound on the 1931 crop.

The association has counter claims against the intermediate credit bank, and it is in a position to meet this situation in a satisfactory manner.

Installation payment of taxes was authorized under a state bill which now goes to the governor. It permits payment of the tax in installments to the county treasurer in sums of as little as $1 at a time to be applied over a period up to five years in retiring delinquent and current taxes.

"The time may come," Representative Frant, Democrat, Ada, said in supporting the measure, "when banks will not accept small deposits, and I do not think the time is far off. No interest is paid on these deposits with the treasurer, but as far as taxpayer is concerned it saves the same amount of money in providing security and convenience in making payments." It passed unanimously in the Senate and was promptly followed by unanimous passage of a measure deferring until this session Monday morning the tax.

New Men Shoot For Oregon State

IN EARLY SEASON basketball game, James and Hillard, new men on the Oregon State squad have shown class as goal shooters while the veteran MacDonald has had the call of guard.

Metcalfe is red-hot right now for the local track schedule. He includes dual meets with Wisconsin, Iowa, Notre Dame, Michigan State and others, the national intercollegiate, the Drake of 7-man relay carnival and the national collegiate meet at Chicago. He trains daily on the cork pathway of Marquette gymnasium, spending most of his time on starting. It was a slow start that usually beat the Marquette flier last year—when he was beaten. He favors the Amateur Athletic Union's change to the metric system of measurement and believes that the system will show the athlete who he likes it. He backs say that those extra mile yards or so in the century will make him unbeatable at the distance.

Metcalfe has two more years of competition with "Marquette." He is studying law.

"Not a chance, not a chance," chimed a "man from Marquette," "Marquette is the best in the country this year. It is over the world's fastest human."

"The fiasco splitter didn't bear the conversion. With as much speed as a hero-worshipping freshman, he dashed water liberally to the tired football heroes and sprinted back to the sidelines.

Track set a year-around proposition for Marquette's cross-country team. From January to January, he keeps in trim during the football season. He has water for the football team and acts as a rubber. When the basketball team swabs into action, he picks up the water bucket again and rubs 'em down some more. Always active, always happy, always eager, willing and anxious.

"Metcalfe's the answer to a coach's prayer," remarked Coach S. Jennings, Marquette. "It isn't because of his natural sprinting ability but because of his natural inclination to keep sharp. He never has any relax in being in training. His natural mode of existence keeps him fit the year around."
