SHAW SMASHES ALL RULES ON FIRST VISIT

When he got to the community in New York you would find a week. Already you have communication. Your state-wide street railways, water, light and power lines are all examples.

During the attack on May 1917, who prides himself on his economic ideal just what 10 percent of all visitors to New York do.

He went for a sight-seeing trip. While on the sight-seeing trip Shaw had the chauffeur stop at the Guild theater, just off Broadway, where many of his plays have been produced.

A rehearsal for a play not by the Irish dramatist was in progress. Shaw attended the stage stopped the proceedings and announced he was going to test out the association.

He ran up and down the aisle several times, chuckled, said the audience were all right, and then started for the stage.

In the lobby he saw a host of himself. He scrutinized it closely, then said to the manager manager: "Needs polishing."

The Irish wit and playwright, capped his remarks with a brilliant epigram: "I have an address at the Metropolitan opera house under the auspices of the Academy of Political Science."

Shaw was introduced by Jackson Reynolds, vice-president of the academy, in the absence of Alton Houghton, president and former ambassador to the Court of St. James, who was ill.

Following his introduction, Shaw said he felt "an irresistible temptation to go on and try to say something in front of such a magnificent and resplendent audience."

"What an ideal and unfortunate age precedes any performance of this kind," he said.

He continued the 75-year-old man, "because it really has something to do with you. It is an age in which I am, or come, perfectly aware that all old men like myself, endeavor to give you a glimpse of their intellects and all other sense organs functioning as best they can."

"Don't you believe them, ladies and gentlemen. It does not give them the same advantage that I have over the majority of my audience is that I can actually see their reactions of human beings."

Recalls Old Americans Shaw said he could remember "the sort of person that an American was, in the year 1890, and that the American of today was quite unlike the American of today, thank Heaven."

They were the very Americans who he explained: "They were emigrants, they were provincials they were people bringing the habits of one country and an old civilization, all the bad habits as well as the good ones."

FREEZING OF THE PRESS

The bill introduced in Congress whose immediate aim was to prevent publication of secret diplomatic exchanges in a certain book convention went too far. Rubbed through the House under the impression that it was important, it was laid up in the Senate for further consideration. This delay seems to have been wise. Though apparently not so, it "muzzles the press." It might have had that effect.

IN AMERICA, OF ALL COUNTRIES, AND AT PRESENT, OF ALL TIMES, THE WORST THING THAT COULD HAPPEN WOULD BE TO INTERFERE WITH THE FREE PUBLICATION OF LEGITIMATE NEWS AND COMMENT.

Without freedom of the public press there is no political freedom. The world today shows that. Democracy may be possible in cities, but not in a village where there were newspapers. But democracy on a national scale, for large populations, can function only through a free, intelligent press.

For this reason, enlightened voters must support freedom of the newspaper press, just as enlightened journalists support political freedom. And in journalism, as in government, much freedom is less dangerous than little. Unwise publication is likely to do less harm than unwise suppression.

SHOULD THE CHILDREN EAT IT?

PARENTS, particularly mothers, are paying a lot of attention to children's diet these days. For it is far more economical and pleasant to keep a child well by feeding him correctly than by nursing and doctoring him back to health. Of course in case of doubt the doctor should be consulted regarding what a child should eat and what he should not eat. But do you realize that the leading manufacturers of food now seek the advice and approval of the leading nutritional authorities in the country, relative to the claims they make for their products in their advertising? In other words, food advertisements are reliable sources of information regarding diet. They are based upon the results of the latest approved scientific discoveries about vitamins, minerals and roughage, in relation to vigorous bodies, clear complexions, sound teeth and properly-regulated systems. So read these advertisements carefully. Consult your doctor about them. Very often the advertiser invites you to do this because he has asked authorities, whom your doctor respects, about statements made in those advertisements.

Big League Ball Clubs Expect 185,000 Fans At Openers

President Plans To Witness First Game At Capital

Boon-Time Opulence Fades As Olden-Day Fighting Spirit Looms for Clubs In Major Circuit Races

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, April 11.—Shorn of its boom-time opulence and featuring instead a return of the old-time fighting spirit, the major league baseball will march into action tomorrow in a campaign calculated to recapture national popularity and, incidentally, to end the domination of the New York Yankees.

The return of one of America's greatest and most colorful sporting institutions to its familiar past, the leagues will be celebrated, weather permitting, with a display of old-time enthusiasm, national emotions and beer on tap, both the stands in four of the eight parks.

Undesirable Weather

Despite undesirable weather and a prospect of showers at least in three cities, the eight American and National league openers, based on predictions tonight, will draw 185,000 spectators. The poor weather outlook was concentrated in the East in the Yankees' management predicted a crowd of 100,000 for the first game at the Bronx park. It was chilly but clearing in the West.

The record major league opening turnout of 100,000 spectators was made in 1911, but the average over a 10-year period has been little more than 70,000. The managers will be happy if they come close to that tomorrow.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt will throw out the first ball for the game between two of the American league's foremost champions, the Washington Senators and Philadelphia's Athletics.

Of baseball's official family, Commissioner Charles D. Bennett will toss the Detroit-Cleveland game at Detroit. President William H. Taft will throw out the first ball for the game between the Boston Red Sox and Philadelphia's Athletics.

Despite slight economy, club owners are here left nothing undone to stimulate greater popular interest and closer pennant races this year. The managers will be happy if they come close to that tomorrow.

Coach At Burley Plans To Stage Pentathlon Meet

BURLEY, April 11 (Special to The News)—Preparations are being made to hold a pentathlon field meet at the Coakua county fair grounds, April 12 and 13, for school boys under 18 years. The affair will be under direction of Philip Hinchey, coach of the junior high school at Burley.

The meet will consist of 50 and 75 yard dashes, 80 and 100 yard sprints, 150 and 200 yard sprints, 400 and 800 yard sprints, 1500 and 3000 yard sprints, 5000 and 10000 yard sprints, 1500 and 3000 yard sprints, 5000 and 10000 yard sprints, 1500 and 3000 yard sprints, 5000 and 10000 yard sprints.

"Easter Luck" Wins On Track

SAN BRUNO, Cal., April 11 (AP)—A further shot won the first race at San Bruno today, paying $200 to holders of $2 first-place tickets.

The race was won by "Easter Luck," taking her first victory in 171 starts. She was the money maker. She is owned by J. Hays and was trained by J. Wynn. She took the lead early and never was in danger.

THIS is the day for which the nation's baseball followers have been waiting ever since "Babe" Ruth called his shots on Charlie Root in Chicago last October.

It's an annual event, that every day in the big leagues, but it never fails to assume a vast importance in the eyes of some millions of fans. It is, among other things, the inspiration for the famous "grandmother" joke, which positively will not be repeated here.

Despite the scarcity of ready money, the probability is that grandstands and bleachers in eight cities of the National and American leagues will be pretty comfortably filled by the time the bands begin playing and the mayors start making up their minds about 1:15 P.M.

At that hour, all 16 outfits will be on the scene for the last time, and 16 managers will have laid the bets—betting that their boys—over the line of conditions—are going to win up to the point of their last pitch.

By darkness, also, the jubilation will have ended and stark reality set in. The Yankees probably will be headed for another championship, the managers will have found out that their teams will have to play in eight dreary rooms, supper will have grown cold in countless American homes.

Some of the day's fastest action is due, unfortunately, to be lost to the casual customer. Club treasurers, going to a hurried dinner immediately after the last game has been tucked in a seat, undoubtedly will break all existing records for computing the receipts.

It threatens to be a tough year financially, and today's turnout should give some indication of the general attitude. In cities where the managers have regarded attendance on opening day as a sort of civic duty, and the managers never discouraged them in the least.

Whether the fans still feel that way about it we will know by tonight. The attendance, ordinarily just a figure straggled away down at the bottom of the box score, becomes something to include in the first paragraph, right after the result.

The heroic figure at the left is Senor "Lefty" Gomez of the Yankees. Across from him is Al Simmons, who is expected to hit them high, wide and handsome from his Al Simmons's, who is expected to hit them high, wide and handsome from his Al Simmons's.

Germany faced a difficult David cup campaign even with Prenn, who has won the cup three times in 1922 was one of the 10 or 15 best in the world. He first headed the German team in 1928, repeated in 1929 and 1930 and in 1931 shared the play with von Cramm. He again ranked number 1 in 1932.
