A TROUBLESOME SITUATION

When Twin Falls water distribution system lets go, as it did at the Bickel school corner early Wednesday morning drenching adjacent dwellings, the first thing to be done is location of the shut-off valve.

There is no way by which these valves may be located except by a process of trial and error, because there are no records or charts or maps in the city archives to indicate their location.

Necessarily there is vexatious delay that is not less irksome to the workmen seeking the shut-off than to property owners whose houses and lawns are being showered or to spectators who are not familiar with the handicap under which the work is carried on.

Replacement of a considerable proportion of the wood pipe lines with iron pipe has minimized the possibility of breaks, and the program of replacement must be continued as rapidly as conditions permit.

But nothing can take the place of the lacking records, for the lack of which nobody seems to be particularly to blame. The fact is that no provision ever has been made for these records that on occasion now would be most helpful, and the lack can not be made good now except at a cost that probably would be more than could very well be justified.

SENSIBLE DIETING

The last word is perhaps still to be said about diet in relation to human health, but the theories of the President-elect of the American Medical Association are likely to receive cordial approval from the public. According to Dr. McEldred, it is foolish to look for foods to forbear because they might harm a diseased part. The thing to do is to feed the rest of the patient's body so it can put up the fight against disease which Nature intended it to make. The best diet is, therefore, the one which provides for the patient's general bodily welfare.

The physician cited typhoid fever as an example of the change in medical thinking in this matter. Thirty years ago a typhoid fever patient was practically starved and was desperately sick. Now, he is fed more normally, and is rarely very ill. The most distressing symptoms of that disease have largely disappeared.

This is no program for loading the system of a sick person with foods hard to digest. It is rather a common-sense recognition of the fact that the human body is one of the patient's assets in conquering a disease, and that it requires certain materials with which to do the work.

AN IDEAL FOR RADIO

In a message to the recent convention of the Radio Manufacturers Association, President Roosevelt said:

"To permit radio to become a medium for selfish propaganda of any character would be shamefully and wrongfully to abuse a great agent of public service.

"Radio broadcasting should be maintained on an equality of freedom similar to that freedom which has been and is the keystone of the American people."

The quality of radio receiving and broadcasting equipment is excellent and constantly improving. That can hardly be said of the quality of all the material broadcast. Confusion exists as to what is demanded in programs, how they should be financed, and so on. A check-up for a week would disclose a wide range of entertainment, including everything from classical music by great orchestras and singers to the giddiest jazz and cheapest blues, from high-class dramatic sketches to rather low comedy. So far there is no agreement among fans or program-makers on the general type of entertainment. There could not be. The public itself is too varied in tastes and desires.

Certain unpleasant features, such as the cruder type of advertising, are bound to vanish eventually. In the mean time, the President's ideal for radio's more serious uses should be kept in mind.

FLAKE COFFEE
(Portland Oregonian)

Mellon Institute of Industrial Research announces perfection of a method of preparing coffee in thin flakes. According to Edward R. Wiedelin, director of the institute, coffee prepared in flakes is just as easy and it gives 50 per cent more beverage than by the "dry grind" method and 70 to 100 per cent more than by the percolator method.

American newspaper readers read the account of the new process "over their coffee" Monday morning and doubtless they were pleased and proud. It is an industrial triumph and it means money in the pocket to a nation of coffee drinkers.

Yet let us save a thought for Brazil. The Brazilian people also received the account Monday morning, and to them it must have read like some nightmare. For if the discovery is authentic, and the Mellon Institute is a responsible public foundation not given to alarms—then nearly half of the coffee plantations of Brazil will become superfluous and might as well be plowed under. The little item in the Monday papers takes on the proportions of a pronouncement of doom.

Despite the vast size of Brazil, the population is only 41,477,822, and there are only 18,000 acres in under cultivation, compared to 1,250,000 acres still in virgin timber. Of the cultivated area, 4,139,000 acres of the most valuable land is given over to coffee, on which is produced an average of 1,700,000 pounds a year. There is comparatively little coffee drunk in the world outside of the United States, which took 1,229,122,555 pounds from Brazil in 1931—an average year. In other words, the United States took more than twice as much Brazilian coffee as it produced. The United States did not take was difficult to market. In the depression years, despite the steadiness of American purchases, the Brazilians have had a huge surplus and have suffered considerably. Even so, coffee has remained by far the most valuable Brazilian product, making up 60 to 75 per cent of the total exports.

Now comes the announcement from the Mellon Institute which means, in effect, that the United States can get along with one-third to one-half less coffee. If the announcement proves not to be overly optimistic as far as American coffee drinkers are concerned, it will prove terribly pessimistic as far as the people of Brazil are concerned. It means virtual shattering of the Brazilian economic structure.

While Brazilian economic structure is one of those things which are not easily changed, it is not one for long-term re-distribution of a dependent population.

Quietly but gently the railroads persist in their efforts to break down the principle that the short haul should be carried for less than the long competitive haul to tide-water.

BY FREDERICK GARDNER
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, June 21 (AP)—The stock market greeted the official arrival of summer on the calendar today by sinking deeper into inertia while prices drifted lower and downward.

The summer doldrums, as Wall Street has been in the habit of calling the dull spots which often prevail in the stock market, in June and July, have been here in the past.

But speculation ebbed further as an atmosphere of summer inactivity settled over the market, and accumulated the recent tendency to mark time until some new incentive to trading came along.

The volume of the stock exchange shrank to 498,110 shares compared with 648,830 yesterday.

Most of the activity was in the market for shares of the treasury, which had started to buy silver again in carrying out provisions of the silver purchase bill helped to stiffen the general market but was not sustained.

The 10 Shares Week

Later the market eased off again and turned a little heavy toward the finish. The market closed in Standard Oil of New Jersey, which closed 1/4 point lower, and the first of the week's obvious reason in the day's news.

The Standard Oil company average price for the week closed at a point lower, at 79 1/2, the third session of decline.

Another sharp drop in grain prices, with wheat dropping heavily, and the market, discouraged by the heavy selling, was aggressive in the security market.

Wheat finished 3/4 to 1/2 cents a bushel lower, with Chicago sold within a fraction of 3 cents a bushel where it was more than 10 cents a bushel under last week's best price. Other cereals lost 1 to 2 cents.

Silver Firm

Cotton futures were mixed. Cotton futures sold 5 cents a bale higher to 30 cents lower; silver and gold were steady, with silver ready to move of treasury buying.

Rubber and sugar futures sagged. Rubber and sugar futures sagged. Rubber and sugar futures sagged.

Among stocks, U. S. Steel, common, Bethlehem Steel, International Nickel, Westinghouse Electric, Montgomery Ward, American Telephone and Telegraph, General Motors, and others were among the active.

FINAL WATER RUN ON SALMON DATED

Cooler Weather, Showers Improve Prospects For Crops

The Salmon River project's third and final run of irrigation water for the 1934 season will begin on Tuesday, June 20, continuing for three days in the No. 1 system, and then being turned on June 20 into the No. 2 and 3 systems for three days. The project is being run by company directors decided at a meeting here yesterday.

It is possible that a subsequent run of water for domestic use will be made later in the season, Fred P. Bates, superintendent, said last evening.

Recent cooler weather and showers following a hot, dry period have benefited crops on the Salmon River project, and some satisfactory crops will be matured on that project this season, although acreages have been materially curtailed, Mr. Bates said.

WATER DEPARTMENT'S RECORD HOLDS CLEAR

News informants regarding a spectacular break in a six-inch wooden water pipe line on Third avenue east early Wednesday morning, said the water department's record of no leaks in the city since the break was reported on the scene for some considerable time after the break was reported. The mistake grew out of the fact that Mr. Dillman, his assistants went first in search of a shut-off valve, and some time elapsed before the proper valve was located.

The news regrets the unwarranted reflection upon Mr. Dillman and his department.

Gun Toting Drunk Relieved Of $125 By Gooding Court

GOODING, June 21—Two many drinks proved disastrous to the pocketbook of Edward E. Smith, Gooding, who yesterday was in too great a hurry to get his car repaired: The result was that Pyne was hauled into probate court here and relieved of $125 in U. S. currency.

It seems that Pyne had been drinking something stronger than water before he drove up to the U. S. service station in Gooding and demanded that his car be fixed. When told that he would have to wait his turn, Pyne brandished a revolver and almost enraged immediate service.

Sherrill Wayne Clark, however, arrived in time to relieve the "damaging individual" of his gun and accompany him to a place of safe keeping.

Pyne today was a free, poorer, but wiser man, according to the sheriff.

Midnight Visitor Pays Call Only to Get Death Penalty

A strange but decidedly interesting midnight visitor called on Twin Falls last night, and set his headquarters directly in front of the postoffice building. There stood the caller, but everyone seemed to appear in view of his magnetism or something. No one wanted to greet him, but an inquisitive audience assembled.

The stranger ruffled his quills, for a porcupine he was, and made the fact apparent that he was a thorough individual and was in no need of petting. "Porky" left the sidewalk and started to cross the thoroughfare. One by one the witnessing assembly took their leave and within five minutes "Porky" was alone. He was totally and despicably unwanted and it looked as though the visitor would have to spend the night out in the cold, cold atmosphere.

A willing humanitarian, however, informed the city police. An officer rushed to the scene of the pedestrian only to see a trickle of blood emerging from "Porky". A club most likely, but anyway, "Porky" was dead.

UNION PACIFIC GRANTS RECOGNITION TO UNION

OMAHA, June 21 (AP)—Announcement was made today that the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks has reached an agreement with the Union Pacific railroad and its three subsidiaries whereby the brotherhood will represent approximately 6000 clerks and other office employees, who for the past 10 years have been represented by a union of their own.

The announcement, by J. H. Sylvester of Seattle, vice grand president of the brotherhood, an American Federation of Labor affiliate, was verified by E. J. Connors, assistant to executive vice-president in charge of operations.

Connors explained that the signing of the agreement was the result of an election held three months ago at which a majority of the employees involved voted in favor of representation by the brotherhood.

Sylvester also said that through negotiations during the past month agreements had been reached on an eight-hour day, time and one half for overtime and holiday work, vacations and sick leaves with pay, seniority rights and other problems. He said the Union Pacific officials for their "fairness."

Broker Ends Trial By Admitting Guilt

LOS ANGELES, June 21 (AP)—E. J. Curtin ended a three-week trial abruptly today by pleading to his feet as his attorney pleaded with the jury and announced: "I will concede my guilt."

Curtin, stock broker and former president of the First Great Western Corporation and the Columbia Holding company, was charged with violating the corporate securities act. The state alleged he had misappropriated $250,000 of the corporation's funds.

"There's no use to go on with this trial," Curtin said dramatically. "I want to take my punishment and get it over with."

Superior Judge Charles S. Burwell accepted his plea of guilty.
