ROCKEFELLER, 95, WEAKENED BY HEAT

Capitalist Celebrates Birthday Anniversary at Lakewood Estate

LAKEWOOD, N. J., July 7 (AP)—John D. Rockefeller comes to his 95th birthday anniversary tomorrow in health as good as anyone may reasonably expect, although the heat of the past few weeks has enfeebled him to such an extent that even those close to him have marked it as such.

For that reason it is expected that the Rockefeller celebration will be a quiet affair, one in which the Rockefeller family has always chosen to observe as a family affair, and not a public event.

There was no assurance here, that John D. Rockefeller, Jr., would come down as usual to extend in person his congratulations.

Attitude Unchanged

On one point, however, those close to the venerable capitalist were agreed: that advanced age has not altered his attitude toward life. His philosophic leanings have always been cheerful ones, and his method of living routine and carefully disciplined routine including simple dietary principles which the possession of wealth never tempted him to violate.

The Lakewood estate is a fitting place to mark the anniversary. Here he has solitude and the quiet of trees and sunshine, and those things mean contentment to the man who has outlived all but a few of his generation.

Ohio Court Refuses To Restrict Thais' Use Of Sex Appeal

CINCINNATI, July 7 (AP)—Art for art's sake received negative approval today from the Ohio Supreme Court when it refused to restrict the use of sex appeal in the films.

In the opinion to be presented by the Cincinnati-Musicians' association, Thais tries to lure the monk Nathaniel from righteous ways with a dance done in a flimsy garment.

"Burlesque stuff," said J. J. Reznick, a window-shade maker who filed application for an injunction to prevent the showing of the film, "is a disgrace to the Metropolitan Opera company, from appearing in the same place."

"It's a great moral lesson. Who could say Thais is a panderer to the underworld?"

"Velled in the moonlight, Madam Cornelia will be empty protection for the shades of night," said Oscar Hill, president of the musicians' striking-outdoor opera.

HITLER, ORDERING POLITICAL TRUCE, LEAVES FOR REST

Withdrawing Out of Storm Troopers, Catholic Reaction, Factors Making for Uncertainty After 'Blood Purge'

(Copyright, 1934, By The Associated Press) BERLIN, July 7.—Adolf Hitler called for peace and quiet and ordered a political truce today after the most turbulent week of the Nazi regime.

The chancellor set an example of outward calmness for the German people by leaving Berlin and going to retreat in the Bavarian Alps, at least for the week end.

Sub leaders, who helped Hitler break up revolt with firing squads a week ago today, also were reported resting.

Vice Chancellor Franz von Papen, whose position has not yet been clarified, was smiling when visited in his home today.

"My plans are not yet complete," said the vice-chancellor, "and everything is still unsettled."

The political truce leaves him free to conduct his own affairs as he pleases, although his house still is guarded.

Still On Alert

The government still is on the alert, the propaganda ministry declared, for any sign of renewed efforts of disaffected elements to overthrow the Hitler regime.

Activities of secret service police will continue through the "truce," which is not a political truce, but a truce of the mind.

The cabinet, which has no meetings during the month, it was stated at the chancellor's office.

Among party leaders the revolt developed, Mrs. Reinhardt issued a carefully worded statement, saying that the troops and the party belong to each other and cannot be separated.

He bought some new clothes, blazingly burned the old ones, and went to town to buy a railroad ticket.

Strike Rioting During Week Followed by Efforts To Restore Peace

(By The Associated Press) SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—The strike situation jumped from one crisis to another in San Francisco today despite the outward calm on the waterfront enforced by long lines of machine guns and bayonet rifles in the hands of 2,000 military guardsmen.

Still more machine-guns made their appearance—this time in the hands of police outside the national guard sector—while the possibility of a general strike hovered above the city.

MINE IN ILLINOIS SCENE OF VIOLENCE

Dynamite Blasts Endanger Lives of 360 Men; Guard Kidnaped

(By The Associated Press) SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 7 (AP)—Endangering the lives of 360 miners in a coal mine, dynamite blasts today kidnaped a guard at the Westfield coal mine while they wrecked a ventilator by its dynamite blast in an apparent general of Illinois three-year mine feud in which a score have been killed.

The terrified workers speedily were brought to the top to prevent further violence, but they were disappointed from lack of proper ventilation and so escape, possible for the first time in the strike, to interference with the air system. Damage was $30,000.

Officers of the Peabody Coal company here said they regarded the violence as a part of the smoldering difficulties between the United Mine Workers and the Progressive Mine Workers, who have fought for membership control in the coal fields. The mine employs 360 men, all affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

Guard Reported Attack

Jack Lee, the guard at the fan house, had just stepped from his shack for a drink of water.

"They all came out," he said. "They all were maddened and I couldn't tell if I'd ever seen any of them before. They produced a weapon and they stuck it up. One of the men grabbed me and the others pulled dynamite and lit it."

Then they shoved me out of their way—Lee said—and I made my way to a telephone.

TREND OF TEACHER SALARIES UPWARD

Hillman Says Improvement Still Leaves Educators Below Labor Codes

BOISE, July 7 (AP)—Reports that Idaho teachers and others during the past three months show that the trend in teachers' salaries is upward, according to J. Hillman, executive secretary of the Idaho Education association, said today.

"The average salary for 1933-1934 was 10 percent to 15 percent, he stated. This increase immediately put the heels of the improved industrial trend in the history of school salaries. Usually, there is a marked trend for several years," Hillman said, "and about a decade has been required for a return to normal."

"The encouraging change is due to the increased interest in education and recognition of the deplorable status of teachers' salaries," he said.

"The improvement noted, Hillman said, teachers still find themselves with lower salaries than many other professions, and the industrial codes permit for common labor.

"During the last year," he continued, "the average salary for teachers was as low as $280, a new low since 1900. The median of all school salaries in 1933 was $280, more than 28 percent below the average of $350 for elementary and high school principals. The median for elementary teachers probably would not exceed $150, and for high school teachers, $180."

Sees Recovery Minimum

"A reduced cost of teachers is struggling with badly crowded classrooms, too," he asserted. "About 150 teachers are handling over 100,000 pupils in attendance in Idaho schools. Normally, this would require 150 more teachers, and it is estimated that these are about as many teachers without position in this state. In 1930-1931 there were 4671 teachers for about 100,000 children.

"Complete recovery cannot come to the rural sections until the state school income fund is increased by an additional 100,000 dollars, Hillman said.

BISMARCK, N. D., July 7 (AP)—State Treasurer, Alfred P. Daley, today refused to pay a delinquent warrant for Governor William Langer, pending a court decision on their right to hold office.

The warrants were $333.33 for Langer and $266.66 for Vogel.

The state supreme court July 12 will hear arguments on removal proceedings brought against the governor by Lieutenant Governor Ole Olson, who contends he should be governor because of Langer's conviction. Police Raid Night Club to Silence Saxophone Player

BALTIMORE, July 7 (AP)—In a mass raid reminiscent of prohibition days, police swooped down on a night club here yesterday and arrested 27 persons, but it wasn't liquor. It was to silence the saxophone player.

Through bopping hot nights neighbors had tossed and tumbled and stood this way for some time. The main instrument in a three-piece band.

But to no avail. So, early today police backed a patrol wagon up to the establishment and started handing away every person in sight.

National Chairman Prepares To Enlist Young Men In Campaign

NEW YORK, July 7 (AP)—Henry F. Fletcher, aggressive new national chairman of the Republican party, today hailed the Middle West yesterday for organizing the party's younger element to fight for election of congressmen with "forward looking views."

Repeating his assertion the principal issue of the congressional campaign will be against "monopolistic control of the economy, bureaucracy, the former diplomat said."

The Republican party must enlist the younger men who can and will fight for the election of congressmen who have viewpoints representing their interests.

The plan, announced, while major emphasis was placed on the issue of the campaign, was to enlist the younger men who can and will fight for the election of congressmen who have viewpoints representing their interests.

Oil Found On Farm Of Negro Preacher

SEGUIN, Texas, July 7 (AP)—Unexpected wealth was in sight today for George W. Bailey, obscure Negro preacher, whose land oil was found yesterday.

The Negro's farm, two miles northeast of Kingsburg, a land valued at about $10 an acre but discovery of oil there immediately precipitated a boom that thrust its value sharply upward. It was a much-sought land today as lease and royalty buyers wanted to this home in hope of sharing in the flood.

Oil was struck in Edwards time at a depth of 2100 feet. The well was developed by J. A. Halliday.

Before the strike, Bailey often looked beyond the confines of his farm and land derivatives over producing wells in the Old Granger-Edwards field, just a mile and a half away, but development of that field never before had extended to his property.

New Deal Fails To Hit Capitalism Eccles Contends

SALT LAKE CITY, July 7 (AP)—Assertions of some business leaders that the "new deal" program is undertaking to destroy capitalism and the profit system are entirely without foundation, Marriner M. Eccles of Ogden, Utah, assistant to the secretary of the treasury, said in an address at a luncheon in his honor.

"As a matter of fact," Mr. Eccles added, "before President Roosevelt took office, capitalism as we know it had already gone out of the window. Business statements issued since Mr. Roosevelt went into the White House have shown more black ink than at any time in the last four years."

The new deal is helping, rather than destroying the profit system, he said, however, that the economic and social conditions confronting the country today are such that the treatment that has been used by previous administrations.

LAKE WALCOTT SHOWS STORAGE WATER LOSS

BURLEY, July 7.—In a statement made from the office of the Burley Irrigation district it is declared that losses of stored water have developed in Lake Walcott, the backwater from the Minidoka dam. Ordinarily, it is asserted, Lake Walcott has always shown a heavy loss of storage water until drawn down to several feet below the high water line. However, the return flow from the project has been enough larger to show a net gain.

Last year's net gain amounted to almost 50,000 acre feet. Conditions have now swung to the other extreme, and instead of a net gain there has been this year a heavy loss, estimated at about 37,000 acre feet.

Burley district will be charged 35 percent of this loss, or about 12,975 acre feet.

As soon as this loss became apparent, the level of Lake Walcott water was drawn down to below where seepage took place into the lava which forms part of the bed of this lake. Inflow to this impounding reservoir nearly equals losses at present, and it is hoped that no further net losses may be suffered.

A purchase of 10,000 acre feet of lava has been elected by S. T. Lowe, attorney for the district, from Idaho Power company holdings of water stored above the American Falls dam. This deal will serve to nearly compensate for river losses, and will enable the district to maintain its tentative allotment of 25 acre feet of water for farms under the pumping system of the Minidoka project.

Railroads Doomed, Says Oregon Road Commission Head

SEATTLE, July 7.—Americans have come to expect speed rates of from 80 to 100 miles an hour and they are possible and practical on highways, but not on railroads, Chairman Leslie M. Scott of the Oregon state highway commission declared at the opening of the Western Association of State Highway Officials.

Asserting that with narrow roadbeds high speed is impossible, Scott added his belief that "railroads, with heavy overhead of capitalization, are doomed as profit-making institutions."

"They say there ought to be laws limiting the use of the highways," he said, "but in my opinion they're just whistling against the wind."

Declaring that automobile manufacturers generally are turning out high speed cars, he commented:

"If we were going to find fault we'd have to put the blame on the public—they are demanding it."

Governor Clarence D. Martin and Mayor Charles L. Smith, welcomed the delegates, who are representing 15 western states.

Murray's Choice For Governor Withdraws

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 7 (AP)—Oklahoma's "new deal" candidate, Congressman E. W. Marland, was today high in the Democratic nomination for governor last night by Speaker T. W. Anderson, Governor Alfalfa McMurray's choice for the nomination, equivalent to election.

Anglin announced his withdrawal from the run-off primary, scheduled July 16, saying he would not call upon his friends for further sacrifices in the face of Marland's lead of approximately 55,000 votes in the first primary.

SPITE MARRIAGE

By Katherine Hamilton Taylor

SYNOPSIS: When Marsha Moore's gay, but not too helpful parents die, Marsha was sent to live with her Aunt Gertrude. She arrived a worldly wise little girl, anxious to be loved and to please. Her aunt had been a hard and calculating, pleasure-loving young woman. Marsha adored her and she seemed at them. But now her Powers has come for a vacation from his Moscow job and Marsha finds she does not want to hurt Bob.

Chapter Eight
THE RING
Marsha, who believed with Miss Alley that there is no wine like that which Bob Powers has in his body, to grow a little languid and to go his way, but the affair had not followed the usual pattern. She had kissed him not hotly, but humbly and gently and timidly, and he revealed no evidence of wanting to go any way but her.

For two days, unhappy with the fact that she had kissed Bob, she had played around with Bob, Geoffrey, Taylor, and the other guests, who usually took hold, was in town, she knew, and he had not looked her up.

She had not, she had had to do with an unhappy full and sleek underlip, and his life had taught him to know them. His drawn mouth was "keep 'em long," and he understood the art of doing so.

Marsha could see him in his rooms, smiling over the thought of her knowing he was in town and wondering why she did not see him. She heard through a fellow friend, that Geoffrey was paying court to a Spanish dancer who was turning the head.

Geoffrey, she had realized, always "do that sort of thing," and she had been out even calling her by telephone was rather blunt, even for Geoffrey.

Bob Powers' attitude had also complicated life. His simplicity made him see a kiss as a pledge, and she had been so sure of him, wondering whether she could make him love her.

PASSAGE AT ARMS
"I wish," said Marsha, "that I were nice enough to belong in this house, and to be a woman."

was not Geoffrey who had called her. It was only Bob. Marsha looked up from the book, which was with all the rest of the room, and saw him standing in the doorway that led to the hall and seeming to fill it. She appreciated his silent entrance. It was novel and like him.

"I didn't hear you," she said. "Come in."

He moved across the room without one speaking and with the long stride of a tall man whose waist has been thinned by work outdoors and whose shoulders have been broadened by it.

Marsha looked up at him testily. "I think you're not very glad to see me," she said.

"God help me, I am!" he answered. His voice was roughened and he breathed a bit unevenly.

She rose to stand by him; he had evidently been waiting, cool open and blowing. Little beads of mist were on his waistcoat; his stiff shirt was pink-marked.

"I thought you were not very glad to see me," she said.

MANAGERS REVISE LINEUPS FOR ALL-STAR BATTLE

Cubs Crowd Champion New Yorkers For Leadership Of National League

Utah-Idaho League Graduates To Play In Baseball Classic

NEW YORK, July 7.—Having had his say in the only ball game of the year where he appears as something more than just another figure in the game receipts, old Gustave Fan set out today to make the second all-star battle of the National and American leagues something for baseball to remember.

The ball players may not like the idea of working an extra day without pay, and the owners may not be over-enthusiastic about risking their delicate athletes in the midst of the pennant races, but the faithful who voted 200,000 strong for the lineup they wanted to see in action in the Polo grounds Tuesday sent out on filling the place with howling roars.

As Bill Terry and Joe Cronin, rival world series pilots last fall, captained contestants to the voice of the people today in announcing the tentative lineups they will manage.

Played In Twin Falls

Two faces, seen many times in days of yesterday on the Twin Falls baseball diamond, will appear in entirely different circumstances Tuesday as members of all-star American and National League lineups—when they meet at the Polo grounds in New York City.

Vernon "Lefty" Gomez, former flinger for the Yankees, will lead the New York team, while the manager of the American League for the game opened Gomez played a season in Salt Lake, but soon was recognized by the "big boys" as the leading hurler.

Wally Berger, who played in the Polo field at the time the game was pulled over the best ones for the season, gets the center game. Berger, all of the Boston Braves, got the call only after a protest on the part of voting fans. He replaced Mel Ott of the Giants. He was grabbed out of a "mash" Montana league by the Boston Braves and later sent to the circuit before going to the majors.

Several other players who were holding down regular berths in the majors, two or three of whom played with the Twin Falls aggregation.

ag Tuesday, the faithful passed the 30,000 mark, according to the tally in a hall park that holds sitting room for 35,000. There was every indication that the batting order of Gehring, of the Tigers, takes his first cut at Carl Hubbell's screw ball, every Dow will be filled.

Capacity turnout would bring in close to $60,000, of which goes to the ball players' benevolent fund. The surplus goes for the last all-star game won by the American League 4 to 3 in the White Sox-Cubs Chicago game Monday. Attendance there was 42,000 and receipts about $42,000.

Battling Orders Announced
An necessity for revision of National and American league rosters in the nation-wide poll was indicated today with the announcement of the batting order for Tuesday, as follows:

AMERICAN LEAGUE
Charlie Gehringer, Tigers, 2b.
Eddie Mack, Senators, 1b.
Babe Ruth, Yankees, rf.
Lou Gehrig, Yankees, 1b.
Frank Higgins, Athletics, cf.
Al Simmons, White Sox, cf.
Joe Cronin, Senators, ss.
Mel Dickey, Yankees, p.
Vernon Gomez, Yankees, p.

NATIONAL LEAGUE
Frank Frisch, Cards, 2b.
Pie Traynor, Pirates, 2b.
Joe Medwick, Cards, lf.
Kiki Cuyler, Cubs, cf.
Wally Berger, Braves, cf.
Bill Terry, Giants, 1b.
Travis Jackson, Giants, ss.
Gaby Hartnett, Cubs, or Al Pinder, c.

Carl Hubbell, Giants, p.
The only major changes in the American league lineup from the results of the poll was the substitution of Higgins, hitting .257, in place of Dykes at third and the nomination of Al Simmons for Earl Averill.

As the situation now shapes up, Terry will be the lone left hander swinging against Gomez, while the American leaguers start off with four southpaw swingers against Hubbell.

Terry Confident
Both managers have a wealth of substitute material and Terry said today he expected to use every player on his 20-man squad. His pitchers—Hubbell, Lou Warneke, of the Cubs; Dean O'Dell, of the Cards; Van Mungo, of the Dodgers; and Fred Frankhouse, of the Braves—probably will lead the hurlers in two or three throwing stretches. Cronin has Ruffing, of the Yanks; Mel Harder, Indians; and Frankie Bricker, Tigers, and Jack Russell, Senators, to support Gomez.

"Gomez hit this one pretty solid," Cronin said. "But a fast ball pitcher and we like speed."

"The odds, as posted by Tom Kearney, of St. Louis, concerning the American leaguers a 7-to-6 favorite."

NEW YORK, July 7 (AP)—
Vernon (Lefty) Gomez, though off to a bad start, settled down and held the Washington Senators to gain a 14th victory of the season today, while his fellow Yankees knocked Alvin Crowder out of the box in the seventh to take the lead in the series. The New Yorks won 7 to 4.

Catcher Bill Dickey tied the score with a four-base drive in the second inning and Don Heffner's fly sent Myril Hoag home to put the Yankees ahead. The Senators tied the count in the third and the Yankees forged ahead in the fourth. But the Yanks led it up again in the fifth when Babe Ruth's double sent Jack Seligman home.

Gehrig doubled to work on Crowder in the seventh after two were out. Ruth walked and Byrd ran for him. Gehrig doubled scoring Byrd and Chapman sent Gehrig home with another double. Jack Russell then doubled, Crowder and pitcher Dickey, intentionally. Hoag came through with a single and Chapman scored.

The score was 10 to 7 in favor of the Athletics when the Sox took their last turn at bat. Morgan singled and Roy Johnson followed with a double. Rick Perrell then bunted, advancing both runners. Rube Walberg, Boston's fourth pitcher to see service, was taken out and Wes Ferrell pitched his last, smashing a double against the center field wall; scoring the third and fourth runs, ending the game.

First Base --- Station Of Sluggers

Those strong, silent fellows who man the initial corners of the league line up with base hits in a way to make the traditionally sluggish outfielders look to their left.

At least in first basemen have been maintaining batting averages over .300 mark through the first half of the campaign, three of them in the thick of the battle for inter-league home run honors and another is well up in the important run-batted-in department.

Such constant stars as Bill Terry of the New York Giants, Lou Gehrig of the Yankees, and Jimmy Fox of the Philadelphia Athletics are among in their customary orbits near the head of the batting parade. But newcomers Hank Brown of the Chicago White Sox, Hal Truisky of the Cleveland Indians and Hank Greenberg of the Detroit Tigers are adding much lustre to the hitting reputation of first-basemen in the American league particularly.

Announced Mike, whose real name is Victor Franklin Cantwell. "Who they for?" asked the try cook peevishly.

"For Max Baer." "Do you think I would poison him?" "What nationality are you?" "Italian." "Got a bet on the fight?" "Sure." "Who out?" "Carners."

"Now I know I want to see them chops fried." To top it off a few hours later the fry cook lost a ten spot on Carners which placed him in the peculiar position of having helped himself to his own money, through cooking chops for Carners's conqueror.

Loose Five Bucks, Says $20
Fred Bittora of Sacramento, whose friends call him "the honest baseball man" who never shooed a horse, came home from the fight rich in experience, notably for having purchased a $25 ring-side ticket which he resold for $200, and having pocketed a five dollar sub and a nickel to boot.

"After paying for the ticket Bittora received a complimentary one. When he resold it to a scalper he had to take a five dollar loss. The scalper turned around and sold it for a $100, and Bittora saved himself $20 by losing five."

Vidales was held for questioning by sheriff's deputies.

Shortly before the fourth round ended Referee Jack McDonald of Los Angeles stopped the fight, awarding Vidales the decision. Costello walked to his corner, shook hands with his trainer, and then slumped unconscious to the floor. He had suffered severe internal injuries.

Costello and Vidales entered the ring at 160 pounds.

Youth Wins Over Tennis Champion

Californian Topples Parker From National Clay Court Throne

By PAUL MICKELSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
CHICAGO, July 7.—Donald Budge, a flaming red head just out of high school at Oakland, Calif., toppled Frankie Parker of Milwaukee from his national clay court throne today after a dramatic five-set quarter-final match that lasted almost three hours.

The victory, gained by scores of 6-3, 6-4, 6-4, 6-3, 6-3, was Budge's greatest triumph in tennis but heart-breaker for the plucky champion from Milwaukee who suffered a severe nose bleed and stomach disorder just as he was on the road to a final berth tomorrow with Bryan Grant, Atlanta's "mighty atom."

Grant survived with shots to spare, routing Gene Mako, Los Angeles bludge, in straight sets, all at 6-3.

The 2000 spectators gave Parker a big cheer for his great stand off the court, his tireless running blood and his white shirt covered with blanches. Budge ran off 14 straight games to come far behind as Parker stubbornly refused to default.

Budge defeated a badly weakened player but his play was superb, never tiring, campaigning for a Davis cup berth, played an smart, even game. Forced to back court and returned just as easily until he had set-up for his deadly backhand placements. In the final set alone he made 20 New York.

Budge and Grant meet for the fifth tomorrow afternoon, best three out of five. Grant, victor in three successive championships in his drive

COUNTY CANNING PLANT EQUIPPED

Farmers and Others Asked to Donate Foodstuffs on Share Basis

Equipment to set up a pressure cooking plant, involving the tin canning process, has been made available to Twin Falls county for preserving vegetables, meats and fruits, according to Bob H. Warner, county administrator for the JPB-A. The Drouth Relief Committee, J. P. Masterson and R. W. Paris, have been instrumental in securing the set-up for the county, and the pressure cooking plant has been loaned by W. W. Godfrey, Boise, director of commodity distribution.

Installation of the plant will begin tomorrow at Parish hall, and the unit will be ready for capacity operation a week from Monday, July 16. The JPB-A is furnishing the labor and the canners, but it is not authorized to purchase vegetables, meats or fruits. In order to procure the food for canning, a share-basis is being set up and an accurate bookkeeping system will be maintained in exchange for donations of raw products by farmers and other interested parties, a share of the canned goods will be returned to the donor.

Such staples as beans, corn, tomatoes and other vegetables which have been grown on the local relief administration's gardening project in Blue Lakes addition, will be canned, but these will not begin to fill the demand for food by the county's needy next winter.

Careful Supervision
The canning will be under the direction of the women's division of the county, with Mrs. E. J. Malone and Mrs. Ira Wynn in charge. Miss Magdalena Clements, home demonstration agent, will give an intensive course to the directors and women workers to assure absolute safety in canning the foodstuffs.

Minister workers may also be used to aid in preparing the fruits and vegetables.

All farmers and others having fruits and vegetables which they want to have canned on a share-basis are requested to take their foodstuffs to the Parish hall, beginning a week from Monday.

For the past three years the county commissioners of Power county have employed the pressure cooking method most satisfactorily in the home canning program. Mr. Warner said. The county commissioners of Twin Falls are supplying the canners for canning in this county, and paying the electric bill. The Idaho Power company has cooperated in the use of the use of an electric stove and a farm hot water plant.
