Three Army Pilots Take to Parachutes in 5000-Foot Plunge as 10-Hour Trip to Stratosphere Terminates

(By The Associated Press)
LOOMIS, Neb., July 28.—A 5,000 foot plunge ended the 10-hour stratospheric flight of the balloon "Explorer" late today and damaged the gondola so badly that the three army pilots, who occupied by parachute at the last minute, were uncertain about the safety of their ton of valuable instruments.

Those who depended for a record of their 60,000 foot ascent, the metal sky gondola, with the gas ballast fabric trailing behind it like a giant flag, plunged into a barren field on the Reuben Johnson farm four miles from here about 5 p.m.

Flatlands like somewhat like a squab and the almost soft finished end of the stratosphere.

As in hand, Major William E. Kepner led his two companions, Captain A. W. Stevens and Captain Orvil A. Anderson, in an attack of the gondola to rescue the instruments. Thousands of country-folk strained in by automobile to see the sight and national guardsmen kept the wreckage safe from curious hunters.

By accident the gondola was split open like an egg and the instruments in their boxes lay around on the ground. The instruments were damaged.

Recalls Aerial Study
"I don't know until we checked the recording films the scientific results of the ascension," said Major Kepner. One instrument, the spectrograph, was saved by an individual parachute. The maximum of 60,000 feet was reached at 10,000 feet above the town of Loomis.

Previously the balloon had gained altitude gradually, and the trip from the town to the stratosphere was a smooth one. The balloon was nearly a hundred miles across the Nebraska prairie.

The big balloon split wide open at last, and the instruments were scattered. The balloon was then thrown clear by the pilot, Captain Stevens quickly parachuted out and was safely caught in the balloon fabric.

"I guess I pulled my rip cord too soon," said Kepner.

Major William E. Kepner, 47, was in command of the expedition. He was accompanied by Captain A. W. Stevens and Captain Orvil A. Anderson.

Death Comes to Marie Dressler After Long Fight

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., July 28.—(AP)—Following a long affliction with cancer, heart trouble and uremia, Marie Dressler, 62, widely beloved stage and screen actress, died here today.

Death came at 3:25 p.m. for the well-known "Gladys" who became a swan of laughter during a career replete with both hardships and glory.

Under care of two physicians and several nurses, she died at the C. C. Billings estate where she went from Hollywood three months ago because of a physical breakdown. She had been in the hospital about four weeks, despite a store of vitality that surprised her physicians.

Marie Dressler learned two years ago she had an incurable ailment, but took a course of treatment that enabled her to make two more pictures.

GEN-STATE DUE FOR MORE HEAT
Weather Man Promises No Early Break; Boies Reports 106

BOISE, July 28.—(AP)—A week of the hottest weather in Idaho in 1934 ended as a torrid sun sank into the West tonight. But the heat was not over yet. Boies, weather man here, said that the temperature probably will climb high again tomorrow, he predicted.

Boies said at 10 p.m. that the temperature at 6 o'clock tonight was 106 degrees. There was a slight breeze from the southwest, but it was not enough to bring relief.

No deaths were reported directly attributable to the heat wave during the week, but the health department reported that the forest fire hazard reached its peak in Idaho's mountains of late.

A thousand-acre blaze was raging in the Payette national forest which extends over an area of 1,300,000 acres. The fire was burning in the Boise national forest, a 1,500,000-acre reserve.

A small blaze was under control in the Idaho national forest which includes 1,000,000 acres of timber. Crops that were not suffering from lack of water rapidly matured.

Shower at Los Angeles
SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—(AP)—Cooling breezes in the inland empire around Spokane and a 10-degree drop in temperatures in southern California checked today a wave of scorching heat which drove the mercury far above the 100 mark in several places.

Hot weather still was present in the northern area, with thermometer readings in the 100s or above in some places. But the temperature dropped in southern California 2,000 feet higher as the weather completely surrounded the mountain range.

A light sprinkle of rain fell in Los Angeles and vicinity today, bringing the temperature reading ten degrees lower.

Grain Field Gives Up Burned Body of Ranchman's Mate

WINNEPEG, Minn., July 28.—The charred body of a woman, a native of the grain field, was found today in a stubble field near Hackney, Kansas. She was identified here tonight as that of Mrs. Lora Baird, 30, estranged wife of Charles Baird, a rancher living near Ogdenville, 30 miles east of here.

Investigators said they were searching for her body when they were alerted by a note she left in her room here in Ogdenville. The note said she was going to take my suitcase or my contents except my brother, J. O. Spencer, or myself. The note was found in a suitcase and discovered by Mrs. Stella Turpin, landlady of the house where she stayed.

Authorities took charge of the suitcase but did not open it pending the arrival of the brother from Ogden, Kansas.

MEDICATION BOARD IN STRIKE REGION VOICES OPTIMISM

Conferees Await Word From Longshoremen; Governor Meier Plans to Restore River Commerce Monday

(By The Associated Press)
SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—After waiting all day for word from longshoremen and maritime workers that would end the long Pacific coast waterfront strike, President Roosevelt's mediation board adjourned late this afternoon, saying it expected to hear from all sides in the long trouble tomorrow and that it felt "widely hopeful."

The board had expected answers from both the longshoremen and maritime workers as to whether, pending arbitration and conciliation, they would return to their jobs under the conditions offered yesterday by shipping employers.

To Open Port
The "drastic" action threatened by Governor Meier of Oregon to force a settlement is reached came a step nearer, meantime, when he announced the port of Portland "will be open at 6 o'clock Monday morning." His statement was interpreted as meaning he intends to force national guardsmen, who are camped nearby, to the waterfront.

Published reports said the district executive committee of the International Longshoremen's association had voted unanimously for acceptance of the conditions of J. J. Finnegan, a member of the committee, denied this was the case but the board had been informed that the longshoremen had acted favorably.

Formal Answers Not Submitted
The fact that neither the longshoremen nor the maritime workers had submitted replies to the board was not mentioned today, but it was taken to mean that stumbling blocks had been encountered.

The communications of some of the striking workers were made known, however, by O. K. Costing, "chief" of the president's board, who said: "We have heard again from the seamen and the L. L. A. and the employers tomorrow, but we are not yet ready to hear again from the seamen, the L. L. A. and the employers tomorrow."

One thing is certain, the board made was indicated in the announcement that a mass meeting of San Francisco longshoremen had been called for tomorrow. It was reported.

Kentucky Governor Threatened Again; Troops On Guard

FRANKFORT, Ky., July 28.—(AP)—For the second time this year national guardsmen were on duty at the capitol and the executive mansion following receipt of threats against the life of Governor Ruby Laffoon.

The soldiers, about 10 in number, were placed on duty late this night by Brigadier General Elmer Carter, acting head of the state militia, and he said today they would remain on duty as long as necessary.

Receipt of a telegram by a Louisville police lieutenant warning money was the immediate cause of General Carter's ordering out the guards. He declined to make public further details of the telegram but said that for some time threatening letters have been received by the governor and there has been talk of an attempt to kill him. All threats are being traced, he said. The governor declined to comment.

FAMOUS BELLEVUE MINES OF FORMER YEARS REOPENED

Minnie Moore and Queen of the Hills Property to be Worked Again; 50 Persons See Double Vertical Shaft

BELLEVUE, Idaho, July 28.—Another bid for precious ore in "them that hills" is being made in the mountains a mile from here, that produced $10,000,000 during periods of the hills' flow.

At Broadford, former state Senator L. E. Rockwell today announced that a group of 40 persons gathered to observe the opening of a new double compartment vertical shaft that is to be sunk to a depth of 800 feet. A cross cut, the main feature of the Queen of the Hills mine, Minnie Moore, reputedly two of the most noted mines in the west in their time.

Edwin and Fred A. J. and Charles Reed, operators in this district in the glamorous last decade of the past century. J. Fred Johnson of Bingham, Utah, and W. R. Wallace of Salt Lake City also were there. Johnson is an old time mining operator. Wallace is one of Utah's outstanding business men.

Approximately $50,000 is to be spent in the present venture by the Rockwell group. The men will be given employment immediately.

The Minnie Moore and Queen of the Hills mines whose wealth has prompted the sinking of the present shaft were discovered in 1880. The ore body was lost in 1900. The mine was then abandoned. The mine was then abandoned.

FILER GIRL SAVES LIFE OF SWIMMER

Ila Lincoln, 16, Rescues
Verne Gilman, 22, of Twin Falls.

FILER, Idaho, July 28 (AP)—Ila Lincoln, 16-year-old girl, tonight rescued a swimming companion, Verne Gilman, 22, of Twin Falls, from drowning in Cedar Draw lake south of here.

The two were swimming in the lake when Gilman decided to swim from the west to the east side. He was nearly across when he took a cramp and went down. The girl, on the other side of the lake, noticed that something was wrong and started toward Gilman. When she reached him he had already gone down twice and was lodged in the mud at the bottom of the lake.

The young heroine dislodged the youth and swam with him to shore where first aid treatment was given and Dr. F. A. Dwight of Filer was called. The doctor said that the youth had fully recovered from his narrow escape.

The rescue occurred about two and one-half miles south of here at 9 o'clock tonight. The girl is the daughter of Dick Lincoln, Filer.

tures at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio, Culver City, by working only a few hours daily. Finally, however, she was forced to seek a long rest. The following morning she was taken to the hospital by Dr. Frank H. Rusk and Dr. H. S. Schwabacher.

Miss Dresler passed away at 3:25 p. m. today. Immediate cause of death was uremia (failure of kidney function). This was complicated by congestive heart failure and by cancer.

Soon after Miss Dresler's life was despaired of, her condition became so critical that Dr. Rusk expressed belief she would not live through the night. She actually lived for several weeks. Most of the time she was in a state of coma.

Success Comes Late

Movie success came late in life to Miss Dresler, who was one of the most popular players in Hollywood, and the beloved comic character in such screen triumphs as "Anna Christie," "Min and Bill," "Reducing," "Tugboat Annie," and "The Late Christopher Bean."

After an up-and-down career on the stage, she first came to Hollywood in 1914 and played a comedy with the then-famous Charles Chaplin and the late Mabel Normand. Her return to the stage was almost disastrous to her career.

The stage was not receptive to a diva of the age Miss Dresler had reached after Liberty bonds sales service during the World War and for nine years she barely was able to make a living.

Surprises Movie World

She came back to Hollywood as a last resort in the late '20s. She got small parts until finally she surprised the movie world with her role of "Christie" in "Anna Christie"—a role she was given through intercession of the scenarist, Frances Marion.

From then on, Miss Dresler had Hollywood almost at her feet.

Her success brought about a new trend in the movies—the featuring and starring of the old trouper type of players, in contrast to the labial "youth and romance" tendency of film exploitation.

She became a sort of tradition in Hollywood. She reached such heights of public esteem that her birthday became a significant event. On her 62nd birthday last fall, she was honored with a party at her studio. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, attended by 1000 persons, including movie notables, the late Governor Ralph of California and other officials.

Her birthday cake weighed 300 pounds.

Outlook of Youthfulness

Miss Dresler's parties, her humor, her outlook of jovial youthfulness, were renowned in Hollywood.

She entertained in the "good old-fashioned way" rather than in the more sophisticated Hollywood manner. Noted as a good cook, she delighted in concocting unusual and delicious dishes for her guests. She loved the mountains and one of her last parties was given for a few close friends in a mountain retreat beside a canyon stream.

Only a few months ago she said "I really didn't begin to age until I was 50, and I honestly feel younger than I did at 25."

She died of middle age as the best part of life and expressed pity for the "middle-aged woman" who feels that life is over for her, and looks and acts accordingly.

Butchers Threaten Walkout

CHICAGO, July 28 (AP)—Indication that the 8,000 members of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butchers' Union, would join the 800 striking stock handlers at the Union stock yards was seen as a possibility tonight.

A conference between William Collins, organizer for the meat cutters, and John Gorman, leader of the handlers' union, came as Gen. Hugh Johnson, NRA administrator, in Ague, Caliente, suggested what amounted to an immediate truce in the strike tying up the yards since Monday.

Johnson further added that it necessary he would impose a code on packers, and advocated an industrial relations committee to consider all points at issue between the handlers and the Chicago Union Stock Yards and Transit company.

William J. O'Connor, one of the officials of the Transit company, said:

"The general apparently had been misinformed about the situation here. Livestock is being cared for by the men of the packers are involved in this strike. The strike is merely one of some 800 of our employees who act as cowboys in the yards."

Collins said he expected to determine sentiment of the meat cutters union for setting a definite date for a strike.

Reynold Brennan, counsel for the meat cutters' union and for the handlers' union, said:

"We have much confidence in the present mediation and see no reason why an industrial relations committee should be sent from or named by Washington."

"And as for establishment of a packers' code, why didn't he do that six months ago when a hearing was held upon the matter. We have no further guarantee that such action would be taken now. Also, I note, the general says that such an agreement would include section 7A."

BURLEY, July 28 (AP)—William Gray, 40, was killed instantly and Joe E. Albion, was critically injured at 9 o'clock tonight when the car in which they were traveling went off the grade on the Dees highway two miles north of here.

Gray was driving his model A Ford coupe when the accident occurred. They were rushed to a Burley hospital and the accident was immediately investigated by Deputy Sheriff George Bray and Coroner D. E. Johnson. Cause of the accident has not yet been determined.

Gray's body lies at the D. E. Johnson mortuary here pending funeral arrangements.

Rusty Gun Found In Low Water of Sublett Reservoir

BURLEY, July 28—Low water in the Sublett reservoir disclosed the stock of a rusty gun to D. Rasmussen, protruding from the muddy bottom. He relieved the weapon, and brought it to D. E. Johnson, Cassia county coroner. It was found, Rasmussen declared, just at the point where the dead body of George Hopewell was discovered, in June, 1930, lying on a roughly fashioned raft which floated on the surface of the lake.

The gun was a single shot 12 gauge shotgun, with a crude home-made stock. Deputy Sheriff George Bray forced the rusty firearm open, Friday, and found that the hammer relied on the cap of an exploded shell. This he believed to indicate that Hopewell met his death from accidental discharge of the crude weapon. As the coroner's request had disclosed a gunshot wound in the dead man's neck.

Hopewell was a railroad worker, from Chicago, and at the time of his death was taking a firing practice in the Sublett hills. He was buried by D. E. Johnson in the Burley cemetery.

"I tell," said Gen. Reed, "that I could not act as troop commander unless I was free to restore law and order, and that if I was not permitted to let trucks operate I could not conscientiously act as troop commander."

Col. Bowen asked to be relieved "under the circumstances." He did not elaborate.

Authorizations for operation of commercial trucks reached a total of 4,000.

Here's a 4,000 permits are distributed among bread trucks, but not carrying pastries; ice trucks, milk, gasoline, oil and grease trucks, two cars, trucks carrying flour or oat, and others under special permit.

Borah's Lone Campaigning May Revive Inflation Issue

Idahoan's Challenge Likely to Prove Factor in Individual
Elections of Senators and House Members

By KIRKE SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—To those who may have thought that President Roosevelt's abrupt avowal of "mandatory" currency inflation during the seventy-third congress indefinitely deferred that issue, this phrase from Senator Borah's Fourth of July night radio address might be blurring.

"It permitted to act under general, just and equal laws, with an adequate monetary system and an adequate banking system, protected from monopoly, free also from the restraint and dictation of bureaucracy, the people will win this war against depression."

That, in his own words, is the platform on which the Idaho senator proposes to campaign this year "as best I may," upon which he promises a further radio report in October "I can get the radio." And in the face of that implied charge of round-about administration moves to keep him off the air, it is a safe prediction that the senator will make that accounting of progress in October.

Is Answer Currency Inflation?

But what, in Borah's judgment, is "an adequate monetary system" which he places first among essential steps for recovery, even ahead of his last—the criticism of the bureaucracy and the monopoly fostering purposes he charges against "the so-called leaders" of both great parties? How does he expect his planned campaign, sloot from any party affiliation to be, effective in the congressional elections?

Looking back to Borah's attitude in the senate both on the original Thomas amendment on monetary policy in the special session on the silver reauthorization drive in the regular session, currency relation by one means or another appears to be his answer to ways and means of breaking up wealth concentration in few hands.

That a substantial majority in both house and senate and without respect to party lines agree with him was proved by events of the seventy-third congress. Only extreme administration efforts tempered the mandate to the permissive form in both cases.

A Congressional Campaign Issue

Borah and his "as best I may" campaign bids fair to thrust inflation or reflation, or whatever term may be selected to describe the act, into the individual election campaigns of all senators and house members. His activity may easily compel even those, who might desire to avoid committing themselves, to include campaign pledges for mandatory action next session on that and on, say, restoration of the anti-trust laws behind NRA codes.

The Roosevelt administration may face just such a situation on those matters next session, regardless of its expected congressional majorities, as it did on the veterans' benefits claim on which the seventy-third congress overruled a Roosevelt veto.

The Borah lone-handed campaign has potentialities in it the administration cannot ignore. What to do about it, how to meet the challenge, either at the polls or before through exercise of extraordinary presidential powers, is a matter Mr. Roosevelt is certain to take up in his September get-together with party-high commanders here.

HIGHWAY DEVELOPMENT TOPIC FOR CONFERENCE

A plan of action for development of two transcontinental highways is to be mapped out at a meeting here Monday evening of representatives of several southern Idaho communities to which Curtis Turner, Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce executive chairman, sent invitations yesterday.

Rout 1 under consideration are United States route 89 extending from Panitz, Canada, to Mexico, and an east-and-west route between Crescent City, California, and they east through Yellowstone park.

The visit here of G. H. Barnes and Walter Scott of Los Angeles, with a pledge of Los Angeles support for a plan of development of these routes in cooperation with the federal government, is the occasion for the meeting here.

The meeting is to be held in the chamber's office at 8 o'clock Monday evening.

MINIDOKA CANALS TO GET LAST OF WATER

RUPERT, July 28—Beginning Wednesday morning on the use of 10,000 acre feet of water purchased from the Idaho Power company the last of the week and using now as the rate of 1000 acre feet daily, it is expected that this coming Sunday will probably see the last of the water belonging to the North Side Minidoka project in the canals, according to Frank Ballard, water manager. He said that if the same rate is maintained the water will be gone by Saturday night or Sunday morning.

Manager Ballard, William Trachten, secretary of the Minidoka Irrigation district, and Joe Talley, power superintendent at Minidoka dam, negotiated a contract with the Idaho Power company for 10,000 acre feet of the 10,000 acre feet of the primary storage in American Falls reservoir. The Burley Irrigation district, owning 33.5 per cent of the sub-storage in Walcott lake, insisted on receiving the remaining 6650 acre feet for the reason that if the sub-storage is drawn down it might deprive Burley of securing any natural flow that might come later, until such time as the sub-storage could be refilled. The Burley gates at Lake Walcott are 3 1/2 feet higher than the gates of the Minidoka Irrigation district.

The last of the original water owned by the Minidoka Irrigation district was drawn from the canals Wednesday morning and water users immediately began drawing on the 10,000 acre feet obtained from the Idaho Power company.

Business Map Reflects Seasonal, Drouth Conditions

This map represents business conditions in every state of the Union as shown in August, 1934, issue of "Nation's Business," official publication of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

There has been some seasonal quieting in distribution, accentuated by not or dry weather in wide areas. Industry naturally quieted after a heavier than normal spring rains in the Northwest repaired some of the damage done to early spring planted grains. As the heat and drought extended southward, cotton suffered in the eastern half of the belt while excessive rains affected Southern states. Early crop estimates indicated that nature might aid the farmer by reducing excessive supplies of grain and cotton. Commodity prices have reached a three year high because of influences were reported visible in enlarged sales and output of autos. Despite eight successive reductions in export quotations, manufactured steel held at the year's high levels of output and price until late

In June; then showed a record reduction. Cotton export production was curtailed in June to avoid over production.

THE MAP

Darkening of the map was mainly in the West where heat and drought affected crops and live stock. Some lost ground was regained in the Northwest. At Pacific coast ports strikes retarded foreign trade and curtailed lumber output.

of Boise shall be welcoming host to all Idaho and eastern Oregon residents who desire to celebrate in appropriate manner the one-hundredth anniversary of the coming of the first White men who looked upon the territory as something other than a place to be passed through.

Plans as outlined by the committee forecast a rousing celebration such as befits the hundred years of progress and development of the territory since Thomas McKay selected the spot on the banks of the Boise river and ordered his men to start settling there.

The outstanding feature of the centennial will be the gigantic patriotic pageant, in the 17 epochs of which a specially trained cast of some 1100 persons will portray in a huge amphitheater the various historical events that have marked the territory's progress since before the Boise valley was trod by White men's feet.

Other amusement and entertainment features will include a pioneer reunion, a pioneer parade, band and drum corps contest, a civic and industrial parade, polo games, a Basque carnival, an air circus, industrial and agricultural exhibits, sports and historical exhibits.

OPERATIC MEDLEY'S BANNED
BY CHIEF OF NAZI MUSIC
BERLIN, July 28 (AP)—Richard Strauss, German composer, has turned thumbs down on medleys. As president of the Reich's Music Chamber, in which all German musicians now are organized compulsorily, Strauss has suggested that a stop be put to the practice of mixing tunes of a composer up in a potpourri.

POTATO SHIPPING STARTS AT BURLEY

BURLEY, June 28—Potato shipping season has started in the Burley district, with several cars moving to Chicago at a price paid by dealers to growers of 35 to 40 cents bulk for Bliss Triumphs. A few Idaho Burleys are also moving. The season for Netted Gems will probably start August 15.

Dealers pronounce the quality of Triumphs as excellent. The yield is proving disappointing, thought to be because of hot weather. Triumphs declares Frank Foster, have exceptionally tender foliage which if bruised or sunburned reacts by affecting the tubers. In many cases it is declared, the seed was planted in dry soil and the shortage of water has resulted in insufficient irrigation. The early potato crop will be light, from 100 to 150 cars on the Minidoka project according to yields.

The drouth, say informed potato men, is likely to cause a very material shortage in the late potato crop in many Idaho districts. This drouth condition, however, is not prevalent in all potato growing states. Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan, strong competitors of Idaho, are reported to have good prospects for a bumper crop of spuds. The same condition exists in Oregon, Washington, and California. There are also stocks of Netted Gems in cold storage, held over from last season. In Oregon and Washington, and with eastern dealers, as to fall prices paid to Idaho growers, doubt will be deepened.

The volume of the crop harvested in Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan.

HARVEST PROGRESSING ON BURLEY DRY FARMS

BURLEY, July 28—Wheat harvest is progressing in the Heglar and Sublett dry farm districts of Cassia county, with a crop about 50 per cent below normal decade visitors from Heglar, Dry farms, they assert, that they well farmed and properly cultivated are producing satisfactory crops.

The hand-picked in haphazard fashion were unable to withstand the severe drouth. On July 20, they say, a heavy shower of rain, accompanied with hail, struck the Heglar district, with damage to standing grain that will reduce the yield from two to three bushels to the acre.

BORN AT BURLEY
BURLEY, July 28—Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Stewart announce the birth of a son born July 24. A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Johnson July 24.

ri or medley and thus offering piecemeal renditions of the works of master composers.

As the wish of one in high station in Germany nowadays is tantamount to an order, cafes and restaurants have no longer general selections in which, say, airs from Wagner's "Meistersinger," "Lohengrin," "Die Walkure," and "Tannhauser" are linked.

COOL, RESTFUL BEDROOM Colors Chosen To Secure Comfortable Effect

Room seems feminine, despite sturdy furniture.

(Prepared by The Decorators' Club of New York for The News.)
Simple and inexpensive is this bedroom, and suitable for the city apartment or country house. And while the furniture is of sturdy character, through the colors selected the room has become quite feminine.
Since the room is fairly large and light, Amy Sommers Phillips, the decorator, chose a delicate gray, verging on white, for the walls. It gives a feeling of restful coolness, highly desirable for a sleeping room. The rose tints of the maple furniture allow to excellent advantage against this background.
At the windows, chins in rose and green on a gray-blue ground is used over glass curtains of rose voile. The bedspread is an achievement in effect at very little cost. They are of the rose-colored voile, lined with satin of the same shade, both of which are inexpensive and practical materials. Hooked rugs in many colors bring interest to the floor.

A point worthy of notice is the placement of the little tables, so that each bed has its own lamp, thereby eliminating the necessity for disturbing one of the occupants if the other wishes to read.

EQUALIZATION BOARD CALLS QUESTIONNAIRES

BOISE, July 28—Members of the state board of equalization announced that there has been a gratifying response to the "confidential information" questionnaire recently mailed to several thousand farmers in Idaho. The information obtained from the farmers regarding their capital investment in lands and buildings, cost of upkeep and operation, and crop information for 1933 will be of value to the board in the annual meeting in August to equalize the assessments of all property in the state.

The supervisor of this survey, which is being carried out in every county in Idaho with funds allocated by the federal emergency relief administration, urges that all farm owners who have not yet returned their questionnaires do so at once as the more information furnished the state board of equalization, the better it will be able to equalize the assessments of live small property owner with that of utilities, mines, stocks of merchandise, etc., in the state.

SPITE MARRIAGE

by Katharine Hamilton Taylor

SYNOPSIS: The divorcee Bob Powers was forced to marry a girl he stopped because of the fact that Bob's mother had fallen ill of an incurable disease. He decides that the old lady must not know of their unhappiness, and when he returns to finish up his work in Africa he leaves Marsha to watch over his mother.

Chapter 29
NEW ROUTINE
"Has the postman stopped?" Mrs. Powers asked Marsha. "I think you should have a letter from Bob."

"Not yet, dear. I told Bartholomew to bring the letters up straight off."

"I too, spoke to him, to give much the same order. Have you noticed the begonia, Marsha?"

"The one with the sad, pale leaves?"

"Yes, dear. I thought when you asked, you could have snuck upon it, but gently."

"Yes, dear."

"What did the postman?"

"I think not, dear, but I'll go see. Then I'll send the begonia."

"It has been the postman; no letter from Bob. Was there anything in the post that would divert his mother, Marsha wondered. Thank heaven there was a letter from France."

She would make endless to-do about that, and with Marsha's confession to her wonder about the writer, she would further lead Marsha to believe that the letter was from her mother. Mrs. Powers' disappointment for three days now.

"From France? Was he paused a moment on the stairs, chilled by fear."

Then, with a lift of chin she hurried upward.

"Bob? Mrs. Powers asked as she appeared."

"No, but we could hardly hope to hear as yet; there hasn't been time. But you're a letter from France!"

"From France? Was I wondering?"

"Of course I don't know the writing; it's a rather bold writing. And the handwriting is so different from the handwriting of the paper. I'll get your letter cutter."

"Please, dear, I don't seem to remember that writing. Do you think it was written by a man or woman, Marsha?"

"I'd say a woman," Marsha answered slowly.

"As would I. The curly P. But some men curl P's."

"Yes. That noticed."

"No, but there is a holdover too, that suggests a man."

"This look ten minutes. She's that it pointed out."

"When I looked her up, sometimes I would see a half round, blue line there. Is that Marsha's handwriting. Always gentle and soft-spoken, understanding, and with a heart that is rare to see!"

She had her first letter from Bob while Mrs. Powers' clergyman called. She sent the letter addressed to his mother upstairs where Mrs. Powers lay suffering in her bed; it was a "bad day."

"And downstairs, Marsha said, holding her letter between her hands and, as she tried to listen. At one time, she said, she would have been amused by "joining the old crowd" now she saw him as rather dear."

He was trying so to entertain her with his long-winded and tedious description of a trip to the Holy Land. The congregation had sent him, he explained; she saw his pride. "How they must love you!" she said, "and what a rare opportunity to see that wonderful place!"

He nodded, smiling. He had heard sundry whispers of her; this lovely and charming young woman. He couldn't understand them; he had never met a more delightful or beautiful young woman; Mrs. Powers talked of her by the hour. He listened happily and with sympathy.

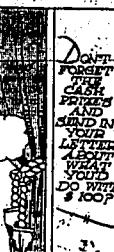

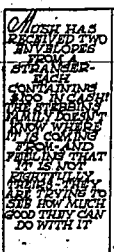

She held Bob's letter closely between her palms.

"The angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and came and rolled back the stone from the door, and sat upon it, and said unto the women, Fear not ye; for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified."

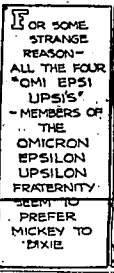

"He is not here; for he is risen, as he said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay."

—Matt. 28:2-6.

Registered Voter Advised To Make Certain Of Status

Voters who cast ballots in the general election two years ago and the prohibition referendum last spring would do well to inquire of registrars as to their status in the forthcoming primary election.

Frank J. Smith, Twin Falls county auditor and recorder, advised last evening.

Registration books in each voting precinct will be opened until 9 o'clock Saturday evening, August 11, to be closed then until the following Wednesday when registration will be resumed for the general election in November.

Next Monday is the first day for issuance of absent voter ballots at the county auditor's office, and Sunday, August 12, the last.

Here is the list of Twin Falls county registrars:

FORT HALL EVENTS COVER SEVEN DAYS

Centennial Program at Pocatello Lists Varied Attractions

POCATELLO, July 28.—Seven days celebration will mark the Fort Hall centennial to be held in Pocatello during the first week in August, according to official announcements coming from the Centennial headquarters. This will begin at 8 o'clock p. m. Thursday, July 28, with the official dedication of the Coliseum, on the University campus of the University at Pocatello by James A. Farley, postmaster-general.

On Friday evening at the Coliseum will be the American Legion prize fight. Saturday will be Merchants' Hospitality day and Idaho Homecoming day throughout the city. At the university coliseum on Sunday beginning at 10 o'clock, Dr. Stephen Pearson, president of Whitman college, will deliver the Jason Lee sermon. At 4 p. m. and also at 8 p. m. in the coliseum will be presented Hayden's Oratorio, "The Creation," by a choir of 300 voices accompanied by a 50-piece orchestra, conducted by Alec Simon of St. Paul, with L. Roubidoux as concert master, and Drew W. Stanord, Jr., as chairman of the oratorio committee.

The air circus will begin Monday morning with passenger flights as well as formation flights over the city during the time of the Centennial parade and throughout the day Monday morning, August 6, will mark the beginning of the Centennial parade. The Centennial parade will open at 10 a. m. and will feature the opening of the exhibit as well as the parade with floats and rides and carnival shows as well as the Indian War Dances and the American Legion show. At 12:30 p. m. will be the industrial parade through the city. The huge historical pageant will be given in the coliseum with a cast of 1000 people. From the close of the pageant, the Indian war dances and the American Legion show will be staged.

Thursday, August 7, will be known as Children's day. The pageant spectacle will be repeated again and the midway and carnival features will be the same as on the opening night.

Wednesday, August 8, will be Pioneer day and will include many special attractions.

The Old West parade will begin at 12:30 and will include all the big features of the parade. The colorful historical pageant will be repeated. The Centennial will close with a Mardi Gras carnival and a street dance.

A FROCK AS COOL AS A SEA BREEZE
Pattern 1837
by Anne Adams

A frock that flatters here and there in the breeze is a nice thing to wear in warm weather—or look cool and is cool! This one has two ruffles over the shoulders which ripple prettily and a sash that ties in demure ends discreetly. It emphasizes the pretty lines of a young waist and the slenderness of a young figure and is a thoroughly delightful thing in either a print or a plain fabric. Think of it, for instance, in peach coloring accented with blue or dotted white—or in the yoke and ruffles of contrast.

Pattern 1837 is available in size 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28 and 30. Size 18 takes 8 1/2 yards of 36 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send FIFTY CENTS (10c in coin or stamps (coin preferred) for this pattern and a copy of the plain name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.

The smartest warm weather frock, the newest fabric, and the summer season's outstanding accessories are illustrated and described in the NEW ANNE ADAMS PATTERN BOOK FOR SUMMER. ORDER YOUR COPY OF THIS HELPFUL NEW SUMMER BOOK. PRICE OF BOOK, 25 CENTS. CASH AND PATTERN TOGETHER, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Address orders to The News, Pattern Dept., Twin Falls, Idaho.

FIGHT ON HIGHWAY ROUTING CONTINUES

Protestors Express Dissatisfaction with Alternative Proposal

Designation of Main avenue in Twin Falls as an "alternative" United States highway route No. 30, which Duncan McD. Johnston, Twin Falls mayor, suggested last evening, is not acceptable to citizens circulating petitions for return of the original designation to Main avenue from the lately completed truck lane or by-pass on Fourth avenues west and south, statements of a number of those favoring the protest indicated last evening.

Petitions which are addressed to Joseph H. Stenmer, state director of highways, have been in circulation since a meeting last Wednesday evening at which a campaign for restoration of the highway route designation to Main avenue was outlined.

Presentation of the petition to the highway director was held up by the action that it was expected Twin Falls city council would take at its regular Monday evening meeting.

No Referrals to Sign

One of the petitions that was said to have been circulated in two downtown blocks carried 75 signatures last evening, and the circulator said no one had refused to sign.

Six of these petitions were placed in circulation. It was estimated signatures up to last evening would approximate 500.

Text of the petition is as follows:

"The undersigned business people and property owners of Twin Falls, Idaho, are fully appreciative of the wonderful by-pass or truck lane which has just been completed through our town; but owing to the fact that said truck lane or by-pass has been officially designated as U. S. highway No. 30, most all traffic is now traveling over this by-pass and thereby seriously mistaking the business district of the town.

"Fully realizing that said official designation has, and is, greatly injuring the business people of Twin Falls, Idaho, by routing traffic away from the business section of the town, we therefore humbly request that the Main street of Twin Falls, Idaho, which for the past number of years has been officially designated as U. S. highway No. 30, be again designated as U. S. highway No. 20."

"We are sure that the business people of Twin Falls, Idaho, will support this petition and that it will be successful in securing the restoration of the highway route designation to Main avenue from the lately completed truck lane or by-pass on Fourth avenues west and south."

GOVERNOR BRINGS CAMPAIGN MESSAGE

Five Candidates for Congressional Nomination On Platform

Governor C. Ben Ross, campaigning for reelection to a third term, today brought a message to the five candidates for congressional nomination on the platform.

At a meeting held at the governor's residence, the five candidates, held open air meetings last evening in Buhl and Twin Falls city parks.

Answering a number of questions propounded by a spokesman for "organized labor" in Twin Falls, the governor reviewed the history of the OWA which he said was "the product of western governors and my particular pet," and disclaimed any responsibility for it.

"There was a lot of chattering in every county; that is a characteristic of human nature," he said, replying to a question why there has been "discrimination and no redress of grievances in the OWA in Twin Falls county."

The governor addressed himself in the main to achievements which he claimed for his four-year administration—destruction of the Republican political machine and reduction of state expenditures.

No Back Room Conference

Meeting the charge that he had built up a political machine of his own, he asserted that he had "never sat in a back room conference to mislead the people."

Without referring to the new state income tax and other sources of state revenue, the governor pointed to the "regulatory" appropriations of two years ago and challenged opponents to dispute his assertion that "every year since there has been a Democrat in the statehouse we have saved the people of Idaho a million dollars a year."

He struck a responsive chord in his audience of 800 to 1000 persons when he declared for cash payment for work relief, and told farmers it would be to their advantage if labor were sufficiently well paid to consume farm products at fair prices.

John B. Robertson of Twin Falls, candidate for the Democratic nomination for second district congressman, presided at the meeting here and introduced four other candidates for the same nomination.

D. Worth Clark of Pocatello, Lewis Williams of Boise, J. H. Masters of Blackfoot and Harold L. Yeaman of Buhl. Each was allotted two minutes to speak.

Harry W. Barry of Buhl, presided at the Buhl meeting and introduced, besides the governor, Clark, Masters and Yeaman.

CARS CRASH

Automobiles driven by F. T. Kennedy, Monroe, and E. H. Shepherd, collided at Tipperary corner at the northern end of Hansen street late yesterday afternoon. One was injured and Earle B. Williams, state traffic officer, who investigated the accident, reports damage to the two cars at $200.

SWIMMING SCHOOL CLASSES TO BEGIN

Public Asked to Transport Children From Park To Natatorium

Classes in swimming and life-saving, sponsored by Twin Falls chapter, American Red Cross, begin tomorrow at Nat-Geo-Park, and will continue for the next six days. Beginners' classes will be held each morning, from 9:00 o'clock on, and advanced, adult and life-saving classes in the afternoon from 2 o'clock on.

One who cannot swim well for a distance of 30 feet is classed as a beginner. Classes will be directed by Charles Gill, Boise.

Shortage of transportation exists at present, and the public is asked to co-operate in getting children to and from the natatorium. Beginners who have no means of transportation are requested to meet at the drinking fountain at 8:30 o'clock each morning. Those enrolled for afternoon classes who have no means of conveyance, are asked to meet at the same place at 1 o'clock.

Those who are taking their children or others to the pool are requested to stop at the city park for additional passengers each morning and afternoon.

Petitions—Ready For Circulation In Fire District

With a pledge that insurance rates will be reduced and that homes will be better protected, members of the Twin Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce will begin circulating petitions Monday morning for the proposed suburban fire district.

Every house in the 40 square miles of territory included in the district will be canvassed by 30 petitioners, Claude DeWetter, chairman of the committee in charge, said last night. The petitions are in the form of a request to the Twin Falls county commissioners for organization of the proposed district.

The petitions state the primary reason for the request is the excessive measure for homes and the reduction of insurance rates is given as a secondary reason. It is stated that the reduction in rates will practically offset the cost of maintaining the district.

Spokane Meeting, Rejects Code and Agreement For Northwest

A meeting of representatives of potato growers of four states, Idaho, Oregon, Washington and Montana, at Spokane last Friday definitely went on record as being opposed to any code or marketing agreement, according to reports that E. W. Pettigrove of Hansen and Carl L. DeLong, Twin Falls district growers' representative, brought back yesterday from the session.

It was estimated that producers of 45,000 carloads of potatoes were represented at the Spokane meeting at which a representative of the federal department of agriculture discussed with growers the proposition of establishing a code and marketing agreement for the industry. The meeting was held under auspices of the Northwest Potato Growers' association.

Growers of this district in previous considering the subject had expressed apprehension that the proposed regulation would include a limitation on potato production and shipment.

because of the Chicago stockyards strike and an accumulation of animals at the principal markets which overtaxed processing plant facilities.

"INVINCIBLE LOUISA" GETS NEWBERRY PRIZE

This year's Newberry medal, presented to the author of the most distinguished book for children for the year, was presented to Cornelia Meigs for her book, "Invincible Louisa," a biography of Louisa May Alcott, author of the beloved "Little Women." The book is available at the Twin Falls library.

The dauntless Louisa, and her whole family, are portrayed with sympathy and understanding; the book has a warmth and beauty of style, that reflects a spiritual kinship between the biographer and Miss Alcott.

This is the first time the medal has ever been awarded to a biography. Frederic G. Melcher, editor of the Publishers Weekly, wishing to encourage people of exceptional literary and creative ability to write for children, offers the award each year as a gift.

WIFE—CHARGES CRUELTY

On grounds of alleged cruelty, Mrs. Etta Ribeau, mother of a 12-year-old daughter, has started suit in the district court here for divorce from Henri Ribeau to whom she was married at Knoxville, Tennessee, in 1920. She asks for custody of the child and for a division of community property. J. W. Porter of Twin Falls is her attorney.
