pliot would not proceed except in a calm. "In any but the most tranquil weather," the tourist learned, the Japanese, including the pilots, are "pathetically air-sick."

When the American Bar association meets in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, next month, it will receive a recommendation for the application of the contempt power of the court against newspapers which print lurid and sensational crime stories tending to cause an atmosphere of prejudice. The proposed departure is fraught with menacing difficulties, if it does not precipitate anew the struggle to maintain the freedom of the press.

The line between contempt and privilege in criminal proceedings may be exceedingly fine. The reason now is dotted with instances of personal umbrage being converted to contempt orders for no other purpose than to alienate a critical press. The recommendation is part of a program for reform in criminal trials, which includes, among other things, denial of the right of the individual to avoid self-incrimination and the establishment of a test than unanimous jury verdicts.

It, perhaps, cannot be determined fully the influence that the American press exerts on American jurisprudence. The powers of the press, in the main, have been given to defend ideals and the triumph of justice. They have spurred lagging justice to action more often than they have meddled with the fundamental rights of the courts or accused. The self-willings press declines to meddle with matters which will forestall justice or abridge the inherent rights of the accused.

It sometimes does complain when the ends of justice are diverted by presumption in judicial procedure. So it is that the proposal of the American bar is fraught with difficulty, for there is no telling where contempt proceedings might start or end. The wider use of contempt, the might might be converted to an attempt to gag a free press, in which the evils of the reform might far outweigh its benefits.

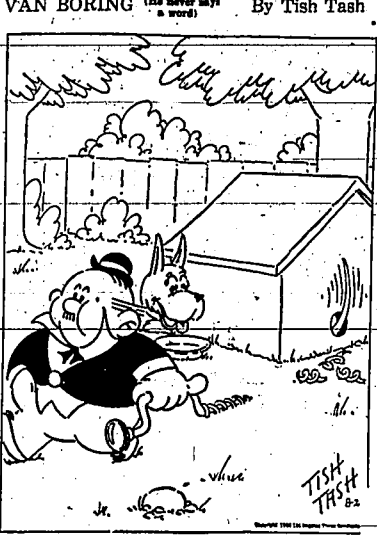

Not all newspapers are motivated by the same ideals, but the majority of them are committed to rules of decency. For every one that encroaches upon the rights of the court or the functions of the law there are a score to the support and perfection of these institutions. The outlet with the contempt proposal is that it doesn't distinguish between the one who had an indiscretion to go too far, possibly suppressing an influence for good when it only means to remove an evil, which sometimes embraces the court and thwarts justice.

HOW BRITAIN HANDLES DRUNKEN DRIVERS
(Rubell M. Brook of States, American counsel at Caracas, Netherlands West India, for many years stationed at various foreign ports, writing on the growing menace of drunken driving in Oregon, cites the procedure used in Great Britain to curb the evil. He states that when a driver is intoxicated, his license is revoked for a period of from three to five years or perhaps forever.

There have been quite a few new stock issues lately, in spite of fears based on the securities and exchange control laws. More is expected in this line as fall comes on. Meanwhile, a business writer observes, a good many orders are going in for dies and machine tools for the automobile industry and others. This is in a vital area of business, where improvement has been long deferred.

Another thing about those Japanese, brought up by the rather spectacular American flight to Alaska and the talk of establishing a military air post there—the Japs themselves are really not so hot in aviation. With their own shortcomings as flyers, they might naturally get such a scare from a harmless little incident like this—as some of their patriots seem to have had.

With all their cleverness in many directions, and their known skill and courage as soldiers and sailors, the Japanese as a race are said to have a sort of constitutional unfitness for aviation. It may amount to a psychological defect. Some races have a large percentage of "bird-minded" individuals. Japan has a very small percentage of them.

WASHINGTON CLOSE-UP
By KIRKE SIMPSON
"A WASHINGTON BYSTANDER"

WASHINGTON—Hope that springs eternal rather than any lesson of experience must have dictated the Baker aviation committee's loudly voiced opinion that its findings might be accepted as the basis of a 10-year plan of army air development.

Yet, there is every reason to anticipate that the presidential commission will come out at exactly the same point in proposing a fundamental aviation policy so far as the war purpose of the air force is concerned, as did the Baker committee at a public hearing last week against any other form of attack.

Baker Headed First Secretary Dern made a peculiarly suitable selection in naming Newton D. Baker to head the inquiry. Mr. Baker, for every reason to recall, is intimately several of those previous investigations of military air policy and developments. He was a key figure in the first, with the hundreds of thousands-roads-to-Berlin slogan was evolved to "sell" the $500,000,000 war-time supplemental aviation program to the country.

The idea of hurrying sales of bombing planes at Germany never got anywhere because of economic and mechanical resources of the allied and associated powers. Probably if never would have been so far even had it proved possible to turn out the planes and train the crews. With President Wilson's efforts to draw a line between the German people and German national leadership, certainly American public opinion would not have permitted wholesale bombing of American population.

Lethal Gas Proscribed Nor is the President's air policy commission any more apt to think in terms of such air assaults than was the Baker committee, and has done so since the close of the war, use of lethal gas as a weapon of war here. It would be employed only in re-

Guiding Your Child

Country Clubs The country club was having a dance, and the floors and lounges were crowded with members of all ages. But though most of them knew one another, contacts between old and young were few. It is almost negligible, and the general impression was that the older people were there only on sufferance, because the youngsters could not keep them away.

When they are 16 or even younger, the children are allowed to attend the club dances and join in the throng which ebbs the elders off the floor.

A New Yorker at Large
By MARK BARRON

NEW YORK—Dining in one of the major hotels on Broadway the other night, I observed an elderly man in a brown hat and a red coat, two mini jumps. When the frosted drinks were placed before him, he wiped his face and carried them out to the street.

When I saw him again, he was in the hotel for years. Before repeal, he used to carry cups of coffee out to the hotel. He was a regular at the hotel, who has been in New York long, was standing by the Times building many a winter.

For the most part, I've always found New Yorkers helpful and courteous to strangers. But, this is paradoxical city. I make the observation that New Yorkers are polite, and then I hear of a happening like this. A man who had just returned from a small town in Ohio was riding on a crowded Sixth avenue elevated train one afternoon. A young woman entered and, as there were no vacant seats, the Ohio visitor arose and offered his place. She thought he was flirting, slapped his face and threatened to call the guard.

WOMEN of today are no longer compelled to slave their lives away doing housework by old-fashioned methods. Electricity has emancipated them from drudgery and the confining duties that formerly tied women to their kitchens.

The kitchen has become the most important room in the modern home. It is here that science and invention, through the application of electrical energy, has given women the ways and means of doing housework with little effort and with greater convenience and more economy than was ever before possible.

The All-Electric Kitchen is a marvel of efficiency and cleanliness. There is no smoke, soot, dirt or dust to blacken utensils or walls . . . no open flame to rob the air of oxygen. It is a cool, attractive room where the business of housekeeping is carried on with the utmost simplicity and ease.

The three major servants . . . electric range . . . electric refrigerator . . . electric water heater . . . are on the job, constantly, performing their functions automatically and with unflinching accuracy.

The electric range is ready at the snap of a switch to boil, fry, broil or bake foods. Or you can prepare your dinner in the morning, place it in the oven, set the time and temperature controls and leave for the day. Then while you're away the range will cook the dinner and have it ready to serve when you return at meal time. The electric water heater automatically keeps a supply of hot water on hand, ready for instant use any hour of the day or night. The electric refrigerator, automatically, maintains an even dry cold, preserving foods perfectly and aiding in protecting the health of the family.

Numerous small appliances such as the percolator, toaster, waffle iron and food mixer, are also valuable servants in the All-Electric Kitchen and are always ready to help you with the minor details of preparing foods.

Nothing you can do in the way of improving your home will mean so much as the acquisition of an All-Electric Kitchen. Why not begin now? Visit your dealer or Idaho Power store and see the beautiful new models in electric refrigerators on display. See the new electric water heaters at your nearest Idaho Power store.

Risko Decisions Loughran As 7,000 Fans Look On Oregon Pro Wins Washington Open

Emory Zimmerman, Portland Annexes Title by Defeating Johnson

SEATTLE, Aug. 1 (AP)—Emory Zimmerman, Portland pro, won the Washington state open golf championship today when he defeated Bill Johnson, Tacoma pro, by three strokes in a double playoff match.

Johnson, who had been second in the final year, the two sharpshooters finished with 121 holes to play, each sending them to an extra nine holes to decide the contest. In that, Zimmerman secured a 21, two under par, while Johnson took 28.

There was no question as to Risko's superiority. From the start he carried the fight to the Philadelphia boxer and with the exception of three of the last four rounds, Risko's rights and left continually to Loughran's body. The Associated Press score sheet gave Risko six rounds, Loughran three and scored the third as even.

Risko weighed 195 pounds and Loughran 183.

Walker Prepares For Corbett Bout Claimant to Middleweight Throne Works Out at San Francisco

San Francisco, Aug. 1 (AP)—Mickey Walker, once undisputed middleweight champion, now seeking to put in a priority claim to the title, he quit defending three years ago, showed today he still can "make the weight."

The former Russian buldog tested his weight on two scales. On one he weighed 160 pounds even and on the other 161 1/2 pounds, a pound and a half over the limit.

Walker is training for a 10-round bout here August 18 with Young Corbett of Fresno. He has agreed to gamble whatever claim he thinks he has to the title in the fight. The New York boxing commission and the National Boxing Association have accepted Vince Dundee as middleweight champion. Walker took up work as a heavyweight in 1931 but now wants his middleweight crown.

Corbett arrived today and went through a light workout.

Tennis Favorites Find Going Tough

Joséphine Cruijckbank Subdues Theodosia Smith After Hard Battle

EASTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 1 (AP)—The seeded tennis stars did not have trouble today as the second round of the ninth annual Madison Square women's invitation tennis tournament proved more difficult than the first.

Joséphine Cruijckbank of Santa Ana, California, top ranking entry since the withdrawal of Corolla Babcock from the singles, had to play an hour and a half to eliminate Theodosia Smith, No. 2.

Mrs. John Van Ryn of Philadelphia, No. 4 player, was forced through three long sets before defeating Florence La Bontillier of Westbury, New York, 6-4, 3-6, 6-2, 6-3, 6-3, and Mrs. Harris eliminated Marianne Hunt of Los Angeles, 6-3, 6-3.

Mrs. Dorothy Andrus of Oklawaha, Connecticut, and Mrs. Orest Harris of Kansas City, scored sixth and seventh, won as they pleased. Mrs. Andrus conquered Catherine Wolf of Chicago, 6-2, 6-3, 6-3, and Mrs. Harris eliminated Marianne Hunt of Los Angeles, 6-3, 6-3.

Field Narrows in Eastern Tourney

Bell, Mangin Pull Out Victories in Meadow Club Play

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 1 (AP)—Eight seeded teams came through two rounds of match play with a wide open field in the Meadow Club's 32nd annual invitation tennis tournament which was reduced to eight quarterfinalists. Singles play was suspended.

The top seeded pair, Berkeley Bell of New York and Gregory Mangin of Newark, who are out to retire this season, today beat after victories in 1929 and 1930, got off to a good start by winning a pair of straight set matches.

Francis Parker of Spring Lake, N. J., and his partner, Bryan "Bibby" Grant of Atlanta, also won in straight sets.

Other survivors included Henry Pruss, Seattle, and Wilmer Hines, Huntington Beach, in the American quarter, which played grand tennis but could win only one match against the British in the challenge round, failed to repeat even the glimmer of a hope that Uncle Sam's present crop of players can turn the trick.

The problem simmered down to one question:

"How are you going to beat that fellow Fred Perry?"

Shields also interjected the remark that he'd like to see the man who can beat Wilfred "Bunny" Austin when he's playing for that cup.

Masters were not made any more cheerful when Lott, the "Rock of Gibraltar" of the last three tennis, laid his head through with cup play.

"This time next year," George said "I'll be selling mining machinery and letting someone else try to lift the mug."

But in the next breath he said he might be back.

"Maybe I'll go into training for both singles and doubles," he said. "I'd like to see what I can do with a team cup player has been able to do in the last three years of cup competition."

Should Lott hold on to his first thought and return the United States tennis crown without a foundation stone on which to build a winning team.

SOUTH PARK, PITTSBURGH, Aug. 1 (AP)—Turning back two opponents by deciding to play the young Seattle golfer, today advanced to the final round of the Pittsburgh Links event.

The two ex-champs beaten were Karl Kauffman of Pittsburgh, only one over to win the public links championship three times, and Bob Miller of Jacksonville, Florida, the first tie holder.

Kauffman lasted until the second round and then lost decisively to the smooth striking Lorraine of York, Pa., 4 and 1.

Miller failed to survive the first round, losing in the biggest upset of the day to J. J. Jewett of Gary, Indiana, 2 and 1.

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 1 (AP)—Tony Barah and Jack Fenton, San Francisco infielders, literally threw tonight's game into the Mission Reds' victory column.

Dahlgren, first batter up in the ninth inning for the Reds, grounded to Barah for an out, but the ninth fight, Dahlgren kept right on running and made the complete circuit with the winning course that gave the Missions a 5 to 4 victory as Fenton picked up the ball and touched it into left field.

Want 43% More Miles of Real NON-SKID SAFETY?

Here it is! The amazing new Goodyear "G-3" is scoring a nation-wide success

WE'VE never seen a tire make such an instant success—such a sweeping sensation—as this new Goodyear "G-3" All-Weather.

Goodyear took two years to develop it. Gave it months of grueling tests to prove that it gives 43% longer non-skid mileage.

And that means NON-SKID—right in the center of the tread, where the grip has to be for safety.

There's more grip on the tread—more rubber in the tread—more tread against the ground—patented Supertwist in every ply, to stand up under the huskier, heavier shoulders.

And the test fleet proved that this new "G-3" will keep its grip twice as long as tires tested against it.

What a tire! And the best news of all is it costs no more! Come in and see it!

POGATELLAN BACKS INFLATION PROGRAM

Hunt Addresses Labor Meeting; Martin and Other Candidates Speak

George W. Hunt, Pocatello, candidate for congress, subject to the Democratic primaries, was the principal speaker on a labor program held in Twin Falls city park last night. Hunt chose the present monetary system as the basis for his talk, about 200 persons attended.

Although he was not scheduled to address the meeting, "General" Frank Martin, Boise attorney and Democratic gubernatorial candidate, slipped into the show when he requested that he be allowed to "make a short talk to explain a few points to the group. Martin's talk was in support of labor organizations, collective bargaining, inspection of industry, workmen's compensation and payment thereof, social justice, child labor laws and a few other prominent campaigns. To all, Martin occupied the major part of the speaking program.

Other speakers were Mayor Donato, Mayor Johnson, Democratic candidate for state senator, August Roseqvist, secretary of the Idaho Labor Council, Labor Mrs. B. Stringfellow, Pocatello; and W. B. Harris, Pocatello, member of the Idaho NLA executive board.

Urges More Money

Hunt maintained that it is necessary to increase the money supply. "We want greater supply of money. We want increased wages, cheaper money, less hours and the money volume inflated," he said. He estimated the public debt at $22,000,000,000 and the nation's private debts at $14,000,000,000. "These debts will never be paid unless we get cheaper money," the candidate announced.

Mayor Johnson urged that voters register immediately and announced that he favored the old age pension plan as the best to do his best. If elected, to put Twin Falls county back on a first class rating. "It is a disgrace to give this county a second class rating," Johnston said. The mayor also stated that he favored meeting federal grants by appropriating to provide employment.

Labor Candidates

Roseqvist strongly urged every working man to join some organization affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. "Labor was at one time denied the right to organize. The demand to organize was met by bullets. Now that you can organize for the working man to do is to support candidates who favor labor organizations," he said.

Mrs. Stringfellow gave a short talk in behalf of Mrs. Masters, Blackfoot, Democratic congressional candidate. She said that "Mr. Masters has the support of nearly all typographical workers in the state."

Hunt made the most startling statement when he said that he announced that "so many technological improvements have been made since the advent of the depression that, even if the depression ends today, 50 per cent of American workmen would still be unemployed. He also spoke briefly on the accomplishments of labor organizations.

The meeting was presided over by James D. Whelan, special district organizer for the Idaho Federation of Labor.

Weighing Machines Ransacked in Three South Idaho Towns

Southern Idaho law enforcement officers are on the lookout for a quarryer who recently committed a series of burglaries Tuesday night. Four weighing machines in Twin Falls, Burley and Stanley were cracked open and the contents removed.

The Burley store reports a loss of about 210 white Merganser and Van Engelen & Hood stores in Twin Falls and a Burley store report the loss of between $20 and $40 each. In all cases the machines were broken into by prying the backs of the machines with a screwdriver.

The first clue to the identity of the thieves was reached in Burley where four young men, dressed in overalls, were seen loitering near the machine just before it was robbed.

Police Chief Sam Erod of Twin Falls, Art Parker of Burley and Sterling Clark of Burley are co-operating in the search for the culprits.

Dr. C. L. GAIN of the Smithsonian Institution, in connection with the excavating work now being carried on by the Institution in Hagerman, was guest speaker at the regular weekly meeting of the

LAMB POOL PLANS TO HELP IN BUYING EWES

Harvey S. Hale, Twin Falls county extension agent for the state department of agriculture, announced last night that the county lamb pool would assist farmers in buying ewes.

Farm flocks of sheep have been one of the most profitable things on our Twin Falls county farms and the outlook for the next several years is very favorable. On most of the farms a farm flock fits in very well with our farm program. We must have more interest in this tract if we expect to keep up the fertility of the soil.

To make farm flocks a profitable enterprise it is essential to have good ewes and to assist in getting these the lamb pool has made plans to help in financing and buying of yearling ewes or ewe lambs. Hale said. The agent stated that interested parties should see either one of the lamb pool directors or inquire at his office.

Twin Falls Rotary club held Wednesday.

According to Dr. Grasin work is going forward on an extensive scale and large quantities of fossilized remains of fish, reptiles, birds and animals are being unearthed and prepared for shipment to Washington.

An interesting feature of the work is the variety of fossil bones discovered. In one particular quarry an entire herd of prehistoric horses apparently perished while at other points in the hills and along the canyon the remains of beaver, otter, beccary, lion and many varieties of fish, reptiles and frogs being brought to light. The work is to go on during the summer and fall prior to the opening of the present excavations the last work performed was in 1931.

A number of non member guests were present. Frank L. Haash president of the club presided.

FARMERS LAY BEAN AGREEMENT PLANS

Meetings Scheduled to Be Held in Twin Falls And Buhl

Meetings to familiarize the Twin Falls county bean growers with the bean marketing agreement will be held in the district court room in Twin Falls tonight at 8:30 o'clock and in the Buhl city hall Saturday evening at 8:30 o'clock, Harvey S. Hale, county extension agent, said last night.

These measures are being held preliminary to the public hearing on the agreement which is slated to be held in the Twin Falls county court house August 6-7. A thorough study is to be made of the proposed agreement at the preliminary meetings.

Urged to Attend

Hale urged all bean growers either in favor of, or discouraging this agreement, to attend this hearing. Providing a majority of the bean growers are interested in the marketing agreement it is planned to push this work promptly to completion so that the crop to be marketed this fall may be marketed under the agreement as set up at this hearing.

Field day meetings at bean experimental plots will be held Thursday, August 9. Plots are located on
