EMERGENCY COSTS EXCEED $1 BILLION AS WINTER NEARNS

Funds Released Through Various Channels Run Beyond Roosevelt Estimate With Relief Being Largest Item

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Federal emergency expenditures surpassed the billion dollar point today, with the big outflow of winter relief just ahead.

The extraordinary spending totaled $1,016,446,969 for the first three and one half months of the fiscal year, by comparison with President Roosevelt's estimate that something over $2,000,000,000 would cover the entire 12-month period.

Actually, moreover, the aggregate emergency for the year to date was $1,511,712,221, from which was paid $155,000,000 in representations of loans by the Reconstruction Corporation and $1,039,331 in profits on securities realized by the deposit insurance corporation.

Big Sum For Relief

The largest single outlay was, of course, that for relief—$444,343,720. By comparison, $430,742,149 was expended throughout the entire last year for this purpose.

For the current year, officials are now thoroughly resigned to emergency spending running far above estimates.

As justification for the extent of the year's expenditures administration officials point to the fact that the outlay last year fell $2,500,000 below estimates. Secretary Morgenthau, himself, brought this out in the only speech he made since taking office. The money is available for expenditure now.

All expenditures to date total $1,230,000,000, while the year to date was $1,232,421,152. The deficit now stands at $707,831,182 as compared with $723,027 for the same three and a half months last year.

Public Debt Increases

Since the present fiscal year began on July 1 the public debt has increased from $27,033,141 to $27,200,102.42, a year ago it fell $2,500,000 below estimates. Secretary Morgenthau, himself, brought this out in the only speech he made since taking office. The money is available for expenditure now.

POOR PRACTICE

There will be little sympathy with the legal efforts indulged in by counsel for Bruno Richard Hauptmann, accused of the kidnapping and murder of the Lindbergh baby and in all human likelihood one hundred percent guilty, to prevent the return of the accused to New Jersey for trial.

Admittedly duty of counsel is to protect the client and no one will quarrel with every reasonable effort on the part of counsel to do this but to carry such defense to a point where effort is directed toward preventing trial of the case seems to somewhat overstep the limit of reason.

Hauptmann has been connected with the crime by evidence which seems to point towards certain guilt and he should be tried promptly and just as promptly turned loose if the State's case is insufficient to bring about a conviction. If found guilty he should be speedily executed. The man has nothing to fear if innocent and should be so advised. Every criminal is entitled to a defense but it is a question if the ethics of the situation from a legal standpoint are not badly strained when counsel goes as far as to attempt to prevent trial of the case.

Such tactics do not enhance the prestige of the legal profession. Lawyers themselves may defend this sort of practice but in the eyes of the rank and file of the American people the cause of justice in a broad sense is obstructed instead of served by such tactics.

There are all together too many loopholes in criminal procedure anyway, a fact of which lawyers as a whole are very well aware.

It seems apparent that Hauptmann will not succeed in escaping trial in New Jersey but the thought of such a possibility is of itself disgusting to the average man.

Justice, yes; but less of the tricks and technicalities of the law which have always served criminals better than society and are responsible for more crooks being at large to day than any lack of evidence ever turned loose.

DIVIDED AIR FORCE

The old argument about our national air defense breaks out again, with the new plan dividing army flyers into five units. Two of these will be posted on the eastern coast, two on the western and one inland, presumably in Texas. The strategy is purely defensive. Only the Midwest force will be designated as "offensive," and as an "attack wing" (its main function would be to attack invaders from whatever quarter, reinforcing the coast wings when necessary. All of the wings would be mobile.

Only an expert could presume to criticize this policy. But there is the same old story regarding the relative merits of a unified and a divided air force.

To a more civilian, the five-wing army plan looks reasonable; if the various units are flexible and complete in themselves; and if there is ample provision for co-operation among them, and for the flyers of any group to gain flying experience in the other areas. But the navy is left with its own separate air service. It is hard to understand the continued insistence on this separation, contrary to the policy of other nations.

GERMANS IN HOLLAND

Holland, long a refuge for the oppressed of other lands, is still—serving her ancient mission. Three thousand German refugees have settled there during the Hitler regime. They are mostly Jews. Lately a colony of young German Jews has been established on land reclaimed by the draining of the Zuider Zee. The members are "intellectuals"—students, lawyers, doctors, and so on. They receive training in farming and horticulture, under the care of a special Dutch committee, and later many of them will move on to Palestine and other countries, making room for fresh arrivals.

There is co-operation, on the part of the local Dutch committee, with the League of Nations commission for refugees from Germany. At the inauguration of the new training colony the League commissioner was present, congratulating the Dutch government on its liberal attitude.

It is a fine work, duplicated to some extent in other countries near Germany. But who would have thought, a few years ago, that this sort of philanthropy would become necessary in western Europe?

TIME TO SPEAK OUT

Those men who regard the whole business as crazy, and know that Mr. Roosevelt is solely responsible for all of it, denounce everything about it except him. This is true of Republicans as well as Democrats. They criticize the brain trust, the radicals and congress, but never Mr. Roosevelt personally. They speak as if it were just put over on them by the big bad boys. No other president was ever thus blamed for personal responsibility. Certainly, Mr. Wilson and Mr. Cleveland were not.

... To oppose the new deal and be pro-Roosevelt is a paradox. To try to win Mr. Roosevelt away from the new deal is ridiculous. ... Come day this business of treating as if he did not realize what he is doing; of wrapping him in the Star-Spangled Banner and setting him apart, while denouncing all his works, will have to be abandoned.

HITLER AND THE CHURCHES

(Caldwell News-Tribune)

Dispatches of today relate that Hitler, boss of Germany, is having serious trouble because of his efforts to close German churches whose pastors will not bow to his commands as to what they shall or shall not preach. Hitler, perhaps, never has heard of the adage, which tells us that it is highly dangerous to attempt to rob a people of their God. It is the history of the world, ancient and modern, that men will sacrifice their lives if necessary to maintain their religious conviction. Hitler, having failed to recognize this fundamental truth, is grooming himself for a fall.

SPENDERS AND SAVERS

(Walla Walla News)

One would hardly hope to find consistency in a political campaign, but this year there seems to be less logic than usual in the presentation of the issues.

For example, the same candidates, who are trying to invite the voters into supporting them for their advocacy of low state tax rates, are trying to create the same tax rates, the same voters by proposing large expenditures for the federal government, which can mean nothing else than higher federal taxes.

If low state taxes are good political medicine, how can high federal taxes be good political medicine? If state candidates are making it a political virtue that they don't spend state money, why do they turn right around and to the same audience claim it as a virtue that they favor a lavish spending of federal money? Federal money, like state money, comes eventually from the pockets of the same taxpayers.

If economy is a good thing in state government, why isn't it a good thing in the federal government, if we should elect congressional state officials, why shouldn't we elect taxpayers to federal positions?

Can someone tell us the answer?

PAPA MUST PAY THE BILL

(The Minneapolis Journal)

Most adults have heard the story of the dialogue between two little girls, one making the other if she believed there is a devil. "No," the other answered scornfully, "it's just like Santa Claus. It's your father."

In popular car of the day, borrowed from Alfred E. Smith's wilderness, the federal government is playing Santa Claus. Those who receive aid are grateful, naturally. But it is well to stop and think, once in a while, and ask whether there really is a Santa Claus. It is not the legendary figure of the Christmas legend, but the present one to the President with the smiling countenance that one must give the thanks. The family Santa Claus is "papa," who pays the bills, and the national Santa Claus is the taxpayer, in the last analysis. Business, in order to live, must pay its costs along to the consumer.

So-called the great American public is not getting something for nothing. All must help to pay the bill. There is no Santa Claus. We are just exchanging Christmas presents.

BREAKFAST FOOD

Poet—"Does my poem lack merit, then?" Editor—"Not at all. It takes true genius to make 'breakfast' rhyme with 'magnificent' as you have."

Her Mother—"Why don't you learn when he stays too long? They'll take the hint and go."

Daughter—"That dad and all he did was to tell me what beautiful little I had."

Restaurant patron—"Excuse me, waiter, what are those black spots in my milk?" Waiter—"Some of those Walrus's you're talking 'bout."

Man—"You're just my kind of fellow."

"About 30 percent for shelter, 30 percent for clothing, 40 percent for food and 20 percent for amusement."

"But that adds up to 120 percent."

"That's right."

A CHILD'S LOVE

Four-year-old Ellen was being taught to eat and enjoy all kinds of food, so she was also given spinach. "I don't like it," she said. "It's not my kind of food."

"But that's just what it is," her mother said. "It's a pretty little plant, in her nursery, with her big Teddy bear, as companion, always opposite."

At the set table one day, she placed it at it and sighed, "Spinach against Mr. Teddy, dear, if I didn't love you so dearly I'd give this to you!"

HELL FIND OUT

"You don't know?"

"No, I ordered a tender steak."

INTEREST. Political eyes will be focused on Miami next Monday: The American Legion will meet in annual convention and the big question, so far as the politics are concerned, is what action—if any—will be taken on the bonus.

Oldtime Legion men-pullers think they have the bonus licked and they know they are in a tight position. Delegates, some of them big ones, are heading south with instructions to fight for immediate cash payment of the balance due on adjusted service certificates.

While House was lengthy will be turned in on developments. The federal treasury, according to New Deal figures, is in no danger of shorting over two billion dollars in such fashion. If a showdown is forced in the next session of Congress President Roosevelt will back the bonus boys to the bitter end. Naturally, he would rather avoid the fight.

The score to date among nationally prominent veterans' organizations stands out on one on the bonus. The Disabled American Veterans refuse to take any action whatever until the annual meeting, Veterans of Foreign Wars on the other hand went the whole hog in asking for full payment.

There is a decided vote up to the Legion—which has by far the largest membership. If the Legion vote against taking a bonus stand, VFW will have difficulty stirring up an awesome Congressional lobby all alone.

President Roosevelt is making a speech tomorrow which may or may not affect the situation. He is due to deliver his "unofficial" address at the dedication of the new veterans' hospital at Roanoke, Va. All the executive outfits are waiting around to see what, if anything, FDR will have to say about cash bonus.

The administration already has one ace in the hole wherewith to state off another Congressional debt-light on its payment issue.

Interest is steadily eating up the balance due those who took their first fifty per cent. In fact the government was able to reduce its sinking fund against ultimate bonus payment from $100,000,000 to $50,000,000 a year for this reason alone.

A great many veterans who oppose cash payment of the remainder at the moment believe Uncle Sam might suspend interest charge altogether or reduce them materially. Such a proposal by the President might well stir the bonuses.

NOTES. Leonide Piatnik, Yugoslav minister to the U. S., quietly left out of his job some time ago and left the legation to a charge d'affaires. CCG boys will come under fire in "Theodore Roosevelt Island" in the Solomon near the Arlington bridge and prepare for a national memorial to T. R. G. O. P. Chairman Fletcher has come to town to stay until he elects a Republican president. But he says nothing when anybody mentions President Grant.

Pratt of Wisconsin University, President of the National University Students' Union, has been elected to the position of national president of the organization.

Guiding Your Child

By ALICE CLAIRMAN RICHMOND

ONLY CHILD

Joe was an only child. His father was a man of no mean business and he was very strict. He was called upon to act as companion to his mother. When his playmates were sent away to boarding school and college, Joe went to day school and the local university. In the evening from other boys were coming up over long and invigorating discussions, or meeting at the door—some for a father's love, for a bite to eat and a last word or two, he was apt to be home with his mother, attending a concert or lecture with her.

Other mothers envied the two of them. But other boys called Joe a snob and he was very much afraid of him even while they laughed at his airs.

No matter how the mother may be, no matter how ideal the relationship between mother and son, she has no right to cut him out of the fun and companionship normal to his age. The years of free play made the common life of the family as essential to a child as food.

Meeting boys in school or on the playground is to make real contacts. There must be a common life, not a sterile and a common background which is only to be obtained by cutting the common life of the family out of the child's life. When going on hikes with them, having them come in and out of the house with no consciousness of grown-ups in the office.

A boy's world is a special place and a large part of it normally is, and should be, common to his mother. Had Joe at least been sent away to college where he could have lived the common life of the dormitory, he would have made greater contact with boys of his own age, and been better fitted to mix in the world later on.

stands well at the White House and is cooperating to make the New Deal a success. But there are several lines of evidence which add up to quite a different lot.

1. It's known that Mr. Jones has lately been hobnobbing with enemies of the administration in many directions. Perhaps it is for the purpose of converting them but should observers be skeptical.

2. Backslagers of the New Deal movement before the 32 convention talk about Jones in favorable terms. New York learns that conservative southern Democrats are especially friendly and some regard him as their best hope of "bringing the party back to its senses."

3. Insiders understand that Jones has privately befriended Democrats who are in a bad way with the powers-that-be. Men who have been eased out of government jobs for joining the New Deal from within have sometimes been taken care of by hands under the Jones influence.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Crawford in an organ novelty, and Irvin G. Cobb in his latest comedy are added features on this Orpheum program which closes tonight.

"Tomorrow—another popular—stage and screen program comes to the Orpheum. The stage revue, "Harry Clark's Penthouse Follies" offers a great variety of talent with many diversified acts and the screen program features a new and riotous comedy romance "365 Nights in Hollywood," with James Dunn and Alice Faye in the leading roles.

Campus Party Wins Most Offices After First Election Is Outlawed

BOZEMAN, Oct. 17 (Special to The News)—The first of the bi-annual class elections went off smoothly after a previous election was outlawed by student ballot boxes. Student interest during this election has run higher than ever before.

The final count showed a victory to eight offices for the Campus party, and of four offices for the United Student party. Definite evidence of Campus strength was shown in the two upper classes, while an equally strong swing toward the United Student party was shown in the sophomore class.

Class Leader Honored
In the senior class, Art Hagen was elected president by a decided margin over Bill Simon. Jack Barber, Jerome, won out over Chet Rodell, Boise, for the office of vice-president. Elaine Tharrell won over Sue Evans for the office of secretary. Howard Arnett won by a good margin over Leslie Stephenson for the office of treasurer.

The junior class election was much closer, and a tie resulted between Benny Lutz and Betty Goodwin for the secretary of the class. Norm Iversen won a close vote over Mark Hegsted to become president. Of the class, the vote being 130 to 122. Jane Post was vice-president by a margin of ten votes over Dorothy Dole. Wally Geraghty won the office of treasurer over Earl Latham.

Local Boy Wins
In the sophomore election the office of president was won by Winston Coe over Jack McKibbin by a margin of 11 votes. Vin McGowan, beat Edith Fennert by five votes. Murry James, Gooding, lost by a close margin to Jo Betty Wilcox. Roy Gray, Twin Falls, was the only Campus party candidate in the sophomore class to win out over the United Student nominees. He won the office of class treasurer over Don Tracy.

The method of voting is exactly the same as any regular state, county or national election, the Australian secret ballot system being used. According to Norman Roberts, chairman of the election committee, "It is much more satisfactory than the former method, which left too much room for graft."

WOLF WITH 17-YEAR TOLL
KILLED IN NIGHT CHASE

GOZALEZ, Texas (P)—Old "Two Toes" a roaming timber wolf who warily sidestepped traps and eluded packs of "hounds for 17 years, has made his last kill. The giant prowler, measuring six feet from tip to tip, finally was run down by dogs in a night chase that lasted an hour and a half.

Since 1917, when "Two Toes" began to attract the unfavorable notice of farmers by killing as many as 50 turkeys at a time, the wolf had ranged in this vicinity. He got his nickname from the loss of two toes from a front paw in a steel trap early in his career.

Win Over Gonzaga Gives Oregon Edge Against Idaho

'Slip' Madigan Eyes Future Of Gael Team With Confidence

Both Teams Lack Substitutes But Have Good Lines

"Our Air Attack Will Be In Shape," Promises Calland as Practice Continues for Saturday's Moscow Clash

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, MOSCOW, Oct. 11.—Two teams, defeated by the same conference foe by somewhat similar margins, will struggle for supremacy when the University of Oregon clashes with the University of Idaho on Moscow Saturday.

Victory features of the Oregon Ducks were glimpsed last Friday by the Washington Huskies in a 16 to 6 contest. Two weeks ago the Huskies, in a similar struggle, won the first onslaught of Washington riders in the last part of the Seattle game.

Idaho will be seeking its first conference victory this Saturday.

Oregon will go into the game favored over Idaho because of its 10 to 0 victory over Gonzaga early in the season. The Vandals bowed recently to the Bulldogs 24 to 0.

Idaho, which has showed little or no running attack so far this season, is scheduled to go on the field with one of the most diversified ground drives ever staged by a Joe Calland team.

Stagg Ousts Star Back for Smoking

Stringent Enforcement of Rules Costs Bob Randall Place on Team

For an infraction of rules, which in many other colleges would be viewed as of only minor importance, the "Grand Old Man" probably weakened his College of Pacific team by "kicking" a player who in the past had been a star.

Great Player To uphold a principle, Coach Stagg dismissed one of the members of a "women's pensioner" squad.

He outlined his training rules and out of the wealth of more than 40 years experience explained to the boys what he considered was right and what was wrong in the matter of athletic conduct.

St. Mary's Coach Gives Due Credit To Nevada's Team

"We Will Be Getting Better With Each Game's Experience" Says Gael Mentor Before Tilt With Fordham

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Nevada or no Nevada, St. Mary's has a football club and you can take that straight from "Slip" Madigan, truculent coach of the Galloping Gaels.

Callie bristled on each shoulder as Madigan and his Moraga Molesters rolled into town today for their first official game with Fordham Saturday at the Polo Grounds.

Furthermore, Madigan, whose teams annually roam the country west of the Rockies, opening free headaches to larger Western elevations, is entirely satisfied with this year's model and adds that he can hardly wait for next season.

Take in Sight Surprisingly chipper after the harrowing cross-country last Friday when they were taken 3-0-7 by Nevada, the Gaels went right-to-left before the Fordham team.

While the players took in the view, Madigan held court in a mid-town hotel.

"I know exactly what you want," he told the assembled players. "You want to know what attack we'll use at Nevada. Well, it was one of those ball games you have lost no matter what you did."

"They've been on a dead run ever since they conquered the Detroit Tiers four times in the world series and rocketed into such fame that nothing would do but they tour the land pitching in exhibition ball games. And are they weary?"
