Take Off at Honolulu for
2400-Mile All-Water Trip
To Oakland, California

(By The Associated Press)
HONOLULU, Nov. 3.—The trail-blazing monoplane Lady Southern Cross rose buoyantly into the air from Wheeler field here today and made a bee-line for California.

Leaving—Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith and Captain P. G. Taylor on the final dash of their trans-Pacific flight from Australia.

The weather was ideal. The plane behaved perfectly. And Kingsford-Smith again an innovation in overseas flying.

He took along a wheel to keep things from becoming a fiasco on the 2,400-mile all-water trip, one of the longest of its kind in the world.

The Lady Southern Cross crossed Wheeler field at 7:15 p. m. (H. S. Taylor) and Kingsford-Smith followed him 17 hours to get to Oakland.

Straight For Golden Gate
Although laden with more than two tons of gasoline the monoplane took the air after a run of only 100 feet, climbed rapidly, cleared Honolulu and headed straight for the Golden Gate.

Aeroplanes similar after the flier took wireless aboard Taylor announced the plane had passed the last landing.

Above clouds at 2,400 feet. Beautiful weather. Said the plane's wireless.

Kingsford-Smith spent several minutes before he took the newly rounded monoplane to the air. The flier, who is a member of the Royal Australian Air Force, was accompanied by a crew of four.

The monoplane was a modified biplane with a wingspan of 40 feet. It was built in Australia and was the first of its kind to be used for long-distance flying.

Government Purchase Of Maine Potatoes For Free Distribution In Texas Causes Outcry

BOISE, Nov. 3.—A protest from two sources developed in Idaho today against a reported plan of the relief administration to ship Maine potatoes to Texas for free distribution.

"This means rampant prices for our late potatoes," said Pettigrew, "and it is an important market for Idaho spuds. It isn't so much the quantity shipped in but the fact that these potatoes are for distribution free, that will spoil our market."

He advocated distribution of relief potatoes to spud growers in Texas to keep their prices up.

He said the early Idaho potato had been damaged by a similar purchase of potatoes from Georgia and the Carolinas for distribution in the Midwest. Potatoes grown in Idaho and taken out of cotton production, he said, landed in the Midwest market, along with Idaho potatoes and crushed their prices.

2,000 Employees Dismissed
By Chain Concern Return
To Work in Cleveland
Under Labor Agreement

(By The Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, Nov. 3.—The most threatening breach in President Roosevelt's industrial peace was plugged today by the national labor relations board as it engineered a settlement of the Cleveland store strike.

Both the great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company and the unions involved settled the board's offer. The company had accepted its proposal for a new labor agreement and the unions had agreed to return to work.

John A. Hartford, president of the company, said in New York that the 2,000 employees dismissed last Saturday night, when 300 A. & P. branches in Cleveland were closed, would be re-hired Monday.

Stores Open Next Week
Company officials in Cleveland predicted the stores would be open for business by the middle of next week.

When the stores were closed, the company announced in full-page ads in Cleveland papers it was withdrawing from the Cleveland strike because of labor trouble.

Union trustees had refused to handle the stores and the great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company had refused to handle the stores.

The labor board found "most gratifying" the acceptance of its Cleveland peace proposal.

Farley Sees New Deal Win, G. O. P. Continuing Fight

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—In the House today, the Republican majority was divided on the question of whether or not to order extra police to guard the acting governor of California, Mr. Clegg.

None of these were conceded by the Republicans, who were looking for a vote on the question of whether or not to order extra police to guard the acting governor of California, Mr. Clegg.

Both party chairmen reacted to the question of whether or not to order extra police to guard the acting governor of California, Mr. Clegg.

ROOSEVELT EXTENDS BOKEN TO COPELAND

Senator's Friends Secure
Further Departure From Non-Participation

HIDE PARK, N. Y., Nov. 3.—President Roosevelt, after a week end before leaving, issued an endorsement of Senator Boken, N. Y., Copeland today after he learned of the senator's stand on the administration's re-election.

After leaving the White House yesterday he urged support for Copeland, Governor Herbert H. Lehman, but did not mention Senator Boken or other Democratic candidates.

The fact that this had been construed in some quarters as implying he did not support Copeland, Mr. Roosevelt quickly called for Mayor H. H. McInerney, secretary, and asked that any such inference be corrected.

He said that a statement made today for Governor Lehman, said McInerney, "the president intended to leave no inference that he was not supporting Senator Copeland."

NO RECONCILIATION. MISS PICKFORD SAYS

Petit Film Star Disclaims Any Conversation About "Douglas and Me"

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—Miss Pickford must have been something else said.

"At any rate, when Mary Pickford came out of the 'West' today she found the breakfast table set with a report that she had acknowledged a reconciliation with the estranged athlete husband, Douglas Fairbanks."

As for Mary, she was annoyed. She had three things to say about it.

"The answer is no. It isn't so. It's not true."

Her audience, in Miss Pickford's (Blackstone) hotel suite, took it that she meant to deny any reported admission in a Kansas City interview that she and Fairbanks had arranged a rapprochement. The actress did not specifically say she and Douglas were getting along nicely or weren't.

"Why, I only talked with one man there," she said of the Kansas City stopover last night. "He hasn't been a good scenario writer."

The little screen star, for years the wearer of the title of America's sweetheart, number 1, seemed slightly baffled about it all.

"We just talked for a moment," she said.

HEATING PLANT NEEDS SERVICE BEFORE WINTER

Home Owners Can Modernize Boiler Under Terms of Heating Act

With winter close at hand, the attention of home owners is directed to the dwelling the heating plant, the low-cost loans, now available from local financial institutions for repairing and remodeling under the terms of the National Housing Act, may be used to modernize the heating unit.

When a heating boiler gets old, its efficiency decreases, it costs more to run and is harder to keep in condition. The installation of a new boiler in cases where the old one has been in operation for a long period of time is an indication of the economy of modernization.

Heating Equipment Progress

The progress made in heating equipment engineering and manufacturing during the last few years enables the home owner, today, to purchase a boiler operating in performance, efficiency and appearance.

In many boilers, provisions have been made to slow down the burning of coal, oil or gas, or to cause them to travel more slowly through the sections where steam is generated or hot water is heated. Thus, more heat units become available for heating than were previously allowed to run out through the smokestack before most of the heat is absorbed by the heating system.

Another feature of modern boilers is that they do not fall out. Hand-fired units have been replaced by automatic units which are more efficient and less frequent by improvements in fire boxes.

An insulated jacket prevents heat losses and adds to the appearance of the heating plant. When converting a basement into a room, the appearance of the boiler is always a point to consider.

Boilers, dampers, doors, regulators, operation, and boiler controls have been much improved in recent years to such an extent that greater smoothness of operation can be expected.

Indirect heaters are available for installation in boilers so that their water may be heated by the boiler. There are also devices and controls which make this possible in the case of water heaters and space heaters. These are now manufactured which can be installed in many places and at many heights.

Within a few of the interior rooms of a house, the humidity control is dependent upon humidity control.

In radiators the tendency has been to perfect units which may be placed in any room in the house. Decorative grilles are made for the concealed type and are made to match the room in which they are recessed or which stand out in the room.

In order to get out of heating equipment the superior performance which the manufacturer built into it, it is necessary for the home owner to deal only with the reputable and established heating contractor who thoroughly understands the various factors which determine the efficiency of a heating system.

DEER SHOWS GRATITUDE FOR RESCUE FROM BOG

VINING, Minn., Oct. 27.—A wild deer, rescued from death in a bog by Clarence R. Olson and his son, Herbert, of the town of Vinings, Minn., today showed its gratitude by coming to the Olson home.

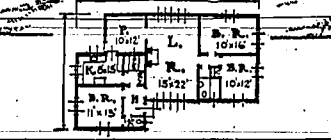

The deer returned close to the Olsons for protection. After the dog was called off, the animal again walked into the woods.

Continuing their search for the house the deer and again came upon their friend almost a mile from where he had been dug out of the bog. They called to the animal and it came to them. When they continued on their way, the deer remained until they moved out of sight.

IMAGINE HORSE RUN AWAY ON NEW YORK STREET NEW YORK (U. P.)—It isn't often that such things are heard of, but a runaway horse was reported in New York City.

Recently a horse drawing a light delivery wagon bolted and stepped a first rate runaway down Tenth avenue, near Port-second street, Manhattan. Lawrence O'Brien could hardly believe his eyes but duty was duty and he dragged the snorting animal to a halt—just before his himself had been injured and a pedestrian knocked down by the careening wagon.

WANT RUN-OF-HOUSE LIVING ROOM? THIS SMALL HOME WAS MADE FOR IT

There is quite a large demand for a small house in which the living room runs from the back, giving both street and garden vistas. In this house, the desired effect is achieved at a minimum of expense, and the house itself is susceptible of a number of interesting variations.

Choice of material is one. While a washed pine or oak floor is equally appropriate. The roof could be of flat-tile or slate with good effect, or even of shingle or composition if preferred. The low wall from the living room corner, as illustrated, may be eliminated or varied to suit the builder's taste.

The entrance hall is a bedroom and from it one enters a bedroom at the left, the dining alcove straight ahead, or living room at the right.

On the other side of the living room are two more bedrooms and a bath. The central effect is achieved at a minimum of expense, and the house itself is susceptible of a number of interesting variations.

CHECK HEATING UNIT, INSULATE AGAINST COLD

Efficiency of Plant, Weather Stripping Should Be Examined Now for Winter

Before the big bad wolf of winter comes butting and puffing at the door, every owner of a home should check up on its heating efficiency for the sake of health, comfort and economy.

This check-up involves the heating plant, insulation, weatherstripping for doors, windows and window frames, and the walls, floors and even the walls. "Heat leakage" may occur anywhere in the house.

Real heating efficiency in the home means a decided saving in the annual fuel budget, as less fuel or even a smaller heating plant is required when the heat keeps in the house through proper insulation.

The equal temperature which can be maintained in such a home, without undue expenditure of fuel, makes for maximum comfort and also for the best health condition.

Consult Expert

How to acquire this heating efficiency is really a matter for experts. This does not mean that every home owner should call a heating engineer into consultation, but that he should at least consult an architect, contractor or other competent person able to advise on heating and insulation.

It is natural to start with the heating equipment. You should make a careful check-up on your heating system, whether it be fire place, hot air, hot water or steam, and whether the fuel you use is wood, coal, oil, gas or electricity.

Chimneys should be cleaned and inspected, whether or not the fireplace smoked last winter. If the fireplace did smoke, or if there was other evidence of a faulty draft, the cause should be ascertained and corrected.

Among the items you should keep in mind in your check-up are adequate fuel consumption, ease of operation and heat waste. If your plant is old, with a "pile apper" for fuel and a cranky disposition requiring a lot of attention, you may find a new plant a real investment which will pay for itself out of the saving in fuel and labor. It is up to you as to what system suits your home and purse best.

Insulation Important

Insulation is of virtually equal importance from the viewpoint of economy, comfort and health. If winter's moths find their way into your home more rapidly than from your neighbor's, you should pay particular attention to insulation. For the rapidly melting snow was proof that your house was "leaking heat" at a wasteful rate. Also, if your basement is not insulated, the cold air will seep up and make the room uncomfortable.

well-executed treatment is the one which will please the customer and increase trade.

THE WHOLE HOUSE CAN BE INSULATED

At one time, or it can be taken up by unit. First attention should be given to weatherstripping and storm windows with attic, side walls and basement coming in that order.

They are the "first doors" or "first leaks." Aside from insulation with regular insulating material, the windows and window frames should be checked up for cracks and should be weatherstripped where necessary.

SEAL UP CRACKS

Small cracks in brick, stucco, or other walls are often the beginning of deterioration of your home from moisture, vermin and air damage. Seal up all these openings, before it is too late, particularly around windows and door frames and places where pipes or wire lead in pass through.

EXAMINE INSULATION

If a cooling system does not give satisfaction of the house may be at fault, satisfactory results, improper insulation.

IT PAYS TO USE Quality Building Materials ... AND PAYS TO PAY

The actual difference in cost between the BEST building materials and the cheapest is not great. But, the cost of even a minor repair job will run into considerable cash.

FHA LOANS GIVEN

GOOD RATING IN N. J. Loans by New Jersey financial institutions under the terms of the National Housing Act are given a favored classification by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, U. S. Department of Banking and Insurance in a communication to all bank examiners.

The examiners are instructed, according to Mr. Kelly, that such loans shall not be classified, as slow, doubtful or loss so long as a sufficient insurance reserve exists to cover them.

UNEMPLOYED PROFIT

Money spent in building will do more to relieve the unemployment situation than any other project. —Edward W. Roemer, Building Commissioner, City of Boston.

CLEAN OFF WHITEWASH

If basement walls about to be painted have been previously whitewashed, the lime should be softened with a solution of one part of muriatic acid and five parts of water. Afterward this should be brushed down with a stiff wire brush and followed up by a washing with clean water.

SOLVING SPACE PROBLEMS

Thousands of private residences in the United States were discovered through a recent housing program survey to be overcrowded. Many times, this situation could be remedied by converting some of the waste attic space into a guest's or maid's room.

SEES HEALTH AID

"We are heartily in sympathy with any program which will improve living conditions, which will necessarily in turn provide work and reduce unemployment," E. G. Vall, president, National Refrigerator Manufacturers' association.

Illinois Repulses Army To Win On Rain-Soaked Gridiron

Pittsburgh Team Breaks Up Notre Dame's Victory March, 19-0

Cadets Drive to 5-Yard Line in Closing Minutes

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 3.—In a scorching drench with driving rain and felloes deep in mud and water, Illinois added the Army mule to a touchdown handout in the first five minutes of battle today and then rode him over a spectacular finish to hang on for a 7-0 victory before 41,000-souled spectators.

The Illini won with great football, but never did they forget their life in the closing minutes of play when the mule kicked back even with its famous Jack Buckler sagged to the sidelines by injuries.

The final mule-kick sent the Illini reeling to their own five-yard line but they mullied the second and third downs and failed to kick to square their four-game series with Army and remain standing among the ranks of the nation's gridiron undefeated.

Make Big Kick
Illinois, forever on the alert for breaks over the treacherous gridiron, manufactured the big one that produced the victory. Expected in a series of punt catches, Buckler paired with the rain and wind at the back. Through the Cadet line, which was being blocked by the Illini, he kicked the ball toward the Army goal. Stanford Outclasses U. C. L. A., 27 to 0, Before 50,000 Fans

MEMORIAL COLISEUM, LOS ANGELES, Nov. 3.—Stanford had too much class for the University of California at Los Angeles today and won handsily, 27 to 0, before a crowd of approximately 50,000.

The home team could not stop the elusive, hard-running Bob Grayson and that was the difference between the two teams. Grayson, who caught passes and kicked goals after touchdowns, carried too many yards for the running Southerners.

It was Stanford's first up-pearance in the Coliseum since 1927. The Illini won with great football, but never did they forget their life in the closing minutes of play when the mule kicked back even with its famous Jack Buckler sagged to the sidelines by injuries.

Burley Hunter Marooned by Snow In Wilds of Sawtooth Mountains; Returns With Limit in Big Game

BURLEY, Nov. 3.—Roy Painter, of the Cassin National Game Preserve, returning from what was reported as three weeks of being marooned by snow in the Sawtooth mountains, explains that his projected stay was caused by inability of the park guide with the wild country into which they packed. With Rube Randall of Twin Falls county, and a Stanley guide, they trucked supplies to the end of the road beyond Summit, where they picked up a motor home and a five day trip into the primitive country.

As proof that they reached the big game country, they came back with their limit of deer, elk, mountain sheep, mountain goats, and a bear. In Chamberlain's opinion, the deer were seldom out of sight of hunters at times passing within a hundred feet of these animals which gazed at the intruders without sign of alarm. Trout were also plentiful and the minnows were well supplied with fish to eat.

On Big creek they found "Cougar" tracks. It was up in the high black awailing winter. "Cougar" is thought, to be around 50 years of age, and 20 to 40 years ago as a nationally known hunter, guide and packer. He took part in the "Interpacer war" briefly explained.

Minnesota Batters Bewildered Michigan Wolverines, 34 To 0

MEMORIAL STADIUM, MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 3 (AP)—Bottled up for two periods, Minnesota exploded the full fury of its battering, bruising attack in the last half today to bewilder a fighting Michigan eleven with a 34-0 triumph before the Gophers' homecoming throng of 59,000 spectators.

It was the first Minnesota victory on its home field over a Michigan team since 1892 and the amazing exhibition by Gopher backs brought back to the Maroon and Gold the little-known fact that the team had won the national championship in 1956.

A brilliant 28-yard run through the entire Michigan team for the Gophers' second touchdown in the third period.

Koska, the human battering ram, came to life in the second to roll up 416 yards for 15 first downs in the second half, but it was 41-0 for the four periods against 29 yards and five first downs for Michigan.

"Kill The Referee"

The time has come, the walrus said, to talk of many things, and whether the graduate managers appoint the Eastern referee, or Walter E. Gorton, Commissioner of Eastern football officials, like the idea of going to be a great deal and about officiating before this season is over.

Considerable has been said already. Dr. Eddie O'Brien, a capable official, violated the unwritten law of the union by talking to a newspaperman, and informing him of the black list most of the big Eastern universities keep right up to the moment. On the surface, the appointment of Commissioner O'Brien at $7,500 a year is an advance official to all his game was to eliminate all that. Actually the way it works out instead of eliminating the black list of officials for one reason or another, the appointment of a commissioner only made it possible to make black listing more complete.

For years Eastern officiating has been in the hands of O'Brien, a zone ordinary, some downright small, little of officials, come good, and getting worse as the years brought on added poundage, dimmed sight, sharpened tempers, and rocketed egoism.

Have An Extra Down, Boys

But they can't break into the charmed circle. The old guard continues to march on, an oligarchy fostered by the universities themselves. They've gotten so old now, though, that something must be done. On one Saturday I saw the biggest inter-sectional game in the East sloughed as a spectacle by a referee who didn't even know that two successive incomplete passes over the goal-line meant a touchback.

Won't Settle Youth

Youthmen can't break into the big game because membership in the Eastern Coaches' association requires that you have worked in four college varsity games in one season. If these young graduates get any assignments at all after writing letters to the commissioner that are rarely answered, after getting their old coaches to write, putting on pressure through friends, the total is never more than three varsity games in one season.

The association actually desires your cooperation in the elimination of newspaper interviews, reads the card season sent to each official notifying of his formal assignment to write a game. After the game the card invites each official to tell the commissioner of any discord that may have developed against the officials during the afternoon, and why, and what the charges of opinion were.

Before the fall assignment sheets are made up in March of each year, the college has a chance to object to officials who haven't come up to their standards in the past. It's a known fact among officials that one ground for objections in several major institutions is calling "em wrong again, the home force in the pinches. If the college objects to an official, it's "Yes, sir, Mr. Graduate Manager. Certainly, Mr. Graduate Manager. Of course, Mr. Graduate Manager."

game and were never seriously threatened by the hapless Gophers, they backed the dash and speed of previous encounters this year and except for their two scoring drives—both the result of passes—the game was almost a drag affair.

The Aggie rolled up nine first downs—mostly in mid-field—while the Cougars made a single first down in the first two minutes of play.

The outstanding individual performance was turned in by Blanton, Utah State halfback, whose sensational punts kept the Cougars back into their own territory a big share of the time. Twice Blanton's kicks were good for more than 70 yards, the longest game of 25 yards. The ball actually traveled 60 yards from the point it was kicked to the spot where it came to rest, behind the Cougar goal. A slight wind aided the Aggie punter, however.

Coyotes' Passes Enliven Contest In Last Quarter

Caldwell Eleven Repulses University at 10-Yard Line Four Times in First Half of Tilt at Moscow

MAC LEAN FIELD, Moscow, Idaho, Nov. 3 (AP)—Apparently holding "chatter" tricks in his back pocket, Washington State college conference game at Pullman, the University of Idaho used only straight line football to defeat the College of Idaho, 12 to 0, here today.

The tactics game was enlivened in the last quarter by the college's determined aerial thrust, which coupled with a costly fumble by a punt by Devlin, safety man, gave the Coyotes their only real scoring chance.

Sundberg, Devlin Score

Idaho scored in the third and fourth quarters. The first touchdown was by Ross Sundberg, fullback from the 11-yard line, and the other came on Devlin's flying heels as he tore 36 yards through tackle.

Four times in the first half Idaho was repulsed at the college's 10-yard line after line-smashing drives from past midfield.

The Vandals attempted but three passes, completing one for no gain. The college tested 18, five going through for 83 yards and four being intercepted. The University made 14 first downs and 297 yards from scrimmage. The college made 50 yards from scrimmage.

26-Yard Pass

The college attack became serious early in the fourth when Thompson's pass to the diminutive Hoobler was good for 26 yards to the college's 44-yard line. A line plunge, a forward lateral and a reverse gained little. Thompson punted to Devlin, who fumbled on his own 22-yard line, and the college recovered. Another pass, Thompson to Hayman, took the ball to Idaho's 7-yard line, and four line plunges carried but two yards short of paydirt.

Purdue Wrecks Chicago Comeback

Purvis and Carter Outscore Maroon Stars in Raging Battle

CHICAGO, Nov. 3 (AP)—Those famous "touchdown twins" from Purdue, Duane Purvis and Jimmy Carter, wrecked Chicago's gridiron comeback today, but only after a raging battle with a pair of Maroon scorers, Jay Berwanger and Alvin Karpis. The score, after the most dazzling struggle of the Big Ten season, was Purdue 26, Chicago 20. With the defeat went the Maroon's hopes of disrupting the conference title with Minnesota. It was their first defeat in five starts this season, three of which were against conference opponents.

The Rollermasters, finally at their best since early season defeat by Rice Institute and Notre Dame, scored through their second straight Big Ten triumph, going into a tie with Minnesota and Illinois for first place.

A crowd of 22,000, the best in several seasons in Slough field, saw the two yards short of paydirt.

FINANCIAL MARKETS SHOW IMPROVEMENT

Stocks Climb; U. S. Government Bonds Feature Firmer Tone

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP)—Stocks firm; specialties gain. Bonds higher; U. S. government securities, speculative higher.

Corn: steady; speculative higher.

Wheat: lower; beneficial domestic rains.

Cattle: nominally steady; hog: nominally steady.

By FRIDRICK GARDNER

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP)—The stock market kept up another jump today in its labors to get out of the doldrums.

Demand for equities was concentrated in building, oil, railroad equipment and other merchandise.

Turnover increased to 311,000 shares compared with 250,000 last Saturday. The Standard & Poor's average for 30 stocks moved upward, strengthening of the Dow Jones industrial average.

While there was no inclusive advance in the day's work, the improvement in financial markets, Wall Street seemed to be placing more emphasis on a number of factors considered indicative of an upturn in economic activity.

Around commission houses, hopes ran on the argument that the recent vote of the elections next week would remove one cause of recent restraint upon trading.

U. S. Bonds Firm

Market analysts took note of a firmer tone in U. S. government bonds and the steady course of European gold currencies in formulating constructive views.

Specialties were spotlighted on the stock tape. A burst of buying lifted shares of high-speed steam-turbine manufacturers, the preferred stock of the United Fruit company, and shares of other rail equipment makers moved forward, including Pacific Steel and American Car & Foundry.

Oil shares made further recovery on reports leading companies in the industry had agreed on dealer margins with the objective of restoring orderly gasoline marketing conditions. Standard of New Jersey rose a point.

Chrysler Advances

Chrysler scored a fractional gain in face of its decline in profits during a period of heavy sales in the corporation's third quarter report.

American Telephone, General Electric, U. S. Steel and other pivots of the share list picked up small gains, but specialties and oil shares were centered upon secondary issues.

Commodities were mixed. Wheat closed 4 1/2 cents higher, a point, but corn was down 1/4 cent. Rubber futures broke more than 1/2 cent a pound, cotton sold up 20 to 40 cents a bale.

Expectations of further business improvement rested mainly on favorable accounts of retail trade, repatriations of automobiles market.
