150,000 EXPECTED TO CAST BALLOTS IN IDAHO ELECTION

Republicans and Democrats Stage Final Rallies on Eve of State Contest; Clear Weather Predicted

BOISE, Nov. 5.—Idaho voters will write tomorrow the names of those they want in the government. With an estimated 150,000 voters expected to cast the polls, the balloting will start at 8 a. m. and continue to 7 p. m. Clear weather was predicted in all parts of the state except possibly in the panhandle where a shower is predicted.

In part, the New Deal was up for a fight, for Republicans have repeatedly assailed it, particularly phases of the NRA, the AAA and the reciprocal tariff. While Democrats without exception have endorsed it, only the voters in their campaign that Democratic votes meant approval of the national administration.

But while the New Deal has been a major issue, one of the two hottest campaigns has been the election of C. Ben Ross, Democrat, seeking a third term, and Frank L. Stephen, Republican, seeking a first term.

Ovation Rings In Stephan's Ears As He Lashes At Foes

Neighbors Of Republican Candidate For Governor Stage Tumultuous Welcome

The people among whom Frank L. Stephen, Republican candidate for governor, has made his home for a score of years, gave him a tumultuous welcome when he returned last evening from an intensive statewide campaign tour. An audience that overflowed the Legion hall that accommodates 800 persons, cheered him as he renewed his campaign pledge "to give the people of Idaho the very best state government within my power," and struck back vigorously at personal attacks launched against him here recently.

During his homecoming, a three-mile-long automobile caravan came from Minidoka, Cassia, Jerome and the East End of Twin Falls to greet him. He was accompanied by a delegation from Gooding and the West End to form an escort, with Kinross in high school, 45-piece band and Twin Falls municipal band moving through Twin Falls streets with the candidate in the hall where the crowd rose and cheered as he entered.

His address was broadcast. Stephen was introduced by E. N. Pettigrove of Hansen, Republican county chairman, after Mrs. Margaret Pettigrove, Republican candidate for state treasurer, was presented, and after H. B. Young of Parma, Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, spoke briefly.

Gunfire Deals Death As Army Of Voters Forms For Battle Of Ballots

Riot Ushers In Election Of 31 Senators, 33 Governors And Hundreds Of Candidates For Other Offices

(By The Associated Press) Rioting with gunfire that killed three persons marred the nation's preparation for today's election. The explosion of political feeling occurred in a major theatre of this year's campaign, Pennsylvania. A volley fired last night from a window in a group of Democratic paraders near McAdoo, Schuylkill county, killed three men instantly and gave many more to hospitals.

State police fought back an angry crowd which, the officers believed, was bent on dynamiting the building from which the shooting was done. This was the first serious violence occurring in an election in years in any state and what should be the state of prohibition in seven states.

MACHINERY SET UP TO RECORD VOTE

Heavy Last Minute Registration Points to Big Poll

A supply of approximately 16,500 ballots on which Twin Falls county voters in today's election are to record their choice for state and county officers was yesterday delivered to election boards throughout the Twin Falls county's 28 voting precincts, and the machinery for recording the popular mandate for the biennial task was made ready for its biennial task.

Already cast in today's election were 213 ballots that had been marked by Twin Falls county voters under provisions of the absent voter law. No ballots were issued to absent voters after last Saturday evening, but marked ballots received today will be delivered to the election boards. About 100 ballots cast in last August's primary elections in this county numbered 250.

A wave of new registrations, last Saturday through today, swelled the rolls at Kimberly and increased registrations largely in Twin Falls and elsewhere throughout the county, was registered as indication of a heavy vote to be cast today.

Urges Early Voting

Summarizing salient provisions of Idaho election law, a member of the board of county commissioners yesterday outlined the organization of election boards where vacancies occur, and urged early voting in order that the work of election boards may be spread over the voting period and the task completed as rapidly as possible.

Polling places are open at 8 a. m. and voting is to continue until 7 p. m.

As soon as five votes have been cast, the commissioner said, the counting board is to begin its work, and continue until the counting of all ballots is completed.

Members of the counting board are not to leave the room except when accompanied by the constable, and not to leave the room without at any time.

Each board of three judges is to select two clerks, in case of absence either of judges or clerks, the vacancy is to be filled by the bystanders when the polls open.

Judges and clerks are to be paid $4 for the day from 8 a. m. to 7 p. m., and 50 cents an hour or over in addition to six hours, but compensation is to cease if the polls are closed. Election judges appoint constables who are paid $3 a day.

Many guests centered the smaller table at which the dining room table was ornate with a bowl of nasturtiums and lighted tapers.

FOR AN ORDERED WORLD

John R. Mott, brilliant and veteran leader of the world's Y. M. C. A., is not discouraged by the outlook, dim as the future seems just now.

"It is a period of reaction, dissolution, economic-misadjustment, international misunderstanding and race prejudice," he admits. "Nevertheless it is a period of great heart-searching and reevaluation. There are unending vistas of opportunity limitless in their possibilities. Future years will transcend in achievements those which have gone before. What lies behind will seem almost negligible in the new sweep."

He says this to young men, to whom the future seems especially dark as they emerge from school into a world that seems to have no place for them.

He says to their elders: "The men who will lead the streets and control the country's destiny 20 years from now will be the men you make. Do not quench their fire. Use their enthusiasm. When youth inquires, give it encouragement that will help it to give us an ordered world."

BRITISH UNEMPLOYMENT

Considering the advanced state of recovery British industry is said to have reached, unemployment figures are particularly interesting. Registered unemployed in Great Britain have dropped to the lowest level since September, 1930. The total is now about 2,000,000. Its peak was 2,800,000.

At the same time British industrial activity shows an index of 104.6, compared with the 1928 average as 100. The index in 1929 stood at 105. The unemployed then numbered 1,500,000. This production is now almost as good as in 1929, with 800,000 fewer workers. It is estimated that when the 1929 production level is reached again, Britain will still have 600,000 to 700,000 more unemployed than it had in 1929.

There are problems within problems. It is clear. The voices which were telling us when the boom was booming that employment was declining will again make themselves heard. This time they may stress the point that employment and consumption come first, and that when they are solved production will take care of itself.

REDUCING BRIDGE

The best way to reduce is to play bridge the way the Ely Culbertsons play it. Perhaps it is impossible to achieve their skill, but their intensity and concentration should be within the powers of imitation of truly earnest reducers. After the recent international contract bridge tournament, Mr. Culbertson reported on his nerve-racking and exhausting nature.

"Of his wife's heroic part in their ultimate victory he said:

"Before the match, my wife weighed 115 pounds. Today she is a nervous wreck, under a doctor's care, having lost ten pounds by what certainly is the best reducing system yet devised. Through constant work on the bridge table, a little soldier, never one did her morale falter. We men cracked a little now and then, for in any crisis men will crack sooner than women."

Ten pounds off in five days must establish some sort of bridge-and-reducing record. We take it, however, that Mrs. Culbertson did not nibble nuts and candies during her tournament play.

TRAFFICKING IN SLANDER

Reporters for the New York World-Telegram have dug up an almost unbelievable story of one of the oddest and most malicious of the modern business practices.

They found that there are in New York certain firms, some of which have branches in other cities, which will circulate rumors for you, for a price; rumors which your competitors, about yourself, about some individual, or about anybody, will spread from mouth to mouth all across the country, untraceable and unobscurable.

RFC BORROWINGS OVER REPAYMENTS

October Loans Reduce Margin Between Receipts, Expenditures

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—Cautions of the Reconstruction Finance corporation were shown today to have borrowed more from that agency in October than the total of old loans repaid, reversing a trend which for three months had kept the RFC on the black ink side of the government's ledger. This was disclosed by final figures for the month published at the Treasury. The data showed all emergency expenditures continuing practically unchanged from their September rate, a level which, however, was more than double that of October, 1933.

For the first three months of the fiscal year, both receipts and expenditures—and the deficit as well—showed substantial increases over the corresponding period a year ago. The public debt was slightly down for the month, but was larger than for the preceding year.

Throughout July, August and September repayments to the RFC continuously outweighed its new loan disbursements. On October 1, it had received $142,000,000 more for this fiscal year than it had paid out. On October 11, the amount received had increased to $149,000,000. However, in the days immediately following, the margin became smaller, and between the 15th and 16th slumped to $120,000,000. On that date the figures for October showed $15,000,000 more expended than received. For the rest of the month repayments almost but not quite balanced new loans. The final figures were an excess of expenditures over receipts amounting to $17,000,000, with the favorable margin for the fiscal year reduced to $125,000,000.

LAW SUIT TIES UP AUSTRALIAN'S PLANE

Attachment Levied Against Kingsford-Smith's Ship After Classic Flight

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 5 (UP)—An attachment today tied up the monoplane Lady Southern Cross, which carried Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith and Captain F. G. Taylor across the Pacific in their classic flight from Australia to California.

While the flying-visit was being saluted in Hollywood as a conquering hero, a deputy marshal took a chair against the wall of the hangar where the famous plane rested and took possession of it in the name of the law.

The attachment was levied in a suit filed by E. Beverly, assignee of Tom Cotton, who chartered Sir Charles' plane for $2750 for services in 1929, when Kingsford-Smith, then virtually unknown, was preparing for his historic flight from Oakland to Australia.

Beverly asserted Cotton advanced money for the plane and services worth $1750. He claimed $1000 interest. Authorities said a bond of $5000 would be necessary to effect release of the ship pending settlement of the case.

Predict Commercial Flights
Characterizing the suit as "absurd, ridiculous, preposterous," Sir Charles meanwhile predicted trans-Pacific commercial flights with land planes.

"Of course trans-Pacific commercial flight is feasible," he said. "It will be done by land planes, not airplanes or flying boats, I believe—or at least it ought to be that way."

"They won't need floating air-dromes or a line of steamships dotting the course. In a short time, when payback has been increased without sacrificing fuel load, the California-Honolulu flight will be as simple and direct as Hawaii's air run. The Hawaiian Islands are strung along the route between Suva and Hawaii, the longest flight."

While the flying knight and his navigator were welcomed to the film studios where a few years ago he unavailingly sought auto-licenses to permit his historic flight to Australia in 1928, aviation authorities explained why the Lady Southern Cross was considered "un-airworthy" in the Antipodes.

Plane Not Acceptable
Kingsford-Smith, here in an attempt to sell the ship, himself made known that the plane, despite its crossing of the Pacific in 31 hours, 49 minutes flying time, was not considered commercially acceptable.

Rigid British and Australian aviation restrictions prevented commercial use of the low-winged monoplane in any of the dominions. The Los Angeles manufacturer of the ship explained.

Even in this country, the manufacturer said, the plane carries only 1000 pounds of cargo, permitting its use solely in experimental, long-distance or speed flying, not as a passenger carrier. Beyond resting here for several days and disposing of his plane, Kingsford-Smith said he had no plans for the immediate future.

Kingsford-Smith and Captain Taylor were guests of honor at a chamber of commerce banquet tonight.

BULL HEARS HALE WIND UP CAMPAIGN

Republican Congressional Candidate Declares 'Hands Not Tied'

BULL, Nov. 5 (UP)—Heber Q. Hale, Republican candidate for congress, declared in a concluding campaign address here tonight that his hands were "no way tied" by the present national administration.

"I stand for an adequate tariff to protect American markets for American farmers," he said, "in opposition to the powers of reciprocal tariff agreement which has congress delegated to the president."

He reiterated his attacks on the AAA, declaring it was the aim of the administration to wipe out the sugar beet industry in the west.

As a closing gesture, he advocated buying up of tax exempt internal heating coal, but by emergency issued by a central bank of issues in "control" of the nation's money.

The gathering was held in the Bull Legion hall and an audience of approximately 200 persons attended. Ralph Drexhars, Boise attorney, spoke briefly, declaring that "Hale will get just as much, if not more, real money with a Republican in the gubernatorial chair." T. Bailey Lee, Barber, and Adam Bardele, Boise, candidates for the non-partisan judiciary, were introduced. Wayne Hudson, Bull attorney, presided. After the meeting and Clarence Ward, Boise city attorney, sang two numbers.

OFFICERS IN SHIP DISASTER ON TRIAL

Captain and Four Ranking Members of Crew Open Their Defense

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP)—Capt. W. W. Rogers and four ranking officers of the USS Ward, which opened their defense today against charges of negligence in the disaster that sank the ship when the Ward was swept by fire off the New Jersey coast last September.

Before two inspectors of the steamboat inspection service of the department of commerce they heard the trial of a case which was brought by their own chief radio officer, George W. Rogers, and four other officers, who were charged with negligence in the disaster.

Witnesses in the case were the captain, Rogers, and four other officers. A federal grand jury indicted into the disaster, which was to have returned today, was put over until Thursday because the same witnesses are to be called in the proceedings.

Witnesses in the trial were Captain Rogers, who is the first to be tried. The charges are that he delayed sending out a SOS, that he failed to order the fire screens closed, that he did not get the ship in time, that he did not have the fire hose ready, and that the crew was not drilled in the use of special watches to avoid being short-handed in times of emergency.

The charges were the outcome of several weeks of hearings by a commerce department board of inquiry soon after the disaster.

The other accused officers are Chief Engineer Eben S. Abbott, Acting Second Officer Clarence H. Hays, Acting First Officer Edward H. Hays, and First Assistant Engineer Antonio R. Buja.

Rogers explained the disparity between the time, 2:15 a. m., when the order to send out a SOS was given from the bridge, and the time, 2:30 a. m., when the SOS was actually sent out, by saying that George Alagna, his assistant, had to take a raincoat from the room on the bridge because of the fire.

Acting First Officer Ivan Freeman, only one of the officers against whom no charges were preferred, testified that he did not hear Captain Rogers order the fire screens closed.

Rogers was subjected to severe cross-examination, mostly relating to the exact time of the fire discovery, by Chauncey I. Clark, attorney for the Ward Line. His refusal was several times criticized by ship's officers testifying in their own defense.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—More than a quarter million vote-seeking letters were sent into 45 states by the Democratic national committee in a mail bombardment which ended tonight as the campaign drew to a close.

These letters went to 135,000 precinct committeemen in every state save California, Louisiana and Maine. In California, the situation was complicated by the capture by Upton Sinclair, the one-time Socialist, of the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. A letter of endorsement bearing the name of Chairman James A. Farley came to light there, but Farley refused to acknowledge the letter as authored by him.

Louisiana was omitted from the list of states in which the committee sent letters because the national committee and Huey Long are not on terms. In Maine, the election was over before the letter writing drive got well under way.

The letters that went into Wisconsin steered clear of the senatorial race in that state. It made no reference to the race of John M. Callahan, a Democrat, against Senator La Follette, the latter on a Progressive ticket.

Two classifications. With few exceptions, the letters sent out by the Democratic national committee were divided into two classifications.

The first set of the precinct committeemen that the program of President Roosevelt needed man-in-congress and in leadership in the states who would support it. It named the Democratic nominee for governor, senate and representative in the home district of the committeeman and expressed belief that these would uphold the presidential program.

The final letter sent out was a green-inked, long-hand message telling the committeemen that they were not to end until after the last vote was cast tomorrow. It urged them to be watchful and vigilant.

All of the letters bore the green-inked signature of James A. Farley, a signature in which, curiously enough, the letters were ready to be sent up and aim on all the documents.

Plans are under way for a titular grid battle between Hansen and Shoshone for the Class "B" championship of South Central Idaho as the result of Friday's epic battles in which the two teams won their divisional crowns. The probable date for the battle will be November 16, but the location of the fracas is yet undetermined.

Hansen completed her regular playing season Friday by taking an 18 to victory over Camelsburg and the Shoshonians wrested the North Side title from the previously undefeated Glens Ferry.

By a score of 13 to 2, Shoshone has one more game on the regular 1934 slate, when the Lincoln county field will see the action of an invasion from Jerome.

Class "B" Teams Play Several games between the Class "B" schools, but no team is in a position to question Shoshone's undefeated rating although Coach Larry Dolphin's team has been recently by the King Hill eleven. The Ferry men, second in the standings, will play their final game Friday when they meet Richfield and later will play non-conference games with Twin Falls, Cule and Mountain Home. Richfield, first of third place, will also play Dietrich before the season closes.

Harcem, now in fourth place on the North Side, has a conference game with Dietrich scheduled for Friday and will later meet Castelford in a non-conference clash. King Hill will play Fairfield Friday to close the season and Fairfield has a game slated with Hiley for November 12.

On the South Side, Hansen, Eden, Hollister and DeLoe have finished up, and Castelford has a game with Harclem set to play. Alben will meet Hollister at Camelsburg Friday in the final game of the conference calendar.

Non-Conference Games Jerome completed her Class "A" Non-Big Ten season last week ending up with an average of 500, but has non-conference ties with Shoshone and Buhl remaining on 12 schedule. Gooding and Oakley will clash at Oakley Friday in a battle for the conference title and Shoshone and King Hill will play at Wendell to close the season so far as the conference is concerned. Gooding, however, will play Twin Falls in Brain Territory November 16.

Big Ten competition will really get underway this week as every conference team competing in the bound competition. Caldwell, with two wins and no defeat, leads the standings, will meet Buhl at Caldwell and the only other undefeated team,ampa, will play at Buhl. Blackfoot, Hollister, third place on the list with a 2-2 record, will meet the American Falls aggregation, and traditional rivals, Burley and Rupert, will play at Rupert. In the remaining conference tie, Idaho Falls and Pocatello will battle in the Gate City.

Alabama And Kentucky Neyland's Chief Foes During Nine-Year Hitch

By EDDIE BRETTZ (Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP)—Christened the gridiron: Major Bob Neyland, who is rounding out a nine-year hitch as head coach of Vanderbilt, cannot make up his mind which of his opponents caused him the most grief during the years.

"Alabama beat me in three of the seven games we dropped," he said, "but just when I am about to label it the toughest, I think of Kentucky. Kentucky never whipped us, but do you know what three champions were playing us to tie in 1928, 1929, and 1931?"

When eastern and mid-western coaches gather in their fanling beds they will talk for hours of the antics of the high spots of the Pitt-Minnesota game came early in the

STILLWATER, Okla., Nov. 5 (AP)—Charges that a former football star at Oklahoma A. and M. college had released information in a newspaper that "teams were found by the school's athletic council today to have an apparent 'basis of truth.'"

Dean Clarence McElroy of the council's executive committee said the action could be taken since the youth no longer was enrolled.

John H. Harkell, freshman coach at the University of Oklahoma, reported the former student had approached him in respect to deliver information.

Pro Grid Champs Set Scoring Pace

Chicago Bears Threaten to Surpass New York Giants' Record

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP)—The Chicago Bears, pro football champions, are threatening to surpass the record total of 244 points set last season by the New York Giants.

To date the Bears, with 200 points, are only 44 shy of the Giant mark, with several games left to play. The Bears also lead in total yardage with 273 yards in eight games.

The Packers of Green Bay continue to hold a slight edge in forward passing, but this lead is being challenged by the Giants.

Jack Manders is the main reason for the Bears' proficiency in getting the extra point. The former Minnesota star kicked off 15 straight last season and then ran up 17 more in succession before missing. So far this year he has kicked 20 of 21.

TERRY STARTS HIS HOUSECLEANING

After the sudden collapse of the New York Giants in the National League pennant race two weeks before the end of the season, Bill Terry, Giants' boss, promised a housecleaning. He started proceedings by parting with three players and $75,000 cash for Dick Bartell (below), captain of the Boston Red Sox, perhaps the most lavish spender in either major league, parted with $150,000 in cash and tossed in an infielder worth $20,000 to obtain Joe Cronin, their new manager, from the Washington Senators.

Dizzy Seeking $25,000 Salary, 1-Year Contract

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 5 (AP)—"Dizzy" and Paul Dean, who will ask the St. Louis Cardinal management for a joint salary of $25,000 for their pitching next season, dropped in on President Sam Brandon of the Red Birds for a chat today.

Brandon announced the meeting was only a start, but he said the three had not discussed 1935 salaries. It is known Brandon would like to sign the trio at once.

The brothers, who pitched the Cardinals to their four victories over the Detroit Tigers in the world series, left town yesterday. They left immediately after the series on a barnstorming and vaudeville tour.

Their plan was to depart again tomorrow for Phoenix by train, but after several business propositions, they have been submitted to them, offering opportunities to pick up some extra money, and it possible their departure may be delayed.

When they got around to contracts, "Dizzy" has announced, he will ask for a one-year agreement calling for a $25,000 salary, and Paul will tell how he thinks he should be paid $15,000 for pick-up money.

ON THE SIDELINES

by Edward J. Neil

The Purse Strings Start To Be Loose. A sure indication that times are improving is seen in the abandon with which the merry baseball barons are removing the elastic from their bank funds.

Clark Griffith, owner of the Senators, doesn't intend to call that money away. He has it, but he is probably will have to give the men he wants.

Tom Yawkey, millinnaire owner of the Red Sox, has a new era of spending in the majors but he is by no means through.

Another winter of free spending is under way in the National League.

The New York Giants, who folded up in the closing stages of the most recent pennant race in several years, are to be overhauled and club officials have authorized Manager Bill Terry to spend a quarter of a million dollars to produce the desired results.

A part of this already has gone down the river to Philadelphia. The Phillies are believed to have paid the Phillies between $30,000 and $75,000 in addition to handing over four ball players in return for Dick Bartell, the Philadelphia starter.

There are signs, also, that the owners of the Chicago Cubs are getting ready to spend more money in another drive to land the Cubs in another winter.

Charles Grimm, the manager, has the full confidence of Owner Philip K. Wrigley. Grimm has ordered to re-sign the Cubs for the 1935 season. A statement that Grimm's financial help will be forthcoming.

GROWER REPLIES TO CONGRESSMAN

Hanson Man Charges White With Professing Ignorance in Spud Affair

Taking issue directly with statements attributed to Compton T. White, candidate for re-election as Idaho First district congressman, that a report of federal government relief purchases of Maine potatoes for distribution in Idaho is a "deliberate fiction-factory concoction," E. N. Pryor, governor of Hawaii, president of Idaho Vegetable Growers, Incorporated, yesterday gave out this statement:

It is distressing to know that a man who has honored a man by sending him to congress to represent their interest in the national capital, who professes such a high regard for the true situation surrounding the marketing of southern and eastern Idaho principal agricultural crops, should be so ignorant of the facts.

OPENERS IN DEBATE DRAWN BY FRESHMEN

Two freshmen debate teams will open the high school inter-class season today at 2:15. Drawings yesterday picked Paul O'Leary and Ernest Ostrom against Miller Dunn and Robert Anderson for the opening. Four other first year men will meet at 4 o'clock to finish the first round of the double elimination contest in the two-man debate.

In the second debate Edward Britz and Leonard Fields will oppose Paul O'Leary and Ernest Ostrom. The winners will follow in the first round in that class Wednesday when the juniors and sophomores will meet.

In a practice affair with the junior high yesterday, the junior class team, Howard Larson and Amir Adams, defeated Perry Bailey and Francis Adams according to decision and criticisms given by M. C. Balenger as judge.
