DEATH LIST GROWS WHILE AUTHORITIES PROBE HOTEL FIRE

Six Victims Burned Beyond Recognition; Police Name 24 'Known Dead' and Report 25 Unaccounted For

By The Associated Press. LANSING, Mich., Dec. 12. Slowly and horribly the magnitude of the Kerns hotel fire tragedy was pried today from the cooling ruins, where at least 24—possibly twice that many—perished in one of Michigan's worst disasters. Twenty-two bodies had been recovered or located tonight, as state, county and city investigators sought to ascertain how the fatal blaze had begun.

Charred remains of seven victims, burned beyond recognition in Tuesday's fire, lay on irontraps in the wreckage, transformed into a temporary morgue. A dozen other bodies, of those who died of injuries after leaping from upper windows, were in undertaking establishments. Two bodies were believed pinned on the bottom of the Grand river by an iron fire escape that presumably fell with them.

Unaccounted For. Approximately 25 of the 215 guests still were unaccounted for, in lists of dead, injured or unaccounted for. The hotel register was checked for anyone who had been in the hotel before, after and during the fire, but no one was identified. Unidentified, if the six charred bodies taken from the hotel could be identified, some of their names would be known.

DAVES PREDICTS REAL PROSPERITY

Wave of Great Recovery to Begin in June or July, Financier Says

CHICAGO, Dec. 12 (AP)—Real prosperity will return to the nation in the summer, Charles F. Daves predicted today after an exhaustive study of the economic situation. The wave of great recovery, he stated, with a rush for durable goods next June or July.

Mr. Daves, former diplomat and author of the "Daves plan," one time head of the Reconstruction Finance corporation and former Republican vice president of the United States, broke a protracted silence to voice his views before an audience at the Chicago Association of Commerce. "The demand for durable goods especially heavy durable goods, is in depression, while it stays rates lastingly above normal," he declared. "To displace the surplus of such goods, they showed the trends of the iron and steel production and prices preceding and following the recessions of 1873, 1893 and 1929. He noted the periods between the collapse of the stock market and the beginning of the rise in the heavy durable goods industry, which marks the beginning of the end."

F. D. R. Launches Own Fight On War Profits

Baruch Heads President's Committee; Senate Probers See Move To Shunt Aside Their Inquiry

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—In a move regarded by some members of the senate munitions committee as designed to shunt aside their inquiry, President Roosevelt today selected a committee of his own to study means for taking the profit out of war.

A plan to this end, based primarily upon "freezing" prices at the outbreak of war and upon high taxing of profits, tonight appeared likely to be recommended. Bernard M. Baruch, financier and chairman of the old war industries committee, was named by the chief executive today to chairman a group which will map war profits legislation for enactment this winter.

The members, including Hugh R. Johnson, former Blue Eagle chief, were called together by the White House to the unexplained irritation of the senate committee headed by Nye of North Dakota, which has been investigating the activities of the munitions industry. The program to be recommended.

DENVER, Dec. 12 (AP)—Two Colorado prisoners will soon have their lives and freedom with science for their lives and provided new hope for success of a tuberculosis preventive.

Governor Earl C. Johnson announced today that the state of Colorado will release two prisoners, one of whom is named Schmidt, "human guinea pig" during life terms in the state penitentiary, would be released about December 20. The men had agreed to submit to experiments with a tuberculosis preventive serum in return for freedom if they survived. Governor Johnson's action today, committing their sentences to provide for release at the end of the test period, followed an examination of the test yesterday by Dr. J. H. Corper, tuberculosis specialist at the National Ziehl hospital here, who has been conducting the experiment. Although Dr. Corper has not explained in detail the results of the tests, Dr. H. Holmes, prison physician, reported to the governor that he had examined both men and found them in "good physical condition."

ORGANIZATION FOR ANTI-UNDERWORLD OFFENSIVE URGED

Attorney General's Conference Favors Creation of National Agency as Part of United War on Crime

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—A determination to create a permanent, national anti-crime organization tonight gained momentum at the attorney general's crime conference.

The exact form this organization would take was a matter of debate, but virtually all of the 800 attending the courtney conference indicated an agreement that continuing, national machinery was vital. The central agency would direct an anti-underworld offensive reaching from coast to coast. While selected delegates lifted the varied proposals aimed at the crime conference, in the third day of meetings, sought to find the true answer to the nation's crime problem.

The delegates in acting along those lines would be following the suggestions of both President Roosevelt and Attorney General Cummings. States Willing to Cooperate. From Governor Ehringhaus of North Carolina came an assertion that all states would cooperate to make law enforcement more effective.

In Santiago, long center of sedition agitation, the military supervisor instructed peddlars and vehicles to be off the streets after 10 o'clock, and to be searched at other reporting places closed after 11 p. m.

SLOAN HILLS BREAK IN REGIMENTATION

General Motors Head Calls for Increased Hours, Flexible Wage

CHICAGO, Dec. 12 (AP)—Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors corporation, asserted last night that the "spell of a planned economy and regimentation has been broken."

"That is the most important thing that has happened," he said in an address before the Illinois Manufacturers' association, during which he stressed the faith in a future opportunity and told what he thought of price-fixing, 30-hour week, closed shop, wage scales and the economics of scarcity.

"Today the magic possibilities of industrial regimentation and price-fixing are gone—gone—gone—cast the spell of yesterday," said Sloan. "That spell is broken. It is real progress. Men are becoming increasingly aware that the atrocious instrumentalism of revival and reconstruction is the existing system of free enterprise."

Prescription for Progress

His prescription for progress included these elements:

- Increased hours of employment and increased productivity.
- A flexible wage scale that brings the greatest wage benefit.
- A workable control plan in labor relationships.
- Free worker as opposed to the closed shop.

Sloan defined the goal of industry, thus: "Progress is measured by the advancement of well being, socially and economically, of the American worker—those who work either for or against—those who are dependent upon their own individual efforts."

"We have reduced the hours of employment, and we have increased the hourly wage—the pay envelope, as a general policy, remaining the same. As a result, we have raised the real costs of goods and services but we have not raised the purchasing power of the American worker in 1934."

Process of Evolution

"We should not further reduce the hours of employment," he should increase. "It must not be presumed that shortening the hours of labor is undesirable or inconsistent with our objective, over a long pull, but that process is one of evolution, not revolution."

"We have an important and insistent demand for further reductions in hours—for a mandatory 30-hour week—to be specific—with resulting further increase in the cost of goods and services, further limitations in the ability to consume those goods and services, less jobs for American workers. Let us hope that in the final analysis better counsel will prevail. Let us hope that restriction or curtailment can be avoided. Let us relegate to the museum of economic monstrosities the theory of scarcity as a factor in promoting industrial recovery."

Freezes Recovery Process

"Turning to wages, Sloan objected to indexing and unchangeable wage scale adopted in prosperous times, or the wage scale fixed by force by political considerations."

"An inflexible wage scale freezes the process of recovery," the manufacturer asserted. "The best wage scale is that which permits the fullest productivity; the maximum number of jobs—the largest dollar wage payments. A wage level lower than that may mean the unjustifiable exploitation of the worker, a higher than that tends to freeze the down-the-industrial machinery, freeze jobs, more unemployment."

"It is the theory of the minimum wage which was argued to be accepted as a desirable factor, Sloan said he felt its desirability was predicated on the intelligence with which it is employed."

Quotes Roosevelt

He endorsed the "wage-council" plan as "the best remedy for the ills of both the employer and employee" and quoted as the best expression of his own views the proposition of President Roosevelt in appointing the national automobile labor board. "It is my hope that this system may develop into a kind of wage council in industry in which all groups and representation, may participate in joint conferences with their employers."

"As for price fixing, the head of the General Motors gave this dictum:

"It is vitally essential that the price level be established on the basis of the most economic set-up, and this means the most economic set-up not only within any particular industry, but within all competing industries. Only by so doing can we bring our goods and services within the reach of the greatest number of buyers."

I did not kill Osborne
By VICTOR BRIDGES
SYNOPSIS: Just as Nicholas Treves and William Aron leave the latter's apartment after having exchanged information about the murder of Osborne...

CHAPTER 23.
MR. ORLOFF
Sir William and I stood there for perhaps thirty seconds smiling and chatting. I had just sufficient time to get a quick glimpse of the man who two days before threatened to murder him if he did not produce the valuable formula...

"Oh yes - he makes no secret about it. He is the head of a large trading concern, which has branches here and on the continent. Exactly what his position is I can't say. It is said to be an entirely independent organization, but it must obviously have a working arrangement of some kind with the government in Moscow. Aronoff himself is a very clever fellow, and there is no doubt that he has plenty of money behind him. He carried through a big business deal with my firm only a few months ago..."

"Sounds quite a mysterious character," I said lightly. "I expect I shall open the paper on morning and see what the police have been reading his headquarters. That's what usually seems to happen with these Russian trading companies. Sir William smiled grimly. "I don't fancy Orloff will ever figure in a political scandal. He's too independent a politician to fall for his own net..."

"Well, good-bye for the present, Mr. Treves," he said. "I am glad to have had this talk with you, and I hope before very long I will be in a position to send you some satisfactory news..."

"That's the very reason why I've gone to see you," I said. "As I spoke we came to a sudden halt in a traffic block, a few yards short of the entrance to the Museum. At this point all my attention was attracted by the man who was standing in the doorway of the museum..."

"That's exactly how it struck me," I said. "I was right about the man's voice. I've any amount to tell you of the man's voice and the man's face at an adjacent booth on which two gentlemen were gazing intently..."

STAMPS
Love Barbers Way To Altar
Brazil is paying its respects to a representative of the Vatican in postage stamps.
The particular occasion was the visit of the papal delegate, Cardinal Pacelli, to this country. Two stamps of identical design were issued, one a 300-reis carmine, the other a 700-reis blue. They bear the picture of a statue overlooking Brazil upon which is inscribed "Vest of Cardinal Pacelli 1934." The stamps are engraved on rather thin paper and are ruled. The thing in the new printing of the King George series of Great Britain is that it is emerald green, a more brilliant shade than used heretofore on the halpenny. France has reduced the value of the 13-franc olive brown of the "peace with olive branch" issue to 10 centimes by an overprint. Ransom y Cajal, noted for his contribution to the study of the human brain, is pictured on a special from Spain. 1-centavo olive brown. Paraguy's 1-peso picturing Pedro Juan Caballero has come out in a new color, brown orange. A limited number of 1-centavo Spanish Morocco stamps have been overprinted in the same light blue as the bright rose of the 1933-34 issue. Guatemala announces it has destroyed by burning approximately 13,500,000 stamps classified as re-manufactured. They included the 1.25-peso stamp of the issue of 1924, the 20-centavo, the 1-peso, the 1.20-peso, the 3-peso and the 15-peso of 1920 as well as the 12 1/2-centavo semi-postal of 1921. Recent discoveries of rare stamps include two of the postmasters of Bermuda, first issued in 1848 by the local postmaster and bearing his signature - W. B. Perce - in the design. Baer Hopes To Meet Losky And Hymas in Doubleheader National League Magnates Decide In Favor Of Night Baseball

Champion Estimates Bout Would Attract Million-Dollar Gate

Max Willing To Draw Lots To Decide Opponent In First Of Two Fights On Same Night

CLEVELAND, Dec. 12 (AP)—Champion Max Baer is re-entirely in earnest, it now appears, in his proposal to meet Art Losky and Steve Hymas, both on the same night, with his heavy-weight title at stake.

It's strictly a matter of business with the champion, based on his belief that a doubleheader for the world's biggest fight crowd probably would attract one of the largest fight crowds in history.

Asserting it would be the first time the heavyweight championship has been staked on such a program, Baer estimates the gate receipts would approach a million dollars, with his own share of the total amounting between $300,000 and $500,000.

Max's proposal is to meet Losky in the first of two bouts, each scheduled for 10 rounds. The winner, then, either the old champion or a new one, would rest five minutes and take on Hymas for 10 rounds.

Each of the three would be in condition for 20 rounds of boxing, and Max believes the winner of the first bout would be in perfectly good shape to enter the second.

Each of the three would be in condition for 20 rounds of boxing, and Max believes the winner of the first bout would be in perfectly good shape to enter the second.

Max is willing to draw lots, he says, to decide whether Losky should be scheduled for the opening bout and Hymas for the second.

Baer's view of the whole proceedings is that he probably could make more for himself and the promoters and at the same time give the fight fans a better show by putting on a double performance instead of meeting Hymas and Losky on two different cards.

Washington Team Overlooks Vandals in Last Half of Game, 39-26

WALLA WALLA, Wash. Dec. 12 (AP)—Trailing 12 to 7 at the end of the first half, the Washington basketball team edged a driving second half finish to win a 39-26 victory over the Idaho boys who were tonight. The Idaho boys won last night, 33-31.

The first half was tame but the Washington team went into the second period and the Vandals scarcely got their hands on the ball. Miller and Tomkins, Washington players, scored 10 points and nine, respectively, in the second period.

Plans for Boxing Event Announced

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12 (AP)—Plans for the first annual national diamond belt amateur boxing championship to be held here August 26 and 28, 1935, were announced here today by Al Sandell, president of the National Amateur Athletic Union boxing committee.

San Francisco, Calif., will host the national A. A. U. tournament, to be held at the Cow Palace, San Francisco, Calif., California state and Pacific coast tournaments.

Mike Turnesa and Abe Epsimosa Top Tournament Field

Pair of Sharpshooters Chalk Up Totals of 219 at 54-Hole Mark in $12,500 Miami-Biltmore Open

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 12—Aided by the abatement of a cold wind that hampered the scores of earlier finishers into a cocked hat, Abe Epsimosa of Chicago and Mike Turnesa of Elmford, N. Y., romped home late today with perfect cards to tie at 219 and lead the field at the 54-hole mark in the $12,500 Miami Biltmore Open tournament.

A long shot on the 18th green that dropped into the cup enabled Turnesa to chalk up a pair of 32 for a 72, one over par, and tie the stocky Epsimosa, who posted 36-37.

These scores bettered by one stroke the 220 collected by Orville White of St. Louis, who a short time before had blasted Glen Duder, National Open champion from California, out of the lead, where he had been perched since the start of the 74-hole tournament.

Victim of Wind
Duder went out in 37 today, two over par, but fell victim of the stiff wind on the incoming nine and took a bad 41, boosting his total to 78.

Turnesa, who posted a 36 hole score of 147, succeeded in picking up six strokes on Duder today to advance to a tie with Epsimosa in first place.

Only eight golfers from the reduced field of 137 succeeded in making 100 today, with Turnesa and Epsimosa and Turnesa not only succeeded in sealing the lead from many of the other players in the second division of golfers who also beat off the threats of the first division pack, which included many of the top notch players in the second division.

The second division is composed of 120 of the 137 who competed in major tournaments while the first group is made up of golfers who finished among the 60 best and ties in the first 12. A championship and the low 30's and ties in the National Open.

In the second encounter he accounted for the boys' team by scoring 251 and the Kids again won this time by an 880 to 800 score. The Kids dropped the third 100 by 61 to 220, but McIntyre brought his three game total to 203 with a score of 112-112-112.

Crosley, Owner Of Reds, Scores Amazing Victory

World Champion St. Louis Cardinals Only Money-Making Club, Reports For Past Year Indicate

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 (AP)—The National League gave up its traditional stand against the owners of the St. Louis Cardinals today and agreed to let each team in the circuit play seven more games next season under floodlights as the pace of the annual major league concludes quickened in everything except player trading.

Leaning over backward in an effort to aid the financially weakened brethren, after reports for the year indicated that only the world champion St. Louis Cardinals made a profit for 1934, the moguls went so far as to pave the way indirectly for Judge E. V. Riddle, owner of the Boston club, to operate a dog track within its Braves field this summer while his team plays their home games at Fenway, park, stadium of the American League's Boston Red Sox.

Crosley Leads Fight
Powell Crosley, Jr., owner of the Cincinnati Reds, led the fight for night ball. He won an amazing victory when he returned today, winding up routine matters in his second day season, preliminary to the closing final league season. He was content to ratify a 25-year territorial agreement and call it a day.

The subjects of what to do with night baseball were not brought officially before the American League.

Only the New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers opposed Crosley's suggestion that each club be permitted to play in the night stadium at home against each of its league opponents. Considered a hopeless proposition at the start, Crosley's plea won the support of the St. Louis Cardinals, Boston Braves, Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia.

The decision, first in major league history, is the first of a series of changes now in common in the minors, is not binding on any club.

Tonight Coach Ed Lucy's Rupert Pirates will enceph Coach Wes Thurler's Albion high school team at the Albion court and Hancock's 1934-35 edition will cross the Snake river for a clash with the Hatfield quartet.

Friday evening the first of a two-game series between the Albion Normalites and the Tigers from the University of Idaho, southern branch, will be held at Albion and three high school units are also on the schedule.

Coach Bernard Martyn's Piler Wildcats will journey to Livermore, Kentucky will make an effort to repulse the invasion of Mounaing, and the Malin five will play at Paul.
