SOLON URGES NEW RECOVERY PROGRAM

New Yorker Would Abandon Several Phases of Experiment

NEW-YORK, Dec. 20 (AP)—A 12-point recovery program, including conditional abandonment of several phases of the New Deal experiment, was urged tonight by Senator Wagner (D-N.Y.), one of President Roosevelt's legislative advisers.

"Certain portions of the New Deal must become embodied in permanent law and crystallized in public sentiment," Wagner told a meeting at the Catholic club. Then at another point he said:

"Other types of our program are more susceptible to modification. A certain amount of experimentation is an essential element of democratic government. We have not sought the pretended finality of a dictatorial state with all the mock certainty of its enforced blueprints.

Whatever may be the case in other fields, we do believe that the methods of freedom are out worn or even discredited in the United States. The country they have been tried and recommended during the past 20 months."

Wagner advocated the following program:

1. A qualified scrapping of price fixing under the NRA.
2. Ending of NRA's production limitation phase.
3. Reduction of "wide spread (federal) expenditures to stimulate industry when industry is completely revived and prepared to stand entirely on its own feet.
4. Extend federal control over some public utilities.
5. Continue to regulate minimum wages.
6. "Excessively long" hours shall remain prohibited.
7. Sweat shops to be kept closed.
8. Child labor to remain banned.
9. Continued removal of the small bank depositors and investors.
10. Employees shall be "safeguarded" in their right to organize and bargain collectively.
11. Business shall have the right to guard itself against destructive competition of the trickster and sponger.
12. Combining the share work idea with old age pensions.
13. Compulsory unemployment insurance.

Wagner, who helped frame the recovery act, said he had held from its inception that "price fixing when it goes beyond the bounds of establishing minimum wages and prohibiting the cut-throat practice of selling below cost, has no place in a program designed to shield the individual business man against the onslaught of monopoly."

AN EXPERIENCE

From Florida comes the story of a Negro boy, sentenced to death eight years ago for the murder of his wife and actually strapped into the electric chair ready for execution, yet lived to receive a conditional pardon under the terms of which he will be released within a few days.

It appears that the superintendent of the prison and the county sheriff could not agree upon the matter of who should throw the switch and thus serve as the actual executioner. It is not exactly clear whether the two officials vied for the honor of taking the Negro's life or argued as to which had the right to avoid the task.

The case is perhaps without a parallel in the prison annals of the country. It is altogether likely that no other living man ever underwent such an experience. A sensitive man would have suffered the tortures of death many times during that ten minutes. It is conceivable that death itself might have ensued as a result. Certainly, punishment akin to death was inflicted.

It might be argued that, the controversy once settled, the sentence should have been carried out as ordered. But there is something to be said on the question as to whether the Negro did not pay the bill at least in part while the argument was going on. To be compelled to sit face to face with certain death for as much as ten minutes would seem to constitute a pretty fair degree of punishment even for the crime of murder.

NON-POLITICAL JUDICIARY

An interesting method of choosing judges is to be tried in California as a result of an amendment to the state constitution approved in the November election. The method is to apply at once to judges of the supreme court and district courts of appeal. It may be extended to county courts by popular vote. Under the new law judicial appointments will be made by the governor, subject to confirmation of a board of three headed by the chief justice. Each judge will be named for the ordinary length of term. When it expires he may run for re-election. There will be no opposing candidate. The voters will merely say "yes" or "no" to his continuing in office.

An unsatisfactory judge may be removed from office before his term expires by use of the existing machinery of impeachment or recall.

This method, it is hoped, will take the judiciary out of politics and improve the quality, while giving the voters an adequate check on appointees. Only trial will show whether the plan actually removes judges from the political arena or whether they will still have to mix their judicial work with campaign activities every few years. In some states a theoretically non-political judiciary has not been so in practice.

ABLE and conscientious judges would be as glad as anyone to have the courts completely separated from party politics.

GOOD WORK BY LEAGUE

The League of Nations, whose prestige lately was at a low ebb, seems to be coming back. Its handling of the critical feud between Yugoslavia and Hungary, which might have led to another big war, is possibly the most effective service to civilization it has yet rendered.

There was diplomacy, and also a punch, in its procedure. It "deplored" the assassination of King Alexander at Marseille. It applied the principle of international law regarding terrorist activities within one state against another state. At Yugoslavia's request, it asked the Hungarian government to punish any Hungarian authorities who should be found to have had a guilty connection with the assassination. And Hungary consented.

Here is a good example of the sort of service which the League is especially capable of rendering. Stepping in between two hostile governments, it acts as a disinterested power, to which the quarrelling parties may make concessions that they would not make to each other. Observers point out that in the present case Yugoslavia remains satisfied while Hungary's honor remains intact—an ideal adjustment.

So Europe brightens easier. The future would be brighter, and the League would rise still higher in authority and esteem, if it could woo Germany back to membership. That may not be so difficult as it seemed a few months ago.

People are getting so tired of loafing that soon there will be a general strike against leisure.

CHILD LABOR AMENDMENT

It is rumored that President Roosevelt strongly favors the adoption of the child labor amendment, submitted to the states ten years ago. It goes without saying that Secretary Perkins also hopes for its passage. So far, fewer than half the required endorsements (thirty-six) have been given. Presumably, a vigorous effort will be made for its passage when state legislatures meet in January.

The proposed amendment provides that "The congress shall have power to limit, regulate, and prohibit the labor of persons under 18 years of age." Naturally, all state laws in opposition to whatever federal statute might be passed would be superseded. The problem of child labor has been a burning question for many years. The amendment was submitted as the climax of a long series of agitations in both states and nation for the prohibition of child labor. Public opinion generally is strongly opposed to the exploitation of the child in industry, too often overworked and poorly paid. This was made clear by the heavy response given to the NRA petition against sweatshop and child labor. Science, religion, morals and humane sentiments all are arrayed against the evils of former conditions. These ruined the physique and dulled the brain of children laboring in mills or other industries or in the beet and cotton fields of the west and south.

The proposed amendment, however, has not met with favor on the part of most of the states. Twenty-four have rejected it and several have taken no action. The objection in the main is that it is one more encroachment in which the federal government encroaches on the original powers of the states already fairly well circumscribed. Also it is thought that the blanket power given to congress, to control the labor of the youth up to 18 years of age, might result in drastic legislation unsuited to conditions in rural states. Many believe, also, that the problem of unemployment will be regularly troublesome for years and that at such a time and a perhaps many women out of trade and the industries so as to make room for unemployed males. In other words, the evils of child labor, once so manifest, are rapidly passing, due to public sentiment, the pressure of economic conditions and state legislation.

Presumably, the states, which so far have refused endorsement will continue to do so, in spite of pressure from the president and the secretary of labor. Their legislators approve the principle, but prefer to apply it themselves.

FRIENDLY MEDICINE NEEDED

Speaking of socialized medicine there was a time, many years ago, when socialism was new in this country, and some people thought that a socialist was one who liked to go out with his friends and have a good time. How will it be with socialized medicine? Will it be a good social time with its patients, or will it tend to become cold and impersonal and institutionalized, as people not rarely complain of public health service even now?

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

(NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS) (Copyright, McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

WASHINGTON (Special News Service)—FURNISHER, HUGH LONG, Louisiana's flamboyant Kingfish, is debating the idea of setting himself up as a daily newspaper in New Orleans through which to air his views on national and state politics. But Long is not alone in the paper. He has a number of associates who are against him so he might as well establish his own sounding board.

Washington newspaper men flew down to Baton Rouge the other day to talk over the proposition of a "press meeting." This is written in still on the fire. If the sheet ever goes on the street there should be a newspaper war in Louisiana that would make the Bonilla-Howard scrap in Denver half a dozen years back look like a prayer-meeting.

Under ordinary circumstances it would take a brave man to invade the New Orleans field with the idea of starting a paper cold. No paper can exist without advertising and there is just so much available in a given area. But Kingfish Long has taken over the City of New Orleans with the aid of his own personal legislation and the national guard—plus some slight help from Governor O. K. Allen. As a result a man as that might be able to capture advertising sales.

Senator Long already has "punished" the big Louisiana station for fighting his dictatorial reign. He had the legislature slap a 2 per cent tax on advertising in all papers of any size in the state. This is a challenging validity of this law in the courts.

BATTING. Did you ever hear of a man who would like to be court-martialed? Who had furnished what seemed to be groups, but who can't get any action? Captain John H. Craig, one of the country's best known Marines, might qualify for the description. Soldier of fortune, online amateur heavyweight boxing champion, chief press agent for the Marine Corps during its build-up stage, Craig is now retired as a result of injuries he received in an auto accident—but he could still stand court-martial.

Captain Craig who helped rule Haiti with an iron hand during the long Marine occupation, wrote two books and therein lies the story. The last book is called "Carnival of Crime." The title comes from a fact: a cousin of a recent Italian minister to the United States was convicted by the Marines of cannibalism.

In his book Craig calls a former Marine Corps commandant a rocking chair soldier. He dissects activities of the high command. He ridicules Haitian atrocities. Ordinarily the comments by an officer would result in preferment of charges—but the military establishment seemingly is mindful of the fact that the subject developed a reputation as a court-martial of political nature in the world to do about as well as it could about it as they should have done.

CHOICE. There should be some significance in the fact that the other day the White House called for the military records of Major General Malin Craig, commander of the 9th Corps Area, and Major General George B. Simonds, head of the Army War College.

A man on the curbstone might almost think that these two officers stood in the front rank for selection as chief of staff to succeed General Douglas MacArthur. Inasmuch as Craig was reported on Paulsen and General Parry's preferred list he would seem to be standing two paces forward.

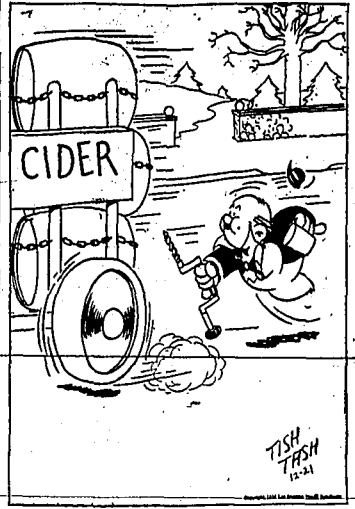

General Craig is 59 years old, born in St. Louis. He has had a distinguished military career running through the Spanish-American war, the China Relief Expedition and the World War. In France he served in several key positions of the A.E.F. high command. General Simonds was born in Cresco, Iowa, 60 years ago. He, too, has a splendid record running from the Philippine and China fronts at the turn of the century through the World War, during which he commanded the American Embarkation Center at Le Mans. As head of the Army War College Simonds worked out the war game that slumped the General Staff last fall.

CHATTERS. The "Air-Out-Minds Club" may take in a new member immediately after the first of the year. This probably is a new one on you but our outsider would be entitled to the belief the Air-Out-Minds club is a rather potent factor in Washington political life. For months the highly informal organization has been meeting irregularly every week or so and exchanging views on current economic, social, political and international problems. Here is the charter membership:

Mr. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Secretary of Labor, Frances Perkins, Lady Elizabeth Lind, wife of the British Ambassador, Rep. Isabella Greenway of Oregon, and Mrs. Mary Harriman Rumsey, head of the Consumers' Council of NRA and NRC, other women of public affairs unquestionably have joined the knitting circle from time to time. The new member should be Mrs. Charles O'Keefe, whose campaign for a seat as representative-at-large from New York Mrs. Roosevelt succeeded in clinching in the last election.

And yes, as you see the "small products" of the system pour out of the schools of the country; or so we would say, stirring woodruff and bryn government workers wonder at the very efficiency and competence they display gives enough food for the imagination. People should be clear-angled and practical, but many are also hard and unimaginative. The child who misses these has been robbed of his birth-right, and no worldly success can make up to him for his loss. If we want only practical business men and go-getters in the future, well and good. But let us at least be going to get, and not after we have gone too far to make a change possible.

It was here that the October revolt waged hottest and shelling of towns by federal troops together with the destruction wrought by revolutionaries left many homeless. ARID EDUCATION The passion for facts and scientific truth which has swept over the world is threatening to do away with poets and dreamers, and it might be well if we stopped for a moment on our headlong descent from the heights of idealism to see what the results of the stream will be. "Fairy tales are out" a father of several small children exclaimed the other day. "The children don't get them at home, and are certainly not given them in school. Instead they are taught the habits of primitive man and taken about to inspect factories and transportation systems."

Perhaps it is all right. This may be the kind of training for the future which the world needs at this point.

RELIEF AGENCIES OUTLINE PROGRAM

Idaho to Urge Home Owners Loan Appropriation, on Needs Basis

BOISE, Dec. 20 (AP)—W. T. Lockwood, state director of the national emergency council, after conferring with the Idaho federal emergency coordinating committee, has recommended to Idaho's senators amendment of the Wagner-Peyser reemployment service act and further appropriations for the Home Owners' Loan corporation.

Mr. Lockwood formulated his recommendations after he had met, in his capacity of coordinator of federal agencies, with seven state directors of federal emergency organizations and their representatives.

Present at the meeting were the following: Mr. C. Meredith, administrator Idaho emergency relief administration; C. C. Wilburn, state manager Home Owners' Loan corporation; Harry Whitaker, state director federal housing administration; John Fagan, state reemployment director national reemployment service; J. D. Wood, executive secretary state planning board; and Captain Patrick J. Dodd, district commander civilian conservation corps.

Each director gave a short resume of the functions and operations of the agency which he represents. These reports covered the civilian conservation corps program, the operations of federal relief including rural rehabilitation, a resume of the work of the reemployment service, a discussion of the public works program, a brief sketch of the housing program and a summary of the year's operation of the Home Owners' Loan corporation. A general discussion of "inter-agency problems with the view of working out a program of coordination among these agencies in the state followed.

By the unanimous consent of the group, the chairman, Mr. Lockwood, was authorized to urge the national emergency council board and Idaho's senators: First, that the Wagner-Peyser act, under which the United States reemployment service now operates, be amended so as to change the basis of the allocation of funds from that of

NEW YORK—A group of young American authors, all of whom have written successful books and plays, were discussing the necessity for writers to have news-making personalities to help the sale of their works.

Contemplating this situation over their beer, all of them agreed that, with all the general excellence of their writings, authors such as Noel Coward, Sinclair Lewis, Theodore Dreiser and numerous other well-known authors undoubtedly stimulated their royalty receipts by their own personal exploits.

"Coward is an excellent example," one of the youngsters pointed out. "True, he writes entertaining stuff, but when he gets himself shipwrecked in Greece, takes long voyages on lonely freighters, acts as host at parties where are assembled so many famous wiles—you can't deny that he keeps his name continually on the front page," marked population to the actual needs based on the geographic distribution of population; second, that further appropriations should be made to complete the task assigned to the Home Owners' Loan corporation.

"Further appropriations for the Home Owners' Loan corporation should be proportionally allocated to the various emergency federal agencies of their respective needs," Mr. Lockwood wrote.

"Funds allocated on a population basis, without regard to the size of the state, penalize the large state rural rehabilitation, a resume of the work of the reemployment service, a discussion of the public works program, a brief sketch of the housing program and a summary of the year's operation of the Home Owners' Loan corporation. A general discussion of "inter-agency problems with the view of working out a program of coordination among these agencies in the state followed.

By the unanimous consent of the group, the chairman, Mr. Lockwood, was authorized to urge the national emergency council board and Idaho's senators: First, that the Wagner-Peyser act, under which the United States reemployment service now operates, be amended so as to change the basis of the allocation of funds from that of himself an intriguing character and therefore wins the public into a desire to see his plays."

Another writer, Joseph of Lewis sleeping brother, of Joan Lowell being bitten by a crocodile, of Bernard Shaw's numerous sardonic speeches—all of these, they agreed, aided materially the sales in book-stalls or at the box office.

"Well, my new novel hasn't been selling at all," one of the struggling authors announced. "Of course I wouldn't do anything consciously to get my name in the papers, but if some royalties don't come in soon I'm bound to get in the public prints."

The headlines probably will read—"Young writer, surrounded by unsold copies of his novel, dies of starvation."

When Linda Watkins came back from Hollywood, her first observation was that it was such a delightful feeling to get back in a city that was sometimes immersed in rain and fog.

New York does become enveloped, at times in thick banks of fog, but you usually hear of it through the fog that transatlantic liners are held up in the harbor, unable to proceed through the impregnable curvatures.

On the street, however, one rarely realizes that it is foggy unless you glance up at the towers of skyscrapers invisible in the mist. Perhaps the air currents keep the fog so high. I don't know, but you may expect a report as soon as I can get downtown to the weather bureau again.

I want to go downtown again, too, to take a ride on that new cutters cutter which takes the immigration inspectors and ship new reporters down the bay to meet incoming vessels.

It's a whanging whir-bang of a boat, the boys tell me. It's much bigger than the old cutters, and gets down to quarantine in about half the time usually required. It has only one handcrew. Its powerful engines roar out such a din that the boys can't swap idle chitchat, nor can they hear each other bid in those early morning bridge games.

Or, when that new cutter starts down the harbor they know it all the way from Ellis Island to the Erie basin—by that noisy.

MOTORCAR OUTPUT FOR 1934 DOUBLES 1932 PRODUCTION

Automobile Makers, Measuring Prosperity by Volume of Distribution, Optimistic Over 1935 Outlook

DETROIT, Dec. 20 (AP)—Measuring the prosperity of the automotive industry largely by the volume of its new car distribution, the makers of motor cars generally look 1935 with optimism although withholding specific statements as to the probable aggregate output.

Without saying so, the industry executives in 1934 are aiming at a total production of 1,925,000 approximately, doubling the output of 1932, low point of the period.

The industry approaches 1935 with the optimistic statement of Henry Ford that his company will produce at least 1,000,000 cars this year, fresh in mind.

But the gaitzite idea died a long time ago. The "new deal" was recalled vividly the row in congress after the war over departmental publications and alleged press agencies.

With no election immediately impending, it is as though the president's order for a study of means of advising the public adequately of what goes on officially in Washington.

New Dealers Ask Daily Paper to Record New Laws

WASHINGTON—A long time ago "new deal" forestry difficulties in getting adequate publication for the bewildering flow of orders, regulations and interpretations by the administration. They predicted the very complaint of legal confusion raised by a bar association committee and now regulated by Liberty league spokesmen and implied in supreme court proceedings in the "hot oil" case.

The idea was to keep the publication down strictly to routine government business. The proposed decree, it was argued, would provide means for quick widespread distribution of such information in a file form, periodically indexed for ready reference.

How vividly recalled If that project had succeeded, quite likely the "new deal" would have been recalled vividly the row in congress after the war over departmental publications and alleged press agencies.

With no election immediately impending, it is as though the president's order for a study of means of advising the public adequately of what goes on officially in Washington.

Musical Circles in Whirl As Year Draws to Close; Concert Bookings Better

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 (AP)—In spite of the fact that the year has been one for musical disasters in the year, December finds "musical circles" whirling dizzily.

At least three operas have had their premiere in 1934: "Four Saints in Three Acts," the still unexplained effort of Gertrude Stein and Virgil Thomson; "Mary Moun," a somewhat ponderous piece by Howard Hanson and Richard Stokes; and "Helen Retires," by George Antheil and John Kirkpatrick, which had a mixed, if not a say scrambled, reception.

Modern Composer Heard
Concert bookings both in and out of New York seem somewhat better, although important debuts have been few—among them being that of Paul Whiteman, the one-armed pianist from Vienna, Werner Janesch, the first native New Yorker ever to conduct the venerable Philharmonic, was successful.

The Los Angeles Philharmonic, which began concerts last because of financial difficulties, had begun to end under Otto Klemperer. Interest in the less conspicuous symphonies has been in Richmond, Buffalo, Kansas City, New Haven and other medium-sized cities has grown enormously.

The only orchestral tangle remaining unsettled in Philadelphia, where Stokowski and his closest friends on the orchestral board, Curtis Bok and his mother, Mary Louise Curtis Bok, have resigned. Had these resignations held the fort, there are rumors that he will make motion pictures, that he will replace Walter Damrosch in Radio City, that he will raise flowers in California and that he will go to the orient, or perhaps Russia.

RAILS' CONDITION CALLED DEPLORABLE

Federal Coordinator Advocates Regulation of All Transportation
BOSTON, Dec. 20 (AP)—After declaring that "our railroads today are in a very low state of health, financially and physically," Joseph B. Eastman, federal coordinator of transportation, today advocated a single federal agency for the regulation of all important forms of transportation.

Speaking before the Boston Chamber of Commerce, Eastman discussed many phases of the transportation problem and suggested numerous methods for improvement in railroad service as steps intended to meet competition.

He said the railroads, with long experience with regulation, do not wish it abandoned, but instead feel all forms of transportation should be subject to regulation.

in urging cooperation between the railroads, and with "their competitors," Eastman said: "All of our studies point directly to the fact that the big opportunities for elimination of waste and improvement of service lie in greater unity of action and in collective dealing."

Crisps like a Caribou

Car owners have always wanted a true winter non-skid tire—AND HERE IT IS. This new General Tire is the greatest improvement in tread design—the only definitely new principal in non-skid tire industry has been in 25 years. One look shows you how different it is—a winding, winding "toothscrew" design you can see as skid-safe. A ride on slippery streets proves it is as safe as it looks.

Come in today for demonstration and details of our Winter Safety and Saving Plan.

LIBERATED CONVICT HEADS FOR RANCH

One of Life-Termers Tells of Winning Freedom in Serum Tests

DENVER, Dec. 20 (AP)—A pair of prisoners, gray-haired, yet ignorant of the ways of a new world, today stepped gingerly into freedom won by successfully demonstrating an anti-tubercular serum at the penitentiary here.

Mike Schmidt, 53, youngest of the 20 life-termers came back to Denver by automobile from the Canon City prison, and to the bustling ways of a city of 300,000 he had to learn the ways of a new world. Schmidt, 53, youngest of the 20 life-termers came back to Denver by automobile from the Canon City prison, and to the bustling ways of a city of 300,000 he had to learn the ways of a new world.

"It's too big, too busy," he believes Schmidt, as he caught his first glimpse of the city he once called home.

"A ranch for me. I have a ranch friend. I want to go there," he continued and then related the serum story.

Gains 30 Pounds

"Well, they come to us—the doctors and the prison men—just eight months ago," said Schmidt. "They went over this claim. They told us how we might die and how we might live an get out free if this medicine worked against tuberculosis."

"First, they gave us the medicine (the serum) in 12 shots in one day and the same day they put the anti-tubercular germs (bacilli) into us. Both arms were used."

"But I wasn't scared. I wasn't even nervous. I don't know how many, I even gained weight. See, I gained 30 pounds."

"The doctors began to smile when they looked me over. And I felt fine. I guess I felt best when Governor Johnson came and told us about the parole."

"I was glad to go to a ranch. It's all right, I think."

Schmidt was so nervous he hardly could sign his name to the families of being released. Gifts of clothing were at hand from those who had followed the experiment. This supplemented the usual $5 and dark suits from the state.

"I was glad to go to a ranch. It's all right, I think."

When Schmidt got to Denver he started to look for relatives. His imprisonment resulted from an assault charge in which a daughter was the complainant.

University Students Hop a Plane And Get Three Additional Holidays

"Take a plane and add three days to your vacation," reasoned seven fourth-year students, and forthwith chartered one to bring them home for the Christmas holidays.

It was difficult to determine which was the more thrilling and excited of the four Twin Falls co-eds and the three Buhl and Burley collegians, as they alighted yesterday afternoon from their first "long distance" plane trip, or the parents and relatives who attended and slipped across the muddy landing field at the local airport to meet them.

Miss Irene Parrott, Miss Myrtle Jensen, Miss Anna Swedley, Miss Ruth Taylor, Twin Falls; Frank Stevens, Buhl; "Bud" Lewis and John Oakhill, Burley, were passengers on the plane, piloted by Fred Zimmerman. They arrived at the airport at 4:30 yesterday afternoon, making the trip from Lewiston in two hours and 40 minutes.

WOMAN TO TESTIFY IN HIT AND RUN TRIAL

SPOKANE, Dec. 20 (AP)—Manslaughter charges were filed today against William Murray Newson and Rosemary E. O'Brien, a married couple from Boise, Idaho, in connection with the hit-run death here December 5 of Miss Eleanor McCarty. Detective Captain James McCarty said a woman identified Newson as the driver who was fleeing at high speed a few seconds after the girl was killed. She will testify, McCarty said, that the car nearly collided with her own.

HIGH SCHOOL FACULTY TAKE HOLIDAY JAUNTS

North, south, east and west will draw their share of the Twin Falls high school teachers during the Christmas holidays. The following day vacation from their teaching duties will allow 13 high school instructors to enjoy a big holiday jaunt.

California, Utah and Washington draw an equal number of the ones leaving the state. Miss Martha Paul, English instructor, will travel to Long Beach and Coach Henry Powers reports that a honeymoon trip will probably include San Francisco, Salt Lake City and Saltina, Utah, are the respective destinations of English instructors, Miss Cora Jensen and Wayland Mattison, commercial teacher. Superintendent of English instruction, Miss Dorothy Call, her vacation from teaching English, and coaching basketball takes her to Springfield, Missouri.

Making the longest trip is Miss Kathleen Povey's destination, the Spanish teacher. The following day vacation from their teaching duties will allow 13 high school instructors to enjoy a big holiday jaunt.

Christmas in Other Lands

WENT ON THE VERY ROAD TAKEN BY THE THREE WISE MEN

AS BILL AND BETTY ARRIVE IN PALESTINE... THEY ARE DELIGHTED TO FIND AN OLD FRIEND FROM THE U.S. VISITING THERE ALSO. THE THREE SET OUT FOR BETHLEHEM, SCENE OF THE FIRST CHRISTMAS.

Pilgrims from all over the world are pouring into Bethlehem to see the scene of the Nativity on Christmas Day. The "manger" and "stable" are crowded, and the weather is very warm. When the child was born, Night falls and the moon rises as they follow the dusty old road which the Wise Men took to the manger.

THE ADVENTURES OF BILL AND BETTY

OF course the twins want to see the place where Jesus was born, so they go down into the sacred Grotto in the Church of Bethlehem. There they find the marble floor laid with a gorgeous silver star which is supposed to cover the exact spot of Christ's birth. Betty is entranced by the finely made gold and silver lamps in the Grotto.

After a Christmas feast in a "kafun" by Mr. Norton, Bill and Betty eat dates and figs with the beautiful innkeeper, Rachel. She teaches them to say "Diame!" which means "I wish for an unlimited quantity," and is the polite thing to say to your hostess after enjoying food and drink. Tomorrow, the flying twins will pilot their plane to Canton.

MILLER MAPS RULES FOR TRADING LANDS

Idaho Attorney General Answers Commission's Query

BOISE, Dec. 20 (AP)—Berit H. Miller, Idaho attorney general, in an opinion asked by Robert J. Coulter, state land commissioner, today expressed his views on the question "what would be the necessary procedure to follow or to permit the exchange of state lands for other lands, either federal, county or privately owned?"

The purpose of the exchange would be to group state lands, mainly wooded, for improved fire prevention reasons.

"First, I am of the opinion," Mr. Miller wrote, "that exchange of state owned lands acquired otherwise than by grant for school and state institutional purposes might be made by the board of land commissioners"

GRAIN PRICES PEGGED

SNIPS STRUGGLE TO REACH PORT
Two Crippled Vessels Call for Help; Towing Seas Delay Liners

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (AP)—Two crippled ships, one a tugboat and the other a fishing trawler, tossed in the rough seas off the North American coast tonight as the angry Atlantic delayed liners and pounded out its fury on the shores.

The Boston freighter Serenity, with 41 aboard, was blowing toward New York harbor under her own power from a point 26 miles south of Fire Island light, under the convoy of the coast guard cutter Champlain.

About 100 miles east of Boston the fishing trawler Widgen, carrying 22 hands, wireless for a tow call for immediate assistance. The Widgen, out of Brooklyn, was fighting the wind and sea with the double handicap of engine trouble and a broken air pump.

Steel Hawers Snap

Three steel hawers, lashed to the Serenity by the cutter in an attempt to get her under way, snapped as the rudderless craft wallowed in 40-foot waves that at times hit her from now.

The Serenity decided to try for port with her own engines, and the Champlain was accompanying her. Lieutenant Commander Robert C. Sarate, commanding the cutter, reported another attempt would be made to tow the freighter at daybreak.

BUSINESS, UNDER FIRE, STANDS BY PLATFORM

suggested that the business leaders wrap up their proposal "in a Christmas package" and send it to the unemployment.

He declared he did not believe there could be "anything worse for America and the 22,000,000 unemployed than what these fellows suggest."

"I don't like direct relief," Hopkins added. "The unemployed don't like it either, don't forget that."

Delegates to the business conference who were asked to interpret the critical reaction refused to be quoted until, they said, the public had had a better opportunity to analyze the conference's work.

The platform, one of them said, was to "point the direction" business delivered recovery should take, and it was not a flat and entirely final statement.

Held No Illusions

C. Bam Ames, chairman of the conference, said last night, before the criticisms were published, that the members wanted to be moderate, but that he had no illusions about the possibility of the ideas of their or any other group.

He did not comment on what business would do were the administration's plans to take a different course than that outlined by the conference.

The business plank against all but a minimum of work relief also drew a re-announcement from the United States conference of mayors that it would "actively fight" any attempt to set up a work relief program.

Similarly several governors asserted that the proposal for greater transfer of the relief burden to the states was premature.

The program generally was attacked by Democratic members of congress. Senator Cawthon (D-Iowa) said it was "reactionary." Senator Pope (I-Ill.) "too conservative for me." Senator King (D-Ill.) "too conservative and too reactionary." Representative Byrns (D-Tenn.), "a pretty big program."

Assistant director of the senate finance committee said the "best minds" of the conference were all wrong in advocating "a feeble system against a public works program."

The delegates' recommendation for modification of the securities act also was found premature by Chairman Joseph P. Kennedy of the securities and exchange commission.

ish and the Americans have made it clear to the Japanese delegation that Great Britain and the United States will play ball by themselves if the Oriental empire does not want to play in the same league.

His statement followed quickly after an address Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, delivered over the radio last night, in which he said Great Britain and the United States continued in opposing the Japanese "heats" in the Pacific.

It is necessary for equality in security.

Washington Silent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP)—While Washington looked today upon Anglo-American cooperation in naval affairs as a distinct possibility, officially it withheld comment.

Secretary Hull and other department officials maintained diplomatic silence on observations made by an American spokesman in London prophesying an accord between Great Britain and the United States if Japan continues to refuse to participate in a new naval limitations agreement.

But, however, did deny reports that the United States was considering proposals to enter into a gentlemen's agreement with both Great Britain and Japan, including scrapping of naval vessels during the next two years. He indicated that the United States contemplated no immediate action on naval questions.

In the three-man shooting, Charles Crox, 54, of Fell, Idaho, was arrested in connection with the shooting of Harry Robinson, 40, also of Fell, at a tourist camp here.

Charge Filed
Chief of Police C. Galatin, who investigated this case, said Robinson had been living in the same tourist camp with Mrs. Crox, who is a resident of the town of Fell. Galatin said Crox was complaining witness in a charge of adultery filed against Robinson and the ordinary hearing was scheduled for next Thursday.

Crox came to this city from Fell today and purchased Christmas gifts for his children, a boy, 4, and a girl, 9, who have remained with their mother. Crox went to the cabin of this wife to deliver the gifts and while there he shot and killed her. Chief Carlson said, whereupon Crox drew a pistol and started shooting.

Robinson was shot in the stomach, back and legs, one of the bullets puncturing one lung. Crox remained at the cabin and surrendered when officers arrived.

Crox was lodged in jail on an open charge pending the outcome of Robinson's condition.

SHORT WHEAT CROP FORECAST FOR 1935

Heavy Abandonment, Low Yields Meet Administration's Hopes

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP)—A winter wheat yield of 476,000,000 bushels in 1935, according to the crop in normal years—was forecast today by the department of agriculture.

The comparatively low production forecast is due to an increased area of 4,300,000 acres planned to winter wheat this year.

Lighter planting of spring wheat also is forecast by the crop reporting board due to a tendency to expand winter wheat acreage in that area in which both winter and spring wheat are planted.

Condition of the crop on December 15 was estimated at 71.2 per cent of normal compared with 74.3 per cent on the same date last year and the 10 year average of 82.4 per cent. Drouth, which scourged the wheat area this year, was held responsible for the poor showing of the crop.

Because of the outlook the board predicted that abandonment of acreage already seeded will be about 18 per cent this year. In 1934 abandonment of 21.3 per cent but is considerably above the 10-year average of 12.3 per cent.

Planting Exceeds Expectations The acreage planted this fall slightly exceeds that expected by the farm administration under its 10 per cent reduction program for 1935. George A. Farrell, chief of the wheat section said, "Expectations were that the acreage would be held to 43,000,000 acres by the signers of voluntary contracts."

However, because of the heavy abandonment and low yields in prospect, the administration hopes will probably be fulfilled. The reported winter sowings for harvest next summer at 4,300,000 acres, an increase of 13.2 per cent over last year. On the basis of this increase, a crop of 33,000,000 bushels was forecast. It is declared, however, that probably much of the increased seeding would be used as fall and spring pasture.

Shirley Temple And Anna Sten Top List Of Stars Hollywood Developed In 1934

By HERBARD KEAYT HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 18—It may be more than a coincidence that during the year which saw Hollywood virtually forced to adopt regulation of its cinematic morals, its biggest development was a five-year-old girl.

Next to Shirley Temple, Anna Sten was the year's most important star.

That 1934 brought few new stars was not because Hollywood was too busy producing its pictures as it was trying out boy acts. The studios were as active as ever in looking for new and star-babe material. They imported, as usual, some new players, drew from the stage and attempted to make stars of still others from the featured ranks. Many were called, but few were chosen by the public.

Six Others Accepted In addition to the Misses Temple and Sten, but six others of the many "new faces" have been generally accepted as stars. These are "Mrs. Moore, Fred Astaire, Henry Willcox, Robert Donat, Francis Lederer, and Joe Penner.

Many stars came to new prominence in pictures during the year just closing. Two of those who are being named are Alma Mackintosh and Guy Kibbee. Both may be full-fledged stars next year. Myrna Loy and Jean Harlow, who were in the 1934 abandonment of 21.3 per cent but is considerably above the 10-year average of 12.3 per cent.

After long preparation, Anna Sten was presented in "Nana" last February. While the Russian girl was being learned, she Alma Mackintosh and Guy Kibbee. Both may be full-fledged stars next year. Myrna Loy and Jean Harlow, who were in the 1934 abandonment of 21.3 per cent but is considerably above the 10-year average of 12.3 per cent.

Astaire Dances to Stardom The stage dancer, Astaire, played two small roles and then the lead in "The Gay Divorcee." The picture "caught on" quickly and so did Astaire. From England came Wilcox as "The Sign of the Cross." American liked him and he is staying. To be starred in other pictures. From England also came Donat to become the star of "The Count of Monte Cristo." He immediately returned to England, unimpressed by American publicity. He verbally advised to return for more films. Lederer's first film, "Man of Two Worlds," released late last year, was unimpressive. But his only one released so far this year—"Pursuit of Happiness"—definitely established him as a star. The "house-to-be" romance in Manhattan probably will clinch his position. From the studio came Joe Penner, to star in "College Rhythm." Response to this musical was such that Penner was immediately signed for further picture roles next year.

Christmas glee will be taken. Men of the year will be given. Miss Virginia Davidson, Gladys Brown, Lor. Grant Harris, Miss Colleen Hill, Miss Faye Hopkins and H. C. Brown.

A mammoth Crystal ball, suspended from the center of the ceiling, caught in its mirrored surface the greens and reds of spot lights and reflected them in mosaic patterns on the ceiling and floor. A dozen "lucky" prizes, crystal fortune-telling balls on black wooden bases, presented to the winners during the intermission, carried out the dance motif.

Big Business Ordered by Government to Disclose Profits, Executives' Pay

Changes, but bought and sold in other ways, will be affected later. Securities Form 10 is the name for much of America's commerce.

The information also will be required on annual basis with respect to each and therefore will cause considerable revision of methods of book-keeping, periodical information for investors.

Require Uniform Information
The rules do not require uniform accounting—that is, methods of recording the information—but, Kennedy said, they do require uniform information and explanation of the accounting methods used.

Much will be shown hereafter about the control of corporations. Each case listed on an exchange must show exactly its relation to other companies. These facts will enable investors to test the strength of a particular company by determining the interests in control.

This matter is further complicated in rules requiring all holders of more than 10 per cent of the company's stock to report their holdings. Such information on an annual basis will permit analysis in shifts of control.

St. Nicholas Gets Help from Scouts

No matter if the toy trains, the tin snips, the solder that your children have outgrown are now covered with rust, or are peeling their paint, and the chairs that show the effects of too many tea parties aren't too far from looking to please some child—after your Scouts have "finished" them.

If you have discarded toys that you would like to contribute as "cheer gifts" to children, you are asked to notify any member of the committee in charge of the Boy Scout "paint up" campaign, and they will be called for, according to Lawrence Lewis.

At this time 500 articles are ready for distribution and more will be completed this week. Repair and painting of the toys has been under the direction of Mr. Vickers of the Nu Emanuel shop and Lawrence Lewis, Junior high school teacher. The toys were donated for reconditioning and painting of the toys. More contributions will be welcome.

"The Value of a Smile at Christmas"

It costs nothing, but creates much. It enriches those who receive without impoverishing those who give. It lingers in a flash and the memory of it sometimes lasts forever. None are so rich that they can get along without it and none so poor but are richer for its benefits. It creates happiness in the home, fosters good will in business and is the counteragent of grief. It is rest to the weary, daylight to the discouraged, sunshine to the sad, and Nature's best antidote for trouble.

Yet it cannot be bought, begged, borrowed, or stolen, for it is something that is no earthly good to anybody till it is given away!

Year Ends With War Threats Worrying World Statesmen

Upward Trade Trend Looked To As Solution

(YEAR-END REVIEW)
By SMITH REAVIS
(Associated Press Foreign Staff)

Statesmen of four continents face 1935 hoping they can avert the threat of a second world war and at the same time develop the sprout of depression recovery into a healthy and revealing plant.

The change from a post-war to a pre-war attitude of governments was noticeable as 1934 gave way to the new year. So were the signs that pointed, if only faintly, to an escape from the bog of stilled trade, world unemployment and armed rivalry.

The armaments race, disguised as "defense preparations," flourishes with huge military budgets adopted all the way to France, Germany, Belgium, Japan and Japan.

Statesmen have revealed their pessimism over the growth of the machinery of war. They deplore the vast armaments of 1934, the death dealing armaments have increased.

Russians are anxious over the forthcoming plebiscite in the Saar Territory to determine the sovereignty of that one-time ally of Germany.

Far East, Japan and Russia have virtually settled the vast question of the Chinese Eastern Railway—once a powder train that might have set off war and slayed men of both sides are agreed that trouble has been averted, for the present at least.

In the field of international diplomacy, Europe seems tending away from the conference idea and back toward the old bilateral agreement and balance of power system.

Economic Hopes Grow
As far as world economies is concerned, many nations are inclined to be more hopeful than ever before.

GOODING TRIP, Dec. 20—Eduo Train of Gooding Trip, Bay Scouts of America, has been recommended by the board of review for a second class award at the Court of Honor to be held here in December 21.

Danger Of Conflict May Be Lessened If Commerce Revived

Although war clouds are still blowing over the world, and armaments are being increased as 1934 ends, statesmen believe that a sprout of international trade will lessen war dangers. They hope for removal of tariffs and recovery from the depression.

Women Fill New Government Jobs, Hold Spotlight With 1934 Activities

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP)—Presented at the women who invaded high public office in 1933 was followed in 1934 by more women finding places in new positions of government responsibility.

The campaign which attracted most notice centered around a woman's name, O'Day in the house as representative-at-large from New York, the first woman to hold the post from that state.

Several "Firsts" chalked up. Politicians generally, and women party leaders particularly, pointed with interest the re-election of Mrs. Alex Miller as secretary of state for Iowa.

Among the women who made the front page in 1934 with their work in governmental fields is Josephine Roche (upper left), Colorado mine operator and first woman to become an assistant secretary of the treasury.

Virginia Van Wie Voted Outstanding Feminine Star

Golf Titleholder Is Rated Above Tennis Champion

Winner Receives 177 Points to 131 for Helen Jacobs; Votes for Pro Athlete Feature of Annual Poll

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 (AP)—Virginia Van Wie's all-conquering march through the golfing year, including her third successive national women's title, today brought her the added distinction of being voted 1934's outstanding feminine sports star.

Thirty-seven of 102 experts voting in the fourth annual Associated Press poll decided that the feat in winning the U. S. Women's 72-hole medal derby and national titles and her matches against Great Britain in Curtis Cup competition rated her above Helen Hull Jacobs, the national tennis champion; Lenore Knight, Katharine Lewis and other prominent women of the year.

Receives 177 Points. In all Miss Van Wie picked up 177 points for 131 for Helen Jacobs, who won the award in 1933; 99 for Miss Knight and 72 for Miss Lewis. Miss Van Wie's outstanding performance, which gained her first place votes than Miss Jacobs—19 to 16—but the latter was selected more often in crowd and this year. Votes were accorded three for first, two for second and one for third.

A surprising result of the poll was the number of votes for Althea "Babe" Ditzkron, who turned professional last year.

Divided as to sports, golf headed the list with five representatives, followed by tennis and swimming, four each, field hockey and trap, shooting one each.

Buhl Indians Win Over Ferry Teams

Boys Capture 30-17 Victory and Girls Stage Rally to Conquer, 26-23

GLENN'S FERRY, Dec. 20.—Stunning victory for the Buhl Indians in their way to a last final victory over Orville Hull's Glenn Ferry court players, the Indians of Buhl came and went here tonight to leave the Ferry men nursing the short end of a 30 to 17 count.

The Ferry team played the Indians on almost even terms during the opening quarters and the score was tied in knots on several occasions. The half ended 13-11 in favor of the Indians. Then came the Buhl landslide which did the Ferry outfit almost totally under. Led by Ed Kerp, flashy center, the Indians began clicking and that spelled certain victory.

Cope of the Ferry was the high point scorer of the game with 11 points and Kerp was high with 10. In the preliminary game the Ferry girls dropped a close one to the Buhl girls, 20 to 23. Until the last two minutes of play the local girls were in the lead, but the final victory brought the invaders out in front as the whistle ended the contest at the half was 20 to 12 for the Ferry girls. Lacy of Buhl was high with 11 points and Kerp of the Ferry was second with 10.

Summary: GLENN'S FERRY (19) Adkins, L.F. (17) Morgan Popplewell, R.F. (15) Loran Kerp, C. (12) Bergstrom Daughman, L.G. (10) Cooper Winegar, E.C. (10) Clunkinghard Substitutions: Buhl—Karp, Hopfer News and Boys; Glenn—Ferry—Sellman, Lowery, Shrum, Robertson and Allen.

Cars Ready for Qualifying Trials

21 Racing Autos Tuned Up in Preparation for Dirt Track Event

INGLEWOOD, Cal., Dec. 20 (AP)—A battalion of mechanics who have been playing nurse-maid to 21 racing automobiles for two weeks and more, tonight buckled down the hoods and pronounced their temperamental charges ready for tomorrow's Sunday speed trials in the 30-mile dirt track race to be held here qualifying.

American Automobile association officials said tonight only a few of the drivers will reach the treacherous, mile-and-a-half course tomorrow. The majority will qualify Saturday.

Very much of the center of interest is "Wild Bill" Cummings, winner of the 1933 Indianapolis classic, and top driver in the point standings of the American Automobile association.

That includes players, franchise, leases and a dozen minor league clubs.

RUSSSELLVILLE, Ark., Dec. 20 (AP)—Paul "Daffy" Dean, pitching star of the St. Louis Cardinals, tonight was married to Miss Dora Gandy, 19-year-old local beauty contest winner.

Their marriage culminated a two-month courtship which ended as Paul Dean returned from his and his brother "Dizzy's" conquest of the Detroit Tigers in the west.

His bride, while "Daffy" was in Port Smith, said they would join "Dizzy" in California, where he is for their honeymoon.

EMORY ZIMMERMAN Shatters Par by Two Strokes in Qualifying Round

By PAUL ZIMMERMAN (Associated Press Sports Writer) BROOKSIDE PARK, PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 20.—Emory Zimmerman, youthful champion of the year, of the Northwest today to anchor par by two strokes with a 69 and had three birdies and pars the rest of the way to offset this angle.

The kind Portland, Ore., pro Washington open champion and runner-up in the Oregon P. O. A. little event, missed a three-foot putt on the fourth hole to take his only five of the round and thereby prevented the chalking up of a 68. He had three birdies and pars the rest of the way to offset this angle.

Tied for second, with 70's, were Dick Meek, Chicago, and Al Mangrum, Los Angeles, and Harold MacSpadden, Kansas City, Mo.

Five-Way Tie. As he also reported for fifth place at Art Kreuger, Beloit, Wis.; Frank Williams, local pro, Sam Parks, Pittsburg, Ark.; and MacDonal Smith, Tex., a technical knockout in the fourth round to take his only five of the round and thereby prevented the chalking up of a 68.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP)—Joe Rivers, 126, San Bernardino, Cal., won a technical knockout in the fourth round to take his only five of the round and thereby prevented the chalking up of a 68.

NEW YORKERS WINS. TORONTO, Dec. 20 (AP)—Lou Sales of New York punched out a ten-round decision over Carlos Santos of Cuba in the world championship bantamweight boxing tournament here tonight. Sales weighed 117 pounds; Santos 117 1/2.

KILLED BY STEER'S KICK. OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 20.—William Baum, 51, a cattle salesman, killed in the leg by a steer at the Omaha stockyards in August, died today from complications resulting from the injury. He was a native of Snyder, Nebraska.

Can't Eat Money! It would seem then, if Cronin's sale price is a fair valuation for baseball stars, that someone is missing a tremendous opportunity to make a big profit out of the baseball business. You could buy the Cardinals and at a considerable profit. Cronin's sale price is at least that. Even with one out on the ball club, the franchise still would be worth at least $250,000. The Cardinals own hundreds of young ball players, many of them potential stars. Other clubs would pay handsomely. Then there are the dozens of minor league properties that go to make the far-flung Cardinals farm system.

Using Cronin as a measuring stick, it would seem that the Cardinals oil millionaire who definitely has withdrawn from the deal by which he was to buy the Cardinals, stepped out in a highly attractive proposition. There have been reports that Breton wanted to sell the Cardinals for $2,000,000. The figure on the check for Cronin, is valued for by experts. Nothing, of course, is more valuable than his words to the purchaser, and under that analysis, the figure on the Cardinals shrinks

Biff Jones Not Interested in Offer to Coach Louisiana State's Former Mentor

Answers Rumors of Transfer After Run-In With Senator Long

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 20 (AP)—Captain Lawrence "Biff" Jones, who refused an offer to coach Louisiana State university this week after a "run in" with Senator Huey P. Long, said today that he was not interested in any offer to coach football anywhere.

Answers rumors of his transfer to other coaching assignment, Coach Jones said he hoped to get the "Purp" leave with effect in two years assignment; that was offered me "last summer."

Whether or not Jones' refusal would definitely stop reported movements at Northwestern university, Mississippi State college, and elsewhere, where he has coached, former West Point mentor's services are being sought, was a matter of conjecture.

Two New Champions Offer High Spots In 1934 Boxing

EDITOR'S NOTE—This article, dealing with boxing, is the fifth in a series reviewing outstanding achievements in the world of sports during the past year.

By EDWARD J. NEEL (Associated Press Sports Writer) NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—Champions tumbled like acrobats in a vaudeville show as they celebrated the year 1934 with a concentration of thrills in a few high places, leaving the game to stagger deplorably to the lowest level in many years, the remainder of the time.

Max Baer, the ring's modern King Kong, turned the highlight with his 11 round technical knockout of Primo Camera in Madison Square Garden.

Coach of Indian Team Looks for Interesting Game

Bobby Grayson's Appearance Brings New Inspiration; Two-Hour Session Marks End of Examinations

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Dec. 20 (AP)—For the first time since the regular football practice season closed, Stanford's big red machine put on full steam ahead today. School books were laid aside and from now until New Year's day and the Hoop Bowl game with Alabama, the sons of the Stanford Red will major in the subject of "advancing the game."

Coach C. E. "Tim" Thornhill celebrated the end of the final examination period by sending his loundered coaches through a 2-hour workout.

For the third day since he went out of the California game (Hornby) he was back on the bench. Bobby Grayson, barman of the attack, followed the team. His appearance has brought new inspiration to the squad, which as late as last week numbered seven injured and ailing. Only Stan Anderson, star replacement for Grayson, remains in a weakened condition, recovering slowly from a severe cold.

Relief from examinations, took a mental load off the backs of the gridiron men but they took on a physical burden that would have opened the eyes of Alabama coaches. Thornhill studied new reports on Alabama's gridiron leadership. "There is no doubt they have a well balanced attack," he said. "Their line is bigger than ours; according to the figures, but we have the heavier backs. In pounds, anyway, the team should stand about the same."

"The way I've got this thing figured out they're going to try to run the ball against us first. I think they'll find out they are just wasting their time. Then they'll cut loose with the pass. I think we will be ready for the 'steroid' game. I think it will be an interesting game."

Committee Explains. After deciding that Sopwith, and not Vanderbilt, had made the wrong call in the disputed start, the committee further explained that Endeavor's protest covering the landing incident at the first buoy could have come before the committee either, since one of the yachts would have had to be disqualified prior to the start if the protest had been considered at all.

The report contained all the correspondence between the committee and Sopwith and Vanderbilt. It said the committee was told that his protests could not be considered because he had failed to raise his protest until 3 hours after the first 15-hour run on September 22, and 1 1/2 hours after the second.

HORSE INSPECTION PROJECT LAUNCHED

F.F.A. Invites Farmers to Bring Stock to Clinic Here Saturday

Members of Twin Falls chapter, Future Farmers, cooperating with M. M. Daniels of the Union Livestock company and Dr. R. E. Groomer, are sponsoring a horse clinic tomorrow at the Twin Falls stock yards.

The idea for the project originated from an article written by Dr. Oldow, University of Idaho, who states that the plan has proved practical and beneficial to farmers. In the midwestern states, Dr. Groomer states that the farmers of the Idaho Falls section have tried the plan and have approved it highly.

The committee in charge of the project includes Coopers, Charles Cowell, Lake Black, Allen Edwards, Jack Blom. The purpose of the horse clinic is to make it possible for farmers to cooperate in having their horses examined and treated at small cost; to make it possible for horses to be brought to the clinic at less expense and be in better condition for work in the spring.

Rules of Clinic

The following rules have been announced by the committee:

1—Horses must be brought to the stock yards Saturday morning.

2—Horses to be examined should not be fed for 24 hours before treatment.

3—No charge for examinations will be made, but if horses are treated for worms, bots or teeth, a charge will be made, ranging from 50 cents to $1.00.

Scales will be available for anyone wishing to weigh his horse or horses, according to the plan, who further announces that there may be some opportunity for horse-trading, judging and even some good old-fashioned horse-shoe pitching.

All farmers are invited to take advantage of this cooperative service.

RESTAURANTS DEAL WITH LIQUOR ISSUE

State-Wide Organization Meeting Drafts Own Program

BOISE, Dec. 20 (AP)—The restaurant man's program for liquor control in Idaho was worked out here today at a meeting called by the Idaho Restaurant association.

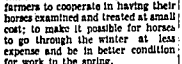

The delegates, coming from all parts of southern Idaho, were on record in favor of women working in restaurants where wines and cocktails are sold, declaring that a restaurant where women cannot be employed is not fit for the sale of liquor.

Other resolutions were that a restaurant must show that at least 90 per cent of its business is coming from food sales, that only liquors bought on the premises can be consumed in restaurants and that guests-of-house-and-restaurants should be allowed to purchase liquors with or without meals.

H. D. Mix of Burley was elected president of the association and George Cordus of Boise was chosen secretary-treasurer. J. Howard Cooper of Twin Falls was elected first vice president; E. W. Rummelfield of Boise, second vice president; Gilbert Griffin of Idaho Falls, third vice president; George Nelson of Lewiston, fourth vice president. The board of governors is composed of Harry Stiefeld of Post-cello, Raymond Peterson of Payette, D. J. Gergen of Glenns Ferry, and H. M. Chesborough of Caldwell.

As a final bit of business the delegates commended the state liquor control committee for its work.
