Judges In Roles Of Santa Claus Make Boy Happy

WILMINGTON, Del., Dec. 22 (AP)—Jimmy Alliano, 7, found Santa Claus in the county courthouse today.

A pathetic little figure in a baby's overalls, he was peering into the court clerk's office. Coleman stopped him.

"I'm looking for the judge who sends people to jail," Jimmy said. "My mama is in jail and I want her home for Christmas."

Coleman took him to Judge David Reinhardt and Richard B. Rodney. They remembered the mother—sentenced to three months in jail for selling her child for illegal possession of a gallon of liquor.

"I saw my mama yesterday," the boy told the judge. "She was sick and she cried to come home."

The judges sent for the mother and released her. A few minutes later the boy was in her arms, and she was crying.

"Oh, boy," he shouted. "Now we'll get that big tree."

Judges and officials contributed to help the boy buy his mother a Christmas present and sent them home rejoicing.

PRESIDENT'S AIDES DISAGREE ON FUNDS FOR PUBLIC WORKS

Amounts of Projected Federal Spending Suggested by Advisors Range From 3 to 9 Billion Dollars

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—A six billion dollar difference in opinion over the amount that should be spent for public works next year was reported today to exist among presidential advisers.

The amounts of projected spending pressed upon the president varied from three billion dollars, or even less, to nine billion dollars.

"There is a fairly general agreement, in the absence of more than a broad hint from President Roosevelt on the subject, that this was one of the areas that so far had been left blank in his message to an open door through which industry might march to tackle the unemployment problem.

If such a plan were followed, he said, the work would be left open for greatly expanding the work program should there be no pick-up in private industry. By so doing, he said, the president would be leaving an open door through which industry might march to tackle the unemployment problem.

Nazidom Flaunts Swastika Over Four Nations' Troops Marching Into Saar Basin

GERMANY, FRANCE, LUXEMBOURG. METZ, SAARBRÜCKEN, STRASSBURG.

Striking Display Of Fore Backs League Decision

Britain, Italy, Holland and Sweden Send Soldiers to Insure Peaceful Plebiscite; Recalls War Times

(Copyright, 1934, by The Associated Press)
SAARBRÜCKEN, Saar Basin Territory, Dec. 22.—Foreign troops occupied German soil once again tonight, bringing back memories of the post-war determination that the plebiscite January 13—at which Saarlanders vote to remain under League of Nations control or join France—must be peaceful.

Simultaneously with their arrival began the four-day political truce called the League of Nations governing commission in an effort to keep the territory quiet over Christmas.

France Holds Aloof
The soldiers, almost 5,000 of them this time, crossed the German border with the German government's permission, but Nazis in the Saar, were remonstrated by leaders who withholding old-fashioned German hospitality while their great pride of nations' decision is international affairs.

The troops, pouring into the Saar from before dawn until after dark, were reinforcements of the British and Belgium occupation of the Rhine after the World War. There were no French troops along this time. Pierre Laval, anxious for peace, had told the League France would not send troops.

The last detachments of the Rhine occupation forces left the Saar December 19.

Tommy Is Holiday Mood
The final British contingent, cracking jokes while marching in perfect file behind its band, paraded in narrow main street of Saarbrücken under a starry sky. It succeeded with its good humor in thawing out the frozen faces of some of the Saarlanders.

Thousands of Nazi flags, however, were flaunting their swastika above the heads of the marching Tommies, apparently in defiance of the League order forbidding display of any insignia after today.

The refusal of fore backing the Geneva decision to keep the Saar quiet during the voting was imprudent.

Shortly after dawn 15 Italian light tanks rumbled through the streets, followed quickly by Queen Wilhelmina's army cars and other military trucks. Great Britain's big batch of troops came next, in trains and motor cars. They were led by Mussolini's own grand and colorful carabinieri, one battalion of each.

REG'S ROAD MAY ESCAPE TAXATION

Serious Situation Threatens Colorado Counties and School Districts

DENVER, Dec. 22 (AP)—The possibility the Moffat railroad will be exempt from taxation under a new set-up in which the Reconstruction Finance Corporation has taken title to Moffat stock was tonight by John R. Seaman, chairman of the Colorado tax commission.

If the line is exempted Seaman said it would create a serious situation for counties and school districts in which the Moffat is the largest taxpayer.

Federal property is exempt from taxation by the state and local governments, Seaman said. "With the title of Moffat stock in the hands of the RFC, which is a federal

MANCHOUKUO NARS RUSSIAN INVADERS

Japan Hears Soviet Seeks to Avoid Bloodshed in Border Clash

TOKYO, Dec. 22 (AP)—Rengo (Japanese) news agency disclosed today that Russian invaders in Manchoukuo were seeking to avert bloodshed after Soviet military troops invaded Manchoukuo from Siberia.

The troops, asserted to have crossed the border near Tunghua, 50 miles south of Suifu, were surrounded by Manchoukuo troops and their communications cut in an effort to check their further advance.

The dispatches said Soviet authorities had asked Manchoukuo to allow the Russian soldiers to retire with their arms.

PARAGUAY PREPARES FOR CRUCIAL CLASH

Likelihood of Christmas Truce Fades; Bolivia Railios Forces

From all directions Paraguayan columns were closing in on Villa Montes, Bolivia's central army base, and the La Paz government maintained its position in several sectors, asserting its defenses were impassible.

Meanwhile, advice from Assunção said officials doubted the feasibility of any truce, such as that suggested by the Vatican pointing out that both armies were spread over such a wide front that the armistice would be tactically impractical.

La Paz reported General Jose Zúñiga, Paraguayan commander-in-chief, was preparing to strike at Villa Montes, while Assunção reports said Bolivia was making men and munitions in several sectors and entirely making ready for an impending counter offensive.

With minor skirmishes reported in other sectors, the Bolivian army units, each comprising one entire army corps, moved toward Villa Montes.

Outcome of the major engagements was not clear, but it depended on the situation and strength of the Bolivian defenses and the use they made of the time since their crushing defeat at Cancha El Carame and Ballivian to strengthen their position. An advance report with Bolivia was the fact that her troops are close to their supply bases.

An attempt to quiet the dog failed and Mrs. De Witt finally got out of bed to let the dog out of the room. As she opened the bedroom door she heard an explosion and strange gas and smoke filled the rest of the house. They managed to escape from the bedroom which was destroyed by the fire.

BONUS COMPROMISE WOULD PAY BILLION

Administration Considers New Scheme to Avert Full Payment

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—A new scheme to pay the bonus, which would result in the payment of $1,000,000,000 in cash...

The proposition calls for the certificates to be paid in 1935 and the balance to be paid in 1936...

On the basis of the certificates would be paid for a maturity of 17 years, instead of 20 as proposed in the Palmán bill.

Advocates of the plan argue that if the date of the certificates were moved back to the end of the World War, veterans would receive all but three years of interest on the certificates if they were paid in 1935.

Some of those who favor the proposal outlined the situation thus: "The average certificate is around $100 and 60 per cent of the certificates already have been borrowed 50 per cent of the total value."

Under the present plan, the government would borrow $200 on a thousand dollar certificate—would receive about $100 in cash.

It is roughly figured that this would cost about $1,200,000,000 which would save the government $1,000,000,000.

Conservative Expert's Action Figures on the actual cost, however, are being compiled by the Veterans Bureau at Washington.

Palman (D-Tex.) said that the time to discuss compromise is in the hands of the president.

They had recognized that unemployment was the outstanding problem before the country and that business alone could not supply a cure. It is this government had a large responsibility and that agriculture and labor would play a part in the solution. In general, the White Sulphur conference expressed a dislike for excessive public works expenditures. There remained some dispute, however, over the amount of spending it would consider excessive. Amounts ranging upward to nine billion dollars were proposed some time ago by Bellef Administration Hopkins and Secretary Ickes. Secretary Roper and some other members of the cabinet are known to favor a sum as low as possible. The national resources board mentioned sums ranging from two and a half to five billion dollars. 1935 diaries and calendars are on display at the Cloc Book Store.—Adv.

A number of incidents along the border between Asiatic Russia and the new Japanese-sponsored kingdom in Manchuria have served to keep tension in the far east high during the last year. As recently as October 1, the Japanese military command in Manchuria reported to the Tokyo government it planned to protest to the Soviet an exchange of rifle fire between Soviet and Japanese troops along the eastern border of Manchukuo. That border has long been in dispute, and the month before Manchukuo, in an official complaint to the Soviet, reported that Japanese troops (Russians occupied an island) at the conference of the Amur and Ussuri rivers and Japanese troops along the eastern border of Manchukuo.

Outstanding entertainments of the week include the community Christmas entertainment and tree sponsored by the Eden Parent-Teacher association held at the high school Thursday evening and attended by a large crowd. The program was presented by the students of the grade and high schools. Numbers furnished by the high school consisted of musical selections by the band and the boys and girls' chorus. The grade school then presented a Christmas opera, that gave practically every student some active part. It was one of the best Yuletide spectacles to be staged here for some time. Mrs. Snider, Miss Spencer, and Miss Marie Teater had charge of the presentation of the opera, which was held at the school at the piano. Many of the individual dances drew great applause. Following the program Santa Claus arrived to assist with the distribution of a liberal treat of candy, nuts and oranges.

THIS WINTER STOP SLUDGE BEFORE IT STARTS

TWO NEW WINTER GRADES [10-W-20-W]

ISO-VIS "D" Anti-Sludge Motor Oil

Sludge forms faster in winter than in summer. Don't let it get a start in your motor this winter. Right now is the time to drain out summer-grade oil and refill with new Iso-Vis "D" Anti-Sludge Motor Oil. And now you can get it in two new winter grades, 10-W and 20-W. 10-W pours at 20° below zero, 20-W at 5° below.

These winter-grades of Iso-Vis "D" are especially formulated to make cold-weather starting easier than ever. They give your motor free play, and instant, positive lubrication, with the first spin of the starter.

You're safe, too, after your motor warms up. These winter grades of Iso-Vis "D" resist best as well as cold—no dangerous thinning out in the heat of high-speed driving. And always remember—Iso-Vis "D" will not sludge!

TIME TO DRAIN AND REFILL

* Of course these new winter grades meet the latest recommendations of motor car manufacturers for easy-starting winter oil. But that's not all—the general effect of the growing protest against offensive sex and crime should be good financially as well as morally.

8 SHORT MINUTES AND YOU'RE SET FOR COLD WEATHER. It takes only 8 minutes to drain out old summer-grade oil and refill with fresh winter-grade Iso-Vis "D" at our Stations. Stop in and have it. Done now, then let winter come!

WE'RE SORRY

Again The News calls attention to the fact that unsigned communications cannot and will not be published. Anonymous letters of a critical sort are no more justifiable when published by a newspaper than when mailed direct to the intended object.

NEWSPAPER ERRORS

Yes, newspapers make mistakes. There is no concealing the fact, because the errors themselves are spread where all the world may see them.

Probably not. Frank R. Kent of the Baltimore Sun, speaking at William and Mary College, makes a striking statement of the case, which may interest readers as much as it interests newspaper men.

"In no business and in no profession, save that of the pure scientist," he declares, "is the premium on accuracy so high, the penalty for inaccuracy so prompt, and the proportion of accuracy so great."

"There isn't a newspaper man anywhere who does not know that, trivial though his error may be, some one will catch it. Even when it escapes the watchful editorial eye, even when no one in the office picks it up, even when he, himself, is unaware of it, there are still the old subscribers—thousands of them—vigilant, alert, aggressive, resentful, eager to put their finger on the editor and communicate with the editor and 'show' him that the public is not so easily fooled."

"These old subscribers in my judgment are by far the most valuable asset a newspaper can have. Their militant, microscopic scrutiny is the finest positive corrective influence."

ROAST: Labor men have scored on Donald Richberg, who heads the National Emergency Council and is called "assistant president" in connection with his duties as chief coordinator of the New Deal.

PLANT: Washington's political and society leaders are intrigued at the moment with a "Town Hall" movement which meets periodically and presents competent speakers on controversial subjects.

PROFIT: Almost every Republican, conservative and reactionary, who evaded his name in the papers, has been mentioned in the movement.

TOP: The inside story of how Nye is to become chairman of the Republican National Committee on the part of the party is being taken seriously.

IF YOU ARE PLANNING A COUNTRY PLACE FOR NEXT SUMMER: The bungalow shows above will suit almost any waterfront property.

GLORIA VANDERBILT AT MOTHER'S HOME

Court Decree Divides Christmas Holidays for Child Heiress

NEW YORK, Dec. 22 (AP)—Little Gloria Vanderbilt slept tonight in her mother's home for the first time in two months.

Whisked in shortly before noon from the country home of her aunt, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, the 10-year-old heiress paused only briefly at Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt's house in 72nd street.

Little Gloria wanted to see the Christmas things in the shops.

With her mother she left almost immediately for a tour of the crowded stores.

Seemingly with laughter, in one Fifth avenue establishment, the child raced from one toy display to another, cooing in among other youngsters to fondle an attractive doll, to climb on a toy merry-go-round, to take a punch at a punching bag.

"Look, here, mommy," she shouted, Mrs. Vanderbilt smiled.

The prospect of Gloria's arrival for her first visit with Mrs. Vanderbilt under a supreme court decree aroused the whole neighborhood in the last few days. For weeks a crowd waited outside the house, curious to see how the mother and daughter would appear.

Escorted by Retina Copey, at a little after 11 o'clock, the child arrived and jumped from the car. Detectives, policemen, chauffeurs and a nurse escorted her into the house.

Inside, in the hall, she was greeted by Mrs. Vanderbilt. Soon, little Gloria was seen filling a room with a window on the second floor.

"This is a sacred occasion for me," said Mrs. Vanderbilt. "We are going to stay at home."

Little Gloria, however, had other ideas. For soon the Vanderbilt car was ordered out and the child started on their afternoon's excursion.

The decree of Supreme Court Justice John F. Carey, who heard Mrs. Vanderbilt's habeas corpus suit, gave principal custody of the child to Mrs. Whitney, but provided she should spend week-ends, Christmas and the month of July with her mother.

Gloria will remain at the Vanderbilt home until tomorrow at sundown, spend Monday with Mrs. Whitney, and return to her mother on Tuesday.

CREAMERY OPERATORS ASSEMBLE JANUARY 2

CALDWELL, Dec. 22—Members of the Idaho Creamery Operators' association will assemble here Wednesday, January 2, for the annual convention, which is scheduled to get under way at 9:30 a. m.

A number of matters of interest to the industry are on the program. At the morning session A. E. Engstrom, regional consultant of the dairy section, will talk on the butter code and Professor D. R. Theophilus, of the University of Idaho, will discuss causes and control measures of sticky and crumbly butter.

George M. Tucker, director of the dairymen bureau, opens the afternoon meeting with a lecture on the quality improvement program in Idaho. A demonstration regarding the determination of extraneous matter in butter, cream, salt and water will follow. A cream grading demonstration precedes the regular business meeting.

During the latter part of the afternoon employees of licensed creamery, cheese and ice cream plants will compete in a butter judging contest. A dairy products show, in which each operator is urged to take part, offers a unique feature of this year's convention. Letters calling attention to this exhibit have been sent to all interested parties.

IDAHO BAR ADMITS TWO NEW ATTORNEYS

BOISE, Dec. 22 (AP)—Gordon Gray of Gooding, official court reporter of the Fourth judicial district and son of the late Ben Gray of Halley, and William E. Garblitt of Boise, Twin Falls City, have been admitted to practice before the Idaho bar. Sam S. Griffin, secretary of the bar commission, announced today.

Gray's father was one of the conspicuous figures in the Democratic party of Idaho a quarter of a century ago, and occupied various state and county public positions. He was the Idaho Democratic national committeeman several years.

Young Gray was formerly president of the student body at the University of Idaho southern branch at Pocatello.

WOOL CROP SALES PUSHED BY GROWERS

F. R. Marshall Sees "Reasonably Good" Marketing Season Ahead

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 22 (AP)—A "reasonably good" marketing season for the country's wool growers was predicted today by F. R. Marshall, secretary of the National Wool Growers' association.

This is in the face of the fact that about 25,000,000 pounds of wool was still unsold December 22 and that 60 per cent of the 1934 clip apparently will be carried over into 1935, he said.

"It thus gives a total probable carry-over of about two-thirds of all the amounts used in 1923 for all purposes except production of carpets," Mr. Marshall said. "At the present rate, this carry-over will be materially reduced by the time shearing becomes general in 1935."

"With continued or increasing mill activity, 'relatively reasonable' can be expected, the 1923 season would be reasonably good, but the volume of the carry-over is not so serious on an active market. It would confidence in consumers would cause larger consumer buying with advantage to the wool market."

Wool Stores Expected

A market rise in prices cannot be expected, however, unless foreign markets around advanced, as they may do. In that case, American mill activity could continue with wool prices charged to correspond with foreign prices and the import duty.

Mr. Marshall revealed that the National Wool Growers' association has asked the secretary of war to let contracts for supplies of woolen materials while wool prices are favorable to purchasers, and also as a means of creating employment in textile factories. He said the army's reserve supply of clothing and other woolen goods has been reduced through losses to CCC camps.

New cold-proof Vico motor oil is specially refined for cold weather. There are two new winter grades for modern motors — 10-W, that flows at 20° below zero; and 20-W that flows at 5° below. It makes it easier for your battery to turn the engine over. It stays liquid when cold. Yet it has the "body" to stand up under heat as your motor warms up.

Pep 88 winter gasoline helps the good cause along by starting at the first spark. Choking is minimized, Crankcase dilution is practically eliminated. In addition Pep 88 gives you all the advantages of high anti-knock performance and maximum mileage. It's a real superfuel—at price of regular gasoline.

There's a Pep 88-Vico station in your neighborhood. Drive in for cold-weather motor service, including greasing, radiator anti-froze, Atlas tires and batteries

IDAHO'S KILOWATT TAX YIELD GROWS

Power Users Pay $204,396 First 11 Months of Current Year

LOUIS OCEAN—NOVEMBER CANA, AND THEN—THE PHILIPPINES!

As they are in time for church services, the twins go to the village mission house. Betty notices that the "music" plays the melody barefoot. Everyone joins in the hymns and during the service chickens, pigs and dogs drift in and out of the open doors. The people who live on neighboring smaller islands come with boatloads of breadwork, pottery and mushroom hats.

The men brace their fighters' fists to town for no Philippine holiday is complete without cockfights. The birds are fed from three stoves and all think the birds are very excited. But Betty is more interested in an old Pedro the clown who sings comic songs and he finishes away on his equally violent. Old Pedro moves all of the townfolk to his home.

A live goat, strung up by its feet over the roadway squeals and flutters as young men of the village and by on horses and try to grab it by the neck. Everyone laughs when they miss. Bill and Betty stroll around and see a battle between Moro puppet warriors with ends with cheers of "Patani" as one fighter, kills the other. Tomorrow the twins will fly home.

LACK OF CASH NOT COUNTY'S PROBLEM

Twin Falls Makes Advance Payments on State Tax Bill

Lack of ready cash to meet officially submitted expenditures is no cause for concern in Twin Falls county, Frank J. Smith, county auditor, said last evening.

His attention was called to a list recently made public of other Idaho counties that had paid their 1933 state tax bill in full.

"Twin Falls county not only has paid all of its 1933 state tax bill, but we have already sent $10,000 advance payment on account of 1934 state taxes to the state treasurer's office, and within a few days we will make another advance payment," he said.

"Twin Falls county's 1933 tax bill totaled $19,277.15, of which $7,247.26 was the ad valorem levy; $17,132.27, general interest and sinking fund; $8,479.21 public building fund; and $18,912.34 highway and other special levies.

Receipts Run High

The county has no bonded debt except a small amount remaining unpaid on account of the Hansen bridge, and this debt is being paid first. It becomes due within the county's share of motor vehicle license fees.

Advance payment of state taxes, Mr. Smith explained, is one way of handling an accumulation of cash that runs into big figures during tax paying periods.

During the past several days, immediately preceding the expiration yesterday of the payment period for the first half of 1934 taxes without penalty, receipts at the county treasurer's office exceeded by approximately $2000 the receipts of the preceding year.

Historic Lawsuit Recalled In Pioneer Woman's Death

Kate Cecilia Bedal's Successful Fight for Inheritance Marks High Light in Colorful Career

Daughter of an early day Idaho gold miner and adopted when an infant by O. F. Johnson who accumulated a fortune in the cattle business, Mrs. Kate Cecilia Bedal died Sunday last week at her home near Hagerman, leaving a leading role in one of Idaho's most colorful lawsuits when she waged a successful fight in the courts about 15 years ago in support of her claim to the Johnson estate.

Records of that lawsuit, including the testimony of three court witnesses dealing with incidents over a period of a half-century, reveal the romance of an Idaho pioneer, and form one of the most intensely interesting contributions to Idaho's legal annals.

There is set forth in these records in simple, lucid language the story of the contest between two women—one the adopted daughter and the other Johnson's third wife, Mrs. Nellie Payne Johnson. The fortune that Johnson accumulated in the years following 1858 when he was recognized as a western artist of note.

precocious existence as a prospector, had fallen for some months to pay the Johnsons for care of the child. There were few women in Idaho at that time and the Johnsons' roadside home was a haven for the motherless babe, that the father could not provide elsewhere.

During trial of the suit which Mrs. Bedal brought to establish her claim to the estate, there was produced in evidence the record of a special act of the Idaho territorial legislature in 1878 setting forth the adoption of the child by the Johnsons. The legislative act of adoption was signed by Johnson, who was one of the attorneys for Mrs. Johnson at the trial, and he also had been a member of the legislature which passed the act of adoption. Mrs. Johnson was represented also by Judge J. H. Richards, one of Idaho's pioneer jurists, the case for Mrs. Bedal being presented by Richard Johnson, son of a former Idaho attorney general and a schoolmate of Mrs. Bedal in Boise.

The late H. F. Daigne presided at the trial in the district court at Pocatello, and the case was now associated with his brother, Orr Chapman, in the practice of law in Twin Falls, was court reported.

The district court's decree awarded the estate, that was valued at approximately $300,000, to Mrs. Bedal. She won again as respondent on appeal to the state supreme court which gave her all of the property except such part as had been accumulated by Johnson and his wife subsequent to their marriage in 1858.

Colorful Character

A native of Tennessee where he was born in 1872, the legal records show Johnson joined the gold rush to California in 1849 and thereafter moved to Oregon. He was known as "Doc" Johnson when he and his young wife, Rosanna, came to Horseshoe Bend. Operation of the roadside home was a haven for the motherless babe, that the father could not provide elsewhere.

one son, who died prior to Johnson's third marriage in 1918 to his housekeeper, Nellie Payne Johnson, who became Mrs. Bedal's opponent in the contest for the estate.

Johnson died in February, 1917, and was survived by 20 natural children.

There was introduced in evidence a will that Johnson purportedly executed in February, 1906, bequeathing to the adopted daughter $50,000, and leaving the remainder of the estate to Nellie Payne and the son of his second wife.

This instrument the courts found to be of no consequence in the face of the oral agreement between the father-in-law of the motherless child and the motherless child's father.
