Republicans Consider Abandonment of Indirect Assault

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—Amid budding Republican plans for 1934, word came from informed sources today that middle western hardians had been urged to prepare the way for a direct campaign against President Roosevelt.

Instead of assailing him by indictment, and denouncing "new deal" campaigns, as was done in the off-year campaigns of 1934, Republicans familiar with the plans for the middle western meeting said they hoped that from it would proceed a drive against the president himself.

While they declined to be quoted, they said there was hope among them that the forthcoming meeting at Kansas City in May would bring out some 25,000 persons to substantiate either directly or indirectly on government funds; the so-called registration of industry, and the New York relief bill.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 2 (AP)—The national executive committee of the American Legion tonight voted unanimously to urge passage by congress of a soldiers' bonus bill which includes no other question than immediate payment of the adjusted service certificates.

The Patman bill provides for the issuance of $2,200,000,000 worth of new money in addition to payment of the adjusted service certificates. The Vinson bill contains no provisions other than those for the payment of the bonus. The matter of raising the money is left to the government.

STRATEGY MAPPED ON SECURITY BILL

Roosevelt Declines to Accept Responsibility for Details

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—House Democratic leaders set themselves tonight for a stiff and wary struggle next week over the social security bill.

As they attempted to decide whether their "tag rule" procedure should be used to prevent amendments to the measure, house Republicans gathered at a special conference to map their voting attitude toward the sure-to-be-controverted measure.

Further complicating the situation was the fast-spreading word that President Roosevelt had declined to accept personal responsibility for the present phrasing of the bill, approved today by the house ways and means committee.

Democratic members of the committee had attempted to win his approval for every dotted "i" and crossed "t" in the hope that that would enable them to apply a no-amendment rule on the floor. But one high party leader said today he had been advised that the president declined to do that.

Endorsed in Principle Mr. Roosevelt's attitude, as outlined by that leader—who asked that his name not be used—was that he stood for only the broader phases of the social insurance and would not endorse any particular bill and that it be passed without change.

Consequently, the highest Democratic leaders forecast there would be trouble forcing the house to accept a "tag rule."

But compromise, insistent upon the no-amendment rule, expressed fear as to their ability to cope with the situation.

As the bill now stands it provides:

1. Old age pensions for the needy, to which the federal government will contribute a maximum of $15 a month on a 50-50 matching basis with the states;

2. Old age annuities, available after 1942, to workers who, with their employers, have paid payroll and earnings taxes for five years;

3. A federal system of excise or payroll taxes designed to force states to set up unemployment insurance systems;

4. Various minor authorizations of appropriations for child welfare, public health, a national rehabilitation, crippled children and maternal and child aid.

Reprimand Sought For Mexican Agents

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—A demand that the state department reprimand two Mexican consuls who were charged with anti-religious activities in this country was made today by Representative McCormack (D-Mass.).

At the same time, the house foreign affairs committee asked Chairman McLaughlin (D-Tenn.) to determine the department's attitude on a resolution protesting alleged religious persecution in Mexico.

The department, through Secretary Hull, already has plainly indicated its own attitude toward the Catholic church and civil authorities.

But McCormack, chairman of the special house committee on un-American activities, said the evidence that the two consuls—Hermelindo J. Torres of San Bernardino, California, and Alejandro V. Martinez of Los Angeles—had attempted to prevent religious demonstrations nevertheless seemed clear and convincing.

SMUG BUTTONS

A Chicago jeweler has what he thinks is a brilliant idea. He wears a red, white and blue button on his coat lapel bearing this motto:

"Just a taxpayer—neither on dole nor on public payroll."

At least he wore it to a recent banquet of the local alumni association. And he urged all the other banqueters to go and do likewise.

It may seem a fine idea to many—at first. Some may start wearing such a button on the street. And if they do, they will probably quit after a few good pokes in the nose. For that is probably just what they will get.

And deservedly. For such a smug and insolent statement, displayed in any public place, where it was seen by men eating their hearts out in shame, humiliation and despair over the pitiful plight in which they have been placed by no fault of their own, would surely call for quick, forcible rebuke.

True, there are many cheaters and loafers on the dole. But there are also an appalling number of men and women just as decent and self-respecting as those who are now able to pay income taxes, except as their self-respect is destroyed by eating the bitter bread of public charity.

COMMUNIST AUTOCRATS

The latest round-up of Russians for exile to Siberia is said to include ex-princes, ex-counts, ex-barons, ex-manufacturers, former land owners, former prominent traders, former officials of the czarist government and former officers, former generals and other high officers of the czarist army and former secret police. More than 1,000 of these people are charged with "activities against the government" or violating resident and domestic passport regulations.

It is surprising to learn that there were so many of the nobility still in Russia to be rounded up. It is possible that many of them were engaged in activities against the present regime. But, after all, it is wholesale exile a cure for disaffection with any government?

A government really sure of its friends and accomplices would not have to treat its opponents like criminals. This is as true of the present regime as it was of the Czarist government, which did a good deal of exiling in its day. The destruction which eventually overtook it was brought on in part by the abuses and injustices it practiced. There's a lesson for Communist autocrats in that.

PERJURY SHOWDOWN

It is reassuring to Americans interested in the honor and effectiveness of American courts to read that perjury indictments have been brought by a New Jersey grand jury in connection with the Hauptmann case.

This comment is made with any special knowledge of, or reference to, the defendants involved. It is made on the basis of the general impression created at the trial, that the case "reeked with perjury." That particular mess ought to be cleaned up, to punish guilt if there is provable guilt, and to vindicate witnesses under suspicion if they are innocent.

JAPAN ADDS TO COTTON WOE

Having demoralized the South American market for cotton cloths and virtually run us out of other markets, Japan suddenly decided to attack us in the very citadel of our trade.

In moderate but increasing amounts, it began early in 1934 to ship back to us cloths made from the product of our own cotton fields. By December 1 it had sold us a total of 5,676,875 yards. Then in that month it sent us no less than 2,210,000 more yards, making the total for the year 7,887,000 yards, not a lofty peak, to be sure, but if served as a footnote to a paper page. In January, it shipped us a much smaller lot of 1,000,000 yards, the month's total being 7,887,000 yards.

THE LOWDOWN ON TAXES

It is quite generally agreed that the owner of visible property in some form or another. The owner of visible property is the hardest hit because he not only pays direct taxes but indirect as well. He is not to be blamed because in recent years he has demanded a replacement plan whereby everyone who shares in the great advantages of living in this country assists in supporting the government, local, state and national.

WASHINGTON By George Dime. TAXES. Unless the Congressional situation develops even more sharply than now anticipated you good folk of the nation need not worry about any additional federal taxation during this session.

The Roosevelt administration, as its Congressional spokesmen have indicated, will be seeking the enactment of some $400,000,000 of new tax laws. These already have been in effect on radio, auto accessories, and other items.

For many of the Louisiana Senator's constituents, it is a matter of great interest to know what he has to say about the bonus bill. He is prepared to do it again with a veto pen if necessary, but he will not be shed at the White House if his opposition falls is something only time can tell.

CLOTURE. Now is going the rounds that the silent treatment has been ordered by the administration against the House for its opposition to the bonus bill.

STYMIED. But before the tumult and the shouting of this season dies there is apt to be lots of vigorous talk about immediate new taxation.

WAR PROFITS. The Senate military committee will soon report its recommendations on controlling profits during war. The committee is at variance, although the general idea is the same—to hold down profits of war.

UNDERCOVER. Letters have been coming into the White House in increasing numbers regarding the President Roosevelt's policy on the radio again in a "fire-side talk" and reassure the people that everything is in the hands of the committee.

Guiding Your Child

It is important to grade toys according to the child's age. A toy for a child would not give him a thrill, so one should not give it an elaborate presentation. The toy for a tiny child should be very simple.

Broken toys are generally unsafe playthings. They are apt to have sharp edges, or loose parts which may cause serious damage. Furthermore, the cheap, easily breakable toys which must be frequently replaced, may develop carelessness and indifference in the child.

As the child's needs and capabilities expand, better and more extensive toys may be given it. But the child should be encouraged to play with the child in habits of carefulness, and gets full value from the use of the toy.

Up to about 18 months, the child's toys should be simple and easy to use. It is important to have toys which are safe and durable, and which can be put into the mouth safely.

Druggist Sentenced For Poison Deaths

PORTLAND, Ore., April 2 (AP)—Sol Miller, proprietor of the drug store where denatured alcohol which caused 32 deaths last December was purchased, kept in court today as he pleaded guilty to manslaughter indictments and was sentenced to three years in the state penitentiary. He also was fined $100.

Defense Attorney Leon Behnam, urging leniency for Miller, declared the real offender in the case was a scoundrel corporation, which sold solid wood alcohol to Miller in a can labeled denatured alcohol.

Manslaughter indictments against Spencer Miller, 30½ year old, and Irving R. Schwartz, clerk in the store, were dismissed.

TORPEDO DAMAGE TO CRUISER DISCLOSED

Unloaded Projectile Bends Vessel's Underwater Steel Plates

SAN PEDRO, Calif., April 2 (AP)—Disclosure that the cruiser Northampton had been damaged last week when mysteriously struck by an unloaded torpedo in fleet gunnery practice near San Clemente Island was made today at naval headquarters.

First information of the accident indicated it had occurred today but subsequently it was disclosed the incident happened late last week and has been under investigation since. The 10,000 ton cruiser is now at the proving grounds.

Reports stated that the vessel was there not casually about the cruiser, the underwater structure which was damaged. The torpedo, unloaded, struck the vessel while traveling at fast speed, causing some of the steel plates to bend, it was reported.

Naval officials here were at a loss to account for the accident. The battle grounds are seldom visited by ships other than ones of war, although occasionally a fishing boat ventures into the place.

GREAT RICHES

By Michael House Franklin

(Continued from Last Issue) SYNOPSIS: James Blinson, III, has had a very bad wedding day. He has decided he does not want to marry Jane Northrup after all, for one thing, and his state was not improved by the party...

Chapter 27. HONEYMOON

There was but one smallest blot on the blissfulness of the honeymoon. That came toward the end after the arrival of a certain Louis Bradford of New York City. It was not because Mr. Bradford was so perfectly poised and polished and made her made such apt remarks...

If the water had happened by any chance to be of African descent then Mr. Bradford might have envied the brilliant ease with which the Stinson handled them, but at this particular hotel, the waters, unfortunately, were as white as their hosts were black...

This naturally enough irritated Jane, the lovely and coquettish young woman in the hotel. She kept trying her husband to assert himself and copy Mr. Bradford's masterful mannerisms...

"You like masterfulness in a man," he asked once, crumbling his bread in nervous fingers. "Yes, of course, to a certain degree, woman, does," said Jane impatiently.

"Then I don't altogether see, if you admit that sort of how you would like to be mastered by a man," answered James miserably. "I'm not masterful. I never was. I never will be. Think of it. But Dad Howard is there a lot and I like him much better than I do that uppity Sam Pritchett."

"No-o," said Miss Julia reluctantly. "She's a girl who has a vague uncomfortable sense of guilt when she is cheerful and happy as ever and I've heard her say a hundred times if I've heard her say it once that James and Jane were made for each other."

"What Miss Julia did not admit was that it had occurred to her frequently that she did not hear Leslie's contagious rippling laugh as often as she had in the past." Copyright, 1935, Michael H. Franklin.

"I haven't said a word against Jane except to admire the clever way she went after James and caught him. There's nothing new about that. Women have been dragging men to their knees and carrying them in spite of their screams ever since the days of the cave man."

"It's a pity all you men can't be locked up in glass cases," sniffed Miss Julia.

"Now, Miss Julia," said the Judge pleasantly, "you move more in a minute than all the women in the town in a million years and you needn't try to pretend to me that you don't believe so much as I do in Jane's direction until she made up her mind she wanted him to."

"The thing is, what you say about any woman, unless she has an actual bump on her back, can carry any man she picks out, as easy as easy."

NEW YORK, April 2 (AP)—Major league baseball experts put themselves "on the spot" today, picking the Cleveland Indians, who finished third last year, to capture the 1935 American league pennant.

New Players and Managers Appear In Coast League

(Editor's Note: The following article is the seventh of a series dealing with the roster changes in major league baseball.)
By ALAN GOULD

Youthful pitching prospects always bloom profusely in spring camps, only to fade with great rapidity when the other hands begin to apply the pressure, but Manager Mummy Wilson of the Phillies believes his has three and possibly four newcomers who will stand the big test and fortify a club otherwise limited this year in player resources.

The large jump from the Galveston club in the Texas league to the National league fringe line, but three hunky right-handers who will be expected to pitch the Galveston club to a pennant last year have caught Wilson's fancy.

These three are James Nathan Philip, Cecil Jones and Harry Edward Gumbert. Two of them seem certain to stick and the third, who may be Gumbert, is a splash.

Wilson thinks they are certain to strengthen the pitching staff. Philip with poise and good control, hung up a record of hurling 20 consecutive scoreless innings in the Texas league last year and registering 12 victories in the Galveston club's pennant-drive—five had a brief trial with the Phillies in 1932.

Jorgens has a "sinker" that has caught the fancy of the "phony manager," and the veteran of Armory games, second-string Yankee catcher, and knows his way about the business.

Gumbert, one-time battery mate of Connie Mack, and knows how to mix with the press.

Gumbert pitched a no-hit game against York in the New York-Penn league while hurling for Williamsburgh and came into the big league with the stunts against Elmira the same season, yielding only one single.

The other is Arthur Bramhall, infielder from Chicago, who has a big league record in professional football and baseball.

The Phillies believe also they have a real infield in Stanley Sperry, purchased from Eau Claire, Wis., last year.

Two Yachts Sail To Finish Line

HAVANA, April 2 (AP)—Cuban yachtsmen adopted a policy of watchful waiting tonight because of 19 of the 21 entrants in the annual St. Petersburg-Havana race sail—were somewhere out on the course.

The only boats which had completed the 224-mile voyage early tonight were Yachtmaster's 72-foot ketch, Yachtmaster from Oyster Bay, Long Island, and L. M. Bell's 47-foot cutter, Yachtmaster from Oyster Bay, Me., both class A craft.

Despite that more than three days had elapsed since the first left St. Petersburg at 12:30 P. M. Saturday, local yachtsmen felt no concern over the non-arrival of the other 19 contestants.

"I would no more think of taking the tip-off out of basketball than I would think of taking the kickoff out of football," continued Allen, who will detail his campaign against the "boo boys" at the association's press committee tomorrow.

Tennis Star to Remain Amateur

Helen Willis Moody Looks For Slow Progress on Comeback Trail

WHILE SHE still has hopes of participating in local tournaments this season, Helen Willis Moody apparently believes Wimbledon's championships are far along her comeback trail, she indicated in questions answered for The Associated Press here today.

Cautiously practicing her way back into playing form after her heartbreaking collapse during the finale of the 1932 American women's singles tournament, the former tennis queen said, "It will be at least some months before I shall know when to return to major tournament play can be made."

She has no desire to turn professional, she flatly said.

ROOSEVELT CHIEFS PLAN NEW ACTION IN RELIEF BATTLE

"The", chairman of the house conference on the relief bill, announced that no percentage be fixed, although other house conferees proposed that a one per cent limit be set, which was acceptable.

House conferees are demanding not only elimination of sharp modifications of the relief bill amendment but also the ousting of the senate provision requiring Senate confirmation of the relief bill amendments appointed by the president. In addition, Buchanan said he wanted the agreement on continuing the public building broadened in order to assure such progress for relief work.

DEBT MORATORIUM ADVOCATES QUIZZED

Brandeis Joins in Criticism of Frazier-Lemke Measure

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—The debt-protection bill which the supreme court today bombarded attorneys who defended the new deal's Frazier-Lemke mortgage moratorium...

"oppressed" them for collection during the depression. His face redder than usual, Justice McReynolds interrupted.

"Why do you address an argument like that to this court? It seems to me that you address an argument which this court could not consider with any self-respect."

Krauthoff apologized, but insisted he felt the court should consider the question of "whether breaks shall be allowed to dispossess farmers and make them peasants and tenants."

McReynolds, who declared in his recent dissent in the gold cases that the "constitution is poor" at one point interrupted sharply while Edwin A. Krauthoff, Chicago and Washington attorney, was arguing for the law.

The lawyer assailed the joint stock land bank law, which he said was "badly drafted" by Chief Justice Hughes in private practice. He added that the banking system was a "favorite child of the law" and a "device to enable men with capital to lend money to farmers without paying any income."

Krauthoff continued with the assertion that such banks had "pressed loans" upon farmers and then
