CONTRACT SIGN-UP FOR BEETS CLOSES

Cassia County Contracts Total of 4470.3 Acres for 1935

BURLEY, April 3—The final closing date, April 1, for growers signing contracts with the Amalgamated Sugar company, or the processor, in Cassia county of 4470.3 acres of this acreage 4260.3 were signed by growers who had entered into government contracts and who might be termed "old growers." There were only 14 new growers who had signed for the difference between the above figures, on the 1st.

New growers will be required in the near future to enter into government contracts. Notification of the time for entering into these will be given growers through the county agent's office.

Final Planting Date

A final planting date will be determined by the processor, the production control committee of Cassia county and a representative of the sugar section. When the final date is set and arrived at, a check-up will be made to determine whether producers have planted the acreage which they entered into contracts with the processor for. Any acreage unplanted may be distributed to contractors at that time and if there are surplus acres not planted that was signed for, such acreage will then be surrendered to a national reserve.

CASSIA COMPLETES CORN-HOG SIGN-UP

Directors Elected for 1935 by Association; Applications Number 379

BURLEY, April 3—At the conclusion of the sign-up program of the Corn-Hog Central Association of Cassia county, there were 379 applications signed up to April 1. This figure compares with 418 reported the past year. On March 28, the election meetings were held for community committees in the various five districts into which Cassia county has been divided for administrative purposes and on March 28, the organization of the Cassia County Corn-Hog Control association for 1935 was completed.

Directors elected for the various districts were as follows: Burley, J. C. Walker; East Burley, J. E. Coleman; Declo, Ablon, Jackson, Percy Rutledge; Jackson River, Elba, Almo, M. March, Elba, Oakley, S. B. Crane.

The organization of the board resulted in J. C. Walker being elected president; J. E. Coleman, vice-president; W. J. Palmer, secretary, and Mrs. Viette Anderson, treasurer. An advisory committee which functions in most of the administrative work was elected, consisting of three including Mr. Walker, Mr. Coleman and Mr. Crane.

At the present time, figures relative to applications for producers are being tabulated in the county agent's office by Lemart Ealand. Who has been appointed as chief tabulator, and after such tabulation has been completed, it will be forwarded to the state corn-hog board of service for approval and checking. When approved it will be returned for preparation of the contracts.

The final corn-hog payment of 1934 arrived at the treasurer's office about a week ago and with the exception of a few delayed cases, all payments have been received by growers connected with the 1934 program. Growers received a total of $4,618 per hog the past year, or this amount less 75 per cent of their average production for 1922-33. A total payment has been received by farmers to date of $44,834.78. There still remains probably three or four thousand dollars to arrive in connection with establishment of the state stores.

HOUSE RALLIES TO WAR PROFITS BILL

Votes 258 to 71 to Prevent Amendments, Assuring Passage

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—Although the measure was called a "farce and a joke," the house today quickly quashed an attempt to attach the drastic tax provisions approved by the senate munitions committee to the McGowan bill for the elimination of huge war profits.

By a 258 to 71 vote, the house stood by a rule to prevent amendments to the bill, thus virtually assuring passage in its present form. On the other side of the capitol, meanwhile, the munitions committee listened to purchases, testimony that a former congressman solicited a shipbuilding concern for business while in office and that a "friend of James Roosevelt" tries to throw naval building contracts to a private yard.

Query Unanswered

In addition, it heard evidence from which Chairman Nye (R-ND) drew the conclusion that preceding every naval appropriation bill before congress, we have had a "Japan war scare."

He asked the question: "How many of these scares have been stirred up for personal interest of shipbuilders?"

The query went unanswered. The McGowan bill would freeze prices at the level of a 1914 declaration of war finds them; empower the president to commandeer material resources, industrial organizations and public services; and authorize him to set up a license system for any class of industry. The plan has been attributed to Edward Baruch, New York financier.

Limit on Profits, Salaries The senate bill stipulates taxes which would limit industrial profits to three per cent of investment, and salaries to $10,000 a year, with corporations officers drafted and subject to transfer to combat units in case of failure to cooperate.

A former house member retreated before the senate committee was G. W. Edmonds, Republican, of Philadelphia.

A letter was produced which he wrote to the Bath Iron works, of Maine, saying that a "congressman must divert some of his income from other sources than being a member of the house."

He called attention to a company and his secretary had been asked if it could not be included upon an "inquiry list for materials in connection with the ships you are about to build." He said the concern had done work for the New York shipbuilding company, for a contractor of the government on repair jobs.

WAY SEEMS PAVED FOR SECURITY BILL

Democratic Leaders Maneuver to Prevent Amendments From Floor

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—Fires returned from a survey of house sentiment led Democratic leaders to forecast in a tentative and limited way today that the social securities bill would be forced through without any changes and means approved by the ways and means committee.

They still deferred until Friday the final decision on whether a stringent so-called "tag-rule" should be used to prevent amendments when the bill is brought up next week. Responsible spokesmen said privately they believed the house would agree to procedure forbidding any amendments save those offered by the ways and means committee.

Party leaders were insistent that they would not propose a "tag-rule" unless they knew beforehand that the house would accept it. The ways and means committee members were equally insistent that after 10 weeks of studying the bill they did not want it changed by amendments adopted on the floor after ten minutes debate.

Forced Caucus Threatens

But in lining up votes for a rule permitting only committee amendments, the committee were having a difficult time convincing some members that they should take away from themselves the right to offer amendments from the floor.

The threat of the forced Democratic caucus still hung in the air. Representative Isabella Greenway (D-Ariz) still kept her position for caucus on the advisability of lifting the old age pensions out of the bill and voting on them separately.

She had more than 70 signatures when only 25 are required to force a caucus.

Some Democrats understood that if their side of the house split about even on the question of a "tag-rule," total deposits ever held by any bank in the history of Cripple Creek, was issued by the First National and indicated it held $3,000, $75 in deposits.

LINDLEY SPEAKER AT COMMENCEMENT

University of Idaho Invites Graduate for Event

MOSCOW, Idaho, April 3 — To Ernest C. Lindley, a graduate of the University of Idaho in the class of 1920 and now Washington correspondent for the New York Herald-Tribune and prominent political analyst, goes the honor of being the first Idaho graduate to return to his alma mater as commencement speaker. Mr. Lindley has accepted the invitation extended by President M. J. Neale to deliver the address at the university's fortieth commencement this spring.

While a student in college Lindley was outstanding in sports, literature and athletics. He was the university's eleventh Rhodes scholar and also a member of the Northwest championship basketball team. Immediately upon graduation from Oxford university in 1922 he returned to the United States and entered a career in journalism, starting as reporter on the Wichita, Kansas, Beacon in 1924. After a short time on this paper he joined the New York World staff as a political writer and Albany correspondent, a position he held until 1931. He has been a political writer for the New York Herald-Tribune since 1931 and Washington correspondent for this paper since 1933.

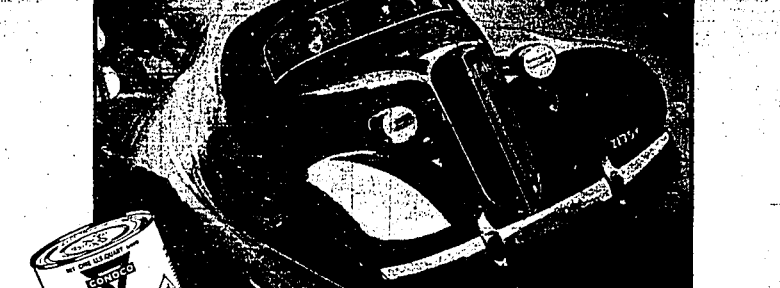

At Washington, D. O. last November President Neale heard Mr. Lindley deliver the principal address at the annual meeting of the American Association of Presidents of American Universities. His address on President Roosevelt, his philosophy and his program, was a landmark in the history of political education. Dr. Neale declared, in addition to being a forceful speaker, Mr. Lindley is well known for his political writings. His book, "Franklin D. Roosevelt, His Political Philosophy and His Program," published in 1929, was one of the first of the "New Deal" publications. Later his book, "The First Roosevelt Revolution — The First Phase" attracted widespread attention. He is a regular contributor to a number of magazines on political questions.

Ernest K. Lindley is the son of Dr. William H. Lindley, who was president of the University of Idaho from 1917 to 1920. Dr. Lindley, the fifth president of the institution, has been a member of the faculty of the University of Kansas since 1926.

The First "Alloyed Oil"

—for better lubrication of today's high-speed, alloy-steel motors!

YOUR MOTOR is built of parts made of special alloy metals. Car manufacturers and metallurgists worked together to produce metal alloys strong and durable enough to withstand the greatly increased pressures and temperatures of the modern motor.

Oil, too, must withstand these pressures and temperatures and they must have extra oiliness and film strength to do it. Yet oils generally have no more oiliness and film strength than they had ten years ago. Add many new refining methods now used to make oils free from carbon and sludge have lowered instead of increased oiliness and film strength!

Continental, pioneering as it has pioneered for 60 years, has developed the first alloyed oil—Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil! It is custom-made for high-speed, alloy-steel motors. It has 2 to 4 times the film strength of straight mineral oil, as tests on the Timken machine have proved. It has more oiliness than any oil has naturally. It penetrates and combines with metal surfaces, forming a permanent lubricating film—the "Hidden Quarts." It is a pure, clean oil, free from carbon and sludge troubles. It gives extraordinary mileage as well as motor protection, as proved by the Indianapolis Destruction Test.

Say "O.K.—Drain"—fill with Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil and you will have the finest lubrication you can buy!

GREAT RICHES

SYNOPSIS: James and Jane Gilman have returned from a honeymoon in which there was no money, no matter how big a "millionaire" circumstance. James was not material enough. And Leslie Harris, whom James probably would have married, and Jane's efficient scheming and the help of the town bookies, seems happy, almost. Now it's up to Jane to get up to the "benefit" Jane's father and mother have given him and Jane.

Chapter 23

HOUSE CORNERS

James and Jane, meantime, were spending most of their evenings arranging or re-arranging their brand new culture and three hundred and twenty-six wedding presents, or at least Jane was arranging and re-arranging while James was sitting cross-legged on the sofa, smiling each succeeding effect.

"Lord, James groaned one evening in mock despair. 'I don't believe that anyone outside the Vanderbilts and Astors ever had so much trouble.'"

They were in the dining room. Jane had just finished cramming a groaning cabinet with a plenitude of elaborated and heavy cut glass. The cabinet displayed an indistinct part of their hand painted china.

"I'll never be able to live up to it," James went on. "If over two people started housekeeping in champagne style on a beer income it's us."

"Your father's heaped up with obligations already. I don't mind him giving you allowances, or spending on me, but I'd prefer to pay the house bills... live on what I make."

"Of course you can. Of course I expect you can. Making a living is the very least of what I expect of you," Jane smiled at him brightly and James kissed her. He did wish, however, that Jane did not accept the making of a living so casually.

Other young couples in New Concord started housekeeping in small cottages with the brides doing their own work. Jane had no maid, and she expected Jane to do without a servant. Even in the mansion they would have had to do their own work. Jane expected him to compliment her frequently because she managed to get things done and with all the dusting...

He remembered one day and forgot the next. Just as he forgot important and vital matters like hours for meals.

"I don't see," he protested vigorously. "Why the stars should stop in fifteen minutes late. Why do you have to have dinner anyway at half-past six exactly?"

"For one reason because I have only one servant. A house is a little factory. It has to be run like one or a single girl cannot get through her work."

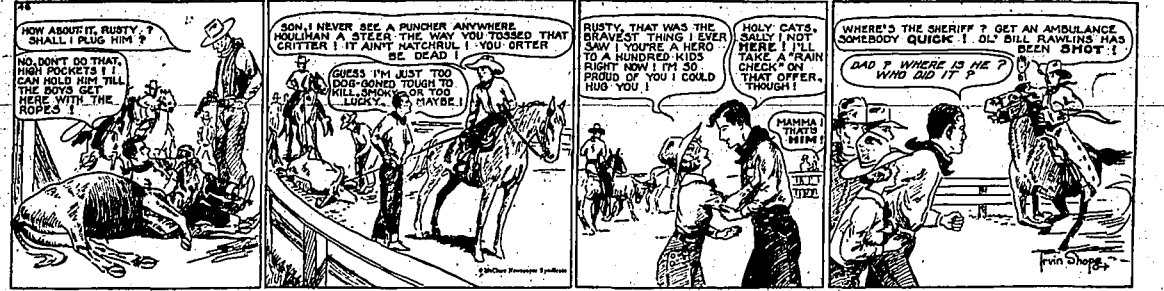

"Jane bore it for a time with exemplary patience. She told herself that she had married a genius. Geniuses could not be expected to behave even as well as I. Still, it did seem sometimes that James was displaying more selfishness than temperament. He had no intention of encouraging selfishness."

200 Coaches in Chicago Consider Drastic Changes

Proposal to Eliminate Center Jump and Alter Pivot Post Play, Exhibited in Special Hoop Contest

By PAUL MICKELSON (Associated Press Sports Writer)

CHICAGO, April 3 (AP)—Dr. James Naismith, the quiet spoken man who invented the game of basketball 44 years ago, listened with an amused grin today as 200 college and high school coaches opened their campaigns for and against changes in the basketball rules.

The doctor let it be known he was for a hard and fast game with as few rules as possible and then listened with conservative and fastidious schemers were explained by their sponsors. The doctor and other leaders of the convention, held by the National Association of Basketball Coaches, were convinced that the game, except for possible modifications in the center jump and pivot post play, would be approximately the same next season.

All the schemes of the coaches were thrown into the convention hopper for consideration. The proposals eliminated the center jump and after the pivot post play, which was exhibited in a special basketball game held at the McCormick gymnasium, headed by Dr. Paul of Chicago and Illinois Wesleyan.

Public enemy number one of basketball is the increase in hoops at amateur games. Coach R. C. Allen of the University of Kansas told the coaches looking for a new game in imminent danger.

No other college or high school sport is subjected to the same treatment. "Certainly under present conditions we are building ourselves up with a huge attention mark. Unless something is done soon to simplify the work of the officials and the same time to college basketball from the depths of the hippodrome, from which boogie originally sprang, there is no hope of a growing game in imminent danger."

Medica and Flanagan to Renew Rivalry in A. A. U. Meet

By BOB CAVIGNARO (Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, April 3 (AP)—With all 1934 titleholders en route to the stars who competed in the intercollegiate meet last week, the 1935 national A. A. U. senior intercollegiate meet will be held in the New York A. C. pool starting tomorrow and lasting through Saturday night.

Medica and Flanagan, in addition to a strong field which includes Jim Hillman, who forced Medica to relinquish his title in the former date, will match strokes in the 220 and 300 yard free style swims in what are the top numbers on the program. Medica, from the 500 yard event a year ago at Columbus, Ohio, covering the distance in five minutes and 23 seconds.

While all the swimming championships are expected to be closely contested, Richard Deener of the Detroit A. C. is figured a sure bet to retain the low and high board diving championships.

Jack Dempsey Trains To Reduce Waistline

NEW YORK, April 3 (AP)—On the theory that when all men reach the age of 70 they will be fat, Jack Dempsey went back into training today.

"I'm just fortifying my body against the time when I'll be 70 so I'll not feel as spry as a youngster," said Dempsey after a brisk 45-minute workout under the supervision of Artie McGovern.

"The glad hand act in his mid-40s resulted for more than 12 hours a day for a couple of months has softened up the former heavyweight boxing champion. He's on his feet all that time, extending a cordial welcome to his guests."

"Only one part of my body in good condition is my right hand."

One of the surest signs of spring is the beginning of that trickle of "wrench this one" warnings from the doctor. "Wrench this one" always grows into the status of a veritable flood in the weeks leading up to Kentucky Derby day.

Here's "wrench this one" hint forwarded by Charles Guthrie, one of our most reliable Big Grass railroads. It has to do with the "wrench" chief flog of Warren Wright's Calumet farm in spite of the memory that only one filly has ever won the classic and the fact that Wright has five other entries.

Trainer B. B. Williams avers the ring which beats his daughter of American flag-bulls. More will have to do some high-class hoofing.

'The Transfer of Babe Ruth to Boston Was a Great Move,' Senior Circuit's Ex-President Comments

By DILLON GRAHAM (Associated Press Sports Writer)

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—A gray-haired former printer's devil, who rose to be one of professional baseball's leading officials, returned to his former haunts today, drawn by the smell of damp ink and the companionship of his old buddies.

Refreshed by a winter in Florida, the former president of the National League returned to Boston on his way to his garden city, N. Y., home, but it couldn't resist the desire to stop off here and see his old friends.

He is surprised if some of the suspected second division clubs rear up and give the big four a lively battle. He predicts the Cardinals and the Orioles as very strong and looked for Brooklyn to lead.

SMALL LOSSES IN STOCKS RECORDED

Strength of Staples Pulls Shares Up From Day's Lowest Levels

MARKETS AT A GLANCE NEW YORK, April 3 (AP)—Stocks: Heavy, industrial 1 1/2...

By FRANK MACMILLAN (Associated Press Financial Writer) NEW YORK, April 3—Strength of staples finally gave stimulus to a rather feeble stock market today.

Staples finished a little lower on the average, but were pulled up from the lowest by a rise in some of the sugar shares, as raw sugar futures again reached new tops for the season.

A bulge in grains, led by corn, was noted, although the farm implement issues, which usually respond to the grain market, failed today to recover early losses.

Utilities firmed in here and there, although American Waterworks cut its quarterly dividend, a move which held it steady as early earnings reports indicated that last week's gains were improvement over the previous week.

The Associated Press average of representative shares finished with a net loss of 2 1/2 at 36 1/2. The lumber was only 1/8 higher.

Wholesale and Corn Advance A little scattered selling appeared in bonds but that market was fairly well held. The gains in Chicago corn futures ranged from 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 cents...

Trinity share seemed more affected by the cheerier attitude toward possibilities of federal legislation than by the wryly electric atmosphere of the stock market...

HEDSTRÖM STILL IN CITY CAMPAIGN

Statement Makes Certain
Contest In Second
Ballot

H. H. Hedstrom, who qualified in an election Tuesday as an entry in a second or run-off election next April 23 for Twin Falls city councilman will not withdraw from the running, he stated positively last evening.

Opponents in the second election will be Hedstrom who polled 1260, and W. E. Taylor who received 1070 votes in Tuesday's election. The second election was made necessary by terms of the commission form law which requires that successful candidates must poll a clear majority of all votes.

Hedstrom was associated in the campaign with Bert A. Sweet, candidate for mayor who was defeated by Truman M. D. Johnston who was re-elected for a second two-year term. Taylor has announced his adherence to the Johnston administration.

One of the two positions on the council to be filled at this year's election was secured by the voters at Tuesday's election to L. E. A. Chaplin, who led the list of candidates with 212 votes for re-election for a third four-year term as councilman.

Hedstrom's statement last evening of his purpose to continue in the running was in answer to suggestion that he might withdraw and leave the field to Taylor alone in the second election.

Registration books for the second election April 23 will be open at the city clerk's office in the city hall yesterday to remain open until the evening of April 20.

Twin Falls county's grade school boys and girls have been invited to compete in a state-wide essay contest for cash prizes in connection with the observance of Better Homes week, April 7-14. Mrs. Maude F. Kleinkopf, county superintendent, announced yesterday.

Essays are to be written on the subject, "Better Homes Through Better Housing," and are to be submitted at the county superintendent's office during Better Homes week.

The winner of the contest in this county is to compete in the state-wide contest, for which $15, $10 and $5 cash prizes have been offered. It is probable that prizes will be awarded also in the county contest, Mrs. Kleinkopf said.

Some information of assistance to competing essayists is available at the county superintendent's office.

Accused of theft of sheep pelts valued at $45 in Twin Falls last fall, Paul Stier, 30, of Kimberly, was held in the Twin Falls county jail to answer to a petit larceny charge following his arrest by officers of Twin Falls and Gooding counties near Bliss late Tuesday.

He pleaded not guilty when he was arraigned before Judge C. L. Kinney in the probate court here yesterday, and was held for trial Monday under $500 bail bond which was not furnished.
