NEW PRICE BOOST FOR SILVER URGED

Senators Argue for Advance in Face of World Market Break

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—An immediate resumption of government silver buying was demanded today by senators in a letter to George H. Rehn, head of the grain division, Agricultural Adjustment Administration, urging federal action to ease the surplus wheat burden.

Rehn said: "This region is still controlled with the problem of disposing of it surplus. The April 1, 1935 stocks for the state of Washington are 13,500,000 bushels; the total for the United States is 69,250,000 bushels."

UTAH SECRETARY OF STATE FACES TRIAL

Presentation of Fraudulent Claim Against Treasury Charged

SALT LAKE CITY, May 17 (AP)—Milton H. Weiling, secretary of state and former representative in congress from Utah, today was held for trial in district court on a charge of presenting a fraudulent claim against the state treasury.

Weiling is charged with having presented a claim for $100 in interest on Mrs. Golden Richards, covering a month's salary as a teacher, although Mrs. Richards testified in his presence before jury trial judge M. J. Brennan that she never was employed in the office.

The secretary also faces a charge of failing to turn over to the state treasury $200 which he had collected from a mining company.

Returned to Weiling, Harold Richards, husband of the woman in whose favor the check was drawn, testified that he had returned it to Weiling, at the latter's request and his explanation was that the check was for the entertainment of delegates to the national convention of the United Mine Workers in this city in 1931, some time after the correct presentation of the claim.

The employment Richards testified, was made by Clarence E. Smith, at the time employed in the office of the secretary of state, and Smith testified that he had turned over the money to Weiling and he could make up the amount of the check by adding it to his expense account as motor vehicle expenses.

Weiling asserted the check was in payment for Mrs. Richards' salary for the month of April, 1935, and that she had received the check from him. The court charged that Weiling had received the money and kept the money. It was charged for deposit in the account of Weiling as secretary of state.

Imposition of Release
The house of representatives of the recent Utah legislature refused to bring impeachment charges against Weiling by a vote of 42 to 12. A committee had submitted a report, based in part on the Richards claim.

Smith recently was acquitted in district court of a charge of embezzlement of state funds while employed in the office of secretary of state.

A series of audits of the records of the office, covering the period from 1932 to 1935, resulted in a reported shortage of approximately $300,000. A demand had been made upon Weiling by the state auditor for the amount, for part of which he has denied liability.

COURT AFFIRMS PRISON TERM IN LIQUOR CASE

DOES MAY 2 1936

DOUGLAS, May 17 (AP)—The Idaho supreme court in a decision handed down today affirmed the conviction of Fred L. Bezzelle, barber, on a charge of furnishing intoxicating liquor to a minor.

Bezzelle was sentenced by Judge C. J. Lewis of the Fifth district court to a term of 180 days in the state reformatory for the year in which he was sentenced.

A jury had found him guilty of the crime on July 17, 1935, after a trial lasting 15 days and a list of 12 jurors was sworn.

Bezzelle was arrested on the grounds of the evidence, "intoxicating liquor" in the home of the defendant, the district court judge ordered to grant a new trial.

Bezzelle's attorney, J. A. McVey, filed a writ of habeas corpus, which was granted by the district court judge.

CASH BONUS WAR OPENS IN SENATE

Inflationary Patman Bill, Compromise Proposal in Foreground

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—Opening a three-cornered battle over the bonus, senate proponents of the inflationary Patman bill and compromise Harrison payments plans today waved arms and shouted words in favor of their proposals.

Behind the scenes, in the senate chambers, advocates of the middle-ground Vinson bill struck softer blows, with some observers estimating a swing in that direction. Hours more debate remained ahead, however, before a final test on the politically potent issue.

Harrison Predicts Stalemate
Before crowded galleries, Chairman Harrison of the finance committee in his opening remarks predicted that President Roosevelt would sign his bill.

Senator Stone (D-La.) was equally optimistic in his assertion that the president would sign the Patman bill, passed by the house.

"The president ain't going to veto my bill," he shouted, with arms raised. "Didn't I tell you last year he wouldn't veto the Fraxler-Bezzelle bill? And he didn't."

"How did I know? Not from any word from the president. He seldom sends me any word. But I know because the president is a good politician. I am a politician and a candidate for re-election. The president is a politician and a candidate for re-election. He won't veto the bonus."

Outcome in Doubt
Senator Thomas (D-Ola.) said the senate bill pending for payment of the certificates in new currency, was the only one of the three measures that would cash the bonus in full at once and argued for it as a means of raising the price level and relieving property.

A former veteran, Senator Clark (D-Mo) offered without debate the American Legion-backed Vinson bill, providing for full payment in existing currency.

Working hard for the Vinson bill in the lobbies outside the senate chamber was John Thomas Taylor, the Legion's first legislative counsel.

With the first vote coming up on the choice between the Harrison compromise and the Vinson plan, few senators professed to know the outcome.

BOISE, May 2 1936

BEET GROWERS STRIKE

BILLINGS, Mont., May 3 (AP)

Directors of the Mountain States Beet Growers Marketing association by a vote of 11 to 2 today met at the Great Western Sugar company's attempt to contract with members for the 1935 crop with a statement urging all growers not to grow beets until the contract is granted an increase in the price.

The beet district to the agricultural flat south of Silver City, the one-time domain of Mackey, Fair, Flood and O'Brien is humming with a new activity born of a recent increase in the price paid for the newly mined white meal.

Eight mills are already working at capacity and within the next few months at least four more are expected to be under construction.

LIQUOR COMMISSION GETS STATE FUNDS

Board Authorizes $3000 for Expenses and Salaries

BOISE, May 2.—The Idaho state board of examiners has approved vouchers totaling approximately $3,000 for expenses and salaries of the state liquor control board, it was announced by Secretary of State Franklin O'Harra, following a board meeting.

The latter, an outspoken critic of the liquor commission, announced several days ago he would not approve the liquor commission vouchers.

He declined to change his mind today and after the meeting explained he wanted to keep his hands "out of the whole unwholesome mess."

The board designated Acting Governor Mix to draw $30,000 from the general fund to be used as one-half of the state's May contribution to the Idaho emergency relief administration to which the PERA has given $450,000 for general relief.

The legislature empowered Governor Ross to withdraw $250,000 and Visions notable flights in aviation's history. They have been the triumphs of men (and women), of great flyers who by their skill and courage achieved great things. But here is the triumph of a machine which, through its mechanical perfection, has achieved something great. The transition is further apparent from the circumstance that ten persons, the name of the ship, and probably thousands to one who knew the name of its captain. The reverse, of course, has been true of most other great flights. Does it mark the end of an era of individuals in flying, and the beginning of an era in which machines take precedence?

If this is so, then the progress of aviation henceforth will be measured by the accomplishments of planes and not of their pilots.

WANTED: TAXABLE INCOMES Isn't current talk in Washington of abolishing all taxes on incomes of three thousand dollars and less just a little cock-eyed? The total country needs is to increase the total number of three-thousand-dollar-a-year incomes.

It is just as well to remember that governments can't function and budgets can't be balanced without income. All taxes seem to be a pain in the neck to those who have to pay them, but the income tax comes closer to being both just and enduring than the others tried so far.

Alison rode his horse back to the house. He was supposed to have taken outside the house, but the horse had seen Alison and had started back. He saw a hairless face peering at her from behind the door, and she felt a cold shiver run down her spine. She tried to make a break for the outside door.

Chapter Two
NEW DANGER

Coming in exploring this empty house for any sign of her father, Alison had passed two pairs of stairs. One, leading off the long passage, was obviously the front door; the other, leading off the passage to the bedroom; the other, leading off by a balcony door, came down outside the balcony door and directly outside the bathroom.

An upper ledge door with a spring lock was this part of the house from the front parlor. Two doors, three faint cracks had seemed to come from the front passage. Could she crawl down these backstairs to see and gain the window and the road? Later, perhaps, to slip down the inside wall, passing her intention, he had seen to walk down the stairs in the dark road.

"Snatching at her courage, Alison opened the door. Carefully, trembling, she opened it a little way and peered out. The faint glow of the torch showed her an empty passage, a white bedroom door, a tiny square of window with the rain pouring down it and the far balcony door, shut. This way was clear.

"For no more than a second she listened, breathless, but now it seemed as if the whole house below her feet were coming down at all, even the mice were still. And there, dark like a snake, close at hand, dark like a snake, close at hand, dark like a snake, close at hand.

Alison ran.

She had reached the turn of the stairs when the torch went out. The darkness seemed to hit her, knocking out her breath; it was like going blind. But her hand lightened the darkness, and she went on, running, two steps at a time.

She stopped, in those few seconds, the most precious of all emotions, fear of darkness, fear of the dark, fear of the dark, in which every nerve and muscle is strained to the utmost. Her hand felt the wall, the wall, the lower passage level with a jerk that hurt.

Creak! Pit-a-pat...
A thin spear of light cut the darkness ahead, showing her the lower balcony door ahead—a beam of light split by the banisters above. It was coming—running along the balcony passage, chasing her down the stairs!

Alison made a dash. The pantry door as she quite shut, it gave a loose board creaks as it swung through and the beam of light overhead went off abruptly.

She slammed the door violently, throwing herself against it, she felt for a key and found none; she stretched her right arm towards the wall to brace herself to take the strain.

She reached up her hand with all four fingers, and the door opened. A man's face looked in at her, and she found them pressing flat against a man's face.

Her next breath...

In the recoil she screamed a hideous, shrill, bubbling shriek which rose and echoed wildly through the house as she tumbled for the door handle in a crazy effort to escape. A scream cut sharply at its highest point as she with her hand closed expertly upon her face, the thumb and forefinger pinching her nostrils shut while the palm blocked her mouth.

Alison gave a gasp and fainted.

"That's better..."

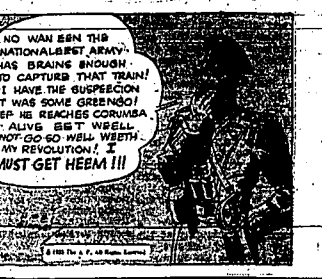

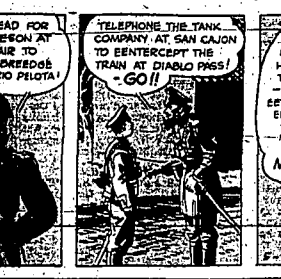

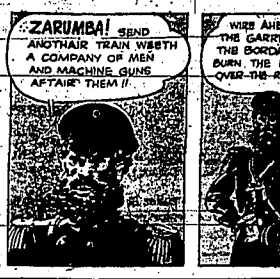

She became conscious of a very firm arm holding her tight, of rough tweed scraping her cheek and the rapid beating of her own heart.

ROSS SEEKS FUNDS FOR RECLAMATION

Idaho Governor Confers With Assistant Secretary of Interior

WASHINGTON, May 3.—(AP)—Ross is to attempt to obtain between $2,000,000 and $4,000,000 for irrigation and reclamation projects, Governor C. Bon Ross, of Idaho, arrived here today.

Among the projects for which the governor hopes to obtain funds are the $2,000,000 Black canyon project, the $7,000,000 project to supplement Boise valley water supply, $900,000 for survey and investigation of water resources throughout the state, and $4,000,000 for various small projects throughout the state.

Confers With Walters—The governor conferred with Assistant Secretary of the Interior, Walters and members of the Idaho congressional delegation as well as R. J. Wood, Idaho reclamation engineer, after his arrival today to prepare the program which will be presented to the new public works organization.

The governor and Wood said they were especially interested in obtaining funds for approximately 200 small irrigation projects in the state. Many of these, they said, are on the head-waters of small streams, while in some instances springs and wells will be developed to supplement present water supplies. The average size of these small projects, they said, is from 10,000 to 15,000 acres.

STOCKMEN TO ASK FEDERAL FINANCING

Western Livestock Producer Association Calls Meeting in Twin Falls

Eighty per cent of the livestock in the western states is in need of financing on a relief basis. R. C. Taylor, Boise, said here yesterday in announcing plans for a meeting of stockmen interested in continuing federal financing of the industry. The meeting will be held in the district court room in Twin Falls county court house, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Declaring himself to be fully in support of the financing movement, Mr. Taylor said: "Unless congress takes some action, liquidation will be forced upon the major portion of this industry from which the public land states have derived more than half of their cash revenue in times past. The Regional Agricultural Credit corporation must be extended and its powers enlarged to care for this situation."

Fitness and Worthiness

"Livestock must be financed on the basis of fitness, but unless stock growers unite, and procure congressional action, liquidation is inevitable for every outfit which cannot pass the solvent test. A broad plan must be adopted looking to the breeding up and maintenance of established livestock outfits."
