Portland, Ore., May 17 (AP)—The Pacific Northwest settled down for a long sleep tonight in the face of an apparent breakdown in negotiations for settlement of the strike of more than 35,000 lumber workers.

Effects of the walkout began to be more widely felt. Ship movements of lumber to markets in Washington, a heavy logjam in the water, and a consequent delay in lumber and lumber products with a consequent diminution in building and construction.

Seattle, Wash., May 17 (AP)—Millions of feet of lumber continue to pile up in the yards of mills and lumber yards in this area because of the lumber strike. Captain Raymond, chief of the navy supply officer, said today.

LEADERS IN KIDNAP PLOT RECEIVE LIFE TERMS IN PRISON

Arthur 'Doc' Barker and Oliver Beck Convicted with Three Others in $200,000 Bremer Abduction

(By The Associated Press) ST. PAUL, May 17—Another stunning blow at the kidnap racket—life sentences for Arthur "Doc" Barker and Oliver Beck, leaders in the $200,000 Bremer conspiracy—followed quickly on their conviction by a federal court jury here today.

'Kidnaping' said Federal Judge M. M. Joyce in pronouncing life terms on Barker, co-leader in the plot and Beck, "is the one crime that the people of this country will not tolerate."

A jury of nine men and three women brought guilty verdicts today against the key defendants in the month-old trial for the crime against Edward G. Bremer, St. Paul banker, after 21 hours of deliberation.

Sentencing Deferred Sentencing of John J. McLaughlin, former Chicago politician accused of passing a large part of the ransom for the kidnaping of James J. Wilson and Harold Alderton, all convicted along with Barker and Beck, will be held until later.

It was at Alderton's house in Bensenville, Ill., that the banker was held prisoner for 12 days. McLaughlin, who later fled to Chicago, and others for aid in gaining off the ransom money for the kidnaping.

Several Days Study Before the lawyers had read late last afternoon, Judge Koelsch said to the jury and constitutionalists.

Dejected Butler Terms Legal Defeat Class War

NEW YORK, May 17 (AP)—A supreme court ruling that members of a family are privileged to disclose their affairs against five multi-millionaires.

It's class war between the rich and the poor, said the dejected butler after the dismissal. "What could I do against five multi-millionaires?"

He said he would appeal. Miss Pick, who had testified she was not alarmed but only annoyed by the matter, agreed with the court.

It would have been too bad if this case had resulted in the imprisonment of free property members of a family, said Miss Pick, who had been questioned about her friendship for a Boston socialite.

REICH CONSTRUCTS 450 DEADLY BOATS

High Speed Craft Revealed as Germany's Newest Naval Weapon

(Copyright, 1935, by Associated Press) BERLIN, May 17 (AP)—Re-arming Germany's newest naval weapon—swift, deadly "v-boat" torpedoes—was revealed today.

Foreign naval experts stationed here said the rich, moving swiftly, already has constructed 450 "v-boats" capable of 50 knots each, and manned by five men each, carrying four torpedoes.

A second, similar development, the "v-boat" is another faster, twice as large, carrying ten men and having an operating range of almost 2,000 miles.

Naval observers here, asserting the new, baby men-of-war would give other powers as much food for thought as the recently disclosed plans to build 400-ton submarines, listed these major advantages of the craft:

1. Their cost is little and their operating economical.

2. Their crew is small; at the worst, only five lives are lost.

3. They are so small and can change direction so fast they would be hard to hit.

4. Their four torpedoes, with any kind of luck, can do terrific damage to a big ship.

President to Make Decision on NRA

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—An intention to act directly up to the president's final decision on what powers should be given to an extended NRA was disclosed today by House Democratic leaders.

They made clear that they intended no criticism of Donald R. Richberg, NRA chief, in declining to accept a final seven-point program which he, the president, and the NRA board agreed upon.

Therefore, they said that after modifications in that program were made, they would be put before the president for his approval.

Democracy's Failures Charged To Demagogy

English Scholar Puts Serious Questions At Berkeley

BERKELEY, Calif., May 17 (AP) Democracy was declared to have "everywhere failed to make good its promise" by Sir Josiah Stamp, scholar and executive director of the Bank of England, in an address before the graduating class of the University of California here today.

The internationally known economist, scientist and financier asserted that the failure of democracy to make good its promise was the result of "demagogy" rather than of political or social causes.

Swayed by prejudice "It might be said by such education, but if it is not, it will at least have died fighting," asserted Sir Josiah.

Another fallacy, he added, "is the idea that the ballot box will do the trick." He said that the "plutocracy of democracy" from which he came, also is guilty.

RAIN AT SEATTLE GREET'S COLONISTS

650 Midwestern Farm Folk Celebrate on Eve of Voyage to Alaska

SEATTLE, May 17 (AP)—Greeted by rain that once might have been a Godsend to many of them, and by a few notes of criticism of the project, 650 midwestern farm folk gathered here tonight for the first of their departure for their new northern home.

The sturdy sons of the soil and their numerous children, here from as far as Michigan and Wisconsin, were gathered here for the first of their departure for their new northern home.

Despite the cancellation of a planned picnic at Woodland park, enthusiasm was unimpaired by them. The chamber of commerce, the Michigan and Wisconsin, and Scandinavian societies took part in the celebration.

Several Bears While Again A number of families went to Woodland park and the polar bear exhibit, which was being closed for the night.

They were met by a band of music and a large crowd of people. The celebration was a success and the colonists were glad to see their new home.

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—A proposal by Secretary Stansbury for government ownership of the stock of the twelve Federal Reserve banks was endorsed today by President Roosevelt.

The treasury secretary, testifying before a senate committee on the omnibus banking bill, added to his proposal a suggestion that the Federal Reserve board be given full control for rail.

Questions of Wage, Hours Delay Flow Of Relief Billions

F. D. R. TO APPEAR BEFORE CONGRESS Personal Appeal for Veto of Bonus Establishes Precedent

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—President Roosevelt decided today to go in person before congress to urge that it sustain his veto of the cash bonus bill.

His plan to make the unprecedented personal veto appeal was outlined by the president before a graduate group by a scholar from outside the university.

Democracy was termed a "victim of demagogy" by the speaker, who declared that under it political or social causes were put before the people rather than the truth.

Another fallacy, he added, "is the idea that the ballot box will do the trick." He said that the "plutocracy of democracy" from which he came, also is guilty.

Work Program Waits For Orders and Objective

Storm in Congress (By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, May 17—President Roosevelt prepared today to pour a billion dollars into the tills of a dozen works agencies where it will stay until administration chieftains can decide what wages shall be paid workers and how long they shall last.

In the absence of these regulations, the plight of these agencies, lined up some quarters by the Senate without any money, was described as a "dreadful picture" by a drive to modify the program, while Senate liberals were ready to "bail" for the first major provision of the security bill to become operative.

The first major provision of the security bill to become operative would be the $100 million a month to each needy widow over 65 years of age.

The bill would appropriate $100 million for the first week of July for this old age grant system.

Provisions Added Instead of restricting the measure, the committee added a major provision to give the needy blind, and also to set up a voluntary annual system intended to help the blind to save.

Administration leaders expressed confidence the bill would be passed by the House, but they said that operations on its frame-work, but they realized it faced a fight.

A minority report was promised to serve as the basis for a drive to modify the program, while Senate liberals were ready to "bail" for the first major provision of the security bill to become operative.

SEASONABLE FOOD SUGGESTIONS

Serve Fresh Pineapple in Palmer House Manner

Fresh pineapple — the local grocer's "meat of the week" and especially half the price of a year ago! Extraordinarily good, as well as inexpensive, they bring new glory to the dessert course of your May dinner.

Armor-plated and formidable though they may appear, they're worth the combat. The easiest way to deal with a pineapple is to take the biggest of the carving knives, hack off the head and the south end of the fruit and cut rubbishy rind through the crust in inch wide slices. Each slice can then be quite easily and economically peeled. You waste a lot more if you try to shell it in great swatches.

Then dice the slices and cook for 15 minutes in a light syrup of white sugar and water boiled a few minutes first. This is a good fresh sweet fruit for salad and the juices for cocktail. If you prefer, you may cook the slices whole.

Palmer House Specials.

You've doubtless had the experience, while on a summer vacation or on a holiday outing, of dining in one of the larger hotels of the nation, and finding yourself face to face with some of the most delicious concoctions the kind that make you want to ask immediately for the recipe. But you can imagine yourself approaching the executive chef of the hotel with a question like that! When you went to the Century of Progress at Chicago, you probably dined at the Palmer House, and were intrigued by some of the food creations of Ernest W. Amiet.

You may now present in your own home two famed Palmer House delicacies: Pineapple Stromboli and Pineapple Steak Exquisite, both originated by Chef Amiet, who has been associated with leading Continental and American hotels. The following is the formula for eight slices of pineapple:

Pineapple Stromboli

For each slice of pineapple chop up three large marrows (also called imported chestnuts-in-skin) and place these on top of the pineapple and chop. Whip six egg whites and incorporate six tablespoons of powdered sugar and also the grated peel of half a lemon. Cover the chestnut mix with this preparation. Place in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) brown this meringue slowly and serve.

Pineapple Steak Exquisite

Dip sections of pineapple in melted butter and toss in shredded coconut surrounding the pineapple completely. Place the slices in a shallow baking pan and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 4 minutes. Serve on a platter and garnish middle with mint leaves and eighths of lemons. Boil fresh pineapple syrup in the amount of juice contained in a can of pineapple, and reduce one-half. Add to this one soup-spoonful of grenadine syrup and pour this over pineapple steak when serving.

TWO UNUSUAL MEAT DISHES FROM NORWAY

Norwegian cooking is unusual in the unique blending of flavors employed. Spices are blended in familiar dishes so that they assume a new delectable guise. This distinctive blend of flavors is used most notably in meat dishes. The two recipes given here are typical examples of Norwegian cookery.

NORWEGIAN MEAT BALLS

1 1/2 lbs. ground round beef
1/2 pound ground lean pork
1 large onion, grated
2 even tans, constant
Salt and pepper to taste
2 tsp. ground mace.
1 cup milk

Blend the above ingredients thoroughly, make into balls and fry in butter, turning constantly till all sides are all over brown. Then cover with hot water and let simmer, covered, for one hour. The gravy should then be thickened with flour. Serve with whole boiled potatoes and green beans.

PORK BALLS

2 lbs. ground pork shoulder
2 even tans, constant
Salt and pepper to taste
1 tsp. sage, rubbed fine
1 cup milk, boiled and cooled

Form into balls, roll in flour and brown on all sides. Cover with hot water and simmer until done.

SPICED MEAT BALLS

Another version of the beef and pork combination is as follows. These meat balls are ideal to serve hot at a buffet supper as they may be prepared in advance and baked at the last minute.

2 lbs. ground round steak
1 lb. ground lean pork
1 cup mashed potatoes
1 cup milk
1/2 tsp. paprika
1/2 tsp. ground cloves
1/2 tsp. nutmeg, ground
1/2 tsp. brown sugar.

Blend ingredients into small balls and roll in flour. Brown on all sides in butter. Place in baking pan and set aside until about one hour before needed, when they should be covered with 1 pint of cream and baked in a moderate oven for one hour.

TUNA-AVOCADO SHELLS

Avocados continue to be one of the "meats" in the fruit and vegetable racks of the local grocery stores. If you care to vary their cocktail-and-salad uses, try the following:

Melt two tablespoons butter to which add 2-tablespoons flour and mix well. After adding 1 cup milk cook until thick while stirring constantly. Season to taste and add 1 minced pimiento and 1 7-ounce can tuna flakes. Fill baked avocado shells with the creamed tuna. Add 1/2 cup bread crumbs, salt and pepper to taste. Melt 1/2 cup butter for crumbs. After spreading over the creamed mixture bake in oven at 425 degrees until a golden brown. If properly handled the avocado will not be cooked, but heated through.

Bridegroom saves wife from "Coffee-Floating"

BETTY and JOE had just returned from their honeymoon. The first thing that Betty did was to make out a market list.

"There!" she exclaimed, "I don't think I've forgotten anything."

Joe looked at the list over her shoulder. "What kind of coffee are you going to get?"

he asked.

"Oh," replied Betty, "we'll find a bargain in coffee at the store."

Joe thought for a minute, and then said,

"Listen, Betty, if you start that now, we'll be floating around the rest of our married life trying to find a coffee that tastes right. Let's begin housekeeping with Hills Bros. Coffee. It's the most economical to buy because a pound of Hills Bros. Coffee gives more fine cups than any other brand."

Let's begin housekeeping with Hills Bros. Coffee.

DR. TUGWELL PROPHESES

Dr. Rexford Guy Tugwell, chief brain trust and administrative advisor extraordinary, is apparently fond of creating sensations. If this was his purpose in his Albany speech he may be said to have scored a tremendous success.

When Dr. Tugwell offered the prediction that within three hundred years or less the entire middle West will have been transformed into a desert it is possible that he did not fully realize just how much of a sensation his words would create.

Prophecy is a dangerous practice at the best of times. When the prophecy has to do with events scheduled to take place three hundred years in the future prophecy is not only dangerous but foolish.

GOOD WISHES

Perhaps the best of recent evidence of returning confidence in the future of Southern Idaho is to be found in the announcement of the opening of Twin Falls' new bank, the Fidelity National, which will be ready for business in the old First National building today.

In comparison with the banking facilities of other towns and cities the decision to establish a second bank here is in every way logical. For nearly thirty years two banks or more have served the public of this section.

SOCIETY ARRANGED

In East Orange, New Jersey, the other day, our Social Order was brought into court on a criminal charge. This startling action was taken by a group of young people. They went through all the regular formalities.

The Social Order was indicted for failure to provide the younger generation with proper opportunities for employment, moral instruction and education in the arts of marriage and friendship.

It sounds radical, but a year's sober introspection may do the old lady some good.

IT WILL HELP

As long as the doctrine prevails that the way to bring about prosperity is to borrow the money and spend yourself into it Idaho should remain well-satisfied with her share of the Federal funds to be expended by the government in the huge public works program now in the making.

Five million dollars is a sizeable sum, although it does not seem as large as it would have just a few years ago. But by means of it highways, bridges, viaducts and tunnels will add new blood to the life stream of the State and gradually, if the plan works, direct relief will become a thing of the past and unemployment will be remembered only as an unpleasant feature of a rather critical chapter in State history.

The time when the sum of these huge borrowings will have to be repaid is probably far distant. And it is probably a good thing it is. Perhaps we would do better to forget this particular feature of the situation.

PENAL COLONIES

We tax citizens to build expensive penitentiaries for criminals who seldom become penitent. We levy a lot more taxes to guard, feed and maintain these prisons. After they have served, compared notes and plotted more crimes, we parole them, for lack of room, to prey on us again.

The states are unable to cope with certain crimes, especially those of violence, and the federal government must step in at least to the extent of coordinating the law enforcement activities of the multitudinous local law enforcement forces who cannot successfully pursue criminals beyond their own bailiwick.

The federal government should provide at least two penal island colonies to which habitual criminals would be banished, and let them live as they see fit.

These colonies should be large enough to accommodate as many millions of these classes of criminals as they can harbor. They should be self-governing. We should not police them. The land should be capable of sustaining life and the extent of our responsibility should be temporary sustenance.

CRUSADER WITHOUT A DESTINATION

Reverend Charles E. Coughlin, pulpit politician and organizer of the "National Union for Social Justice," is projecting himself into the limelight a little further day by day.

As the tonnage of his mail increased, with contributions from disinterested individuals and radical elements piling up, the reverend gentleman's egotism began to assert his independence of capitalists, conservatives, new dealers and all parties or other economic and civic organizations.

In the collaboration of inflated self-importance and over-wrought emotionalism, was conceived the "National Union for Social Justice," with its program by which to conduct a "gigantic lobby" capable of cracking a whip over legislators, executives and interpreters of law.

This offspring of egotism and opportunism was introduced to a wondering world as the duly accredited foe of "the out-worn creed of capitalism" and the "rotten cult of communism."

During his rise to power in Germany, Hitler presented a picture with a blend of socialist promises and dictatorial hints. Hitler appealed to the American people's racial prejudice, but they will not follow extremists very far.

So it seems that the pulpit politician is nearing the edge of the rostrum. He may stop at that of moment. His voice is no longer listened to as that of any crying in the wilderness. It is the call of a homeless knight for followers in a crusade which leads nowhere.

A New Yorker At Large

By JAMES B. RESTON

NEW YORK—A play that lay in the top drawer of a desk on Broadway for six years is now the Pulitzer award winner. It is "The Old Maid," an adaptation of the novel of Edith Wharton's novel by the same name.

The girl who yanked it out of that drawer was Helen Menken, who is now playing one of the leads in the play. When even its author doubted it would be a success, Miss Menken marched into Producer Harry Mowbray's office with it and tried her entreaties on the boss.

After a run of several months, a play begins to take on its own features and gather its own life. At the moment, for example, the cast of "The Old Maid" is congratulating itself that it has had its first error and is managed to get over it without anyone knowing anything about it.

The second act curtain lowers on Miss Menken deciding that the most joyous thought of marriage to care for her quid. Regained, Miss Menken signifies this decision by morning her "indie" engagement ring as the curtain slowly falls.

Guiding Your Child

By ALICE CLARISSA RICHMOND

LET'S PRETEND

"Mother, I found a fairy ring under the tree. I think the fairies must have been dancing last night. If I hid there tonight and watched for them, maybe I could see them. May I?"

The mother answered quite seriously. "No, dear. Fairies would be dangerous if you were near by, and it really is not kind to spy on them."

When the child had left the room the mother smiled. "Dear me, at her years, still believe in fairies! And do you encourage her? Why, I told my children the truth about Santa and fairies years ago."

"To tell you the truth," was the answer. "I don't think Susan really believes in them either. But she likes to pretend, and so do I. When she asked me about fairies, I told her that as long as she chose to believe in them they were real. Santa Claus, I explained as the spirit of Christmas love."

Little children are like early man. They like to people the world with imaginary beings. If it makes them feel more at home in it. The child who never has a chance to stretch his imagination by believing in the impossible, misses a great deal of the beauty and poetry of life.

It is true that Santa Claus and nymphs and dryads still haunt the world of those who believe in them. Poets and dreamers see them there.

COURT ASKS QUESTIONS

Judge Koelach interrupted counsel frequently today to ask them to clarify points on which he sought further enlightenment than that contained in their briefs.

Arguments on the applicability of the referendum law compiled most of the morning after Franklin Girard, secretary of state, and Roy Dodge, one of the leaders in the referendum movement were called to testify as to the number of signatures on the referendum petitions filed with the secretary of state by the Anti-Sales Tax League.

After Eberle had argued that the referendum-law made the tax act imperative Senator Donart replied.

Their views clashed on interpretations of the constitutional amendment and the statute dealing with the referendum.

They differed as to whether the referendum could apply to a law which was enacted to meet an emergency and extend immediately effective when it was signed by the governor, could be dropped from the statute and suspended until voted upon by the people.

Senator Donart argued the referendum could not be interpreted to apply to such legislation.

Arguments, in which Allaire and Martin figured mainly, dealt with the question of constitutionality. The plaintiffs contended it was not constitutional. They base their arguments on alleged ambiguity of the law, discriminatory features and various other technicalities.

The law was enacted to provide approximately a million dollars annually to care for the state's hundred thousand destitute.

E. Sizer, a national worker, will be present at the meeting.

Darrow Would Stop Prayers For His Soul

CHICAGO, May 17 (AP)—Clarence Darrow wishes prayer would stop praying for his soul.

At his home the aging Chicago attorney, who prays daily after life, said the chain letter had but a drop in the bucket in comparison to his own recent mail which contained 500 letters from self appointed well wishers.

It started a month ago when Darrow celebrated his 78th birthday by reiterating his disbelief in orthodox religious doctrines. For days letters came from Eastern Monday and with it came 500 letters from self appointed well wishers.

"They all said they had read my remarks and were praying for my soul," said Darrow. "One woman cut in from Francisco was doing so every morning at 7 o'clock. I've got them working for me day and night.

"I go to hell now will be my own fault."

Darrow made it clear, however, that he would rather take his own chance than pray for many people while praying for him.

Chapter 17 THE TELEGRAMS Alison gulped down her tea and set the cup down as she got up. She said conventionally to Mrs. Summers: 'I do hope you won't think me so rightfully rude if I rush away?'

'What is he?' Daphne Summers appealed now to her fiance. 'You see, he gave me his telegram to send off and I'd one of my own, and somehow I must've muddled them up. I don't know, quite, returned Alison.

'You asked him that?' That with a faint, sneering smile which jarred. 'No, his father happened to see Alison kept her voice cold and level. 'I see. Did you tell him who you were?'

'How could you?' said Robert fondly. 'Any girl, as well that ends well, isn't it, Alison?'

'Your house.' Alison repeated the two words as if she could hardly grasp the fact. 'There was a tinge of sharpness now in Daphne's voice. 'Oh, nothing. Only, I hadn't thought of it before, that's all,' said Alison quickly.

'I don't live there, of course,' said Alison. 'When I was a child, I used to—and anyway, it's too full of memories. Unpleasant memories.' She gave a faint sigh, followed by a side glance directed at Robert.

'No! Fortunately.' Every fibre of Alison's being was awake now, alert; her mind kept puzzling over this new discovery. Did the telegraph office really make mistakes? After all, they handle incredible numbers of telegrams. Business mistakes made her the more suspicious.

'Very different.' Alison found her voice when Mrs. Summers said, 'Your father has told me so much about that I feel I do know you, about as well as I know him.'

'You will meet him, for I hope he's coming here to lunch,' said Robert. 'I think we're different from most fathers and daughters, when we're said kindly.'

CINCINNATI, May 17 (AP)—The Reds gave the league leading New York Giants a thorough thrumping today as they returned to their home grounds, winning the game 6 to 2. In addition to the defeat, which left them in a virtual tie with Brooklyn but still in first place on the percentage, the Giants lost the services of Joe Moore and Dick Bartell, who were hurt in the ninth inning.

Moore was struck on the right wrist on an unusual pitch in the third inning and it was feared he might have suffered a fracture. Bartell was struck on the head by a hot foul off Parmelee's bat. He was taken to a hospital for examination. Bartell hurt his ankle and was taken to the hospital at the plate in the sixth and limped off after finishing out the inning.

BABE TOTTERS TOWARD FINAL PLAYING DAYS

Ruth's Performance Disappoints Fans At St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, May 17 (AP)—Babe Ruth, the old king of the bat, tottered through seven innings today in a more or less vain attempt to convince the baseball world that he wasn't "through."

The spirit was willing, but the flesh was weak, and after an unconvincing demonstration the vice-president and assistant manager of the Boston Braves, who had left left in favor of a younger man, Rupert Thompson.

The Babe took the field after uttering conflicting statements in reply to New York reports that he intended to retire from active play as the club's catcher because he was no longer possessed his old cunning.

After an almost angry denial of the report, Ruth admitted he might put himself on the voluntary retired list in a week or two, but a persistent cold and gain his playing form.

Play of the old master today left a definite mark in the sound to 10 defeat notwithstanding the world champion St. Louis Cardinals by the score of 10 to 0.

Three thousand fans, a good week-day crowd according to recent St. Louis attendance standards, came largely to view Ruth's activities and left disappointed.

Ruth's demonstration failed to answer the puzzle of his future. The whippersnappers that "Babe is through," growing in recent weeks, were not allayed.

Lawson Little Turns in 74 on Blizzard—Swept on Blizzard—Swept on British Course

By GAYLE TALBOT (Associated Press Sports Writer)
ST. ANNES-ON-THE-SEA, Eng.—May 17 (AP)—America's contingent of 11 amateur golfers, headed by Union-born Lawson Little, began to look bleak today as a blizzard, blanketing Royal Lytham course, where Little will begin the defense of his British amateur championship Monday, with an inch of snow.

The hardy invaders, however, all felt this afternoon for a few practice strokes as Old Sol gave up the black article and turned soft into slush. But it was cold, hard snow. Too hard in fact, for the professional, who were scheduled to play the final 36 holes of the Portland tournament not far from here.

Demand Postponement
The professionals finally gave up as a bad job and with Henry Cotton, British open champion, and A. H. Padgham leading demand that the committee postpone the final round until the weather calmed down.

Little managed to turn in a sparkling 74 despite "bleak" hands and chattering teeth. He was two strokes behind, behind Leslie Garrett, who had a black and white record of 75.

Shares Average Lower as Inflationary Spirit Pelters Out

MARKETS AT A GLANCE NEW YORK, May 17 (AP)—Stocks today, profit-taking, remains advance.

While this doubling prompted a new start of the market, analysts were at pains to point out that it was not the only factor.

A substantial amount of the liquidation, they said, represented profit-taking by traders who wanted to withdraw to the sidelines in order to let the market get its breath after yesterday's swooping advance.

Market weakness was seasoned with a dash of cheer, on the other hand; by the weekly report of "Iron and Brackets" which said that demand for the material in the first weeks was giving way to a more uniform upward trend.

In terms of the Associated Press average stock, the market closed 3.07 a point lower at 42.2.

Mild advances in the utilities continued with widely scattered losses in the rest of the market.

While the run-of-the-mill industrial and rail shares were the preferred leaders, the so-called "blue-chip" stocks were the widest movers.

SCHOOL END PAYS BRING DISCIPLINE

Half of Eighth Grade Class Must Pay for Pop and Cream Puffs

Approximately 100 boys and girls, constituting approximately one half of the Twin Falls school made graduating class, have not yet received their final report cards and grades, nor will they receive them until they have paid for soda pop and cream puffs that they are alleged to have acted in raising on local selling work and a bakery, during a snake dance following a school assembly on the last day of school, last Wednesday.

School authorities, as a measure of discipline, have decreed that report cards and credits shall be withheld until the bill for damages is paid. "We expect to have it all straightened out within a day or two," Mrs. Vera C. O'Connell, school principal, said last evening. Proprietors Retient Proprietors of the raised establishment admitted the student violations, but declined to be quoted. There were rumors that parents of some of the children involved objected to the school authority disciplinary measure, and in one or two instances it was reported a boycott of the raised establishment was being organized in connection with their making complaints. Superintendent of Schools W. B. Storch was out of the school and not reached for comment on the situation last night.
