9,000,000 MILES OF OCEAN-FLYING NAVY'S OBJECTIVE

New Record in Aviation to Mark Completion of Maneuvers When Fleet Returns to San Diego

(By the Associated Press) WITH THE U. S. FLEET IN MANEUVERS WEST OF HAWAII, May 27—Three million miles of flying over the North Pacific will have been accomplished during the six weeks of naval maneuvers.

The greatest part of this flying is by land-based planes from the four carriers operating with the fleet. There are 270 planes aboard the division under Vice Admiral Henry H. Henshaw.

The most spectacular flight of the maneuvers is the 10,000-mile trip of the flying boats, giant air patrols under command of Rear Admiral Alfred W. Johnson.

Thousand Landings on Ocean About a half-million miles will be the problem-flight record of 116 seaplanes which are catapulted from battleships and cruisers.

The longest flight record went to the "Puffin" squadrons under Rear Admiral Johnson's wing, which flew the ships west from San Diego, and by stages went over the coast, Alaskan coast and far out into the ocean.

A fitting climax to this greatest of all air maneuvers ever held in the United States will be the aerial parade over San Diego incident in the fleet's return to California and conclusion of the problem.

ARGENTINA REJECTS QUOTA FOR WHEAT The controversial export quota issue was not discussed at today's session, but the report yesterday was made privately, it was learned.

The quota problem, a stumbling block at all previous conferences, now is being attacked from another angle. Instead of considering the problem in the light of millions of bushels, the big four—the United States, Argentina, Canada and Australia—have agreed to discuss preliminary discussions are expected to begin tomorrow.

Argentina already has passed tentative quota of 148,000,000 bushels and has served notice that she will not accept any restrictions this year. This complicates the French question because the French quota is nearly a million bushels.

JANE ADDAMS

The death of Miss Jane Addams following an operation at a Chicago hospital, brings to an end a notable career.

Miss Addams has been known for years as a welfare worker whose efforts and example have been a source of aid and inspiration to thousands. Some years ago Hull House was established as a sort of nucleus around which her work revolved.

Some twenty years ago Miss Addams began to turn her attention to the cause of international peace. From a sure foundation her books and lectures went forth to the world and her following grew by thousands.

In each field her accomplishments have been noteworthy.

GOVERNMENT BY BUREAU

Irregularities, waste, and failures have been unearthed in the electric light and power industry in America but the fact remains that in no single line of industrial endeavor has there been greater progress, greater growth than in this same light and power business.

The Rayburn-Wheeler bill is ostensibly aimed at holding companies, the idea being to curb and control mass capital so as to forever prevent any repetition of the Insull financial empire and the destruction of thousands of small fortunes throughout the country, and no one is inclined to quarrel with the effort.

The Rayburn-Wheeler bill in its present form would not only control but probably destroy the industry as it exists at present. And the pressure will come not from the States but at the hands of the Federal government operating within the States.

This growing tendency in the direction of government by bureaus constitutes a distinctly new trend and one which will eventually fall of its own weight if it continues.

SISSIES?

Are the young critics of this generation "Assies"? Yes some people say they are, and make the following specifications:

That they make such a cry against war because they are soft and afraid of fight; That they represent a "button-pushing" age, expecting to get two chickens in every pot, two cars in every garage, and so on, as easily as they get light, heat and music by pushing buttons for them.

These charges were answered the other day by a selected group of boys and girls at a "Youth Clinic." We'd like to have heard their answers.

FORECASTER DAWES

General Dawes, it appears, is unshaken in his prophecy of prosperity by mid-summer. That was his promise when he first spoke of it last December, and he will stick to it now, although the time is almost up and fulfillment still seems a little remote. The demand for durable goods will be phenomenal by July, he holds.

We hope he proves to be as accurate in his persistent optimism as the famous Cassandras was in her pessimism.

STUDIES

American looking across the Atlantic may thank God for their democracy and they will be strengthened in their resolve to preserve it at any price.

A recent dispatch from Berlin announced that Adolf Hitler has assumed complete control of the German judiciary. All judges of civil and criminal courts with his personal appointees are subject to discharge by him for any reason he deems adequate. A similar rule is applied to the press. Newspapers throughout Germany exist only by Hitler's sufferance. They must do as they are told. There is no freedom of judgment or conscience as to either editorial content. They must obey orders.

The rights of citizenship announced that citizenship is no longer to be a privilege, it will be conferred upon those only who accept the Nazi dogmas and serve the party. No one, indifferent, refusing to conform, falling to serve, can become a citizen. And, once conferred, citizenship can be taken away at the discretion of the Nazi government.

As Senator Borah said the other day, "tested by the principles upon which our government and our civilization rest, communism, fascism, nazism are all of the same structure," whose one reason for existence is to breed and slave and fight and die for the corporate state. Men and women are no longer citizens, but subjects. They are no longer free, they have no rights. They become but pawns to be moved, swept off the board, at the will of the master.

We look with amazement and horror upon this light that has come upon great and enlightened peoples. Here have so long enjoyed human rights that their value is little noted. Freedom of speech, of the press, of religion, free and open courts, equality before the law, these are the things that make our own manner of life and activity, the right to petition, criticize, condemn government, to change it at our pleasure, to require it, to execute our will—these priceless blessings of a free democracy are common as the air we breathe.

But a great-voiced analysis of sentiment in sixteen western states furnishes fascinating reading for Messrs. Parley and Hurlis. It makes four observations: (1) People follow Huey Long in the headlines but they will follow him to the polls. (2) Parley-tranquilizes the common man—spread respect and sympathy. (3) The president still fires popular indignation but the voters demand results. (4) Roosevelt will should win next year on the basis of current conditions but it will be due to lack of formidable opposition rather than to his accomplishments.

EVERYBODY LOSES

A personal letter from Iowa casually mentions V., a representative there of a lumber mill located in the state of Washington. Business had been good. He had just sold eleven cars of lumber. Now he was idle, for the strike had closed the mill.

The middle class farmer, one of the lumbermen's best and truest customers, has been benefited by prices falling passed on and collected from consumers of his products. He will, it is assumed, return his benefits to other industry by buying the things which his slack means had long denied him, thereby causing other employment and improving the ability of the consumer to pay therefor.

But if the farmer cannot obtain lumber, the farmer will either not repair or build, or he will use substitutes or southern lumber. If he elects to do nothing about his building needs, carpenters and other workmen in his community are denied employment, and the business in Washington goes forever, as it is if he elects to build with lumber substitutes or southern pine.

Northwest lumber enters a market against resourceful and growing competition. And it is a matter of common knowledge and provable fact that the lumber producer has been making on this economic law for several years. If labor costs drive his prices too high he is out of business and so are his employees.

Viewed from any angle, it is impossible to see wherein the present strike will pay anybody, or even result in less than definite loss to employees, employes and community. If there is a striker that does not believe this benefits means that he is a loser accruing from last summer's waterfront tie-up.

BREAKFAST FOOD

A knock a gent rapped at the door. Mrs. Kelly, angry at being interrupted in her work, threw open the door and glared at the man. "Did you wish to see me?" she roared at him.

"The cat backed off the steps and retorted: "Well, if I did, I got my wish. Good day!"

Junior—"Say, daddy, did Adam have only one name?"

Senior—"Certainly. Now you go to sleep."

Restaurant-Patron—"I think I'll take some of that lamb stew. I see the proprietor is eating some of it. It must be good."

(NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS)

WASHINGTON By Ray Towler

FORECAST. Political outlook in the Chesapeake country in Washington. Free-wheeling scouts regularly fill the party coffers with information. The president is to turn to the right, seek to shift far to the left, some to steer a middle course.

But a great-voiced analysis of sentiment in sixteen western states furnishes fascinating reading for Messrs. Parley and Hurlis. It makes four observations: (1) People follow Huey Long in the headlines but they will follow him to the polls. (2) Parley-tranquilizes the common man—spread respect and sympathy. (3) The president still fires popular indignation but the voters demand results. (4) Roosevelt will should win next year on the basis of current conditions but it will be due to lack of formidable opposition rather than to his accomplishments.

High-up advisers draw differing conclusions according to their prejudices. Brain trusters urge upon Mr. Roosevelt an even more liberal policy. Politicians in the White House should not forget how the conservative half lives—and votes.

SKY. Private power magnates often suggest sotto voce that President Roosevelt was accorded by the public a "back porch" when he was young. What they mean is that he seems to have a fanatical obsession about the fact that his quietest critics utilize them that he means to destroy the present general situation. Utility lawyers report that it is the most comprehensive executive order framed in many years. It provides for the nationalization of electric power.

There's the sad joker—Mr. Cooke may accept the voluntary and uncompensated aid of any public or private agencies in making surveys to determine the need, desire and extent of electric power in the country with light and power.

The sky is the limit under that banner. The utilities are beginning to realize it. And the White House—power advisers—Mr. Cooke, Frank P. Rowland, Mayor LaGuardia—are high fives.

FATHING. Some time ago Harry Hopkins claimed that for size in Ohio was shot through with graft and corruption. Governor Dreyer seemed to take the bait and threatened to press it if Lightfoot Harry ever stepped within the state's boundaries.

Guiding Your Child

By ALICE CLARISSA RICHMOND

Nothing is more tragic than the child who loses in the way. Some homes broken by marital disagreements and others by the exigencies of the depression, there are parents who are at a loss as to what to do at the moment at least there seems to be. They have a sense of ineffectiveness and are bound to affect their nerves and perhaps make them permanently unstable.

There have been attempts to patch up the marital. They are in progress. Ohio is a very fine state with a large electoral vote. And after all, both Foster Dreyer and Hurlis-Hopkins, you know, are "good fellows" if they understood each other. It would be wise to watch the developments in this politico-legal case.

PARALYSIS. Republicans of all shades with Herbert Hoover would stop talking for a while. They accuse the Democrats of writing his public statements and interviews for him. They seem to tumble forth at moments designed to aid the administration.

NEW YORK—The town's publishers are having themselves a party. The "placidity of mind" which was taken from them by this year's madness over the Pulitzer prize award.

Because a reporter jumped the release date last year, the committee did not reveal its selections until the following Monday. They were announced at the moment at the Pulitzer dinner in the Commodore hotel.

The fact that this committee was able to keep the selections a secret was remarkable, for every publisher and every newspaper in town was exploring every inside contact in an effort to get the list. That they were unsuccessful was evidenced at the dinner, where publishers sat and dined, and Robert Grosvenor's Pulitzer Forest—and Richard Simon and Max Schuster were there just in case.

The predicament of Simon and Schuster, both tied from the room, is most interesting. They had published Josephine Johnson's Now in November, which had had good notices but had not sold. Of the first printing of 5000 copies, many were on book reviewer's shelves, many more were still unsold in the shops, and 1700 letters were in the Simon-Schuster plant at Binghamton, N. Y.

When the announcement was made, both fled from the room. First of all they wanted to call Miss Johnson. They knew she lived in Webster Grove, Mo., but they did not know her address. So they started calling all the Johnsons in Webster Grove, Mo.

Such situations are inevitable in many lines, but as far as possible the child should be made to understand the circumstances and to realize that he is not in the way. He must feel the sure and abiding love of his parents, and appreciate that, whatever the circumstances, he is an important and essential part of their lives, and that the separation is only temporary.

Children prefer the old and accustomed things and ways. Security and stability are as necessary to them as to plants and trees.

NON-SUIT URGED ON WIDOW'S CLAIM

Standard Oil Company Dis-claims Part In Fatal Auto Crash

A motion, for non-suit was taken under advisement by District Judge Adam B. Barclay in district court here last evening in the "long" case second day of trial of the late Mrs. Mrs. George D. Barclay, of Moscow, Washington, for $30,000 damages from the Standard Oil Company of California and John A. Balch, distributor, on account of fatal injuries received by her husband, Arnold Erling, in an automobile collision near Twin Falls last November 28.

The motion for non-suit was urged by H. N. Fry of counsel for the Standard Oil company on the grounds that Mr. Balch was an independent operator and that there had been no evidence to show that he was an employee of the company. Counsel for Mr. Balch, O. W. Worthington of Boise and J. H. Driver of the car in which Mr. Erling was riding, H. N. Fry of Twin Falls, testified that truck struck his car shortly after it had been hit by another car coming from the highway from a side road. Defense attorneys sought to fix by his testimony the interval between the two collisions, but Mr. Fry was unable to tell positively whether it was three seconds or three minutes.

chambers at noon. A few minutes later the senate was called into the House chamber in a body, with Senator Long (D-La.) who conducted a spectacular filibuster against the joint session, conspicuously absent. Members of the president's cabinet sat just in front of the speaker's chair.

The legislators stood and applauded, when the president appeared, took his place on the raised platform of the speaker, nodded to speaker Byrnes and Vice-President Garner and then with a smile turned to his audience.

He began his speech slowly and in a moderate voice, reading from a manuscript. The first applause came when he explained that with the permission of congress he would continue from time to time to act as his own messenger.

His Printing Press Money... Mr. Roosevelt devoted less of his speech than had been expected to the currency issue raised by the Patman bill. But he left little doubt of his opinion of paper money when he later said "it is decidedly easy method of payment."

He warned that resort to such money would lead to other similar demands on the treasury and reached his first to add:

Leader of Idaho Democrats Sees Bright Prospects

BOISE, May 22 (AP)—The Democratic party's prospects for the 1936 campaign are "very good," Mrs. Frank Johnness of Boise, chairman of the Idaho state Democratic central committee, said today upon her return from the east.

The only woman chairman of a Democratic party state central committee in the United States said she found that the administration appears to be holding its strength, and that President Roosevelt seems to be as popular as ever wherever she went.

Mrs. Johnness had tea with Mrs. Roosevelt at a White House garden party before she left Washington and found the lady's first lady very entertaining, interesting and attractive.

While in the national capital, she met with Mrs. Roosevelt, national chairman of the Democratic national committee; Secretary of War George Dyer of Utah, Mrs. Roosevelt's Congressman; Walter and Clark of Idaho and Senators Foye and Borah.

a fixed income. Every disabled veteran on pension or allowance is on fixed income. This bill favors the able-bodied veteran at the expense of the disabled veteran.

"To make his objections even more emphatic, the president added that every country that has attempted the form of meeting its obligations by the issue of bonds has suffered disastrous consequences."

Focus On Bonus Issue

The great burden of the president's speech was directed squarely against the cash bonus law he eliminated that by 1914, under the existing program, the government will have spent $12,500,000,000 or thereabout the entire cost of the war, in benefits to the war veterans.

"The bill before me provides for the immediate payment of the 1945 year of the certificate," he said. "It means paying $1,800,000,000 more than the present value of the certificates. It requires an expenditure of more than $2,500,000,000, in cash for this purpose."

"It destroys the insurance protection for the dependents of the veterans provided in the original law. For the remaining period of ten years they will have lost this insurance."

"This proposal, I submit, violates the entire principle of the cash bonus benefits so carefully formulated at the time of the war and also the entire principle of the adjusted certificate program of 1924."

"Rejects Relief Argument

Analysing arguments which had been advanced for the bill, the president said that while the expenditure might help retail trade which already is the heavy industries where the great bulk of unemployment exists.

"He contended it could not be considered a relief measure, because needy veterans were being taken care of under other legislation.

"I hold," Mr. Roosevelt said, "that that able bodied citizen, because he wore a uniform and for no other reason should be accorded no treatment different from that accorded to other citizens who did not wear a uniform during the World war."

The president emphasized by designating first himself and then the assembled congress, his contention that cashing of the bonus now was not an obligation of the government.

"If I as an individual own you, an individual member of the congress, one thousand dollars payable in 1945," he said, "it is not a correct statement for you to tell me that I owe you $1,000 today."

Principle Behind Recovery

"As a matter of practical fact, if I put $750 into a government savings bond today, therefore, you can not under the remotest possibility be considered more than $750."

This was the only statement in the entire speech that even intimated the possibility of a future compromise. The rejected Harrison bill proposed giving veterans $770 on $1,000 certificates.

With plain words, Mr. Roosevelt denoted as "ill considered" the argument that payment of the bonus would hasten recovery through mere spending of the money. He contended that every expenditure in the recovery program had been for some "sound principle" and not just to get money out.

"The president" was applauded when he expressed sympathy with arguments that the civilians who remained at home during the war "enjoyed special privilege and unwarranted remuneration" and invited congress to prevent a recurrence of such conditions.

Child Books Ira Dern and Arizona Ace in Headliner

Twin Falls Promoter Pleased With Prospects for Fast Match Between 'Our Iry' and Young Frank Seacatt

Direct from the hot-bed of intermountain grunting and growling comes Salt Lake City's kidnap heavyweight and champion of Utah's arena ranks, terrible and yet placid, Ira Dern. Bill Child has matched the grinded veteran against 22-year-old, Frank Seacatt, in the main event of the American Legion's four-card at Regal hall, Thursday evening, May 22.

"It will be over his latest venture into the realm of the maulers. He left in the throes of the same unprecedented enthusiasm, even after his 'gator had been temporarily cured by a pack of unimpressed 'hous-hounds'."

It seems that Bill, still talking about the undeniable success of his recent bouts, has seldom gone wrong. His first card of the season was an "outstanding success" as he put it. It would be followed with another which he said would be a "white"—no one else thought so and the crowd, including 222, when he fought Max-Mountain Dean to a low-albino he dashed out the same old ballyhoo in an effort to peak the house. The fight was packed, but the show was colorless. His final match, "Strangler" Lewis vs. Pat O'Rocher, had them all at attention.

So perhaps Bill's showman will not be so very successful. He weighed 222 pounds in the straw, is known as an all-round straight wrestler who loves to take on the rough artists. He is a former champion of the world from the best of them and then will suddenly lose to an amateur. At any rate he is one of the finest showmen in the game today and still has enough strength left to lose them high in the throes of his famed airplane spin. Seacatt may be that unknown. Strange things have happened.

Some new boys tangled with several old favorites, make up the supporting card. In his semi-windup, also a two-out-of-three fall fight with an hour limit, Child gives the erstwhile "Rough-House Greek," Leo Papiano, 215, against the "Flying Scotsman," Mike Robert. Robert weighs 210 pounds (minus his kilts) and will make his first intermountain appearance in the Twin Falls ring.

Direct from a tour of New Zealand and Australia, the German middleweight champion and light heavyweight champion of Hawaii, Lou Mueller, will mix with Tiger Backley, Los Angeles, in a one fall match. Both boys weigh 160 pounds.

Two old favorites with Twin Falls, Harry Bartlett, the Cedar City cowboy, will take on Dave Stewart, Iowa welter champion, in the curtain raising single fall match.

East End Baseballers Take Advantage of Errors to Capture Easy Win

BURLEY, May 22—Although Willis of Burley hurled an almost perfect game for Twin Falls here this afternoon, Burley's fast baseball team had little trouble in taking advantage of a down or so Maglo City errors to smother the invading crew, 12 to 2.

Twin Falls started off with a rush as July-Rash, second sacker, smacked out a home run to open the game. That just about ended the scoring, although Donald made it around the bases for Twin Falls in the fifth.

Little Makes Daring 'Shot In A Thousand' Against British Foe

Amateur Titleholder Calls For Mashie Niblick and Chips Over Opponent's Ball Perched on Lip of Cup

(Associated Press Sports Writer)
ST. ANNES-ON-THRE-SEA, England, May 22 (AP)—William Lawson Little, jr., of San Francisco, the defending champion, and four sharp-shooting Americans, including one adopted son, battled their way through to the fourth round of the British amateur golf championship today, over the sun-drenched Royal Lytham St. Annes course.

Accompanying the husky titleholder through today's torrid play were two homespun Americans, Richard M. (Dick) Chapman and Dan R. Topping, both of Greenwich, Conn.; a former New Yorker now living in London, Robert Swegney, and Captain A. Bullock Webster, who has made his home in Monterey, California many years despite his British citizenship.

Two Eliminated
Deposited by the wayide were Harvey W. Bhaifer of New York, who met in the afternoon after a victorious morning match, and T. Butler (Tommy) Walker, jr., of Piping Rock, Long Island, who suffered the same fate in the afternoon at the hands of Eric Piddan, British Walker Cup player in 1932 and 1934 and runner-up in the 1932 championship.

Continuing to shoot even fours for the second straight day, Little left no doubt in the minds of any of the gallery of 3000, who watched him dispose of the Massachusetts country giant, J. Zacharias, but he had to head off in his second round for the title. Apparently the broad-brimmed American has an affinity for the 18th green because it was there he disposed of Eric Martin Smith yesterday and Zacharias today—both by the score of 4 to 2.

The only thing anybody was arguing about tonight was why Little was justified in making one of the most daring and spectacular shots ever seen in any championship when so much of a player's title is at stake. At the second hole Zacharias' ball was on the lip of the cup in four, completely blocking Little's ball which was perhaps 18 inches behind it.

Veterans and Patriotic Organizations Plan Local Observance

Secretary Mr. Sweetley, Twin Falls attorney and veteran of the Spanish-American war, will be invited to deliver the Memorial day address in connection with the parade and exercises at Memorial day next May 30. It was announced at a meeting last evening of representatives of the veterans and patriotic organizations assembled to work out detailed plans for the observance.

William Peck, American Legion post district commander, is to read Lincoln's Gettysburg speech.

Other details of the Memorial day program are yet to be worked out and will be announced within the next few days. Ed Libby, American Legion committee chairman, said.

"The welfare of veterans' children is a constantly expanding responsibility of the American Legion Auxiliary," said Mrs. Turner. My committee is at work continuously bringing aid and care to such children, and we must look to poppy contributions for the chief support of this work."

Tribesmen Reported Killed In Cave-In

MANTAL, P. I., May 22 (AP)—An unconfirmed report that 300 aboriginal tribesmen on the island of Mindoro were killed in the collapse of mountain caves during a typhoon last November was brought to Manila today by Major Tino Coronada, a superintendent for the insular bureau of non-Christian tribes. The caves were said to have collapsed while the tribesmen were congregated in them to avoid the typhoon.

Coronada quoted traders who said natives had told them but 100 persons of a tribe once numbering hundreds had survived. Scores of others were said to have died from injuries.

Coronada said he was unable to confirm the report because the site of the tragedy was so inaccessible.
