OFFICE ANNOUNCES 'KIDNAPED BOY WILL BE RETURNED ALIVE'

Terse Statement of State Police Chief Suddenly Breaks Silence Surrounding Abduction at Tacoma

(By The Associated Press) TACOMA, May 30.—The terse statement of a prominent Washington state officer that kidnaped George Weverhauser will be returned alive suddenly broke the night's impenetrable silence to which surrounding the boy's abduction.

Officially breaking the veil of secrecy about the $200,000 ransom...

Canadian Police Seek Kidnaped Tacoma Boy... British Columbia police tonight were investigating a report that a car containing three men and a boy said to resemble George Weverhauser, nine-year-old Tacoma child, was seen near Agassiz, British Columbia, last night.

Chief Cole's remarks, which he did not augment, were the first to come from an officer who has permitted use of his name since nine-year-old George was abducted last Friday noon on his way home from school.

Karpis Gangster Hunted... The patrol head would not explain the basis of his remarks, which came on the heels of rumors that secretly-working federal agents were seeking a "key" man in the case, supposedly a member of the gang.

Renewed activity around the Weverhauser kidnap... The kidnapping of nine-year-old George Weverhauser, which his abductors were reported to have demanded $200,000 ransom reported awaiting them.

British Columbia police also investigated a report that a car containing three men and a boy said to resemble little George had been seen in the vicinity of Agassiz.

Three Boxes Delivered... Even as family sources disclosed nothing had been heard from the little lumberer, his observers noted a point of coincidence with the household coincident with the delivery.

Petillo Sets Record As Indianapolis Race Claims Fourth Victim

Driving Madman From Los Angeles Rears To Victory At Average Speed Of 106.24 Miles An Hour

INDIANAPOLIS, May 30.—(AP)—Wild-riding Kelly Petillo, leader of the Los Angeles Italian riding a cream-colored streak of thunder and lightning, today won the fastest 500-mile automobile race ever staged on the Indianapolis speedway, as death again put its gruesome stamp on the 25-year old spectacle.

Coming out of the treacherous northwest turn of the 2 1/2-mile brick paved oval only 32 1/2 miles after the green flag sent 23 mighty little thunder wagons roaring away in brilliant sunshine before a record shattering crowd of 155,000.

CRIPPLES WAGING STRIKE FOR JOBS

Three Girls and Two Men Invoke Hunger to Enforce Demand

NEW YORK, May 30.—Six young paralytic cripples waging a hunger strike in the Department of Welfare offices today, determined to obtain jobs for 200 members of the Unemployment League for the Physically Handicapped.

The girls, three and two men, called at the headquarters of City Relief Administrator Oswald W. Knauth yesterday and after unsuccessfully seeking an interview with him refused to leave.

The officers, which are on the 20th floor of a lower Broadway building, were closed today on account of the holiday and except for a few watchmen were under orders not to molest them, the six strikers occupied the place in solitude.

As they passed their 21st hour with only a sandwich and a few chocolate bars for food, a disturbance developed in the street before a committee of sympathizers sought to visit them.

Police saw three or four members of the crowd that gathered, but quiet was restored when two members of the public were permitted to enter the building. They were accompanied by a nurse.

GOOD WORKERS TO RETURN TO MILLS

Longview Vote Seen As Turning Point in Lumber Strike

PORTLAND, Ore., May 30.—(AP)—A steady stream of news said widespread settlement of the west lumber strike was developing swiftly.

More than a thousand voters at Longview last night gave a vote of confidence on the "mutt plan" of settlement and the strike ended here at the turning point in the strike called May 6, that made 40,000 men idle and stopped tremendous payrolls.

Nudists Stay But Faro Barred From Exposition

SAN DIEGO, Calif., May 30.—(AP)—A steady stream of humanity paid its two-bit a head today and filed into the fairgrounds, where it is bound to see life in the raw at the California Pacific International exhibition.

In an adjoining section of the exposition grounds countless others made Gold Gulch the rendezvous of the nudists and their intended to depict.

Law Posts Guards... But the fact that there is nothing in the natural playground ground had taken some of the roost out of Gold Gulch and prevented some of the nudists from entering in by keeping a closed watch on deserted and deserted gambling devices.

There was no faro bank in the stamp mill of Gold Gulch. Neither was there any spinning of the roulette wheel, the entire character of gambling dominos.

CHACO FOES AGREE TO CEASE FIGHTING

Nations Tentatively Decide To Halt Hostilities; Truce Looms

BUENOS AIRES, May 30.—(AP)—A trace in the bloody fighting along the Chaco front seemed likely today, as the Argentine and Bolivian negotiators tentatively agreed to halt hostilities pending the outcome of peace negotiations.

The Bolivian delegation here to discuss settlement of the war with representatives of American neutrals arrived during the morning at the Bolivian legation and afterward issued this statement:

"Bolivia has agreed to negotiate a truce with the Argentine army, but serving their actual position. During it (the truce) direct negotiations there is expressed the opinion that the territorial conflict or to negotiate an agreement for legal arbitration which may end the Bolivian-Argentine controversy."

LEADERS HOPEFUL OF SAVING NRA AT PRESENT SESSION

Doughton Resolution Follows General Lines Set Forth by Supreme Court Ruling, High Official Declares

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, May 30.—Indications that some administration leaders believe they might get legislation at this session of congress which would continue a large part of NRA while still meeting 99 per cent of supreme court objection to the old law came tonight from an authoritative source.

It was suggested by a high official, who desired that his name be not used, that the Doughton NRA resolution—under consideration by a house committee when the court acted on Monday—followed the general lines set forth by the supreme opinion. This plan was advanced as only one of several submitted for President Roosevelt's consideration.

Memorial Day Observance Occupies America... The pledge of the nation to forever keep hallowed the memory of those who fell in wars was repeated throughout the land yesterday.

Memorial Day was observed in metropolitan and hamlet, impressive parades moved through the streets as the ranks of blue and gray and khaki marched on the 60th Memorial day.

But straight and strong, the troops of the Spanish-American and World wars, regular army soldiers and younger members of patriotic organizations filled in the gaps.

Thousands turned out to see the parades, visit the cemeteries, pay their homage at churches, or assemble at battlefields, such as the Alamo and Gettysburg.

FLANDIN DEFEATED ON MONEY ISSUE

Bouisson, Presiding Officer, Attempts to Form New Government

(Copyright, 1935, Associated Press) PARIS, May 30.—The towering Premier Pierre-Etienne Flandin was overthrown tonight in his bid to form a new government.

The government, seeking to stem the flood of gold from the Bank of France, launched simultaneously a plan to raise the gold standard, closing at least one "financial establishment."

Devaluation of the franc, which Flandin predicted would follow his fall, retained its force as a threat.

SUICIDE FOLLOWS MURDER ATTEMPT

Oklahoma Kills Self With Razor After Preparing Two Graves

POTEAU, Okla., May 30.—(AP)—A Bessie story of a man who dug two graves, attempted to lay his wife and then killed himself by slashing his throat with a razor was told by Leflore county officers here after investigating the death of W. V. Terry, 41-year-old farmer.

Officers were told that Terry attempted to place his wife in one of the graves and attempted to attack her with the razor. She pulled away from him, however, and ran for aid.

The officer said Terry dug a grave at the home a week ago, but the excavation was filled with water by a heavy rain. Yesterday Terry placed her in a second grave the officers were told.

PACIFIC GROVE, Calif., May 30.—(AP)—Shot in the back of the head of Everett King, middle aged painter, and his wife, who police said were found in a rooming house, were found by their two young daughters in an upstairs bedroom of their home here today.

The two girls, Alma, 16, and Alice, 15, discovered the tragedy that had taken their father and mother after they had risen from bed and, not wishing to disturb their parents, had prepared their own breakfast.

The father and mother had heard no shot during the night, though a single-barreled shotgun was used. Police said King apparently shot himself in the back of the head and then released the gun, held it between his knees and pulled the trigger.

DEMOCRAT SCORES ROOSEVELT'S AIDES

"Nothing But 'Yes Men' Get to See Franklin Now," Lawmaker Avers

WASHINGTON, May 30 (AP) — Calling upon President Roosevelt as "quarterback" to quit the "alleged legal wizard" from his football team, Representative Martin J. Kennedy, New York Democrat, said yesterday the "troop of laugh-backs" Attorney General Cummings, Donald R. Richberg and Felix Frankfurter should be replaced by new talent.

"Franklin, old boy, now that their brains truster and their theories had had their day in—and their day out—court why don't you return to your Albany kitchen cabinet custom: Clear out the B-T's (brain truster) and alleged legal wisecracks and get some country constitutional lawyer and hard-headed common sense cronies who are as anxious over the safety of the people and government as you are."

"We would try to be sound, Franklin, instead of like those legal wizards whose tangled mazes befuddled and stultified you and others but which failed to charm the straight-thinking constitutional eye of the supreme court."

NEPHEWISM

It costs the country something over $20,000,000 a year to maintain Congress in the style to which it is accustomed, and $2,200,000 goes for clerk hire.

This "nepotism" or "nephewism" was assailed the other day by Representative Mitchell of Tennessee. "In these days of acute unemployment," he argued, "every fair-minded member of this house should be satisfied with having only one member of the family on the legislative payroll."

The House thought otherwise. There were only 18 supporting votes. And a companion amendment to abolish the mileage allowance of members was voted down with a roar that shook the Capitol building, with only its author voting for it.

This sort of thing is natural and human. But members of Congress would be regarded more respectfully if they showed more self-respect in such matters.

NEWS-REEL SHOCKS

There has been criticism of news-reel pictures lately on the score of gruesomeness. Some patrons have been shocked at pictures presenting death scenes, terrible accidents or acute suffering.

Theater managers and news-reel producers were in a difficult spot. Should they give up all news subjects of an unpleasant nature, and confine their pictures to celebrities, parades, ship arrivals, and so on? Not long ago they were criticized for showing that sort of thing too regularly. Spectators were bored.

One news-reel company is now experimenting with a compromise. As a horror picture approaches, sensitive persons are warned of it. For example, pictures were shown of a recent uprising in Cuba. Then came this message, "run slowly—enough for all eyes to read:

"Firing Squad Ends Life of Cuban Rebel. You are about to witness a stark chapter in the Cuban government's fight against insurrection. If you do not care to look death in the face, PLEASE CLOSE YOUR EYES."

SECURITY

Everybody wants "security." Nearly everybody is talking or writing about it. But can't seem to agree about the meaning of the word.

"So I, who have a headache and a cold. A debt, a sheaf of bills that must be paid. A melancholy mood, a sense of sin. A hope, a hope and a broken heart— So I, who look upon a world outside Crowded with workless workers, foodless babes, Loud with the walls of cheated, broken men— So I, who, coveting simplicity, Am sick of sophistry and subterfuge, Exasperated cry: 'Give something else. Or take away the rest! Give us a change. From this our treadmill. We repudiate Your guarantee—what is it but a treat? If we must have, what will we have? Today, to incline with your security!'

NO OCCASION FOR SQUAWKING (Baker, Oregon, Democrat-Herald) There will be plenty of squawking about the wage rates prescribed by the president for employment under the "work-relief" act, some sincere, some merely for effect.

Discrepancies will appear and modifications will be necessary, but as it is there is nothing from a mentally wrong with the scale set up. It varies according to sections of the country as it should, because living costs vary a great deal, being much lower in the southern states and higher in cities than in rural districts.

The chief complaint is that the government has not tried to match the wages paid in private employment. We wonder how much congressional wailing about this feature is mere demagoguery. The higher the wages paid the sooner the money would be exhausted, the less employment furnished and the less work done. It is manifestly impossible for the government to compete with private employers in raising up wages on this kind of work.

Nor do we expect the comparatively low scales to depress other wages. Surely 3,500,000 men employed for enough to get by is not a drag upon other employment than the same number of men idle. They are taken out of the labor market, which should firm up wage scales. And the government wants the men it employs to continue to look for other jobs, taking them whenever they can do as well or better by themselves.

Wide available all around for interested parties to stop howling about incidental defects in the work-relief program now that it has been settled upon, and to do all possible to help it realize its objective of starting business recovery that will employ the nation's workers and enable the government gradually to cease trying to furnish what might be unsatisfactory substitutes for real jobs.

RAILROADS GO AFTER THEIR LOST BUSINESS (Kansas City Star)

In 1921 every person in the United States traveled on an average 440 miles a year on railroad trains. In 1933 this average distance had declined to 130 miles. Coincidentally railroad passenger earnings fell off about one billion dollars a year.

Methods now being adopted by the railroads to regain part of the business are discussed in the May 24 issue of Railway Age, president of the Burlington Lines. The discussion is based largely on the Burlington's experience with the streamline Zephyr now operating between Kansas City, Omaha, and Lincoln. The run from Kansas City to Omaha with 10 stops is made in 59 miles an hour. The Zephyr with a diesel oil motor has increased the operating cost from 65 cents a mile to 34 cents. Traffic has greatly increased. Passenger revenue has more than doubled.

Other roads, the Union Pacific and New Haven, are using Diesel motor trains. The New York Central is streamlining its main line between New York and Boston. The Baltimore and Ohio is preparing to experiment with both Diesel and steam streamlining, while the Milwaukee is about to put in service a streamline steam locomotive capable of doing 120 miles an hour. What with air conditioning, new electric power and higher speed, the railroads are waking up.

COMFORT FOR PAUL REVERE (New York Sun)

Prof. Jarvis H. Morse of Brown University has made an intensive survey of Paul Revere's ride and finds it was a much overrated affair. He does not impugn the silvermaster's performance as an equestrian, but he holds that his riding was bad. Mr. Morse says: "It is Paul Revere's ride, not his ride, so fast the night of April 19-18, 1775, there would have been twice as many patriots on Lexington green when the British appeared at sunrise. Revere helped spread the news too far ahead of time. The British brought some 100 volunteers together about 10 miles from the green, but as nothing happened nearby half them were tired of waiting. Some went home and others retired to the Buckman tavern near by to bolster their courage with a spot of grog."

When the British finally arrived about sunrise on the 19th only half the original force of the company were on hand to begin the military history of the American revolution. This is perhaps the first exhaustive quantitative analysis that has been made of Revere's ride. Hitherto students have been willing to approach the subject in a poetical mood or to regard it as a picturesque adornment of a movement of great moment. The British empire and to its colonials, a brave moment of remembering and celebrating because it discloses in a vivid manner and temper of a people and the ingenious means they adopted to further what to many appeared to be a project of imbecility. This approach may be deplored by the professional mind, but, ah! how human it is!

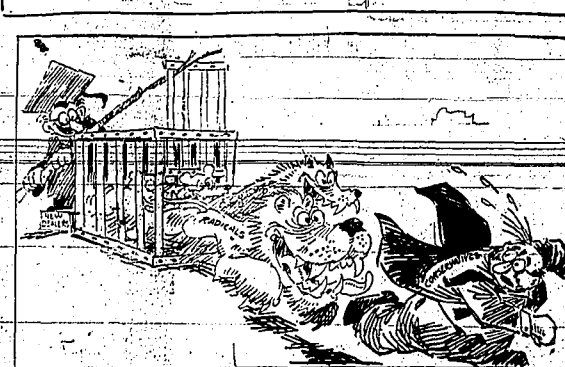

And perhaps it is fair to Paul Revere to say that though 2 by the village clock at the bridge in Concord it has been too early, he did succeed in getting enough men from Middlesex and farms to prove that his cry of alarm was a cry of defiance and not of fear, and this, after all, was the important thing.

BREAKFAST FOOD

Wife—'I wonder why it is that a political mile is nearly a seventh longer than a mile on land?' Husband—'Well, darling, you know things aren't in the water.'

DEFINED Jimson was relating his experiences in India. "I was taking my usual morning dip when I spotted three gladiators making for me, to I had to swim for dear life." "You mean navigators—something like a crocodile?" interposed Johnson. "What are gladiators?" "Oladitors? Why, that's a sort of flower grown from bulbs."

Remember Who Turned 'Em Loose?

A New Yorker At Large

JAMES B. BESTON

NEW YORK—Broadway is now the Park Row of the town.

For years, the entertainment world, from the National League to the Metropolitan Opera, has been stealing reporters from the papers. And many city editors are becoming a little afraid to send their best men over to Times Square.

When the old world came to an end, the motion picture industry grabbed Herbert Bayard Swope, its managing editor. Now he is head of the Keith-Albee-Orpheum circuit. Edward Ziegler, former music critic on the New York Sun is assistant general manager of the Met, and Ford Frick, only two years ago a sports writer on the Journal, is president of baseball's National League.

That famous pitr from the Chicago city desks, Ben Hecht, and Charlie MacArthur, are of course in the picture business, and judging from the success of their latest Noel Coward offering, they are likely to stay in it.

Sliding back a few years, you can pick up that famous figure of the stage, Daniel Frohman, who at one time was on the Tribune and the Graphic. Lee Shubert, one of the outstanding producers in the theater today, got his early training on the New York Dramatic News.

Jed Harris, who produced Broadway and is now in great demand in Hollywood, began his career as a typewriter for the now defunct New York Clipper. It was this training

VAN BORING (He never says a word) By Tish Tash that led to his famous quarrel with Hecht and MacArthur over the casting of The Front Page, which was written by the famous Chicago pair. Harris was directing the play and selected Osgood Perkins to play one of the leading roles, but neither Hecht or MacArthur thought he would do. They were so stubborn on the point that Harris finally had to say "Then we'll both go." That kept Perkins in the cast and proved Harris was right, for Perkins was the only responsible for the success of the show. Most of the playwrights with plays on the street today stemmed from the city room. Zoe Akins, whose The Old Maid, won the Pulitzer prize, was drama critic on one of the St. Louis papers, and Lillian Hellman, the girl in her twenties who wrote the splendid play, The Children's Hour, has done little else but write scripts for the papers. The Green Pastures was great. The Petrified Forest, was written by that former movie reviewer for the Herald, Robert Sherwood.

Among the others who have moved up or down (according to your point of view), from the dailies, are Fred Jackson, whose The Blahog Malabar, is having a good run. Maxwell Anderson, another World man, who has been the center of a dispute in the theater because of the excellence of his last two plays, Mary of Scotland and Valley Forge, and of course, Marc Connelly, who penned The Green Pastures after leaving the Pittsburgh Sun.

He told of his assistant's tramps from office offices in an effort to figure out jobs, and then to fill them with the "right people." "Nobody," he said, "believes in organization and reward for party service more than I do."

But there are certain cabinet members and emergency heads, Jim explained, who don't understand the elements of organization politics. Such men as secretaries of the Interior and Morgenthau—loud Jews from his audience and Harry Hopkins? So what is a poor national chairman to do!

DOUBTFUL President Roosevelt's favorite New Deal experiment is the CCC camps. Jim insists upon detailed statements of their progress, and he has demanded frequent reports of economic conditions upon the woody recruits. So far they have not been any too encouraging. Follow-up surveys of the first three camps showed that 18, 40 and 84 per cent of the men had returned home. Since none had work when they went to camp this is regarded as a fairly high average. President Roosevelt's standard of success went off rather when the youngsters began to send back their pay envelopes. About 20 per cent remained off permanently. This is the bright side of the picture.

But other statistics indicate that the camps may have created a spirit of restlessness. About 38 per cent of the camp membership never returned home. They take to the road and become "wild boys." They develop twinkling looks. New Deal statistics—unless—handled—figure out how this percentage of wanderers compares with the number who ordinarily leave the parental nest for the city or economic life.

INSPIRED? Unexpected opposition to the Wagner labor disputes bill has arisen in the West. It may be the result of a fairly large negative vote in the house. More important still, it indicates that the heraldic cry of anti-union farmers and industrial workers is still far distant.

THE measure's sponsors have received letters from members of farmer co-operatives urging them to vote against the bill. What the operators of the America and what milk and other agricultural plants fear is that their employees may organize unions and higher wages and shorter hours.

The measure's sponsors are making a campaign of these lines. They contend that some are inspired by eastern industrial interests and by such groups as the packers and millers. Guiding Your Child

BY ALICE CLARIBEE ROEBRAND

FREE CHOICE Mr. Jones invited his daughter Margaret to go walking with him. The two were very congenial and had been talking over the matter for some time. They were delighted to go. But this time she had planned to attend a movie with some friends and so excused herself. Mr. Jones was hurt and said, "You are not going with me, are you?" Margaret asked her father to go with her but he would not have anything to do with it. He wanted to go, and would have been very much surprised if she had not gone. He was disappointed in his company or had sulked or looked hurt because he would not go. He would have called her behavior childish and selfish.

It never occurred to him that he was behaving in just the same way. Yet Margaret was quite so much within her rights when she refused his invitation as he would have been to refuse hers. There is no obligation on a child to go wherever and whenever it is asked by a grown-up. It is as much a child's right to be asked and not to do as the implication of a request is that the child has the right to refuse. It is leaving given the child the choice, the parent has no right to feel slighted or to express a sense of injury. It does not hurt a child to be practically unnecessary. However the outdoor girl views the boyish bob from a different angle. It saves her the expense and hours of sitting for hairdressing.

HAIRDRESSERS DESPAIR AT BOYS' BOBS RETURN

LONDON—Hairdressers, although complaining—because, although feminine styles are to the fore this summer and autumn is giving way to peaches-and-cream complexion, the boyish bob is becoming popular again. One hairdresser declared, "If the Etretz Crop returns our trade will be practically unnecessary." However the outdoor girl views the boyish bob from a different angle. It saves her the expense and hours of sitting for hairdressing.

HOOVER SEEKS VIEW OF MAN ON STREET

Former President Eludes Quiz; Shows Interest In Public Opinion

HERBERT Hoover arrived here tonight under what the man in the street thinks of as a downfall, but refusing to tell the man in the street what he thinks about it.

The former president, enroute here this afternoon from Rock Springs, Wyo., where he spent last night, parried questions with newsmen along the way, indicating an interest in the manner in which the public has received the supreme court's decision.

Making himself unavailable to newspapermen here—the former president secluded himself at the home of Dr. Hubert Work, former secretary of the interior and fellow candidate of Mr. Hoover in the Harding and Coolidge administrations. He said he had no statement to make on the NRA decision, but the publisher proceeded today of Charles Curtis, vice president during the Hoover administration, concerning Republican territorial possibilities.

The former president tomorrow will attend commencement services at the Colorado School of Mines, Golden, and will receive an honorary degree of doctor of engineering.

He will leave here Saturday for Des Moines, Iowa, where he will deliver the commencement address at Drake university.

H. G. WELLS POINTS TO NATION'S NEED

Historian Urges Potent and Critically Helpful Republican Party

NEW YORK, May 30 (AP)—America's most urgent need at the moment was held by H. G. Wells today to be a potent Republican party.

"The thing most conspicuously absent from the contemporary American scene and the thing most urgently needed in American political life is a clear-speaking, well-learned, well-organized, and well-organized opposition of honorable men, a Republican opposition as a resolute, creative as the president himself, neither obstructive, nor (though, but critically helpful), said the British historian and economist.

The true task of an opposition in a Democratic state is not the frustration of government, he contended, but its criticism and the preparation of alternative methods.

Sounds Grim Warning Wells, writing in Collier's Weekly, continues.

"The raucous voices (Long, Coughlin, etc.) are the residual forces of America, America in default fails to them. America needs no so high, consciously taking the leadership of mankind, she will go low and drag the world down with her."

Wells, who came here to study the New Deal, said the policies pursued thus far at Washington were "the sketchiest and most incomplete anticipations of the real planning that is demanded."

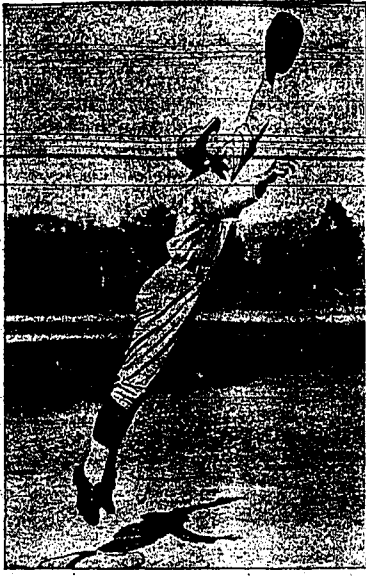

But he said, if the New Deal is not strong, clear leaders to support President Roosevelt.

"It is preposterous to think of this as a one-man job, to set up the president as something between a divinity and a cockay, and hold him responsible for the whole business," he said.

In multiple births. That was the year Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Bradley, on their Ohio farm, became parents to an octette, three boys and five girls, all in one day.

A local historian produced a copy of an old newspaper dated August 4 of that year. The story telling of the octette's birth was credited as correspondence of the New York Tribune.

While no record was available as to whether the eight babies lived for an appreciable length of time, the report said:

"They are all living and healthy, but quite small. Mr. Bradley's family is increasing fast. He was married six years ago to Eunice Mowery who weighed 175 pounds on the day of her marriage."

"She has given birth to two pairs of twins and now eight more, making 12 children in six years."

Senators Submit Problems to Borah

WASHINGTON, May 30 (AP)—With such import did the supreme court decision on NRA light amid proposed legislation that some of the "authorities" among congressional members have opened "schools" on the constitution.

Four senators with major measures to sponsor have appeared in the office of Senator Borah (I-Idaho) for consultation on constitutional phases of questions involved in the legislation. The Idahoan himself declined to name any of them.

O'Reilly, who was baptized into the church by Mr. Eskridge, was slain on a street corner in Orange with a shotgun fired from a motor car. Mr. Eskridge, a 220-pound man with the physique of a football player, emphasized when arrested in his car shortly afterward near De Ridder that he was not fleeing but had intended surrendering voluntarily in Louisiana.

He talked freely of his past life, mentioning that while a student at Cumberland university, Lebanon, Tenn., about 20 years ago, he was forced to lead a mob which lynched a Negro.

He studied law at the university and termed himself "a good criminal lawyer, even if I do say it. He recalled playing football in his younger days and said he was a "captain of cavalry during the World war."

MURDER-CHARGED MINISTER DECIANT

Accusers Pastor 'Enemies' by Brand Held in Louisiana Jail

DE RIDDER, La., May 30 (AP)—A minister who can write his name with a "s" instead of a "t" was a local sensation here and likes horse races, flashed defiance through steel-barred eyes tonight in his jail cell as he branded "enemies" those who accuse him of killing a Texas officer.

Rising to his full height of six feet two inches, the Rev. Edgar T. LeBlanc, 40, announced he would wage the most bitter battle of his turbulent career to prevent being released to Orange, Tex., after the trial of the slaying (here) of Police Chief Ed J. O'Reilly.

"However, I'll go back willingly with Texas Rangers," said the dapper minister of the Baptist church at Orange, James V. Alford of Texas issued a requisition to Gov. O. K. Allen of Louisiana for extradition of LeBlanc.

"A vice-crusher and bitter critic of law enforcement in Orange county, Texas, he declined to discuss accusations that he killed O'Reilly because the officer arrested him on a charge of impersonating a Texas Ranger during a raid Sunday on a night club.

Woman 'Answers' Threat With Verse

NEW YORK, May 30 (AP)—A poem entitled "With Her Hair Up" was the answer of Mrs. Lillian Specht, wife of one of the Schechter brothers, to a letter threatening her with bodily harm.

Mrs. Schechter did not turn the letter over to police, she said, because she did not take it seriously. Instead she answered it as follows:

Success bears emity
—This we all know
As our case
Will clearly show.
For while we get
Handshakes and wishes,
We also get curses
and "HEARS."
It was the supreme court
That gave the decision:

PROTECT YOUR LIFE AND THE LIVES OF OTHERS!

THERE are three questions you should ask yourself about the tires you buy:

- 1—"Will the non-skid tread give me the greatest traction and protection against skidding?"
- 2—"Are they built to give me the greatest safety protection?"
- 3—"With sacrificing these two important safety features will they give me longer mileage, thus making them the most economical tires I can buy?"

Answer No. 1—Harvey S. Firestone early realized the value of tire traction and safety, and was the first to design an All-Weather Non-Skid Tire. Through the years, Firestone has led the way in the design and development of tires with most effective non-skid treads.

Firestone does not depend solely on traction and non-skid tests made by its own engineers—it employs a leading University to make impartial tests for non-skid efficiency of its tires, and their most recent report shows that Firestone High Speed Tires stop the car 15% quicker than the best of all popular makes of tires.

Answer No. 2—Blowout protection must be built into a tire. Friction and heat within the tire is the greatest cause of blowouts. Firestone protects its tires from friction and heat by a patented process which soaks every cord and insulates every strand with pure liquid rubber. This is an additional process known as Gum-Dipping, by which every 100 pounds of cotton cords absorb eight pounds of rubber. This extra process costs more and is not used in any other make of tire.

Leading race drivers investigate the inherent qualities of the tires they use, because their very lives depend upon their tires, and they always select Firestone Tires for their daring speed runs. In fact, Firestone Tires have been on the winning cars in the gruelling Indianapolis 500-mile race for fifteen consecutive years, and they were the only 500-mile record-car that A.J. Foyt, driving a 3,000 miles in 23 1/2 hours on the hot salt beds at Lake Bonneville, Utah, at an average speed of 127.2 miles per hour, without tire trouble of any kind. These amazing performance records are proof of the greatest blowout protection ever known.

Answer No. 3—Thousands of car owners reporting mileage records of 40,000 to 75,000 miles, in proof of the long mileage and greatness economy by equipping with Firestone High Speed Tires. Let these unequalled performance records be your buying guide.

Go to the Firestone Auto Supply and Service Store or Firestone Tire Dealer and let him equip your car with Firestone Tires, the safest and most economical tires built.

SOUTH IDAHO GETS DOWNPOUR OF RAIN

Heaviest Precipitation in Years Reported; Salmon Halts Delivery

South Central Idaho received a deluge yesterday that has not been equaled in a good many seasons. And early this morning it was still raining.

Rainfall in Twin Falls surpassed the one inch mark last evening, according to unofficial reports. During the 24-hour period from 8 a. m. Wednesday to 8 p. m. Thursday the government weather observer reported a fall of .96 of an inch and this was increased considerably last night.

Irrigation water, deemed necessary by farmers of the Salmon area, and turned on Monday for a 10-day run, was turned off yesterday noon as the downpour continued. The water was turned on for three and one-half days and this rainfall will serve to augment the water supply in Salmon reservoir, W. M. McClure, irrigation superintendent for the Salmon River Canal company, said last evening.

Rainfall at Hollister had reached 47 of an inch early yesterday morning and it was estimated that another inch had fallen later in the day. This was also the case at Salmon river dam, where 81 of an inch was reported early yesterday, and at San Jacinto, Nevada, where 1.17 inches was reported.

The North Side also received considerable benefit from the rain, which reached 86 of an inch last evening as the downpour continued. Burley, Buhl, Gooding and Rupert were also reported to have received their respective shares of the downpour.

New Dental Chair Plays Music Into Bones of Patient

DETROIT, May 30 (AP)—A new dental chair which plays music into the back of a patient's head while the drill bores his tooth is being tested here.

The music, by traveling through the bones, makes the grinding noise and pressure of the drill less objectionable. It is done by a novel use of the latest bone conduction instruments, developed for the deaf.

Tipped back, the patient's head contacts two plates fixed in the headrest. They are the new sound bone conduction plates and are attached to a phonograph, by wires leading into another room.

No sound is audible to the ear. But when the head touches the plates they transmit the music, clearly and perfectly, through the bones.

Attempts to use music to ease dental suffering are not new. But they have been by way of the ear.

Departure From Memories Seen In Government Moves

Captain E. M. Sweeley, Veteran of Two Wars, in Memorial Day Address Calls For Restraint Of Unbridled Power

Veteran of Spanish and World wars and former Twin Falls mayor, Captain E. M. Sweeley, in his Memorial Day address delivered here yesterday challenged unprecedented grants of power to American officials and agencies for action to keep this land to its purpose of being a land where the principles of human liberty are preserved. Captain Sweeley's address follows:

MEMORIAL DAY, 1935

Memorial Day of 1935. For us a day of renewed memories; a day of searching thought; a day of love; a day of prayer.

Like the name Memorial Day better than I do Decoration Day. We place upon the resting places of our heroes the petals of the flowers of the year's new flowers, but we hold in our hearts wreaths of memories far more beautiful, and enduring.

All over our nation today the comrades have come together to do public and reverent honor to memories. To the memories we hold of our comrades who gave themselves for the nation's good, they have come on a little ahead of us in the great march of time, their work done, their part played, their duty well performed. But they left us a debt both sacred and binding, and we are here to consider our fulfillment of that obligation, in the light of our memories.

Memories' Practical Value

Memories are most powerful forces. History is only recorded memories. As we go along through life the impressions of the current days are fading, but the memories of our loved ones leave us and go on ahead through the portals of death, our sense of loss and our sorrow about our loved ones, our sorrow about our loved ones, our sorrow about our loved ones, our sorrow about our loved ones.

But with our feelings there runs a practical value in memories. It so happens that our nation is beset with problems today. I said a little while ago that our departed comrades had left with us a charge and a duty. The charge that the nation should hold true to its course, keeping a land where the principles of human liberty should be preserved.

There have been times when that course has been threatened, sometimes by internal dissension, sometimes by foreign enemies. But to each such threat there were those men in our nation ready to offer themselves, and all of themselves, to its preservation. These men we are proud to call our comrades. But, that we may rightfully hold the term for ourselves we must in our turn, if the present problems of the nation constitute a threat to its great course, bear our fair share.

In Grasp of Experiments

For the last two and a half years we have been in the grasp of a series of experiments. In the years following the world war a successful policy of retreating the nation's debt forced into industry billions of dollars of private capital. This money had to find a place to work, to make an earning. It had to get out and hustle. Competition of that money for places to work was keen. It led to great developments, then to speculation. Then the speculative surge reached its end, and we found ourselves in a depression.

Power Grabbers Busy

On Monday of this week our Supreme Court, holding to the Constitution, brought one of the major experiments up with a short turn. Back of the decision can be found the ingrained objection of public power exercise. But the power grabbers are already busy with apologies with threats, with direful predictions, urging you and me again to forget our memories and go on to other and greater grants of power.

Unbridled Power is the foe of human liberties.

The possession of power means the use, and then the abuse, of power. Our comrades left us the charge to keep this land to its purpose of being a land where the principles of human liberty are preserved. Power once granted is hard to get back. A very brief look at our present situation will convince you. More bureaus than ever in our history, even in war time. More people on the government payroll, and the number growing day by day as the "brain trust" evolves new

Summons Memories

CAPTAIN EVERETT M. SWEELY, Twin Falls attorney and veteran of Spanish and World wars, in Memorial Day address applies lessons of experience to nation's present problems.

The colonies knew at first hand, and by bitter experience, that unbridled power was dangerous. And the fathers wrote into our national constitution this provision:

"The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people."

But we, forgetting to consult our memories, tried to find a quick way out of the troubles by grants of power.

Societies move slowly, and when they move successfully, they move under their own compulsion. We catch such a threat there were those men in our nation ready to offer themselves, and all of themselves, to its preservation. These men we are proud to call our comrades. But, that we may rightfully hold the term for ourselves we must in our turn, if the present problems of the nation constitute a threat to its great course, bear our fair share.

Power Grabbers Busy

On Monday of this week our Supreme Court, holding to the Constitution, brought one of the major experiments up with a short turn. Back of the decision can be found the ingrained objection of public power exercise. But the power grabbers are already busy with apologies with threats, with direful predictions, urging you and me again to forget our memories and go on to other and greater grants of power.

Unbridled Power is the foe of human liberties.

The possession of power means the use, and then the abuse, of power. Our comrades left us the charge to keep this land to its purpose of being a land where the principles of human liberty are preserved. Power once granted is hard to get back. A very brief look at our present situation will convince you. More bureaus than ever in our history, even in war time. More people on the government payroll, and the number growing day by day as the "brain trust" evolves new

Too Much Selfishness

I do not here charge that those who engineered the grab for power and who when they found themselves possessed of that power tried to hold it to their own use, and to the neglect of the rest of the nation, and for the return of our liberties.

But this is a day of memories. There has been too much of talking and not enough of doing. There has been too much of talking, and not enough of giving. There has been too much of selfishness, and not enough of unselfishness.

And when we return to the thought of what our silent comrades have done for us, we are struck with the realization that above all other things they were unselfish. They gave themselves to the great purpose of human liberty. And to carry on their work, to turn the light of Liberty over to those who come after us with no dimming of its flame, we must find a way to unselfishness.

Problems to Meet

We know we have problems to meet and to solve. But in our service training, and experiences we learned patience, we learned endurance, we learned to work for peace. This is a time for patience, it is a time for work. It is a time for endurance, it is a time for recourse to memories, and in their light, to do a little plain, common sense thinking for ourselves.

We owe it to our silent comrades that we do this much as our share in the fulfillment of the great purpose to which they gave themselves. And it is my conviction that on this day we can say to them:

"We have turned to memories, and in the strength and vision they give us, we will carry on."

Mary Pickford To Close Stage Show

PORTLAND, May 30 (AP)—The pressure of executive responsibilities in the producing end of motion pictures has forced Mary Pickford to terminate a new stage career.

The actress made the announcement today as she arrived by plane from Hollywood. After five performances of "Cocaine," she will close the stage show here Saturday. She is suspended in Seattle two weeks.

Mrs. Pickford had planned a tour of several months in the Pacific northwest, the Mountain states and in the south.

The upheaval in the affairs of the United Artists corporation caused her to postpone her scheduled opening here last Monday night. It is by Hollywood's directors' meeting of the big producing and distributing organization.

Reconciliation Of Prince And Wife Sealed With Kiss

NEW YORK, May 30 (AP)—The long-heralded reconciliation between the oldest son of former King Alfonso of Spain and his Cuban consort wife was sealed with a kiss in fact a lot of kisses on the promenade deck of an incoming liner today.

Delighted the Spanish pilots announced that "everything is O. K." His wife, who packed up and went home to Cuba last November, hurried aboard the steamer Washington as soon as it arrived and greeted her royal husband with a resounding kiss.

Still a Prince Although he became known as the Count of Covadonga after renouncing his rights to the non-existent Spanish throne to marry the Cuban beauty, the blood youth insisted he still was the Prince of Asturias. "I never lost the title," he said. "I am still the Prince of Asturias."

Mr. Hansen; and H. A. Steele, Gooding.

wife, naturally, is the Princess of Asturias. A typical statement: "His father, it was recalled, intended his forgiveness after the couple were married two years ago, but the prince refused today to discuss his royal status beyond insisting that 'everything is O. K.'" He said he had come to America to meet his wife, "who has been visiting in Cuba with her family for the past few months." It was his first visit to America, explained, and his plans were indefinite.

ENEMY'S KISS

"I know!" Alison made a conviction that Daphne Summers is not only marrying Robert Reed, Alison's father, but she is also marrying her own father. Guy was in the only seat in the room. Alison can turn and now Daphne has secured her seat. Alison defies both her father and her prospective step-mother, and dashes from the room.

LOVE

"What does it matter who she says?" Daphne asked, softly. "You don't believe her, do you? Both arms locked round his neck, she smiled up at him wistfully.

"Believing that you're marrying me for my money?" Robert laughed. "No, I don't! Apart from anything else, I haven't got any of my own, have I?"

Daphne alight from his arms and patted down his hair.

"She said so," he said. "It was rather silly of her wasn't it? But I don't suppose she realizes, Bob, that all the money is tied up on her and that you can't leave me a thing. Not that I want you to, my dear, I'm not so mercenary!" he laughed again, tweaked her ear. "You have to give me a business head, have you?—imagining that your account was in credit when it was overdrawn by the way, you paid that check for me, didn't you?"

"Yes, the bank manager nearly gave a fit, when I explained how the money was tied up. He said I'd better get you to make out a joint account, so that you could keep an eye on it." Daphne gave a gurgling laugh at the remembrance. "He's such a nice man. He was quite tactful! Feeling my arm and wanting to know what I'd done about settlements, and whether you'd received your life," she quite a lot of trouble to get away."

"Oh, by the way, about insurance—I've been thinking it might be the best plan if I'd insure my life in your favor. I've been thinking over what you said last night and that is the simplest way," said Robert.

"My dear, you misunderstood me. Daphne was full of tender concern. "I only said that I knew how difficult it was to keep money up aside. That something turned up, generally, and one leaves it, that's all."

"That's just it. If I insure, you are provided for, whatever happens."

"Don't! When you talk like that you make me miserable. She clung to his shoulder, rubbing her cheek against his.

"I'll insure for ten thousand to-morrow, and we won't talk about it again," he promised. "It makes me miserable when I think that I might leave you again—penitent."

"Please!" she implored, and clasped both hands over her ears. "don't say such things!"

"I won't then," Robert laughed. "I'll just do it and say nothing but you know you'll think of me. Practical! I'm only thinking of you."

She kissed him sweetly, very ardently.

SWALLOWS PARTICIPATE IN SAN DIEGO EXPOSITION

SAN DIEGO, Cal. (AP)—The chief architect didn't know about it in advance, but neither did the other officials, yet nobody issued any orders when construction began on the new exhibit building at the California Pacific International exposition here.

Bright and early in the morning, a lone swallow circled over the tiled roofs of the Spanish village section. His mate followed shortly and by mid-afternoon their mud home was nearly completed and a whole flock of swallows was building similar structures.

"Tear them down!" exhibition officials said. "Not on your life!"

EROSION IN CAROLINA

RALPHIGH, N. C. (AP)—A survey made by the department of agriculture shows 50 per cent of the land in the North Carolina has been damaged to varying degrees by soil erosion. About 1,500,000 acres were reported as being damaged and the state manager is endeavoring to render them useless for farming.

Scholarship Offered

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP)—Camerson Morrison, former United States senator from North Carolina, and his wife, Mrs. Morrison, have offered a fellowship of $1,000 for a young man who makes the best record in raising Jersey calves for a two-year period.

DIXIE DUGAN

IT'S FUNNY, DMIE—HOW, IN A SPLIT-SECOND SOMETIMES, YOUR INSTINCTS MAKE CLEAR, SOMETHING YOU HADN'T BEEN ABLE TO FIGURE OUT BEFORE.

She ran down the stairs, tug-dug her hat and tied out of the door, door and slammed that too. People turned round to stare at her—she was dressed in the latest style and was being admired. She reached the corner of Ebury Street breathless and pant-stricken. Suppose she had gone?

But the shabby-blue Rover was waiting, drawn up by the curb.

"There you are," Dixon said, but she knew. She leaped into the car and slammed that door too.

"Hello—what's up?" He looked startled, naturally.

"Don't talk to me for a minute and you'll see," she begged.

"I'm almost speechless with rage, that's all."

"But just look at this!" He dropped an early news into her lap and obeyed her order almost loyally. The car jumped forward and he drove to the corner of Constitution Hill, took the Buckingham Palace Road bend on two wheels and went up into the park at a pace which defied all regulations.

"They missed a shocked Rolls by mere inches as they did the 'Whiffles' around the statue of the old Queen, and landed in the old quarry." But Alison, oblivious of the risks which they ran, sat patting at the paper on her knee.

"You're not getting anything between the victory of the Arsenal and a boxer's wedding plans; a paragraph in the yesterday's paper, the black print, 'BODY IN AN EMPTY HOUSE.' Below:

"Mrs. Leda Minear, breaking into a locked cellar in the Croft House, Warley, Sussex, today found the body of a man who had evidently been dead some time."

"The police, called in at once, are still examining the premises—and can make no statement as to who it appears that the body must have lain there at least four days. The fact that the body was found in the key missing is a suspicious circumstance."

"Why the car had been stopped, held up at the top of St. James' Street, and Guy looked round grimly.

"Four days—but that's the night we were there! Alison remembered. "I don't understand! I mean, how could a body have got there?"

"Very quiet, last night."

"You looked in every corner of the place. If a body had been there you'd think so."

"I went right along as far as the coal cellar in the morning when I turned the light out, and I didn't see anything."

"Well, we know one thing now, Alison said, and Guy grinned. "It was a ghost."

CHICAGO, May 20 (AP)—Chicago's White Sox lost a home run attack today to give John Whitehead, their sensational young right-hander, his eighth straight major league victory, 8 to 4 over Cleveland in the first game of their Memorial day doubleheader, but succumbed to Willis Hudlin's two-hit pitching, 4 to 0, in the second before 42,000 fans.

Whitehead's triumph delighted the biggest crowd at Comiskey park since Babe Ruth and the Yankees attracted 64,625 July 6, 1927, but the defeat forced the White Sox to visit first place in the American League to the Yankees who defeated Washington twice. The home forces, much to the surprise of the rest of the league, had headed the parade since May 11.

The home runs, made by Manager Jimmy Dykes, Zeke Bonura and Rip Radcliffe, made Whitehead's complete victory although he yielded 10 hits, to eight by his pitching ace Oral Hildebrand.

The only sign to this generally reported last evening was the catch of O. N. Terry, 246 Sixth avenue north, Tracy, accompanied by his ten-year-old son Olen, left early yesterday and fished Silver creek near Kalispark's camp.

TWIN FALLS PAYS MEMORIAL TRIBUTE

Speaker Sounds Challenge to Defense of American Ideals

Speaking at public Memorial day exercises that were held in Legion Memorial building here yesterday after downpouring rain caused cancellation of earlier arrangements for a parade and outdoor exercises at War Mothers Memorial cemetery in Twin Falls cemetery, Captain Everett M. Swobley, Twin Falls attorney and veteran of Spanish and World wars, summoned the lessons and experience in rearing this nation's present problems.

Quick Way Out
Seeking a quick way out of the present world crisis, the Americans had "forgotten our essentials" when they consented to unpopulated and unpopulated to the federal government. The supreme court last Monday he said, "brought one of the major experiments up to a sharp turn." He pleaded for concerted effort to "keep this country a land where the principles of human liberty should be preserved."

In the rain, Daughters of the American Revolution and Boy Scouts raised a flag over the Memorial monument on the Court House lawn, and American Legion post officers conducted brief ritualistic ceremonies at the Memorial cemetery in the cemetery where national guard bands fired the three-volley salute to the dead and buglers sounded taps.

No Civil War Veterans
Memorial day exercises were held here this year for the first time without a single veteran of the Civil War in attendance.
Out of the season's profusion of flowers there were brought hundreds of garlands to mark the last resting place of loved ones in Twin Falls cemetery, and when skies cleared in the late afternoon the cemetery was thronged with hundreds of visitors. Over the graves of 107 veterans of American war flags floated, and flowers gathered by women of general auxiliaries were bright spots on the rain drenched sod.

President of the rain Daughters of the American Revolution and Boy Scouts, cooperating in a public memorial service, raised the Stars and Stripes with impressive ceremony at the monument that Daughters of the American Revolution had erected on the court house grounds in memory of Twin Falls country's World War dead.

Service at Cemetery
A few minutes later in the rain, a downpour, an abbreviated service at the War Mothers Memorial cemetery in Twin Falls cemetery was conducted by J. E. Standish, commander, and Wilton Peck, chaplain of Twin Falls American Legion post. Among those here present were representatives of a number of veterans and auxiliary organizations laid wreaths at the base of the cenotaph, and at the close a band of national guard engineers, under command of Ralph E. Leighton, fired the three-volley salute to the dead. National guard buglers, Raymond Putzer and Tom McDavid, sounded taps, with an echo.

Twin Falls municipal band under leadership of Dr. O. A. Fuller, that was to have led the Memorial day parade, instead repaired to the new band shell in the City park and played a one-hour concert, and then took part in the program of exercises at the Legion Memorial building.

Exercises in-doors, besides Captain Swobley's address, included reading by Wilton Peck, past American Legion district commander, of Lincoln's Gettysburg address, and by W. B. Smith, World War veteran and Twin Falls schools superintendent, of the order that General Logan as commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, issued for the first Memorial day 68 years ago.

MUD BATTLE DELAYS DIESEL CAR ARRIVAL

Crowded off the highway by a passenger car deaf Hagerman yesterday afternoon, a Sterling Diesel truck carrying the world record Diesel mud for almost three hours, delaying the arrival in Twin Falls of B. A. Stenberg, driver, and J. T. Busby, manager of the tour.

The truck was in no way damaged, but the "mud-battle" was terrific, according to Busby, who, with Stenberg, is making a road trip this morning, sponsored by Ralph Hemphill, president of the Diesel Engineering school.

The bright aluminum-bued racer, in which Dave Evans broke the world's record at Daytona Beach, Florida, February 15, 1933, will be on display at the Central Service station here until 10 o'clock this morning. Evans' record was 120.87 miles an hour.

The shining racer, transported on the bright Diesel truck, will be taken to Salt Lake City this morning at 10 o'clock, where another speed test will be made. Stops will then be made at Reno, Nevada, and other cities enroute.
