CASSIA AGENT SEES GOOD CROP SEASON

Wheat Yields Cut in Half By Drying; Other Conditions Favorable

Wheat yields in Cassia county this year are good, but not favorable as in the past, according to County Agent W. W. Palmer here Thursday.

Weather conditions, he said, have been such that dry land wheat is burning and prospective yields of a month ago are now cut in two. All other crops give good promise as to yield considering their present growing conditions.

The beet crop is wonderful at the time of the harvest, the agent, by reason of the fact that good slanders are common and beet is never appeared better in Cassia county than at present. In spite of some white fly, they are not becoming affected with curly top to any material extent, but seem to be growing and developing unimpaired.

The irrigated hay crop is good, he continued, far exceeding last year and in most cases good years. Pasture and hay crops are good and while generally were planted later this year than usual, this, the agent said, will undoubtedly be advantageous to the crop.

Fields will be good unless early frosts occur in the fall. With irrigation water available to grow to extent than the past year, later quality is assured, both from the standpoint of disease free tubers and also from the standpoint of grain yield. Last year, due to fustarium, will showed up very much in potato fields, which resulted in extra cullings in the collars due to discoloration.

Beans are showing fairly good, however, due to wire worm being prevalent in certain areas and the corn seed maggot in others, some slanders have been lost and have needed replanting.

Peas, which are being produced to a greater extent this year in Cassia county, are showing very good in spite of the fact that they were in April and May and were checked and checked somewhat their growth.

The general outlook for all irrigated crops is such at the present time, that if fair prices are received this fall, the irrigated portions of the county will witness a more prosperous condition than has obtained for several years past, declared Mr. Palmer.

American Shipping Slips Downhill In World Race Despite Subsidies

Tonnage Third, Construction Eleventh

WASHINGTON (AP)—By the four major tests of strength, the American shipping industry today rates internationally only "air-to-middle" although federal aids to the industry are the highest granted in the world, says the shipping board.

Almost $20,000,000 annually in federal subsidies since 1928. But American vessels used in international trade rank third in tonnage, fourth in speed, and eighth in age, the board says.

While American shipping has been slipping downhill in competitive power, it is being outdone even more rapidly due to the shipping program of competitor nations. America ranged eleventh, or last, among the building programs on March 31, 1935, reports show.

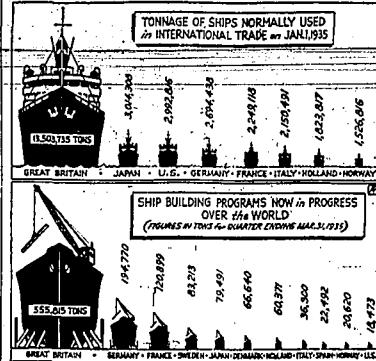

Spaulding Press-Congress Facts on the industry have been spotlighted from several angles in this section of congress. Exhaustive hearings were held by the house merchant marine committee in preparation for the Blind-Coolidge bill which would rewrap American marine policies.

Ocean mail contracts were already in American hands. The problem came to the front again in the brief investigation of charges made by Irving W. Mitchell, ousted assistant secretary of commerce, who stated that "graft" exists in the system of federal aid to shipping.

Under present marine laws, loans are made in the form of payments for carrying the mails. In the house hearings, it was said that only $2,000,000 of the annual $20,000,000 subsidy is paid for actual carrying of the mails. The rest is straight subsidy, paid to equalize the loss American ships would suffer in competition with those of other nations where costs are lower.

Frederic B. Smith, assistant secretary of commerce, who said that the Blind-Coolidge bill would change the character of the payments from pay for carrying the mails to direct subsidies, a change favored by President Roosevelt in a special message to congress.

Under the bill, an American shipper would get a straight construction grant which would equal about $400,000 on a ship to cost $1,000,000.

The chart above shows the comparative tonnage of vessels used for international trade, with the United States rating third. The chart below shows the building programs now in progress in the world's shipyards, with America ranking last.

In addition, he would get a government loan up to four-fifths of the cost.

The manner in which these loans are to be used has developed controversy in congress which promises to hold the bill over for the next session. Senator Hugo L. Black of Alabama is offering amendments which would limit profits to 6 percent in companies taking loans and top salaries to $17,500 a year in an industry where salaries over $100,000 have been paid.

Comparative Strength

Shipping board figures show the comparative strength of the marine powers is as follows:

1. Tonnage of the vessels normally used for international trade: Great Britain, 13,503,735; Japan, 10,464,800; the United States, 10,464,800; Germany, 2,694,450; France, 2,249,100; Italy, 2,192,850; The Netherlands, 1,623,075; and Norway, 1,258,000.
2. Speed of the vessels represented by tonnage of those which make 12 knots and over: Great Britain, 8,535,052; Germany, 1,800,769; Japan, 1,583,853; the United States, 1,489,252; France, 1,458,494; the Netherlands, 1,204,182; Italy, 1,112,323; and Norway 577,770.
3. Age of the vessels represented by tonnage of those which are less than 10 years old: Great Britain, 5,102,176; Germany, 963,706; Japan, 642,251; Italy, 812,593; the Netherlands, 424,133; Norway, 520,841; France, 495,873; the United States, 438,752.

"WATCH THE FORDS GO BY"

LOWER TO GO
AND POWER TO STOP

A SAFE CAR helps to make a safe driver. The Ford Motor Company sees to it that you get a safe car. Unusual power to go is combined with unusual power to stop. Ford brakes are an outstanding feature. They are powerful, efficient and easy to apply—with more braking area per pound of weight than any other car under $1095.

But Ford safety is more than the safety of good brakes. It is built into every part of the car.

The Ford body is all steel... steel reinforced with steel and electrically welded into a one-piece unit for still greater strength. All Ford body types have Safety Glass throughout at no extra cost.

Three other reasons why you will feel safer in a Ford are ease of handling, stability, and the alert, obedient performance of the V-8 engine.

The Ford is steady on curves. It hugs the road because of correct weight distribution and because its center of gravity is low. You will find that the steady, sure response of the Ford communicates calmness and confidence to those in the car and makes each journey easier and more enjoyable.

The Ford thus gives you double safety. The way it drives helps you to avoid danger. The way it is built provides unusual protection in time of emergency.

LEPERS' HOPES OF FREEDOM DASHED

Veto Predicted of Bill to Release Island Sufferers in Isolation

MANILA, July 6 (AP)—Visions of freedom—containing 100,000 of lepers, causing about 100 of them to stage a near riot in the "Luzon" hospital here, were dashed tonight by predictions that Governor General Murphy would veto a bill relaxing restrictions against some victims of the disease.

The insular legislature passed a bill yesterday which would permit the release from isolation of some of the 100,000 lepers now confined in the Philippine Islands.

When the lepers in San Lazaro hospital, awaiting transfer to the colony on Cullion Island 180 miles southwest of here, learned of the action, they demanded immediate release.

Police Bowlers Order

Police were called and order was restored only after health authorities had convinced them the bill had not yet become law.

The legislative measure would permit the release of lepers who have been biologically negative for four weeks. It also would allow home treatment for sufferers financially able to take care of themselves.

In past years the legislature, under pressure of public opinion, believing the present control system unnecessary, had approved similar bills at least a dozen times, but all vetoed by the governor general.

Sturgeon Turn Down Bait; "Cavilar" Business Slumps

which makes a heavily weighted line necessary in catching them. Hooks are filled with "amphroya," a bait taken for the most part from upper and lower salmon falls and near the Swan falls, power plants and other places.

"Catching a sturgeon depends upon how one goes about it," the biological survey chief declared. "Lines must be carefully dropped and only after one is certain that he has the right spot. Undercurrents must be taken into consideration so that the line will lie before the fish and not carried upstream of downstream. Patience is one of the requisites for the sturgeon fisherman. An expert may catch three a day; an inexperienced man may never catch one although the fishes until the stream dries up."

"When a sturgeon is caught it sometimes takes a half hour to pull out of the water. They aren't fighting fish, but irritatingly stubborn; they have to be tied out and then dragged slowly to shore.

"Fifty per cent of the creatures are waste because of the extraordinary size of their heads, which are not edible. The rest of their bodies is sold for food and their eggs provide the delicacy known as caviar."

"Sturgeon sold to individuals by the pound brings about 30 cents while bulk sales will net about 15 cents for the smaller fish. The larger ones, which are not so tasty, bring usually 12 cents a pound.

No Closed Season

"The federal government uses the caviar principally for 'coyote cecina.' There is probably nothing better for such purposes than sturgeon oil as it has a most distinctive odor and one that appeals to coyotes."

The government uses approximately 3000 pounds of sturgeon a year in Idaho and more when inland trappers are hired. The base of all coyote scent is fish but sturgeon is the best for the purpose. It has no real bones and is composed of cartilage and fatty, oily meat. The fat is what causes it to be about 50 per cent waste when caught for table food."

Employees of the biological survey catch about all the sturgeon for governmental purposes.

The season is always open on streams—to anyone who can catch them.

"That," said Mr. Murray, "is the catch."

Rumanian Princess Divorces Former King of Greece

BUCHARIST, Rumania, July 6 (AP)—Elizabeth of Hohenzollern, princess of Rumania, today abandoned hope of restoration to the throne of Greece. She obtained a divorce from former King George. The capital heard whispers that she intends to marry her secretary and run a model farm.

Greece is to have a plebiscite in the fall on restoration of the monarchy.

Elizabeth and Alexander Stanany, tall, handsome, 40-year-old Greek who findsome in the Czarist army during the World war, have been on excellent terms for some time. Recently Stanany became court chamberlain and personal secretary to the former queen.

Purchases estate Friends say Elizabeth had farming in mind when she purchased an estate from Count Toronanyi, Hungarian magnate, near Timloara not so long ago. She reportedly paid $5,000,000 for it (about $3,500,000) for it.

These friends say the ex-queen intends to convert the magnificent estate into an experimental farm on the American model and manage it with Stanany. The estate is the only place in Rumania where rice is grown.

DIFFERENCES OVER WEALTH TAX GROW

Prolonged Session or Temporary Abandonment Opposing Predictions

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—Fast-expanding differences over the proposed wealth tax program prompted opposing predictions tonight that it would be dropped temporarily and that it would be passed in session well into September.

On one side was Senator McNary of Oregon, Republican leader. His forecast that congress either would pass and reconvene in the fall or enact the tax bill at the session beginning next January 3.

On the other side were House ways and means committee Democrats, still sticking by their pledge to bring out a bill this session. They doubted, almost to a man, that final congressional action on the bill—not even drafted yet—could be obtained before the first week of September.

Speed 'Must' Program

Simultaneously, plans went ahead to expedite other measures on the "must" legislative program. The House planned to take up Monday the controversial amendments to the Tennessee valley authority law.

The senate arranged to take up Monday and vote Tuesday on a motion by Senator Dill (D-Ill) to confer in the house amendment, knocking out of the utilities bill the death sentence for "unnecessary" holding companies. Scheduled to follow that was the Wheeler water carrier, A.A. amendment and omnibus banking bills.

In the house, hearings were set for next week on the new "must" gold clause bill, while leaders hoped the Guffey coal stabilization and federal alcohol control measures would be ready for the floor by the week-end.

There was, too a wide difference of opinion among House ways and means committee members over what the wealth distribution tax bill should contain. Chairman Samuel B. Hill (D-Wis.) of the tax sub-committee said he thought the measure should raise $350,000,000 to $500,000,000 annually.

Difficult to Raise

Another leading Democratic committee member, who talked privately but not publicly, said he thought a "must" bill, remarked he thought a bill raising $300,000,000 would be difficult to raise. It would be difficult to raise $400,000,000 a year even by increasing taxes on all incomes over $10,000 and putting new levies on all inheritances above $50,000. Chairman Hamilton (D-Miss.) of the senate ways and means committee had calculated that $300,000,000 would be raised by taxing incomes above $1,000,000, inheritances over $50,000, gifts, and corporation incomes.

Catholic Women Near Close of Seattle Session

SEATTLE, July 6 (AP)—Catholic Daughters of America rounding out their 16th biennial conference with a moonlight cruise on Puget sound tonight, prepared to go home after a convention marked by strongly worded resolutions against birth control, salacious entertainment, communism and atheism.

Tomorrow's sole activity will be a conference of counselors for junior Catholic Daughters of America. The girls will be asked to lend themselves to the adult order's campaign outlined in convention resolutions.

Miss Margaret Martin, state regent for New Jersey and chairman of the committee campaigning against salacious literature and suggestive art in magazine advertisements, for example, said "We have advocated a publicity campaign to bring decent and enlightening entertainment into the homes of America. There are many magazines on sale which do no good and cause actual harm to the youth. Decent people are rising against them."

Ammodesty in dress for church attendance also will receive attention between now and the next convention, she added.

Spider Web Of Pacific Air Lines Forecast By Government Surveys

By Russell Brines
HONOLULU (AP)—Aerial transport lines crisscrossing the Pacific ocean like a giant web and linking the United States with the rest of the world are the future picture of the area drawn by W. T. Miller, superintendent of airways, and Rex Markham, post office and telegraph chief, of the commerce department.

Visiting Honolulu, which aviation generally agrees is destined to become the hub of Pacific air traffic, they explained that to connect American territory by air routes, besides Pan American's projected San Francisco-Canton route, a line from Alaska to Midway or Honolulu, and from the latter point to American Samoa.

Landings Found On Islets

From these east-west and north-south trunks, spurs would reach out to the Antipodes and from the Antipodes to the Philippines.
A route to American Samoa would entail possible use of several of four islands: Palmyra, Howland, Baker and Jarvis, Miller said.

British Cooperation Needed

From the Philippines there are many possibilities for the development of a route to the Antipodes, the use of which would give American interests almost complete domination of air traffic, rivaled only partially by Australian interests in the Antipodes, Dutch and British lines in the Malay peninsula and the projected Japanese development of a line from Tokyo to the mandated islands around Guam.

A further development of this route to the Antipodes would cut across British territory, requiring British cooperation. Miller and Markham predicted Australian would become the speedier mail, freight and passenger service.

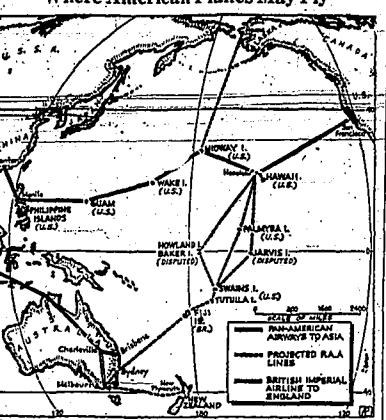

He said such lines should be financed jointly by the government day of the month for men; second Sunday for women; third Sunday for young people; fourth Sunday for children.

Where American Planes May Fly

Recent jaunts of the American Clipper through the air from San Francisco to Honolulu and on to Midway, have been preliminary not only to the start of a service to the Philippines but perhaps to a network of routes linking the United States with the Antipodes through the islands of the Pacific. The map shows working and projects lines which government surveys indicate as practical.

Colorado Town Revives Old Days At Opera House

CENTRAL CITY, Colo., July 6 (AP)—Planks of gold, stered from its historic past were stirred tonight in a quaint crucible of the American theater—Central City's traditionally enriched opera house.

Fused in this tiny theater melting pot was a bit of the splendid, the picturesque and the glorious of old days—a half-century ago when this high mining town's robust gold ancestry and fluctuating fortunes of the opera house the now immortals of the theater.

Tonight, jewel bedecked drama lovers, patrons of the arts, and students of the theater the nation over sat steeped in the patina of the past and saw the hands of time as Denver's Edward Jones recapture the "something" of the old days and dash upon it a bit of the stark beauty of the modern stage.

It was the distinguished director's original musical extravaganza, a panorama of the mountain-tucked theater's purple past. It was called "Central City Nights," Jones' fourth revival sponsored by Denver university's Central City Opera House association.

He took the actor-gems of the modern stage, mounted them in the format of the theater's tradition, gave them old lines, and set them in front of deep rich stage settings and new soft lights. The eager, critical audience reaction was as rapt as the faded red plush carpets of the opera house floor.

11:00 a. m.—Communion service with sermon.
2:30 p. m.—Quarterly meeting of voters.

All Women Beautiful Nowadays Says 'Story Of Beauty' Painter

LONDON (AP)—Mrs. Clara Fargo Thomas, wife of Joseph B. Thomas, well-known as a master of fox-hounds in North Carolina, is only five feet tall, but she goes in for painting in a big way.

Her mural decoration showing feminine loveliness through the ages now being exhibited in a west-end gallery in aid of King George's jubilee trust, is 11 feet high and 65 feet long.

And this is what Mrs. Thomas thinks about women today. They have never been so beautiful, she says.

"There are no reigning beauties nowadays, because nearly all women are beautiful. But I rate intelligence as the first essential to beauty."

"I found that the women of centuries ago were rarely intelligent. That is why few of them remain outstanding characters through history."

"Women are healthier and happier today than they have been since the Greeks. That is because they are free, bodily, mentally and spiritually."

"Why, even our clothes are nearly as simple and unconfining as the classic Greek tunic. A snap, a zip, and we're dressed."

Asked whom she considered the most beautiful women in history, Mrs. Thomas put Queen Nefertiti, wife of King Akh-en-aten of Egypt, at the head of her list.

In her 16-panel mural, which is 11 feet high and 65 feet long, Mrs. Clara Fargo Thomas of North Carolina has painted the story of feminine loveliness through the ages.

Next she passed to the haunting beauty of the Chinese women in a building the Taj Mahal at Agra.

READY MADE WIFE

BY CORALIE STANTON

SNOWFLAKE: Desperate, almost frantic, she had posed as Rex Moore's widow in order to support herself. But Rex returns unexpectedly after two years, and she must keep up her deception, or risk costing Rex his job with Mark Albery, the airplane manufacturer. How Rex tells her that he must fly to the rescue of two women, presumably lost in Africa.

Chapter 18
GLADYS ARRIVES

The arrival of her sister Gladys was a relief as well as a joy to Laurie. She found herself incomprehensibly excited for Rex Moore's safety. In her two years at Albery's she had heard so much more than the general public of accidents, kidnappings and deaths had been things from surprise when she asked him whether his flight over Central Africa in search for the missing Albery was dangerous. She knew it was. All long-distance flights were dangerous.

But she could not understand why she felt as she did. She reasoned with herself. He was nothing but her own flesh and blood. It was not his job. He had gone out of his way to be heroic to her. He was just making use of her for a long as he could. Why should she worry about him?

In a few days, however, she found something more definite to worry about.

It began when the first excitement of having Glad with her had worn off. She was waiting on her, of ordering her favorite meals, of showing her off to the visiting Mrs. Budd. Then she began to notice a change in the girl.

It was what she had seen in Liverpool at Easter, only more definite. Glad seemed older, not so transparently simple, not so childishly gay. She was always restless, agitated, fidgeted. It was as if she were expecting something. Dashing to the door when the postman came, to the telephone when the bell rang.

Besides, she seemed to have "hatched" as Laurie called it. She did not talk all the time about her mind, when she had met her sister for lunch in a little cheap French restaurant in Boho.

Now she was smiling her indefinable baby smile, as if knowing that everybody was looking at her. In that smile she was showing two pieces, with the ivory scarf, and the tiny navy knitted silk cap on her glorious loose curls, she was shining like a top diamond.

With her grey-blue eyes and jet-black curling lashes, and her warm, glowing smile, she was looking so much more like the girl who had been so much more than a lipstick could depict.

Yes, Glad was exquisite, as near physically perfect as any girl could be. But all of a sudden a girl could be first, Laurie felt that Glad knew it.

"What a pretty pin, Glad!" said Laurie, as the younger girl detached a slender bar of platinum, with little blue stones set in it, and fastened it into her coat. "You are an extravagant kid! It looks as if it cost a heap of money."

"It was a present," Glad replied carefully, and went on to tell her sister that she had seen the manager in Miami. She had mentioned that they were going to rehearse again for the suburban tour in a week or two.

Laurie said nothing more about the pin.

But two mornings later, when Glad had gone out early to greet the day with one of her girl friends in the troupe, and Laurie was helping Mrs. Budd to make the beds before she left for the office, she stayed behind to tidy up Glad's room, and saw a glittering object at the bottom of the wardrobe.

It was a gold cigarette case. A very expensive looking one, obviously Rex's. Glad's initials were engraved on it.

Laurie frowned, and a pang of dismay shot through her. It was a beautiful thing, as simple and costly as the handsome Mr. Albery had given at Easter.

But this was quite a different matter. She herself was only an ordinary girl whom nobody would look at twice. And Mr. Albery had been pleased with her work, and it was because he was so kind to her, that Moore told her so kind to her.

But Glad who drew all men's eyes with her beauty, who was so naturally loved, who had the most costly things—Laurie could hardly contain herself! All day until she got back to her room.

She did not come back to dinner, not until she had had the awful visions, lived through an age of fear, and was so keyed up as to be hysterical when the girl did appear, as fresh and girlish as a rose from a tree, greeting her sister with her enchanting smile.

"Here I'm late! I've had a great time. Nelly's brother took us to the picture. I've had my food."

"What time was that?" asked Glad, interrupting Laurie, speaking sharply in her anxiety. "I found it lying in your wardrobe. It must have been yours and Rex's."

"I don't see what it's got to do with you, old girl!" retorted Gladys harshly. "I suppose it dropped out of a pocket. I don't carry it about. Makes me look too rich."

"What a silly Glad! You must know you can't take presents like that from men."

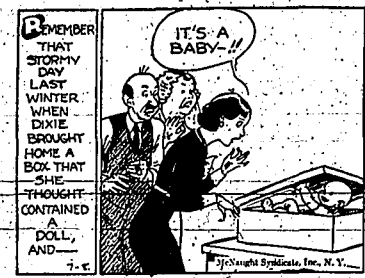

"How do you know a man gave it to me? Good Lord, I'm not a baby! I earn my own living."

But Laurie was not to be put off. "You must tell me, Glad. If you've got a friend, you surely don't want to keep it from me?"

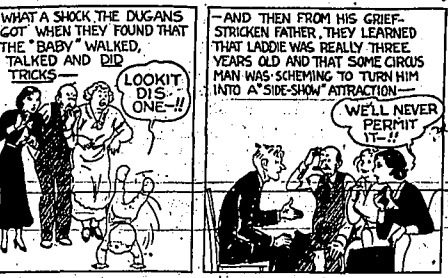

"Oh, no! No! Glad! If you've got a friend, you surely don't want to keep it from me?"

"You're a queer! You're a queer!" laughed the girl, and her face was,

When he had finished, and she stood up, with her book in her hand, her face caught a shaft of sunlight through the window, and those little lines of anxiety and distress showed plainly round her eyes and mouth.

Albery went up to her, as she was moving towards the door.

"Forgive me. I can't help thinking of you as unhappy," he said in a low voice.

"Oh, no!" She drew back a little, scared by the expression in his eyes. This life of subtleties and pretenses made her afraid in all her dealings with him.

"I expected you would not admit it. You are so brave," he went on. "But you can trust me. I want you to be happy, is anything wrong?"

"No, thank you, Mr. Albery."

impertinence of his questions. She summoned up all her self-control. Rex Moore had been so emphatic about their keeping up the farce until he came back.

"I don't think it would be wise to hint to Albery that they might get on well together, as you had done to Gladys. That was not in their bargain. It is very kind of you to bother about me, Mr. Albery," she added cheerfully, "but really there's nothing the matter with me at all."

Stellar Golfers Of Southern Idaho Battle For Titles Helen Wills Moody Regains Tennis Crown With Gallant Rally

Shotmakers Ready to Play Final Matches In News Tournament

Huth-Parry and Winterholer-Casey Teams Clash in 36-Hole Cup Duel in Championship Flight

Bent on annexing Southern Idaho's topnotch golf laurels, Fred Huth of Twin Falls and Otto Parry of Buhl will swing into the 36-hole finals of Twin Falls News' second annual Southern Idaho best ball tournament opposing Jimmy Winterholer and Charles Casey, both of Twin Falls. The titular battle is scheduled to get under way at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

Finals in president's flight play will be held beginning at 11 a. m. when Helen Wills Moody of Kimberly and Rupert Williamson of Rupert will battle it out with E. E. (Sprouts) Leichter and Paul Bieler, both of Twin Falls. Bieler and Leichter yesterday won the title into the hands of Alvin Casey of Twin Falls and P. Lewis of Rupert, four up and three holes to go.

Titular play will be opened at 10 a. m. when Roy Fall of Buhl and Edward Corwin of Buhl and Tony Leonard and Bob McClure, both of Twin Falls, in the first flight finale. Although the championship match is slated for 36 holes, president's flight and final flight will be over the usual 18-hole route.

Four stars perform Southern Idaho's golf eye is turned daily by the champion's battle, which puts four of the district's outstanding golfers on the line. Farry is Buhl's ace and last year topped the field in Southern Idaho interclub matches. He also paired with Jack Moss of Buhl for runner-up honors in the best ball meet, being defeated by Grand Paget and Jimmy Sinclair, both of Twin Falls, on the 18-hole final.

His partner, Huth, is a recent arrival in Twin Falls and has demonstrated his supremacy as a "long wood" man. He was formerly number one man on the Pocatello golf team and is ranked as just about the topnotcher at the Country club here.

Play-Off to Decide League's First-Half Title If Minidoka County Nine Wins Over Blackfoot Outfit

RUPERT, July 6.—Rupert's flashy baseball team will take to the local park Sunday in an effort to prevent the touted Black Box of Blackfoot from walking away with the first half title in Snake River Valley league play. The game will start at 2:30 p. m. at Rodeo park.

The Black Box have seven wins and two losses to their credit while the men of Rupert have won six games and lost three. A win for Minidoka county club would deaden the leadership and a play-off would be required for a championship meeting of league officials in Pocatello, Tuesday evening.

Erroneous Report Published
Eronous newspaper reports yesterday (not carried by the Twin Falls News) reported that following a re-check of standings by league officials it had been determined that Blackfoot had already clinched the first half title. The asserted official standings gave Blackfoot credit for seven wins and two losses and Rupert was ranked in second place with five wins and four losses.

Manager J. R. Leight of the Rupert club last night got in touch with W. C. Hill, Pocatello, league secretary-treasurer, who denounced the report as false saying that "the report originated by an error in a Pocatello newspaper office."

Sterling Grimm Growers have transferred their game with Pocatello from Aberdeen to the Indian home ground and in the third game of the day, Burley visits Shale.

The second half schedule will begin July 14 with winners of both half titles chalking in a play-off series in September.

'Top Row' Equals Record in Handicap

NEW YORK, July 6 (AP)—A. A. Burton's Top Row, holder of the world record of 1-0 for one and one-sixteenth miles, opened his eastern invasion by equalling the track record for one and one-eighth miles in winning the $7,500 Empire city handicap today.

WILLIAM T. TILDEN, still one of the world's most formidable tennis men on any given day, is shown (left) as he is called for Europe to continue his professional tennis ball chalking and possibly look in on the Davis cup interzone and challenge round play. He absorbed several trimmings in the early summer pro campaigning in this country. One of the most unusual feats in tennis history was that of Ray Staley and Phil Cope (left to right, upper right) of Southern California in running a dead heat in the 125-yard high hurdles in the world record time of 1:12 seconds. They did it in a meet with Ohio State. That time, one of the best on the beach, has been equaled only a half dozen or so times, even by the world's best, Allice Marie (lower right), in 1933. The No. 2 United States woman tennisist who suffered a breakdown in France in the spring of 1934, is tending up gradually and hopes to be in the front rank when it's time for this year's nationals.

Murtaugh	0	8	.000

Repeat is the word that has held sway in the Hansen baseball camp the past week and the fourth place line in Southern Idaho league standings is primed to do just that when invading Kimberly this afternoon.

Herided as almost unbeatable, Kimberly has almost the league leadership with just one defeat this season. The defeat came on the opening day of the season against the same Hansen crew that is again out for victory today.

Kimberly Determined
Kimberly, however, is not undone by the Hansen men in enthusiasm, and is out in a big way to wipe out that one defeat. Kimberly, if Hansen wins, is virtually assured of dropping into a first place deadlock with Buhl and Hazelton teams, as both are slated for easy victories over the hapless Filer and Murtaugh aggregations. Filer, with but one win out of eight starts, invades the Buhl diamond, and the wretched Murtaugh team will make a trip to Hazelton.

A hard fought battle is scheduled at Wendell when traditional rivals meet. Gooding invades Wendell with three victories and five losses to his credit as compared with Wendell's four wins and four losses, one of which was registered in a season opener at Gooding. Gooding is out to repeat and Wendell plans to regain some lost prestige.

Flanagan Finishes Third
Ralph Flanagan, Miami, Fla., high school boy to whom the experts had looked to furnish Medica with his chief competition, finished third, 4:26.2, in the order in which they crossed the line were Jimmie Gilhula, Detroit; Dexter Woodford, Ohio State university and Ralph Gilman, San Francisco.

Adolph Keller, 17-year-old Chicagoan, who is a senior at Roosevelt high school, won a decided victory in the 100-meter backstroke, finishing seven feet in the van of Taylor Drysdale, Detroit.

Hack Wilson Awaits Word From Portland

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., July 6 (AP)—Hack Wilson, former National league home run king, said today he is awaiting word from the Portland club of the Pacific Coast league regarding terms before reporting.

Wilson said he asked Portland to guarantee transportation to and from the coast among other conditions, and that he is reserving decision until he hears from the club.

SAN FRANCISCO MATRON WINS DRAMATIC BATTLE

Miss Jacobs Bows To Rival Before 17,000 Fans

THE FAMED San Francisco matron in action. Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, queen of the tennis world who last her title in 1933 when she walked off the courts because of a back injury, rose to new heights yesterday. Rallying dramatically at Wimbledon, she regained the championship by defeating her bitter rival, Helen Jacobs. (AP Photo.)

Seventeen thousand fans who sat or stood through the struggle verged upon hysteria before Miss Jacobs ran to the point of exhaustion, knocked the final ball over the back court line in 40 and 40 minutes of grueling play.

Mrs. Moody vindicated
The victory supplied all the vindication Mrs. Moody ever will need for the incident in the American championship final of 1933 when, suffering from a back injury, she "walked off" before Miss Jacobs set with Miss Jacobs leading, 3-0. She was accused then of quitting, of depriving Miss Jacobs of a chance for a title, and of undignified conduct.

Today, however, she gave a conclusive rebuttal to any one who ever questioned her fighting heart. Almost as though she were Mrs. Moody again gave her fighting adversary a three game advantage in the second set, the same advantage Miss Jacobs had enjoyed at Forest Hills. She even played in the set and one, in the ninth game, had match point staring her in the face.

When the final point kicked the dust over the baseline, Miss Jacobs, in the third set, was the more aggressive of the two.
