

SEASONABLE FOOD SUGGESTIONS

Promise Of Blue Ribbons Adds Interest To Canning

Twin Falls kitchens are a medley of lively, luscious odors these days, the aromatic spices of pickling mingling with the fragrant scent of fruits and berries, the kettle, steam cookers and pressure cookers are bubbling with the choicest products of the garden, the orchard, the berry patch, and the currant and gooseberry bush, and homemakers are storing summer's harvest for winter's feast.

Some are seeing further than the shelves of the fruit cellar and the pantry, it is evident as they arrange the fruits, the vegetables and the pickles in the meticulous rows in the sterilized glass jars, visualizing the blue ribbon prizes to be awarded in the pantry department of the Twin Falls county fair this fall.

A whiff is enough to let one know that modern homemakers are continuing to make that pickles and relishes, while they may be a bit tedious to make this summer, will lend zest to the menu-planning of winter.

It is as though the homemakers of the community had joined in singing a song of condiments, in the soon blinding manner:

"Curry and chutney for meats and rice.
Pots and bottles of extracts rare.
Onions and garlic will both be there
And so, and so, and saffron and savory
So, so, so."

And speaking of "savory goo," why not include some apple chutney in some California Bar-le-Duc, and some Golden-Oleo Conserve in your preserving repertoire?

Apple Chutney
Twelve cups apples, 2 minced green peppers, 1 red pepper minced, 1 cup seeded raisins, chopped, 1 pint cider vinegar, 1 cup currant jelly, 2 cups sugar, juice 4 lemons, 1 tablespoon ground ginger, 1/2 teaspoon cayenne, 1 tablespoon salt.
Pare, core and chop apples. Put the ingredients together in the order given and simmer until thick. Pour into hot jars and seal.

California Bar-le-Duc
Five pounds apricots, 4 cups raisins, juice of 4 lemons, 5 cups sugar, 2 cups water.
Cut apricots in two; remove pits. Add water. Cook slowly till pulp may be easily pressed through a strainer. Add raisins which have been chopped, lemon juice and sugar. Cook slowly until a rich, gummy syrup is formed. Pour into hot jars and seal.
Golden Oleo Conserve
Five pounds pumpkin and 4 pounds sugar. Remove peel and cut raw

ICE CREAM FORMULA GETS POPULAR VOTE

Each summer a simpler formula for making refrigerator ice cream is evolved and now, according to many Twin Falls hostesses, who have made use of the recipe exclusive of all others, testify to its complete simplicity and utter deliciousness. Suggested as a pleasant variation, is a combination of bananas and apricots. Mash three ripe bananas to a pulp, and 1/2 cup apricots, also pulped, and add 1/2 cup sugar. One cup of any kind of fruit pulp, if properly sweetened according to the tartness of the fruit, may be added to the following, or it may be served plain.

Simplify Ice Cream
While of 1 egg beaten stiff
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup sugar
Blend and add to cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
Place in freezing tray and stir once after it begins to freeze.

Raspberry Jam

Giving a man the "raspberry" may be the surest way to please him. True, if you give it to him in the form of raspberry jam. It has a distinctive flavor that cannot be imitated. But some people, lovers though they may be of the raspberry, like to have the flavor sharpened with something tart. For them, the combination of currant and red raspberry is the answer.

Red Raspberry and Currant Jam
4 1/2 cups (2 1/2 lbs.) prepared fruit
7 cups (3 lbs.) sugar
1/2 bottle fruit pectin
To prepare fruit, crush about 1 1/2 pounds fully ripe currants. Remove seeds and skins by sieving. Crush about 1 quart, fully ripe raspberries. Combine fruits. Measure sugar into large kettle. Add prepared fruit, filling up the last cup with water if necessary. Mix well and bring to a full rolling boil over hottest fire. Stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard 1 minute. Then remove kettle from the fire and stir in bottled fruit pectin. Stir pour quickly. Paraffin at once. Makes about 11 glasses (6 fluid ounces each).

VIEW CHILD SUMMONED
BURLEY, Aug. 15 — Clyde Merrill, son of Ivan Merrill, died at the family home in the View district Friday morning. He had been ill from Bright's disease since March. Born at Burley, the child had lived here all of his life. His mother preceded him in death six years ago. Surviving are his father and three brothers and one sister: Donald, Calvin, Orville and Margaret. The body rests at the Johnson Mortuary pending funeral arrangements.

Swedish Dill Pickles
Select large dill-ripped cucumbers. Pack in half gallon jars. To each jar add—
1 clove garlic
1 3-inch piece of horseradish
1 3/4 teaspoon dry horseradish
2 or 3 small red peppers
1/2 cup vinegar (2 to 3 handfuls of dill is average). Bring to boil the following liquid, pour over the cucumbers and seal while hot:
7 cups boiling water
1/2 cup salt
1/2 teaspoon alum.

Pickled Small Onions
4 quarts small onions
1 cup salt
1/2 cup white clove
2 whole peppers
2 cups sugar
Peel small peppers
1 tablespoon trace
2 tablespoons ground bay leaf
Peel onions and cover with hot water and salt, making a strong brine. Let stand 24 hours and cover with another hot brine. Next day drain and make a fresh brine. Heat to boiling point, add onions and boil 2 minutes. Drain and put in jars with bits of dill, bay leaf, a few whole peppers, a few cloves, and slices of red pepper. Fill jars with hot vinegar, allowing 1 cup of sugar to 4 quarts vinegar. Seal at once.

Green Tomato Preserves
8 pounds green tomatoes
1/2 cup vinegar
4 tablespoons preserved ginger
6 lemons.
Wash and weigh tomatoes. Cover with boiling water and let stand 3 minutes. Drain and slice thinly into preserving kettle. Place first a layer of tomatoes, then a layer of sliced lemons, then the sugar in which the ginger has been blended. Let mixture stand overnight. Drain and boil about 15 minutes. Stir in sliced lemons and cook rapidly until the mixture is clear. Pour into sterilized jars and seal with paraffin.

Olive Oil Pickles
1 peck large pickling onions
1 ounce each celery seed, mustard seed, white pepper
Cider vinegar, olive oil and onions, allow to stand in brine 12 hours. Drain and pack in hot jars. For each jar allow 2 cups cider vinegar and 1/2 cup olive oil. Mix vinegar and oil together and boil 3 minutes. Allow to cool, add carefully to have spices evenly mixed. Put on cap and seal.

A TRAGEDY

The plane crash in Alaska which resulted yesterday in the deaths of Wiley Post and Will Rogers can only be regarded as a tragedy. The loss of either of these colorful figures would have been felt in many quarters. That the two should go together amounts almost to a national disaster.

Will Rogers in particular had become an institution. His homely wit and whimsical philosophy had endeared him to countless thousands while Wiley Post, for years an outstanding figure in the world of aviation, had contributed materially to the development of the science which he finally gave his life.

Death comes to all in varied forms and it may be that these two intrepid souls would not have been displeased had it been given them to foresee the closing period and yet there is none who would not wish that each might have been spared to continue his splendid service. The two who were missed are few men ever have been.

WE BUILD

The News would apologize for the present state of its office, a condition which, happily will not last a great deal longer.

Rebuilding of the News "front" is rendered necessary in order to secure enlarged office space and provide better facilities for the transaction of business and the proper serving of News customers. Approximately twenty-five per cent is added to the actual office space and a better arrangement of desks and equipment is expected to result in increased efficiency of operation.

Through the courtesy of Mr. Frank W. Buttner and associates a temporary office is being maintained next door to the News building on the North although the Editorial Department will continue to carry on in the old quarters. The News appreciates much the patience and forbearance of its friends during a period which can only be described as highly inconvenient to everybody concerned.

NAVIES

The trend of armament is shown in Washington. Our authorities want about nine hundred million dollars to build ninety-five new warships within seven years.

This is a response to the building programs of our two nearest competitors for sea power. It will give us equality with, or supremacy over, Great Britain which is said to have a new seven hundred fifty million dollar program, and will keep us well ahead of Japan, which is stretching her already strained credit to build up toward our present strength. Britain, done with expansion, wants ample sea power to protect the vast holdings throughout the world gained in her growing years. Japan needs a bigger navy to keep pace with her present imperial and industrial aims. The United States, abandoning the imperialism which followed the Spanish war, wants only safety for trade and for our continental and adjacent territory. And Uncle Sam, of the three, can best afford the price of a big naval police force. But it comes high. Whether we need more warships is a question for statesmen. What kind of ships is a question for naval experts. Our experts presumably know what they are about. One thing, though, in the announced program provokes debate.

Two-thirds of the fifteen is expected to go for heavy vessels, fifteen battleships for for-million dollars apiece. Our public since the World War has often been told that battleships are obsolete. It remembers, too, how the great British dreadnaughts, in the latter days of that war, were herded into a safe harbor under an iron roof. Many would have expected more emphasis on aircraft and plane-carriers.

ALASKAN PIONEER

The other day a group of farmers returned from Alaska. They didn't like the way things were going there. They were all through, washed up, back to God's country in our own northwest. This inevitably recalls the old covered wagon trek to Pike's Peak in the previous century. "Pike's Peak or Bust" read the signs on many wagons going westward. "Busted" read the signs on all too many of those soon after going east.

Out of any hundred people starting out to do any given thing, some will be disappointed and unhappy about it. Some will be easily discouraged and give up early in the game. Some will be along on middle ground—they neither like it nor dislike it very vigorously, but as long as they are there, they might as well stay. Some few will keep high courage against odds, enjoying the fight if not the reason for it. They will win and be proud of their victory.

The recent news from Alaska is not so bad. It helps the pioneers to see houses actually going up, wells going down, sanitary provisions established and some crops growing, and to find salmon in the streams, wild game in the woods and mountains, coal within easy reach, and gold-bearing rock, in some cases, in the cellar. More efficient management suggests that perhaps the original idea wasn't so crazy, after all.

The National Geographic Society, in a recent bulletin, grows almost as lyrical about the possibilities as if it were selling Alaskan real estate. It recalls Theodore Roosevelt's prediction that Alaska would become "one of the greatest and most populous states of the entire Union, supporting as large a population as does the entire Scandinavian peninsula."

That depends largely on whether most of the present inhabitants and recent settlers hold out and make a go of it. Defeat now, while perhaps not changing the ultimate destiny of Alaska, would set its development back many years.

SANTA ANNA'S WOODEN LEG

Every now and then comes a dispatch from Springfield hinting at the historical riches in the custody of Illinois. Now we are reminded that Illinois is owner of Santa Anna's wooden leg, Illinois relic of the frontier. It is said to have been captured by the Illinois militia when the latter fighting and fast-jumping Mexican soldier of fortune had occasion to go away from there somewhat hurriedly. The former Mexican dictator's peg leg was being stored away in a state house vault for eleven years for lack of display space, but will again be put on show in the new state arsenal to be built at Springfield.

To Santa Anna Americana owe one of our great heroic poems, read too little—Joseph Miller's lines that move like a storm and start off: "Santa Anna came storming, as a storm might come" with "the cavalry, flower of Mexico, and a gaint two hundred in the ranks." But Santa Anna is a more intimate factor in American manners and customs than anything like that would indicate. Every day millions of American jaws commemorate him, for Santa Anna, as much as any man, was responsible for our national gum-chewing pastime.

Twenty years after our Mexican war the chronicler said that he was doing one of his many tours of duty in a Brooklyn boarding house. To pass the time better, he chewed chicle—he had learned that from the Indians of Chihuahua—too during another banishment. A Yankee neighbor, Adams—no kin to the Massachusetts Adamses—trick it, at the old soldier's suggestion. Americans had long been chomping on the gum of the beach tree, the cherry, the pine and the sweet gum tree. Our fathers liked to chew sasaparilla twigs and slippery elm. A potential habit was there, but the gums and the waxes were impregnated. The far-shotted Mr. Adams mixed some chicle with sugar and peppermint oil, and a great American industry was born.

If Dary Crockett had had his usual luck with a rifle, or if James Bowie had been able to get within a knife's thrust of Santa Anna that day in San Antonio, American waitresses and hat-check girls might now be chewing roses and paraffin. From that Santa Anna delivered us.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Purly personal puff: The World's saddest expression: Anne Lindbergh's. Our old family doctor declared the best cure for a cold was a day in the city and dozen handkerchiefs. No. 1 in thoughtless cruelty to animals: James Reid, No. 2, The Bull Terrier. I once leaned against a screen that toppled over at a literary tea and was out of three Herculite, Oliver and a stick, lone and adack. A phantasm. I lived in Manhattan for five years before setting a foot in Brooklyn. Discovering Brooklyn is high adventure.

Russ Gandy has done essay. I have seen what I learned in Hard Times. O. O. McIntyre, Mr. Mileage Out of a Necktie. Zim gone. Billy Ireland gone. Oscar Williams gone. When the world is so dependent in need of laugh, I like the Times reference to the Tulsa Tribune's editorial room as "the thought center."

Carrying the banner in an Al G. Fields' minstrel parade I saw Al Johnson the first time free. My friend Carl Botta spent a lifetime in expert prosecution against the thing he feared most—infection. He died of septemia. Favorite necktie: Deep purple four-in-hand.

Threesome for The Great American Novel: Edna Ferber, Sinclair Lewis and Theodore Dreiser. The most beautiful girl I ever interviewed and killed his father in "Breathe." Most exciting vial in the world at 8 p. m.: Berlin airport with hands playing and planes tumbling out of the clouds from all over Europe. Moscow — Copenhagen — Vienna.

Try this on your insomnia: A hot bath and Hiswath road round. More than any other region, I feel drawn to the Ohio Valley. People I'd like to meet: Rose O'Neill, Dashiell Hammett, Andre Malraux, Harry Leon Wilson and Max Miller. Best characterization in my theatrical years: Louis Burtels in "The Show Off." Whenever I see "The Blue Manube" I go into a mental waltz with Carole Lombard or someone. You know, floaty like. Any name can acquire dignity—look at Ota Skinsner.

Someone tells me of Ring Lardner's last visit to the theater. He sat with a friend who started to go at the first note of the finale. "Wah!" murmured Lardner, "I've a special interest in final curtain lately." Flashiest dressed cartoonist: Ham Fisher. Depression miracle: A publisher—Stanley Finebaum as a real-estate man. Best character: Long Island rondsale. As a chauffeur he made $45 a week. At a way-side salesman he averages $60. Sadly misused theatrical characters: road managers such as Pop Roosevelt.

Tableaux: Jimmy Fabe going at a bust of Charlie Chaplin in an avenue gallery. I lost a copy—ran job when I added an "ed" to "He

Guiding Your Child

By ALICE CLARISSA RICHMOND

MOTHER IN SCHOOL

The principal of a private school one day exclaimed in despair, "I wish something could be done about mothers!" He was reminded that much had been done, as witness the institution and celebration of Mothers' Day. It turned out, however, that what he wanted was not more but less featuring of mothers, especially in school management.

He declared that he was pursued by mothers who wanted to give special advice about their children, to suggest special courses and training, to attend classes for a day, to be sure that he realized to the full the responsibility of his position, and appreciated the exceptional value of his charges.

"How can I pay attention to my school work when I have to give so much time to individual parents?" That school function at all under the barrage of advice and interference which parents feel privileged to give, is a miracle. The modern mother, relieved of the presence of her children in the home, finds herself at loose ends. Gone is the day when cooking, sewing and housework completely occupied her time. Now she feels driven to pursue the child to school.

It is hard for the child as well as for the teachers. He has no life of his own even when he escapes from the close and individual supervision of family life. His mother's presence in school embarrasses him. He knows that he is going to hear of her visit from his classmates. He can guess what their comments will be, and that he is sure to be teased and tormented with personal re-

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

(NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS) (Copyright, McCutcheon Newspaper Syndicate)

WASHINGTON Campaign. Politicians inside brand the original Senate tax bill as the first overt sign of bi-partisan conservatism's determination to stop Roosevelt in this year. It was dictated by Democratic members who don't face reelection next year but who hope that its so-called poor provisions would make political medicine.

Although it has been attacked by Mr. Harney it had little political effect. The threat to tap the little fellow's pocket-book made him actually conscious of the site and importance of vast federal expenditures. The howls from the hinterland still echo through Congressional halls. It even caused some to understand taxpayer that eventually he must help to foot the bill in a big way. Though the refracted measure appeared he may not forget it.

COMPROMISE

Senator Wheeler and Public Utility Man Quiden are the bluffing whistlers who have become the question of abolishing holding companies as a 1936 political issue. The Quidens group have spent from $2,000,000 to $5,000,000 to defeat proposals for outlawing holding companies.

Mr. Wheeler knows that enactment of such a controversial measure would be almost impossible at this time. He is therefore playing politics will be barred from the calendar next January under a political penalty which they say is the extreme penalty in the Senate bill they must submit to stiff regulation under the House bill. Highup spokesmen for the Senate admit privately that they would like to learn their fate right away. They dread even the award of uncertainty.

Mr. Wheeler knows that enactment of such a controversial measure would be almost impossible at this time. cut down expenses and given a business-like administration. Jack Garner bosses think they may need that kind of a candidate next year.

HOT. One feature of the opposition Senate tax bill made Jack Garner jump out of his chair. He immediately ordered Senator Tom Connally of Texas to eliminate the hated provision from the bill. The move shows how the anti-Rooseveltians stepped on Presidential and vice-presidential toes.

Mr. Garner's eight states permit owners of community property, like husband and wife, to file separate returns. Thus they share the tax burden of their joint holdings. In the past Uncle Sam has acquiesced in this system. But in an effort to obtain greater revenue the Senate Finance committee required a joint return. They didn't realize—or care—that they were hitting at lawyers in Texas, Louisiana, Arizona, New Mexico, Idaho, Nevada, California and Washington.

Mr. Garner leaped into the fracas without consulting the White House. But it is known that the President laughed heartily when he heard of the Senate's impetuosity and his success in eliminating the obnoxious provision.

NOTES. Senator Hattie Caraway, friend of Huey Long, deftly sidesteps when asked if she will join Long's fight against Joe Robinson. "The supreme court has started a long campaign when it murmured that NEA was cuckoo," said a sarcastic remark. The Department of Commerce income figures are criticized because they include federal handouts.

POSITION. Former President Hoover's challenge to President Roosevelt is being stoutly defended in a campaign which it murmured that NEA was cuckoo, said a sarcastic remark. The Department of Commerce income figures are criticized because they include federal handouts.

TRIBUTE. The department of labor is being sympathized by the San Francisco laborers. They have created a "city central committee" consisting of two delegates from each union and group including marine work, program and labor management. This central committee is empowered to call a general strike of the maritime workers all over the world to strike in sympathy with the San Francisco laborers.

WATCH. A leading brokerage firm mailed confidential letter to its larger clients stating as follows: "The tone suggests that professional investment management is being considered. They are encouraged by the speculative buying of the public at large. Indications are that public buying is a result of inflated market price appreciation. Trying to anticipate stockmarket movements while business conditions are so uncertain and 1935 is a risky proposition. Portfolio should be closely watched and adjusted."

SHERIFF PAGE LEAVES TO RETURN PRISONER

BUTLER, Aug. 16.—Armed with extradition papers signed by Governor C. Ben Ross, Sheriff P. D. Pace left for Janesville, Wisconsin, Thursday morning. The program was to return to answer a charge of burglary filed here against him. Martens is being held at Janesville by James Cronk, who can only offer a $25,000 bond. A complaint signed by former Chief of Police Sterling Clark of Butler, filed by Martens, charges that Martens entered Wilkes Tasty Food store here on or about December 10, 1933, with the intent to commit grand larceny. Cash and checks aggregating approximately $600 constituted the alleged haul. Martens, who was at the time employed in a local cafe, had purchased meat the same day at the store and asserted that he intended to return the meat to the store but was detained in the basement while meat was being cut and wrapped. Entrance that night by Martens was effected through a basement window from which an inside bar had been unfastened. Martens could not be found to Butler thereafter.

One of the checks was later cashed in Denver, where, according to present Chief of Police, it was registered and the name of H. C. Martens was endorsed on the back. Martens, with a past prison record, was cited by the grand jury furnished by Chief Clark to the Department of Justice at Washington.

Buhl Concludes Band Season with Concert

BUEL, Aug. 16.—The closing band concert of the Buhl municipal band was given on Thursday evening at the City park. The program was made up of favorite numbers of the band members and audiences that filled the park. The appearance of Oak Lake in his orchestra capacity in Buhl. He left on Friday morning for his home at Oak Lake City where he will attend school this fall at the University of Utah and also teach in the psychology department at that time. Mr. Oak Lake with music in Buhl will be missed and through his efforts the high school band has had up a very good music department.

STATE OPENS BIDS ON FOUR ROAD JOBS

Twin Falls Contractors Low On Burley and McCall Projects

BOISE, Aug. 16 (AP)—Bids on four highway construction projects which will cost approximately $10,000,000 and provide employment for about 200 men were opened by J. H. Blomquist, state director of highways, here today.

Low bidders, with rare exceptions, are awarded the contracts after figures are examined.

Borah Expected to Address "Grass-Rooters" Two-Day Sessions

BOISE, Aug. 16 (AP)—Frank Burroughs, Boise publisher and Republican leader, announced today that final arrangements are being made for a two-day convention of Idaho grass-rooters to be held here early in October.

Replies from questionnaires sent out for this purpose indicate there will be an attendance of close to 500 persons; Mr. Burroughs said. The convention will be held to inspire a return to pure and simple, Republican party principles of Abraham Lincoln, he declared.

His aid Senator William E. Borah, who still is in Washington, D. C., probably will deliver the principal address. The exact date has not been fixed. At a meeting of Republicans here last night Mr. Burroughs also elected general chairman and Howard Day of Boise was named secretary of the organization.

The tentative program calls for a banquet, round-table conferences, informal meetings and a "free-for-all" session. Mr. Borah is expected to be in Boise for the convention. The meeting last night besides naming Mr. Burroughs as chairman of the "grass-root" organization and Howard Day as secretary, elected the following vice presidents: E. E. Hunt of Sandpoint; E. T. Johnson of Orofino; Harry Rayner of Dulais; and J. W. McCall of Burley. Other officers named were: J. W. McCall, secretary; E. E. Hunt, vice president; E. T. miles of it devoted to cotton and corn, horses, dogs, and quail. Mr. Carroll played the cotton market when the hunting season was on with varying success.

NEW LIFE It ended by Emily's producing linen and making the bed, while Judith unpacked frothy underwear and talked incessantly.

The car swept into a driveway, and Emily caught her breath at the beauty of it. There were houses, she estimated, under the trees, and there were houses that held out their arms and said, "Come in."

NEIGHBORS' CHURCHES MURTAUGH COMMUNITY 10 a. m.—Regular morning worship with a sermon by the pastor.

She made friends not with the easy familiarity of Judith, but quietly and surely. She made the class tennis team, and found herself appointed to various minor offices.

11 a. m.—Sunday school with Superintendent William Lindau in charge.

Under Judith's expert tutelage she learned to laugh, heartily and often, and was amazed to discover how unimportant her troubles seemed so long as she dared to laugh at them.

HANSEN CHURCH Edgar L. White, minister 10:30 a. m.—Sunday school with Superintendent Harvey Fornwall in charge.

She went home for week-end twice a month, and on the last trip she attended a book party where her, Jeffrey was entranced, but Frances thought her rather dangerously attractive and wondered if she wasn't a demoralizing influence on Emily.

11:30 a. m.—Regular morning worship with a sermon by the pastor. Special music under the direction of Harvey Fornwall.

Edwin eyed her with distrust, as one who had the power to injure outside his orbit, and confided privately to Emily that he thought her treacherous.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE KIMBERLY J. O. Schaap, pastor 10 a. m.—Sunday school, classes for all. Wesley Carroll, superintendent.

When the Easter holidays arrived Judith extended her own invitation for the start of the summer. "Why can't you come home with me and see the Carroll menagerie?"

11 a. m.—Morning worship. Subject: "The Will of Increase. Use What You Have."

Emily growed. "I'd love it, but I'm not going. Mother would feel about my not coming home."

6 p. m.—Evening worship. Evangelistic service. Special singing.

David, Emily had learned before this, was Judith's brother. He was twenty, just out of Paris, and the best and end-all of Judith's existence. His picture adorned her desk at times, and she was ray and careless and smiling, that were dilapidated riding breeches and a shirt thrown on at the throat.

BUHL COUPLE MARRIED WITH RING CEREMONY BUHL, Aug. 16.—At a pretty home wedding, Miss Rita, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schoeller, became the bride of James Buhl, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. Goldthwaite, at 8 o'clock with Rev. O. C. Goldthwaite performing the simple ring ceremony.

Emily giggled. "Am I as bad as that, my eye! You'll be damn' good. Particularly down home where all the women are large and ramboned and either horny or deery. David will have a cerebral hemorrhage."

The young couple took vows before a background of flowers and ferns, gladioli, roses and baby breath. The bride was given in marriage by her father and was attended by her sister, Miss Florence Schoeller. Herbert Buhl acted as the best man. The bride wore a sport dress of rust trimmed in white crushed lapin and wore brown accessories to match. She wore a corsage of yellow pearly lilies. The bridesmaid wore black and white sport dress with black accessories and carried a white and red bouquet.

Following the ceremony a three-course wedding breakfast was served to the wedding party. The color scheme of pink and white was used in the bride and the table decorations. The centerpiece of the table was a large wedding cake which the bride cut and served.

Emily giggled. "Am I as bad as that, my eye! You'll be damn' good. Particularly down home where all the women are large and ramboned and either horny or deery. David will have a cerebral hemorrhage."

The young couple left immediately following for a trip to Denver. The bride's going away outfit was brown and red Scotch plaid wool suit with brown accessories. The young couple will be at home to their friends at the Goldthwaite parlments after the first of September.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16 (AP)—Long leant Dizzy Dean, sniffling from a head cold, snapped his long right arm at the Giants today as though it were a black snake whip, shutting them out 1 to 0, to pull the Cardinals back within three games of the National league lead.

Big Dix allowed only three hits, one of them a scorching bouncer over the own head, to become the first pitcher in the majors to win twenty games this season.

To win Dix had to best Hal Schumacher, Giant right hand ace, in one of the tightest duels of the year, the closest match so far in the five game series that now stands even at two victories each.

Times Registers 7-to-5 Victory

Rival Pitchers Hurl Six-Hit Ball in Contest at Lincoln Field

Idaho Evening Times softball soccer pitched Twin Falls stars at Lincoln field yesterday afternoon by a 7 to 5 score after a thrilling battle which revealed considerable heretofore unheralded talent and many a set of sore muscles. Prior to the victory, however, it was to be delivered to the Times office today by members of the new team.

Although a generous scorekeeper failed to chalk them down, bobbles were plentiful throughout, but several of which had never before had their own name in the Times. The game was played on a par with league play.

Les Cowan of the Times and Len Simpson of the News each hurled six-hit ball for a total of three trips to the plate.

Leading hitters were Bob Dingfield of the Times and George Roberts of the News. Each smacked the pill for safeties twice out of three trips to the plate.

Westergren, Ed Bringer and Jimmy Muller, Times' outstanding stars for the Times with flabby hitting and Howard Shoney and Bob Larson looked good in the field.

Utah Chieftains to Play Doubleheader Bill at Burley, Sunday

IERA softballers who are leading American division play at Twin Falls will hereafter play under the banner of the Utah Chief club today under the sponsorship of J. J. Winterholer, according to an announcement last night by Winterholer and Bill Child, team manager.

The Utah Chieftains will get their first taste of play Sunday when they journey to Burley for a double-header bill. At 10 a. m. the regular Utah Chief team will meet the Wesler aggregation of the Burley league and at 1:30 p. m. the Chief team will strengthen the line-up with a few Twin Falls All-Stars to meet a picked team of Burley players.

Winterholer signified intention of purchasing awnings for the team and the Chief plan to enter tournament at Boise a week from Sunday.

Players will meet at Wray's cafe at 9 a. m. Sunday to make the trip to Burley.

Wagonmen Crush Creamery, 24-7

Les Cowan Pitches Way to Two Softball Wins in Single Day

Les Cowan, pitcher for the Consolidated Wagon and Machine company team, hurled his second softball victory within three hours last evening when the Wagonmen trounced the Challenge Creamery team in American division of Idaho Evening Times League, 24 to 7, in an evening game.

The bulk of the damage from beginning to end with Cowan allowing 12 hits while the C. W. & M. crew was garnering 23 off Paulsen.

Lightweight Champion Completes Heavy Training For Kick Battle

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16 (AP)—Hein Willis Moody, crowned champion of the world's tennis court, will not play in the national championships at Forest Hills, he announced here today.

Moody said that he had enough tournament tennis for the season. Mrs. Moody said, "The tournament at Wimbledon and the journey was an effort, and another trip would be more than I feel able to undertake at this time."

Mrs. Moody Decides To Pass Up U. S. Tourney

"I shall continue playing tennis here in California, during the coming year, and hope to take part in the championship tournaments next year."

Queen Helen's sudden decision to forego participation in Forest Hills play surprised friends here. Since her arrival from the east few birds among the mingles had, only, ostensibly with one eye fixed upon the national tournament.

Babe Ruth Turns In Score of 85

CLEVELAND, Aug. 16 (AP)—The $2500 prize open golf tournament at the Arcene Country club today was mostly a lot of fun as far as Babe Ruth, obstinate home run king of baseball, was concerned.

The bantam turned in a "fantastic" score of 44-45-45, for the 18-hole opener, and was in trouble most of the time.

Tom Luthers, janky Youngstown Ohio, two scored the field of 150 starters in the 72-hole tournament, but he allowed five strokes off par to score 32-35-38.

Question Mark Wins

"An admirable compromise" is the way one hunter wants to describe the International war canoe race at Casperville, Washington, leaving nine other trial boats behind.

"We know how thousands of duck hunters feel about the entire elimination of live decoys, retirement agency which has resulted because of the war. The waterfowl decoy has been grossly abused. But to the average hunter, the quick, duck decoy, which is a terror to those who hunt on such famous waters as the Squamanna Falls, is a step forward."

"While the regulations call for a straight season of 30 days this will be considerably reduced in some states by local rest days and Sundays and by the weather."

The shooters in the northern states will have the best of the usual shooting and early freeze-up usually drive the birds south by November 10. The sportsmen in the southern states will get none of their usual late-season shooting.

The new fixed-hour shooting period of 7 to 8 will be generally approved.

OUT-OF-DOORS

Hunters will be interested in the action of the American Game Association to the recently announced duck regulations for 1935. The association's president, Seth Gordon, always in touch with the pulse of sportsmen, takes the stand with his opinions:

"We believe the U. S. biological survey has approached its problem honestly and fearlessly, and we cheerily give them a fair trial. Or, not, we ought to be sportsmen and give them a fair trial."

"Mr. John H. Baker, of the National Association of Audubon societies, uttered the word 'incredible' in commenting on these regulations, though we suspect he is inwardly chuckling because at least two victories were scored by his organization, which has campaigned for years against baiting and live decoys."

"Many shooters say regulations are too burdensome to consider. They have been tried to close the season, but what does that great army of sportsmen, who do not care for either extreme, the restrictionists or the liberals, say?"

DANCING ARTISTS BOOKED BY PUBLIX

Marie Helm's Studio Pupils Will Entertain Legion Delegates at Boise

Publix Paramount corporation has booked Marie Dunn Helm's studio for special attraction at the Pinney theater, Boise, during the American Legion state convention, opening Sunday and running for three consecutive days.

The acts selected were chosen from the professional artists of the Marie Dunn Helm Studio of Dancing. There will be 12 acts, including two special numbers by Chuck Helm's Continental orchestra, which will appear on the stage with the unit.

The act will include the six original dancing debutantes, Agnes Davis, Esther Smith, Phyllis Robinson, Jeanne Robinson, Edith Richards, Thelma Seiber, who will do three line numbers, "The Harlem Strut," "Hot Shoe Rhythm Dance," and "Harlem Rumba," in which latter number the white Harlem dancers suddenly change into black Harlem maniacs.

Betty June Tarr and Ray Jennings, popular juvenile dance team, will appear in a novelty act, including stair dance act and also in solo numbers. Gus Vaughn, jr., will be featured in a dance improvisation, "Cab Caloway," Marie Dunn Helm and Wayne Kenworthy, seasoned professionals of the stage, are teamed in a new Collegiate Comedy dance, and they will also do solo numbers. Agnes Davis will be featured in the parts of the City Slicker and the Farmer Boy in "Homer and Roy From Illinois." Chuck Helm will deliver a dictation campaign speech in which he presents himself as the Legionaire's candidate for president. Leonore Stewart, juvenile contortionist, will execute a very difficult act on the stairs.
