BODIES OF ROGERS AND POST ARRIVE AT LOS ANGELES

Police Squad Clashes With Photographers When Big Transport Plane Enters Burbank Airport Hangar

(By The Associated Press) LOS ANGELES, Aug. 19.—Will Rogers came back to Los Angeles tonight at the end of the tragic air journey with Wiley Post which he had said in his whimsical manner would probably be to "just somewhere."

The big transport plane, which brought the bodies of the two humorists and a companion in death from Seattle, alighted down to a gentle landing on the Burbank airport at 6:25 p. m. (P.S.T.) just as the day was fading into night.

Into the waiting hangar the funeral director and his assistants, reminding spectators of muffled drum beats.

By the great iron doors of the hangar, the ground crew waited, tense, alert, clustered in little groups by the runway fence were several hundred onlookers. They faced a column of uniformed police.

Motors roared. The ship moved forward into the hangar. The doors closed shut. Harry Gagner, the stillness suddenly was broken by the discovery of a photographer crouching in the rafters above the ship. Several moments of confusion followed until police caught him and destroyed his apparatus. Meanwhile, other photographers peered through the glass windows from the outside of the building, chased with police when the officers attempted to move them away. Spectators jumped over the fence to join the action of uniformed police.

This delayed the removal of the bodies, shrouded in gray on stretchers, for nearly a half hour. A large black name was pasted on the side of the hangar. It was the name of the ship, the Wiley Post. Several moments of confusion followed until police caught him and destroyed his apparatus. Meanwhile, other photographers peered through the glass windows from the outside of the building, chased with police when the officers attempted to move them away. Spectators jumped over the fence to join the action of uniformed police.

Today, all that remained of these two men lay under the covers. Bodies taken to Glendale. In two hearses, escorted by twenty motorcycle policemen, the bodies then were taken to the Forest Lawn.

LIGHTS and SHADOWS In Day's Events

(By The Associated Press)

Once In 107 Years.—The first wedding in 107 years in the village church here took place yesterday. Found in 1828, the mountain village Congregational church has never had a marriage ceremony performed within its doors, according to town records and the oldest residents.

A couple married today were Miss Jean Elizabeth Flagg of Loudon and Albert Harry of Hockanum, a nearby village.

Rescuer Loses Rescue Race.—DENVER.—Walter Stuckey, 32, was in a life-saving contest, fighting for the lead as he dragged his muck victim to shore. Suddenly he heard a woman scream alongside the course. He dropped his muck victim and rescued the woman, who had floundered in the deep water. Despite his real-life rescue he lost the race.

Prescription.—Patrolman Harry King watched an automobile speed wildly down a residential street and crash into a telephone pole.

"He," he yelled, running to the crash scene. "What's the matter with you, anyway?"

"He," he yelled, running to the crash scene. "What's the matter with you, anyway?"

Hangman Faces Noose.—VIENNA.—Alois Fugart, former village hangman who once worked for the government as a hangman, faces death at the end of a rope on charges of arson and murder.

He is accused of killing two 5-year-old children, one of them his own daughter, and then setting fire to his barn with the alleged motive of generating the crime and collecting fire insurance.

Police quoted Fugart as saying: "If I have to die, I must be able to know what hanging is."

BONUS PAYMENT URGED AT BOISE

Idaho American Legion Delegates Adopt Report by Harry Benoit

(By The Associated Press) BOISE, Aug. 19.—Appeals for preservation of Americanism and recommendations that efforts be continued to secure immediate cash payment of adjusted service certificates provided the principal terms of addresses given here today by state and national leaders of the American Legion on the 17th annual convention of the Idaho department.

The delegates to the three-day session which opened this morning first heard their state commander, C. A. Bollenstein, Blackfoot publisher, recommend such courses of action, then listened to a similar appeal by Frank N. Belgrano, national commander of the organization, and finally adopted a report by Harry Benoit of Twin Falls, national executive.

RANGERS REPORT AIRPLANE CRASH

Party Searches for Missing Craft and Passengers on Laramie Peak

GLENDON, Wyo., Aug. 19 (AP)—Searchers last night said they discovered reliable evidence that a multi-engine airplane crashed three well-known Indianapolis residents had crashed on the jagged pinnacle of Laramie peak and killed the three to death.

Although wreckage of the plane which left Helena, Montana, four days ago was not observed, the searching party planned to mount trail horses at dawn and ride perilous paths to the point where they believe the airplane fell.

The missing are Burnside Smith, 47, president of the Aero Mayflower Transit company of Indianapolis; Dick Arnett, 39, pilot and manager of an Indianapolis airport; and Arnett's brother-in-law, Eleanor, 27.

Wall Higley, Denver aviator and representative of the same aviation firm Arnett served, interviewed rangers in the isolated mountain section near midnight and said he "suspected the plane crashed on Laramie peak and that we can find it within a square-mile section on the northwest face of the peak."

Ranger Reports Crash.—His announcement came after he checked the report of Lyle Peston, rancher who said he heard a crash and saw a burst flame on the two-mile-high peak Thursday night.

Higley flew from Denver late today and immediately drove to Peston ranch at the base of the Laramie peak, 38 miles southwest of here, to check the rancher's report.

From the McGowan ranch near the peak came similar reports late tonight that a plane had been caught in a fire near the peak and had made several desperate attempts to penetrate the thick veil.

Lyle Peston, his wife and Earl J. Dixon, rancher, could not see about the plane, Higley said. They said they could hear it circling about 8:30 p. m. Thursday night but could not see it for the fog. They saw the sky cleared a little and they were able to see the plane as it came down the peak. They saw the plane crash a few seconds later there was a "big flash" and then they saw the plane burst into flames.

"I'm satisfied that the ship was the aviator, sorrowfully," Higley reported.

BANKING AND RAIL PENSION BILLS GO TO WHITE HOUSE

Congress, Prompted by Desire for Early Adjournment, Speeds Lawmaking; House Okays Coal Measure

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Congress went into high gear today over a law-making road smoothed by a desire for adjournment by Saturday or sooner.

Deliberate gave way to action which sent banking and rail pension bills to the White House; the house-approved Guffey coal bill to the senate, and the draft-repeal measure to the senate.

Congress on the tax and liquor bills called a night session to hasten agreement on differences between the two houses, including the Zorah tax bill, amendments banning future tax-free federal securities, which Secretary McPherson said he opposed.

President On Air.—From the White House came an announcement that President Roosevelt would return to the radio at 9:30 p. m. (EST) Saturday. He is expected to review the work of congress, and possibly touch on his ideas for the future.

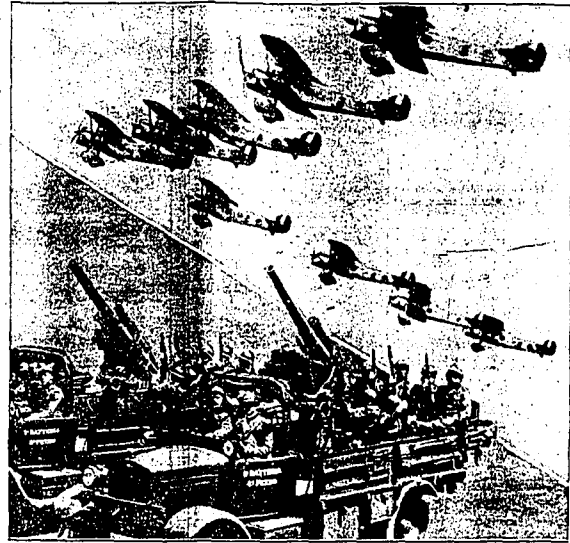

The president was reported "too busy" today to receive a delegation of five women "meat-strikers" from Detroit. Secretary Wallace told them the drought was responsible for high meat prices. They demanded lower prices and an investigation of packer's profits.

The conference report on the banking bill, giving the federal reserve board majority control over the nation's credit resources, was swiftly approved by voice votes in both houses.

The rail pension measure, designed to replace the law invalidated by the supreme court, but making no provision for financing, met no opposition in the house and the senate approved it 76 to 3. A companion bill to tax railroads and their employees to meet the estimated $50,000,000 annual cost is in the house rules committee.

Duce Counts On Air Power Against Ethiopia

THE ITALIAN army is equipped with the most advanced implements of modern warfare and is particularly well prepared to fight in the air as regular aerial attacks. Foreign military observers will watch carefully to see how effective Italy's air force will be if a war is fought in Ethiopia, a rough forbidding country with few roads and only one railway. Pictured here are a squadron of Italian fighting planes and Italian anti-aircraft guns on trucks. (AP) Photos.

Italy Turns Back On Geneva Efforts To Avert Warfare

Storm Clouds Lower Again Over Europe With African War Looming Inevitable and Imminent

Threat Seen to League's Existence

(By The Associated Press) PARIS, Aug. 19.—Baron Poincaré of Italy, taking leave of the scene of the hapless three-power peace party today, confirmed the expressed feeling of French high officials that an African war is both inevitable and imminent by saying: "I have no hopes for Geneva. I see no basis for further discussion. Italy does not want to leave Geneva, but if we are led to the door, we will have to leave."

Before he spoke, officials were already predicting storm clouds for Europe and a return of "jungle law" as a result of failure of the tripartite conference. One high official said privately that Europe "faces a crisis like that of 1934."

Meanwhile, a new snarl was developing in the work of the four-member Italo-Ethiopian arbitration commission, it was revealed by a source close to the commission, which said an Italian map showing the disputed Ualal area to be in Ethiopian territory had been presented as surprise evidence.

It was reliably stated that Nicholas Politis, Greek minister to Paris who has been prominently mentioned for the post of arbitrator, would likely be needed as a fifth member to settle the issue.

The two Italian members of the commission, this authority said, had agreed to accept Politis but only on condition that he does not hear testimony.

The Italians first rejected Politis. It was reliably stated, but Alois instructed them to accept him "lest Italian prestige be further endangered."

Map Changes Sentiment.—A decision favoring Italy had been forecast a few days ago, but the map was reported to have been changed. Informal quarters said examination of Italy's military maps showed that at the time of the Ualal incident in December 1934 Ualal was recognized as Italian map as being in Ethiopia, but in subsequent Italian maps it was placed in Italian territory.

French leaders had placed little hope in subsequent efforts of the League of Nations and Alois did not tell their fears that Mussolini would give the matter up, but he said: "Diplomatic channels have little chance to settle our affairs with Ethiopia."

As for the league covenant's guarantee of independence and integrity for its member nations, he remarked: "The league engaged itself to do a lot of things it has not done."

He also said Italy has not decided to send representatives to the league sessions starting September 4.

Depression Effect.—These comments had a depressing effect on the French who were already alarmed at the collapse of the efforts of British and American leaders to avert the outbreak of hostilities from the failure of the tripartite conference in Paris on the Italian-Ethiopian crisis, which was announced to meet in extraordinary session Thursday as ministers tonight conferred on London from widely scattered European points.

Controlled by a situation considered by many as the most serious threat to world peace since 1914, King George personally took up the matter, summoning Sir Samuel Hoare, foreign secretary, to Sandringham.

Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin hurriedly made preparations to quit Aix-les-Bains, where he arrived yesterday. He also said Italy has not decided to send representatives to the league sessions starting September 4.

Where Post And Rogers Met Death In Airplane Crash

This exclusive Associated Press photograph (above) shows graphically the scene where Will Rogers, world-famous humorist, and Wiley Post, his equally famous pilot, met their deaths, 15 miles southwest of Harrold, northern tip of Alaska, August 15. In the foreground is shown the tent of a Eskimo whaler which flew from the air and near which he is famous for his way to the top of the peak. In the background the plane itself can be seen half submerged in the lagoon on which it alighted. A clew of the Rogers-Post plane wreck (center) shows the jumble of wood and metal that is all that is left of the airplane. The pontoons which were fitted on the plane in Seattle are shown folded over the top of the overturned ship. The view is from the front of the ship. The photograph below shows the keel and ribs of the Arctic whaler Rogers and Post met their deaths. The wreckage of the plane is shown in the upper left of the picture, with in the foreground the natives who "threw the" of the famous pair are shown warning them. A view by a camera of the Arctic whaler is shown in the background with its eye present for location. (AP) Photos.

ARMY AIR FORCE

Saddened by Funeral for Crash Victims, Nation Girds for War

(By The Associated Press) ROME, Aug. 19 (AP)—Francis Italo, saddened by the funeral ceremonies for the prominent victims of an Egyptian plane crash August 7, hurried his war preparations tonight for an East African campaign.

The official Gazette decreed the increase of the air corps personnel by 18,243 men, including 300 officers and pilots, 1,800 non-commissioned officers, 10,985 soldiers attached to the air force, 1,500 non-commissioned officers, bringing the total to over 40,000 men.

Nation Pays Homage.—At the last rites today for Luigi Italo, minister of public works and his six companions who died in the plane crash, the Italian government paid tribute to the victims of the East African venture, and acclaimed those who will carry the war.

Although the crash occurred on what ostensibly was a non-military mission to Britain, the Italian government in Rome said the tragedy was viewed here as one of the monuments in Italy's "sacred responsibility to civilization."

French leaders had placed little hope in subsequent efforts of the League of Nations and Alois did not tell their fears that Mussolini would give the matter up, but he said: "Diplomatic channels have little chance to settle our affairs with Ethiopia."

LEGION COMMANDER URGES AMERICANISM

Boise Convention Hears Belgrano Appeal for Preservation of Republic

BOISE, Aug. 19 (AP)—A warning that the Democratic form of government is "beset by grave dangers" was sounded here today by Frank N. Bolgrano, Jr., of San Francisco, national commander of the American Legion, in an address in which he appealed "for preservation of our Republic and its institutions."

"What America needs," he told a gathering of several hundred local Legionnaires assembled here for the seventeenth annual convention of the American Legion, is an immediate and thorough reawakening of the spirit of Americanism.

"Our land is filled with so-called propaganda of alien 'isms.' The agents of communism preach their doctrine, they have invaded our schools and our churches. No longer do they cloak their purpose in their newspapers and from the public platform they are even calling openly for a revolution to overthrow our form of government and set up in its place political and social slavery. We of the Legion do not anticipate any revolution, but we are motivated to do so by the coming of a man to lead the un-American groups. We are calling to every patriotic American to join in us in the defense of our Republic.

Where Treason Begins

"We do not deny our peoples and other nations the right to live under any form of government they choose. If Europe wants its communism, or any other 'ism,' let them have it. We do say, while pulling our punches, that here in America there is room for only one 'ism'—that is Americanism. We stand firmly behind the constitution of the United States. We uphold the right of free speech and free press and freedom of speech and freedom of the press and where treason begins."

The commander's appeal for a return to the "principles of true Americanism" was preceded by a declaration of payment of the reduced service certificate "at full face value, every one of which represents a proper and honorable debt this government owes World War veterans—a debt that now is past due."

Turning to another subject close to the hearts of veterans of the World War, he voiced his inability to compromise with anyone on the issue of honoring discharged veterans and providing care for the widows and orphans of deceased World War veterans.

"The sacrifices these men made were for the whole nation. The war ended for our November 11, 1918, but for them the guns are still sounding. Because of the sacrifices they made for this nation, these veterans are to be honored and respected by the duty of the whole country to repay generously and willingly," Belgrano declared.

BONUS PAYMENT URGED AT BOISE

1,000 Attend Banquet

Tonight more than 1,000 Legionnaires and their wives gathered at the annual banquet which also was addressed by the national and state commanders tomorrow the members of the organizations will parade and transact more business, and on Wednesday they will elect their officers for the coming year.

Mr. Belgrano will leave by train at midnight for Helena, Montana, to attend the Montana department convention. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Belgrano and Miss Shattuck of Idaho Falls.

The Legion Auxiliary is meeting in separate sessions. Mrs. Nicholas Lift of Pocatello delivered a brief address and heard an address by their national vice president, Mrs. Estella Binn of Kayville, Utah.

National Committee Member urged continued work for payment of the adjusted bonus. He stressed on the grounds such payment would be sound and economical and would permit the Legion to direct its energies now used in securing payment on something else equally constructive.

He called attention to the important part the national legislative committee of the Legion has played in recent laws introduced and passed in congress.

"This committee is referred to as our Washington lobby," he noted.

"We are anxious to make it our lobby and we have no apologies to make for any industry, even the churches, have their lobby."

He recommended that every teacher in all schools of the country be required to subscribe to the oath of allegiance to the constitution.

"A true American should consider it a privilege to take that oath rather than take offense to such a suggestion, as has been the case in many parts of the country," he declared.

A law requiring such an oath "has been enacted in many states," he noted.

"I regret to say that Idaho is not among them. It is hoped that such a resolution be adopted in this convention, and also that there be a resolution adopted requesting the state legislature to enact a law disbarring the communist party, or any

WEATHER

FORECAST FOR TODAY AND TOMORROW

High and low temperatures as reported by the government weather observer were 76 and 45 degrees; severe and moderate winds, and the sky was clear; barometric pressure at 5 p. m. was 29.50 inches and the wind was from the north at 10 to 15 miles per hour.

Sunday's temperatures were 70 and 42 degrees with a variable wind from the west at 10 to 15 miles per hour; humidity range was 83 to 40 per cent of saturation.

Temperatures Over West Below Normal

Barometric pressure is somewhat higher over most of the west with a moderate crest over eastern Montana. Fair weather attends this condition generally in this region, although a fairly heavy shower was reported at a visible distance. Temperatures in the west are slightly below normal. A shallow trough of low pressure intersecting with the eastern high has caused unsettled weather in the eastern half of the country, with scattered showers occurring in that section.

Where Treason Begins

"We do not deny our peoples and other nations the right to live under any form of government they choose. If Europe wants its communism, or any other 'ism,' let them have it. RANCHERS REPORT AIRPLANE CRASH ranch residents informed him that the fog blanket was not thick at that ranch and that they saw the plane attempting to fly through it to the south.

Highly Unnecessary

"We'll get horses at dawn and some help, and then we'll climb up the peak," he said.

The Denver aviator was attempting to land at the ranch of Dr. A. C. Arnold, of Lafayette, Indiana, father of the pilot, telephoned here today to Kansas City, Missouri, by plane early tomorrow morning to fly to Cheyenne, Wyoming, and on to Omaha, Nebraska. The father left Indiana late today.

MURDER SUSPECT SOUGHT IN OREGON

Officers Search for Range Man as Slayer of Burns Stock Buyer

BURNS, Ore., Aug. 19 (AP)—Ed McDonald, Burns stock buyer who was convicted of horse-stealing, was shot and fatally wounded here last night and Tom Elkins, stockman of the range, was sought today as the slayer.

District Attorney J. S. Cook said the men, acquaintances for 20 years, were at the home of Elkins' mother, Mrs. Andy Elkins. Witnesses to the shooting related that McDonald called to visit Mabel Clark, widow of Elkins' brother, and Mrs. Nancy Boker, her sister.

Fire Through Screen

District Attorney Cook said he was informed that McDonald went into the yard to show Mrs. Boker how to start his automobile, and Elkins without a word shot through a screen as McDonald stood on the front porch.

Although McDonald lived from 9 o'clock until midnight, he was in such agony that he could give no statement, and officers said they knew of no motive for the shooting.

A saddle reported missing from the Walter Baker ranch nearby in the Burns district had been dropped on horseback to the unattended range area of eastern Oregon where he has spent his life and where it would be difficult to find him.

WORKMEN REPAIR DAMAGED PLUNGE

Leak in Drain Causes Water to Be Turned Out of Swimming Pool

Twin Falls swimmers had to be content with sun bathing Sunday as a strong gale at Harmon pool to find the new municipal swimming pool dry except for knee-deep water in the deepest part. John E. Higgins, contractor in charge of construction, however, said last night that the pool would be repaired and ready for use by next Sunday.

Following installation of a diving tower and diving boards late last week the water was turned in Saturday for use Sunday. Twin Falls swimmers appeared at the plunge to find it virtually dry it was discovered that the drainage line was leaking at the joints and causing seepage which would break down the floor of the plunge.

Work Progresses

Water was turned out and last night started progress in repairing the pool was being made by workmen. Three crews of six men each worked through the night to repair the seeped earth and the damaged drainage line.

Engineer Hayes said that regular municipal work is being resumed with a tunnel being run along the line of the drainage pipe and the pipe is to be replaced by a new line of cast iron pipe which will be replaced by hydraulic methods.

Hayes said that examination revealed that the cause of the joints of the drainage pipe permitted sufficient quantity of water to seep into the pool. The joints of the earth backfill around the pipe, causing the depression of a small area at the lower end of the pool.

Tracer-Lemke bill, like the rail pension bill, is destined to meet supreme court objections to its being unconstitutional, including the fact that it is a self-called after Senator Borah (Idaho) had declared it unconstitutional. It makes possible a three-year moratorium on farm mortgages. It was five years in the old law, and though it contains a provision for farmers to redeem their property by payment of its appraised value, creditors are entitled to demand an auction sale at which they can bid up to that value or the amount of the mortgage.

House approval of the conference report on the rivers and harbors bill is expected in a series of amendments to give specific authorization to the $63,000,000 Grand Coulee dam on the Columbia river, and the $13,000,000 Parker and $10,000,000 Head Oats Rock dams on the Colorado river. The vote to accept the conference report was 192 to 124.

While Miller (Iowa) withdrew his bill, the bill was not the utility holding company bill, Senator Barker (D-Id.) said he would propose a compromise on the abolition clause to conference tomorrow. With the lobbyist and Secretary Mergenthaler tomorrow.

and C. Henson of the Associated Gas and Electric system. Extracting a recital of bulky but round-about personal profits from power companies.

Other developments included: The commerce department reported that Ethiopia, preparing for possible war with Italy, fears the worst business conditions in two decades.

LEGION'S STRENGTH STRENGTH SCANNED

C. A. Botolfsen, Idaho Commander, Reports to

BOISE Aug. 19 (By-Correspondent) C. A. Botolfsen, Idaho commander and commander of the Idaho department of the American Legion, in his message to the 17th annual convention of the organization here today called for continuance of the fight for payment of the so-called "bonus."

"In making the recommendation he said: 'I think we owe a debt of gratitude to Senator William E. Borah and Congressman Compton J. White and D. Worth Clark for their efforts in behalf of our cause.'"

"The American Legion of Idaho has had a wonderful year," he declared. "The membership to date is 4,200, more than in any year in 1934 and over a thousand greater than in 1933."

"The American Legion, always known for its high standards of service, will continue to be held at Forest Lawn Thursday, the 21st of this month."

For a while Rogers will rest in a receiving vault at Forest Lawn, not far from two of his friends, Florence Ziegfeld and Marie Dressler.

Later Rogers will go back to his native Oklahoma to join Post.

Thursday will be a day of mourning for Los Angeles. Flags on public and semi-public buildings have been lowered.

As Rogers and Post came home from the trip south, Seattle's tribute was given before departure.

A flag fluttered at half staff at Seattle and planes dipped their wings in salute.

A heavy hearted country has sorrowed with the bereaved families since news of the tragic accident reached the world early Friday.

COURT HALTS COLLECTION OF PROCESSING TAXES GREAT FALLS, Mont., Aug. 19 (By-Correspondent) Without passing on the constitutionality of the agricultural act, but expressing grave doubt as to its validity under the basic law, United States District Judge Charles N. Pray in a memorandum decision here today restrained Lewis Powell, collector of internal revenue in Montana, from collecting processing taxes from three milling companies and a meat packing concern.

The decision disposed of all processing tax suits in Montana.

The corporations that sought relief are the Royal Milling company, Cascade Milling and Elevator company, Montana Milling company and Great Falls Meat company.

In granting the restraining order, Judge Pray decreed that the taxes in dispute must be paid into court, or bond given to protect the government in the event that final determination of the question should be against the plaintiffs.

CARD OF THANKS We wish to express our sincere appreciation to our friends for their kindness and sympathy during our recent bereavement, and for the beautiful floral offerings.

SOCIAL SECURITY LAW

The newly-enacted Social Security law really does two things. First, it sets up a long-range plan for old age pensions and unemployment insurance. Second, it provides special and immediate aid to the states in caring for unemployables—dependent children, the needy aged, mothers, crippled children, the indigent disabled and the blind.

The long-range old age pension system will be financed by an income tax on employees and a pay roll tax on employers, starting at one per cent in 1937, increasing every three years until 1949, when it will be three per cent.

The Federal-State system of unemployment compensation provided is based upon a pay roll excise tax upon employers of eight or more persons—less if determined by the State. This tax will be one per cent in 1936, two per cent in 1937, three per cent in 1938 and subsequent years.

MEAT AND HOUSEWIFE

Detroit housewives, striking first against high meat prices, say they are now going after high electric, gas and milk prices. They are determined not to let the cost of living get too far ahead of the family income.

It may be that honest and thorough-going deflation was the medicine the depression needed at the start.

PRIZE RING PHILOSOPHY

Weeks before the ring battle between Joe Louis and King Levinsky, Jim Jeffries, former heavyweight champion, wrote a pertinent comment. It appeared in his autobiography which is now running in The Saturday Evening Post.

However, the honor of the white race did not, apparently, vanish. Jeffries says he weakly yielded to pressure when he consented to re-enter the ring and is sorry he did.

"The honor of the white race? 'I'm not handing out that kind of hokum now. The races of mankind don't have to defend their honor by throwing a couple of fighters into the ring, and there never was a time when I thought they did in a fight. If the races of mankind cared so much about their honor, they'd be a lot more kind and square-dealing in the world than there is.'"

Probably Jeffries did not write his story himself. But the frank, manly, sensible tone of these articles makes one hope that he is the author of this particular statement.

RHODE ISLAND "REACTS"

In the special election in the First Rhode Island Congress district on Tuesday the prime issue between the Democratic and the Republican candidates for congress was the new Mr. Prindle, the Democratic nominee, closed his last campaign address by saying that his opponent, Judge Risk, "is against the Roosevelt program, lock, stock and barrel".

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 20—Most high tops in Manhattan now have a suede guard or aquad as a protective against self-destruction. The lone visitor is usually under suspicion for a would-be suicide.

Two were climaxed by force and leaping straight on the parapet. And one was diverted by the flame of talk while an attendant from the rear expertly looped him with a flannel.

WASHINGTON By Ray Tucker INSIDE: Anti-Roosevelt conservatives on both sides of the Senate aisle had their fingers crossed when they feared at the so-called rich bill.

Members admit privately that it will be well worth the wait for them to turn down any bonus plan next January, even an inflationary one. Even those who backed the President's veto were sure to vote in a reelection year. The veterans will be more united the next time.

Although the administration has promoted the Guffey coal bill as a means of keeping industry from the door, it is a strong supporter in congressional circles that it may turn out to be a boomerang for the miners.

Thirty-Hour Day Reckoned None Too Long For Many Duties Of 'Mr. Perfect Nazi'

By LOUIS F. LOCHNER. BERLIN (AP)—If Adolf Hitler could manage the arrangements of the universe as he has revolutionized Germany, he probably would lengthen the day to 30 or even 36 hours on such a schedule could the ideal Nazi crowd into a day all that is expected of him. Mr. Perfect Nazi should be:

- (1) A member in good standing of the National Socialist Workers' Party. (2) A member of the brown-shirted "SA" or the black-shirted "SS"...

The man who, with real conviction, joins the Nazis and attempts to do the duties and offices, is ready at any hour of the day or night to perform for the party any duty desired of him.

There are orders to appear at a party district meeting eight after the close of business; another for an air protection drill at 7 p. m.; a third for an "SA" rally and march beginning at 8 p. m.

It is well beyond midnight when the Perfect Nazi returns hungry, dead tired. He is not altogether happy for he has neglected his family. He has no time to spend with his wife and children.

Among the communications Mr. Perfect Nazi receives in his morning mail are orders to appear at a party district meeting eight after the close of business; another for an air protection drill at 7 p. m.; a third for an "SA" rally and march beginning at 8 p. m.

Like an inexorable fate, the hand of Adolf Hitler points the way to busy party members in some of these activities: from left to right, hours for those of his followers who would qualify as ideal Nazis.

MORNING STAR

— BY MARIAN SIMS —

SYNOPSIS: It is because Emily felt that she was in a bad way, Judith Carroll, has out-manuevered Frances Felton. Emily's management of the plantation is a success. Judith's brother David is a trouble maker. Emily's father is responsible as Judith herself that Emily has forgotten all about caution. Edwin Barnes is a trouble maker. Emily is in love with David. They are riding over the plantation, early on a typical Alabama morning.

Chapter Six

DANCE

"Henry, didn't I hear that you spent last Saturday night in jail?" asked David of a field hand.

Henry wriggled and grinned. "I swear to God, Miss David, I don't know who put me in jail. I went in for a post-office, and some black devil musta stuck it in while I was gone."

"You don't doubt it in the least," David said.

At the stables Emily met Starlight, the spotted animal that was Judith's own mount, and saw the Irish setter, completely prodding over seven beautiful puppies. David took one of them into her arms where it straightway burrowed into her coat and became motionless.

"You're not the girl that I met," he told her proudly. "The first pup he sired after he won the All-Age at Grand Junction last winter."

Emily's estimate of the mechanism of reproduction, even in animals, had never been a subject for mixed company. Puppies and collared dogs were the work of God and not processes of nature. In the face of David's enthusiasm she was shocked and amazed.

WAR OFFICE COUNTS

GAS POISONING TOLL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—Official war department figures show that 1,271 United States soldiers died in hospitals as a result of gas poisoning during the World War.

In addition, it was estimated that 200 died on the battlefield as the result of gas.

This was made known in connection with publication of an official handbook by the British government giving data on the poison gas situation.

ROYAL NEIGHBORS OF HANSEN HOLD MEETING

HANSEN, Aug. 19—Members of the Royal Neighbors met Tuesday evening at the Woodman hall for their regular business meeting. Mrs. Edna Hansen was the guest speaker. Mrs. Weech and Mrs. Clara Hill were hostesses. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Weech, Aug. 27.

The Sunday school teachers of the primary group entertained the primary children Wednesday afternoon at the church lawn. The afternoon was spent in playing games. Lunch was served.

The W. W. bridge club met at the home of Mrs. Virgil Wilson with Mrs. Edna Wilson as assisting hostess. Mrs. E. T. Nyberg was the guest prize; Mrs. A. E. Pettigrove won traveling prize. Mrs. Pettigrove, Mrs. N. A. Robison and Mrs. Cordelia Hansen were present.

Two nights later, after Emily and Judith had gone to bed, David opened the door of their room.

"Are you asleep?" he whispered hoarsely.

"No, now," Judith assured him, and snatched on the bed-light. "Is this going to be a bed-time story?"

He sat in an arm chair on the foot of the bed, regarding them eagerly. Emily smiled at him, and wondered at the ease with which she had grown accustomed to having a man pop into her room at all hours. She had never known a family with so little regard for convention and conventional hours.

Last night, after having bid each other goodnight, they had congregated thirty minutes later, in various stages of undress, for an impromptu game of poker on the living-room floor.

Living so completely in the present as they did, they had no real interest or belief in the arrival of a tomorrow, and they were relinquished their hold upon one day until another had arrived. The sleep that they made up at odd moments like healthy animals, sleeping deeply and briefly in unexpected places, the living-room couch, or a room on a wide veranda.

She wondered with silent mirth what Frances Felton would have said to such habits.

"I've just had an idea," David announced.

Judith glanced impatiently. "No wonder you waked us up to tell me."

He ignored her. "Why don't we have a dance tomorrow night as a farewell to the plantation?"

"It's not a bad idea," Judith conceded, "but it has been too late. We can't get an orchestra on such short notice."

"We can use home talent," Casey and Cleo and Damon."

Emily laughed. "Imagine dance with Casey and Cleo and Damon!"

David grinned. "The father of Casey and Cleo is a dancer. They've been dancing since they were born."

"And Damon," Judith remarked, "is named with good reason, for one of the neighborhood waltzers."

Emily flushed. She had heard of things like that, but they didn't seem quite credible. David smiled at her. "Don't mind me. It's an established fact."

"It's not in a way," she went back to the original subject. "I don't know any music never. I'm down by the Riverside, or 'The Week of Ninety-Seven'."

"Oh, don't be! Cleo's not a waltzer either. One of those things that you can't teach. They've got Saturday night they get a record at the ten-cent store and they can't read through it. It's usually Monday night. I can't figure where they're getting the money. I've investigated and found that they're a manager of the store a door extra for a record."

"You can't pay the hands here," he explained parenthetically to Emily, "because they wouldn't even know how to count money, much less keep it. You give them an order for what they need."

"Last Sunday I rode past their cabins and they were playing 'Yes, We Have No Bananas.' Five hours later when I rode back they were playing 'Yes, We Have No Bananas.' Judith cried, and bowed to an imaginary audience. Then she nodded. "Your idea is a splendid thing. We'll have the dance tomorrow night. Now get out; you seem to manage without sleep, but we can't."

He rose reluctantly and stopped to kiss them both. Emily held her breath as he bent over her, and wondered desperately how he was going to endure an existence that didn't include David.

There were sixty people, ranging in age from fifteen to seventy, at David's dance. Two of the vast rooms had been cleared, and the polished floors gleamed dully in the light from crystal chandeliers.

It was Emily's first experience with real negro melodies, and the rhythmic ringtones with which the orchestra endorsed triple music set her back throbbing. You realized, listening to them, that the jungle was very near.

HAWAII SHOWS U. S. HOW TO GET AHEAD

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—It is hard to keep the hawk folk down on the farm in Hawaii as it is in the continental U. S., according to a report by a specialist in agricultural education, but it is being done there with considerable success.

Ross, who also is national executive secretary of the Future Farmers of America, made a trip to the Hawaiian south, is being trained and paid Hawaii showing the way to the state.

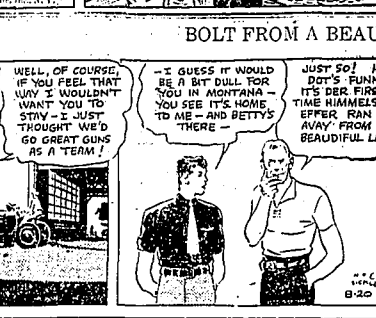

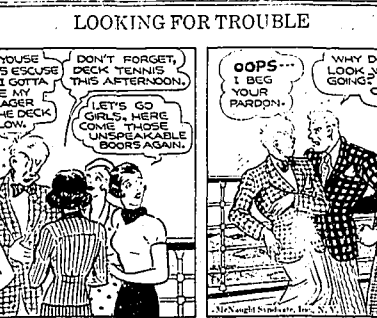

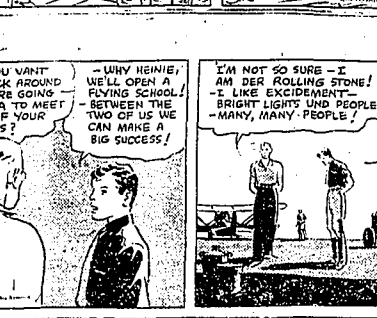

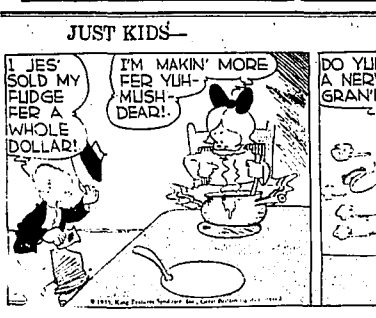

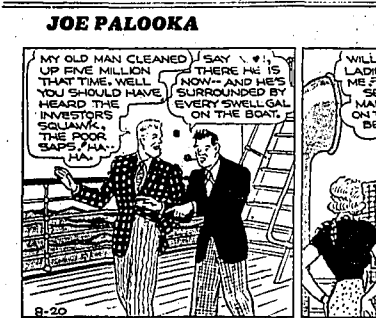

Ross said Hawaii is proceeding vigorously and successfully in counteracting the tendency away from agriculture. Young men are being trained not as general farmers, but as specialists in such operations as sugarcane, pineapple, and other tropical export crops. Large plantations and the like for large plantations.

Herrnhaecher and his son, Frank, were approached with the idea of building new homes under the federal housing act.

"We won't move," said the Herrns, "we're born in the gumbo house, three of them were married in this home, and I expect that some day my family will always live in this home in repair after I'm gone."

Mrs. and Mrs. Valentine Huttenbaker came here 30 years ago to homestead and constructed a sumptuous home in which they still live. Frank the eldest son was married to the Huttenbaker home and films on a piece of land, built himself a similar house.
