JURY'S VERDICT IN KOENECKE SLAYING EXONERATES FLIERS

Witness Testifies Traces of Alcohol Found in Organs of Baseball Player Killed in Airplane

ISLINGTON, Ont., Sept. 20 (Friday) — A coroner's jury early today returned a verdict of "no defense" in the slaying of Leonard Koenecke, Brooklyn baseball player, in an airplane early Tuesday during a struggle with William Joseph Mulquency, pilot, and Irwin Davis, parachute jumper.

The verdict freeing the two air men came only a few minutes after the jury had retired. For several hours it had listened to testimony from many witnesses.

Shortly before the jury retired, details of events leading up to the flight in which Pilot William Joseph Mulquency and Irwin Davis—parachute jumper, engaged, were relieved primarily by coroner Herman Koenecke, of Adams, Wisconsin.

Traces of Alcohol Found

Among the witnesses testifying to night was Professor John Rogers, chemical analyst of the University of Toronto, who said that his findings indicated Koenecke was in "excellent condition" at the time of the crash, but that he had a tendency toward a violent disposition because of the "traces of alcohol" found in his organs.

Professor Rogers said there were traces of alcohol in Koenecke's organs, but that the amount was so small that it would naturally cause a man, if inclined to be "quarrelsome," to become so.

Mulquency and Davis told officers the ball "stuck" while flying during a trip to the coast and that the pilot struck the ball player over the head with a fire extinguisher.

Koenecke's brother testified, telling of identifying the body and of playing the news of the death to Koenecke's wife in her Brooklyn home.

Andrew P. Grant, Windsor coroner of the Ontario provincial police, also testified to investigate details of Koenecke's arrest.

Constitutional Rule Identified By Borah With Cause of Peace

Idahoan, in Nation-Wide Broadcast, Declares War's Stragglings Where People Are Silenced

BOISE, Idaho, Sept. 19.—The "stragglings of war," United States Senator William E. Borah of Idaho declared in an address here tonight, "are those who have been silenced by the constitutional government destroyed, and arbitrary power subdues a people's will."

His address was given as part of a peace program broadcast over a nation-wide radio network.

"Wherever the people are free, where the voice of the people is heard, where speech is untrammelled and liberty of action unchained, the cause of peace is the cause of free speech, or a free press, of human liberty, of constitutional government."

"In the larger sense, therefore, the cause of peace is the cause of free speech, or a free press, of human liberty, of constitutional government."

Date for Hearing on Probation Announced by Burley Judge

BURLEY, Sept. 19.—Petition for probate of the will of the late John Jensen was filed in probate court here before Judge Henry W. Tucker Thursday morning by Attorney C. W. Thomas of Burley and H. H. Halliday of Salt Lake City.

In his will, on file in court, Mr. Jensen named Simon Lind and Knud M. Berg as his executors, and directed that his farm holdings be reduced to cash and that his partnership in livestock companies at Burley and Shiloh be sold as soon as business conditions permit, without interest, not later than a year.

To Edna Margaret Lind, nee Mrs. Taylor Guldumundsen, and daughter of Simon Lind, his business partner, was left the sum of $200. To her son, Neil Simon Lind, minor son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Berg, Burley, $200 each; and the balance of cash to be equally divided among his four daughters, Maria Jensen Sorocson; Kerstin Jensen; Sine Jensen; and Elaine Jensen.

All his nieces and nephews of first order and all nieces and nephews of his deceased brother, Paul Jensen, most of whom live in Denmark, share and inherit, in equal parts, all the real estate and personal effects, clothing, furniture and automobiles owned by the late John Jensen. To Simon Lind, individually, went all his interest in the logging and range company. To the Lind and Jensen company, Burley, and half of his interest of such equipment in the Lind, Jensen and Jensen company of Burley, with the other half of his interest in the latter company went to Knud Berg, the junior partner.

A brother, Otto Jensen, and a niece and nephew, children of such a brother, were granted only $1 each.

As a concluding clause of the will, Mr. Jensen directed that the executor to retain H. H. Halliday, Salt Lake City attorney, to handle all probate matters in connection with the administration of his estate.

IDAHO CHIEF JUSTICE TALKS ON CONSTITUTION

Twin Falls Kiwanis club commemorated Constitution week with a special feature—Thursday—6:30—7:30 p.m. on Thursday at which Judge Raymond L. Olvera of the Idaho supreme court delivered an unusually interesting address on the subject of the Constitution.

Judge Olvera handled his subject largely from the viewpoint of a student of Constitutional powers and limitations. These come in force to the fundamental principles laid down by the framers. The right of the people to amend the document is provided for and the method of such amendment set forth. Judge Olvera declared. He also pointed out that neither the executive, the legislative or the judicial branches of government have this power nor do they. It is the authority lodged in either of the other two.

The speaker was introduced by Judge O. P. Duval, in charge of the program. Dr. L. Smith, the club's president, presided.

'FULL CRUISE' CALLED FOR CAMP-FIRE SING

Participating in the national annual Camp Fire Regatta, September 15 to December 1, local groups will start in ship-like fashion with a "sing" at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the American Legion hall. The objective of the regatta is to extend publicity of camps which belong to no recreational group at all and get them hunched on the forefront of adventure that Camp Fire offers.

To encourage "full cruise" of all local groups, prizes will be presented to each group having 100 per cent membership present at the singing. Throughout the regatta, special honors will be presented for new members, new guides, organization of new groups and increase of group membership to the number of 30. Those honors are of the "big" nature and are of the "big" nature and are of the "big" nature.

Extensive plans are being made locally to increase the membership of groups already organized, and to form new ones.

Fall Opening Brings Throng To Twin Falls

Fashion Shows, Special Window Displays, Make Gala Event Of Merchants' Offering

Shingling fashion shows, special window displays, smart showings of merchandise in all lines, brisk-stepping music by the Twin Falls stage orchestra, and "hill-billy" tunes by the Purple Sage Riders, current attractions at the Orpheum theater. Twin Falls merchants presented a gala Fall Opening last evening that met the expectations of the throngs of southern Idaho residents witnessing the event. The opening, sponsored by the merchants' bureau of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, attracted persons to the business district early in the evening. The crowds continued to promenade the streets until about 11 o'clock, intently window shopping. The benign September weather beamed approval.

The contest was based on sales appeal, 25 per cent. originality, 25 per cent. originality, 25 per cent. color harmony, 10 per cent. originality, and 15 per cent. originality. FIREMEN COMBAT TRIO OF BLAZES

Biggest day's work in several months came upon Twin Falls fire department yesterday when three calls were answered, culminating with a picturesque blaze at the Charles Hughes livery barn on Fourth avenue west which was witnessed by several hundred persons. Firemen believe that the blaze was caused by children playing with matches. The blaze erupted in the straw and before the department arrived at the scene damage had mounted to approximately $100. The blaze was extinguished by 11:00. The window where three black velvet dinner gowns, metal-threaded and ornamented with gold and silver, brilliant; black velvet hats and a sealan coat. The opposite window featured a gown in a green, a brown fur coat, and blending accessories. Miss Peggy Wilcoxon arranged the display.

After in the afternoon the firemen were called to the home of A. A. Olson, 125 Jefferson street, where a chicken coop at the rear of the lot was totally destroyed. Fire started at 2:10 p. m. and is charged to lighting of a duplicated cigarette in the straw roofing.

At 10 a. m. the department was summoned to Main avenue north where a parked car had caught fire. Damage was slight and the owner of the machine was not discovered.

The firemen of this season's materials, the elaborate use of metals and the popularity of high colors, such as violet, black, green, purple, blue and red, was reflected particularly in the original displays in the women's apparel shops. Autumn bouquets formed many vivid backgrounds for the merchandise displayed.

GRANGERS PLAN FOR GATHERING AT FILER
Twin Falls County Grangers will gather at the Filer Grange hall Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock for a general meeting and banquet.

WACO, Texas, Sept. 19—James E. Lee and his son, Billy Bob, Jr., were found shot to death today in Lee's automobile in Cameron park. A justice of the peace decided Lee had shot his son and then himself, but the 43-year-old salesman's widow disagreed. She indicated she would ask for an investigation.

OHIO STATE FAVORED IN BIG TEN FOOTBALL RACE
Schmidt leads the race. A wealth of backfield material is on hand, with Coach Francis Schmidt leading toward a combination which includes the "mighty" Tippy Dye, at quarter, Heekin and Bettigie, halfbacks, and sophomore hard at full.

Graduation and ineligibility have cut the ranks of Minnesota, but the Gophers will be a powerful eleven as they drive toward a second straight title. Sixteen returners to Coach "Bernie" Bierman's thirteen reserves and three regulars from the great 1934 team.

Bierman's main problem lies in the line, where he must develop a pair of ends to replace Lazenby and Tenner. While the backfield lost Lund, Kooka and Clarkson, a well-knit quartet composed of Guyton Seidel, Elsie, Alfonso and Roocco is back.

Northwestern's Purdie and other likely Northwesterners or Indiana are likely to compose the rest of the Big Ten's first division.

One New Coach
Purdie also considers the past several years and part-owner of the title in 1931, will depend for the most part on green though usually "blue" material. The line will be built around Captain Ed Skoroniak, center, John Drake, fullback, heads the backfield.

Northwestern, with a new coach Lynn Waldron, a generous supply of veteran material and a fine crop of sophomores may be one of the surprises. Indiana is definitely on the upgrade and conference coach look for "Doc" McWhorter to have their best season in several years.

Illinois is enigmatic. The Hawkeyes started strong last fall and then faded into the second division, where they are expected to land again this year, along with Michigan, Chicago and Wisconsin. Captain Dick Cragne of Iowa is one of the first backs.

Chicago does not appear to have enough man-power to support its great back, Jay Berwang, Wisconsin, a shade heavier than last year, appears headed for the second division and Michigan will escape the Big Ten-Oregon rivalry.
