AN IMPORTANT ISSUE

Potato growers and farmers in general, to the number of several hundred in mass meeting assembled Friday evening went on record as favoring the Warren potato control act but a point which does not appear in the record is that, judging from the utterances of those who expressed themselves, crop control as a whole meets with small approval.

Control of the potato crop has been established as a part of the general crop control system and as long as the machinery has been created the plan might as well be tried. This seems to about express the general attitude of the meeting.

The point is of interest. The whole broad proposition of curtailed farm production as a means of restoring farm prosperity, will undoubtedly constitute one of the principal issues of the forthcoming political campaign.

It should, in the whole New Deal programme there is no single feature of more outstanding importance to American agriculture than this question of limiting farm production. One thing seems certain namely, that if the principle is to be applied at all it must be applied to all crops grown. It was apparently in some such spirit of understanding that the resolution endorsing the Federal potato control bill was voted upon at Friday night's meeting.

LOTS OF FIGHTING BUT NO WAR

No war is under way in Ethiopia, it appears, although the Italian army is engaged in military police measures to establish order, according to an Italian official in a statement to The Associated Press. By way of explanation this action was made necessary by the existing disorder and insecurity reigning on the frontiers between the Italian colonies and Ethiopia. We have the word of Italy for this.

Plenty of fighting but no war. The picture is a precise duplicate of the tactics employed by Japan in annexing Manchuria. Japanese armies moved in and Chinese forces took the field against them. But the movement, according to the Japanese was in no sense military but was merely a part of the plan for peaceful colonization of Chinese territory in the interests of the Mikado and his followers.

Italy has issued no declaration of war against Ethiopia, therefore, there is no war. The movement now going on may result in wholesale bloodshed with all its accompanying horrors. Thousands will be killed and other thousands maimed and mutilated. famine and pestilence may follow but in all this there is no trace of war.

MANLESS JOBS

One of the recent industrial surprises has been the statement of General Hugh S. Johnson, as PWA administrator in New York City, that nearly nine thousand jobs in seventy-one classifications were going begging because of inability to find qualified workers. This seemed incredible to Mayor La Guardia. Going over the items one by one, and noting a reported lack of men for three hundred seventy-one stenographic jobs, he exclaimed: "Why'll I give you all the stenographers you want up in Harlem." He discovered on investigation that those who might have been available could not be reached. They had probably taken unskilled labor jobs. The long depression has shot labor to pieces as, in so many cases, it has shot business to pieces. Of the two, labor has been the more helpless. Millions of workers have been broken by idleness, want and forced acceptance of jobs out of their lines until they are now incapable of resuming their former places in industry. It is a tragic situation which if there is any power in organized society and government to prevent it, must not be allowed to develop again.

NEWSPAPER IDEALISM

The American daily press may be a good deal freer and decanter than a reader would suppose from George Selig's book on "Freedom of the Press." He points out shortcomings which newspaper men generally will admit, while saying little of virtues which at least balance them. So holds a critic of wide newspaper experience, after going through the book.

"I have been a newspaper man," he writes, "long enough to know that newspapers are not run by angels for the exclusive purpose of disseminating 'the white light of heavenly truth.' They are run on business principles to make a living for the owners and employees. But this isn't the whole story. Journalism is a profession as well as a business, with a professional code of ethics."

"I held no brief for 'yarn publishers,'" continues the critic quoted. "There are plenty of them around. There are also plenty of the other kind—in view of the competitive system under which we live, a surprising number."

"How comes idealism into so practical an institution? The business naturally tends to develop it."

"I believe," he says, "that I am not being romantic when I say that publishing a newspaper ordinarily creates a sense of responsibility in a man which is not paralleled in the effect of any other business, and that an American newspaper will more often take the financial losses to serve what it believes to be a public good than any other commercial institution known to man."

HUMAN NATURE

"The man who has lost faith in humanity is poor indeed, Nebraska, is in your time you have been misled by a few people the fact means little. Think of the great number who have treated you fairly—and then recall that of all our 100,000,000 in this great country you have met but few. Really, there is a world of good in humanity if one but seeks it out. With the average of us the big job when we have to do with human gas is to learn how to separate the wheat from the chaff and poisonous weeds—and to appreciate, really, judge persons by their performance rather than their pretense and technique's mystery before he has advised the baby's toy savings bank. These essentials are not learned in college. Instead, they are learned in the rough school of "under the weather" experience. The metropolitan business, for instance, can look a stranger in the eye and know something of his character—and even the average tramp can do the same. All of which is a reminder that the world is full—almost—of splendid people, capable of true loyalty and friendship if given a chance.

DOCUMENT FILLS NEEDS

John O. Rice of Caldwell, an able Idaho jurist, recently expressed himself on the "amend the Constitution" controversy as follows: "I have no objection to its necessity. The present provision in my mind is to be opposed to such an amendment. And I believe this is the general attitude of the American people." Judge Rice is absolutely correct in his opinion. The American people will have to be convinced that the document handed down to us by the founders of this country does not give official authority to do the things we see best for this nation before they will vote to amend any clause that now guarantees the rights of free speech, free press and worship of God as the individual conscience dictates. The danger, if there is one, is not so much that the voters will vote to amend the Constitution but rather that they may be forced to stand by and watch its sacred precepts ignored.

BREAKFAST FOOD

Prisoner 101 (Jailer)—As a special favor, I wish you would let me have No. 23. Jailer—Why not? Prisoner—It's the one fatherly had. Some Jump An fishermen who had been in Alaska told the following story: "I landed one boat on an island. I went ashore and when I got up to about the middle of the island I met the biggest bear I ever saw in my life. There was one tree on the island and I made for that tree. The nearest limb was a big one which was about 20 feet from the ground, and I jumped for it. Somehow I landed on the top of the tree. The fisherman replied: 'I didn't make it going up but I caught it coming down.'—Bunk. For Motorcycles (Carpenter, the farmer's son, of the outfitter's shop and asked to see the new motorcycle. Several were tried but none apparently met his requirements. Finally, after the shopman had placed the last of his stock on the counter, he said: "Now, air, what exactly is the kind you require?" George scratched his head, puzzled. "Well, I want a 'V' type, a 10-hp motor-bike, no I want a cap with a peak at the back."—Answers.

READY, Uncle Sam won't be caught napping. He has been looking along a vast frontier Europe. The administration is profiting by the experience of the past. A month ago, many branches of the army reserve force had been detailed but secret orders for their return to the United States. The first which went out to officers was the aviation unit. It was called they were told not only the location of war-time duty, but the officers' units which would be placed under their command. It is an unprecedented move.

Constant Vigilance Required In Guard Against Fire Losses

—Somewhere In America, Every Minute Of Day And Night, A Home Burns; Carelessness Takes Toll

Official reports of The National Board of Fire Underwriters reveal that fire losses each year run into hundreds of millions of dollars. What a price for prosperous, forward-looking America to pay! A large portion of this huge wastage occurs in homes where carelessness runs rife.

Little did George Herbert know the significance his words "From small fires comes all no small mishap." The Bible, in the same prophetic strain, states a similar truth: "Behold, how great a matter a little fire kindleth." This fire loss is a tremendous tax on American progress and call by no stretch of the imagination be called a "small mishap." Certainly it kindleth a lot of trouble.

Over 15 Per Cent Preventable
Considering that more than 75 per cent of the fire losses of America are preventable, it is particularly pathetic that so many thousands of lives are sacrificed annually in fires. Among the causes listed are: Careless use of open flames, carelessness with matches and smoking, with losses of more than $100,000,000; from careless litter, with losses of over $2,000,000; from sparks on roofs, with losses of over $1,000,000; from carelessness with furnaces, boilers and their pipes, with losses of almost $2,000,000.

Under partially preventable causes are listed: misuse of electricity, with losses of almost $18,000,000; exposure—including contagion, with losses of over $2,000,000; and spontaneous combustion, almost $18,000,000.

What $400,000,000 Would Do
This sum, when repaid to the average annual fire loss in the United States over a five-year period, would pay for all the automobiles required for America's 25,000,000 automobiles to proceed from New York City to Chicago, and in addition there would be extra for each driver to spend while there.

It would pay the salaries of all railroad employees in the United States for almost three months. It would build 100,000 of the cottages and universities in the United States, and purchase with cash in full the grounds upon which they are erected. It would be sufficient to maintain and operate the entire Navy department for one year. The first line of the new building $200,000,000 each could be built with this amount. It could build, or buy and pay cash for, 100,000 modern one-family suburban homes, costing $2,000 each and sheltering the same people as the 100,000 in the Washington, D. C., and larger than the four cities—Albany, N. Y.; Savannah, Ga.; Los Angeles, Calif.; and Sacramento, Cal., combined.

It would provide for 1,000,000 unemployed persons over a five-year period, allowing $400 for each. All these things could be done if there were no fires and if the money were available for constructive use, rather than for replacing property destroyed by fire each year.

Insurance Makes the Home Possible
To create a true home, however modest, requires over a million dollars in every home for the protective policy it affords every family.

Every day, somewhere, firemen return from combat with the red demon and report: "The fire was caused by the alarm was turned on too late. There was a chance that we got there."

Fire is also winning the whole year round because buildings are constructed in a hazardous manner, because people are careless, and because fire departments are poorly equipped and undermanned. According to The National Board of Fire Underwriters it takes an annual toll of hundreds of millions of dollars in property and thousands of human lives.

How many times did fire win the battle in your community last year? It behooves you as a vigilant citizen to fire up—and why? Perhaps there is something you can do to eliminate the possibility of the flames winning the coming year.

CHIEF ADVOCATES FIRE PREVENTION

Sam Gibb Warns Public on Evils of Red Menace; Asks Cooperation

Falling in line with the movement in support of Fire Prevention week which begins today, Sam Gibb, Twin Falls fire chief, last night issued a statement in which he warned the public of the hazards of fire, and urged the construction of fire-proof buildings and made a plea for cooperation in prevention of destruction by fire.

While there has been no outstanding losses from fire in Twin Falls during the past two years as in many cities of this size, Gibb branded fire as the most serious menace to the community. In 1934 there were 66 fires in Twin Falls with a total loss in property of $7,458,350.00, of which was paid in insurance. During the year there were 293 gallons of chemicals used.

Low Reduced
This year, to date, the loss has been less than the 44 fires to date may have been more blazes and the total loss recorded is $3,483,500.00, of which has been paid by insurance.

Twin Falls fire department has received new coats and helmets this year. The new coats are made of 60 per cent of worn hose has been replaced by 90 feet of new hose.

The chief's statement follows: "We are now in the midst of another national fire prevention week. During this week each one of you has an opportunity to do your part to help make your country safer. Fire is one of the worst enemies of industry—thousands lose their lives annually."

Urges Precaution
"I suggest that workmen be more careful in their daily work and that employers construct buildings to resist fire. Clean up rubbish and dispose of it. Do not place shops against garages or other buildings. Doing so has caused many fires."

Federal Spending Target For Hoover Blast At New Deal
economic middle class and the poor's sole hope to escape peeling for this even though the "dangers" method of credit inflation be resorted to.

Mr. Hoover, friend of Hoover and Republican national committee for California, charged New Deal policies had undermined business. He said its program, unadmitted, would come "dangerously near to the destruction not only of our fiscal system but also of the fundamentals on which the government was founded."

Governor Frank P. Merriam, the object of a favorite son movement among young California Republicans, welcomed the delegates by telling the men would champion a cause "regardless of its popular appeal if the good of the common people demanded such leadership."

"Emergency" Spending

Italy Continues To Bomb Path Into Ethiopia

THIS ASSOCIATED PRESS map of Ethiopia indicates where reported engagements between Italian and Ethiopian troops took place. The Italian drive was concentrated on three fronts with six divisions heading down from Eritrea with the immediate objective. There were reports of the invasion of the province of Harar while another army was expected to strike at the rich province of Assua. Battles were also reported from Ogaden province.

government expenditures... now are asked emergency. The vast area of spending through loans guaranteed by the government is not represented in the budget which is taxpayer's liability. Under this arrangement the losses on that will come to the next generation...

"The first... is that all losses counted in the expenditures are now running over $2,000,000,000 a year. The annual deficit is running now by $2,500,000,000. These deficits of course are added to the public debt. The second conclusion is that the unpaid government obligations which will fall upon the taxpayer at the end of the Roosevelt administration will exceed $30,000,000,000.

"The third conclusion is that this peace-time debt will at the end of 1936 exceed our World war debt by ten billions... It is not overstated to say, Mr. Hoover declared, that had the Republican principles of budget balancing been accepted in 1921 and 1922, the final stage in the foundation of permanent recovery would have been laid three years ago instead of deferred for years hence.

"The Roosevelt administration," he charged, "is now cluttered in the meshes of the slavish spending bureaucracy which it has created."

"No Breasting Spent... He added there is to be no-breasting... Under the New Deal," he continued, "the expenditures have been divided into 'regular' and 'emergency' or 'recovery' expenditures. There are new words for an old South American and European device of dividing the budget into ordinary and extraordinary budgets."

WE DECIDED ON HUPMOBILE

YEARS OF INTEGRITY CLAIM YOUR RESPECT

There's far more at stake in deciding the future of a business, than in purchasing a single car.

It was vital, therefore, that we have the good sense to investigate and consider thoroughly, before we selected the motor car to which this business would devote itself. Facts decided us on the Huppobile—and here are some of the facts.

Because twenty-eight years of integrity have won universal respect for the Hupp institution and its products.

Because of the intense loyalty of Huppobile owners.

Because of the incredibly widespread conviction that Hupp has always built a good car.

Because present Huppobile models are the lowest-priced of the genuine stream-lined cars—and distinctly the most highly refined and pleasing in appearance.

Because their performance is literally breath-taking—with more horsepower for their weight and wheelbase than any car of comparable price—and more speed than you'll need.

Because they are designed with the science born of experience—and built with care, precision and quality that assures full value and lasting satisfaction.

Because they present the best features of the best cars—with numerous advantages and developments of their own.

Reasons like these were fully good enough to decide us. They are good enough, we believe, to justify our asking YOU to consider the Huppobile before YOU decide.
