Helena's Tremors Subside

REPORT INDICATES EARLY RELIEF IN QUAKE-TORN CITY

Minor Shocks Continue as Task of Reconstruction Gets Under Way; Damage Passed $2,000,000 Mark

By T. M. METZGER (Associated Press Staff Writer) HELENA, Mont., Oct. 21—Quake-torn Helena, rocked and swayed for 10 days by recent earthquakes, happily received a weather bureau report tonight which indicated early relief from the disastrous tremors.

Noticeable was the general "tapering off" both in frequency and intensity of the series of shocks. Many different elements of the trend—a possibility of complete cessation of the earth movements within a short time.

W. E. Maughan, weather observer who has followed closely the sequence of earthquakes in Montana since the last major earthquake in 1925, said tonight the slight abatement in tremors noted today might be taken as a favorable indication of early relief.

Slight tremors continued, however, as Helena began to "settle." Before it was the task of setting in order a city which suffered from Friday night's severe quake a toll of 25 deaths, a large number of property damage estimated at more than $2,000,000.

321 Shocks Recorded Since October 12 when the unprecedented series of tremors were first registered, the Helena meteorological station has recorded 321 shocks, including minor ones early today.

Most of the shocks were "minor" after the disastrous one on Friday night. A six-hour lull came between a 3:40-p.m. tremor and a 4:10-p.m. one.

President's Cruiser Leaves Danger Zone As Storm Advances

Eastern Cuba and Western Haiti Warned When Tropical Hurricane Roars Up From Caribbean

(By The Associated Press) JACKSONVILLE, Oct. 21—For the second time in a month, Cuba lay in the path of a tropical hurricane tonight as a storm roared up from the Caribbean, roughening the waters for President Roosevelt's vacation cruiser as it sped out of danger.

All interests in extreme eastern Cuba and western Haiti were warned to take precautions against damaging winds which brought considerable property damage as the storm fringe enveloped Jamaica last night and early today.

President Roosevelt, sailing homeward on the cruiser "Houston," was hurried away from the danger after experiencing heavy squalls and pounding sea last night, which were maintained through windward passage between Cuba and Haiti.

The weather bureau warned that the storm, appearing unusually early, was a hurricane, with its center in the vicinity of the passage early tonight and will pass into the western Caribbean. The storm center was moving slowly, its rate of progress estimated at between 10 and 15 miles an hour.

Wind velocities from Kingston, Jamaica, were lacking late today, but the bureau estimated to be near 25 m.p.h. and the direction of the wind was southwest. Heavy rains added to the discomfort of storm conditions on the island.

The late September storm destroyed a vast portion of the banana crop and killed two persons.

Duce Continues Military Operations Without Abatement; Army in South Pushing To Juncture On North

Black Warriors' Death Toll Rises

Developments today in the Italo-Ethiopian imbroglio would seem to lessen the possibilities of a European war growing out of the conflict.

Italy and Britain, who have been viewing each other, dourly through the sights of big naval guns, were said to have reached a friendlier understanding through diplomatic discussions.

Europe breathed easier because of that.

At the same time it was widely but unofficially reported Mussolini's Italy, contrary to the League of Nations and facing grievous penalties if the war continues, was ready to talk peace.

PROCESSING TAXES

Suppose the whole proposition of the processing taxes should be declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court. If this should take place, according to administration spokesmen, chaos would result. It might, coupled with sundry other results including a good deal of disappointment. The agricultural picture would change radically overnight. If the farmers were compelled to sell their produce on the basis of the present price levels and get along without the processing tax distribution agriculture would go into a slump a little the worst in the history of the country.

But if this took place, and the tax were actually wiped out, might it not be that the market for agricultural and livestock products would reflect a degree of relief which would have the effect of driving prices upward with a rush? There is of course no means of determining if such an effect would take place and one man's guess is about as good as another. The processing tax structure may or may not stand the acid test of Supreme Court review any better than did the N. R. A. It is interesting to speculate upon possible market reaction should the tax be declared unconstitutional.

A NEW APPROACH

Admittedly in control of the most influential group in the state, the University of Idaho strikes a grating note in its recent statement that: "Board action will be necessary in connection with legal proceedings now under way to get the Supreme Court to declare constitutional the law conferring on the regents and the state educational institutions the power to contract debts and borrow from the federal government for institutional improvements."

PRONUNCIATION

A Twin Falls friend writes the News: "On Sunday evening, I listened to a sermon delivered in Twin Falls. I was interested until a point was reached where the speaker had occasion to refer to his programme. He pronounced it "program". Is this carrying criticism? Young people look to preachers as well as teachers for example as well as instruction and in the matter of word pronunciations as well as anything else."

The News would regard this as a very minor case in point. The purist who desires to make a very real point has only to call attention to the growing tendency on the part of all people to place the accent upon the first syllable of every word of two or more syllables which can possibly be made to lend itself to such treatment. The results sometimes obtained are grotesque but the listener gets the meaning intended and apparently that is all that is necessary.

HIGHWAY-MURDER-AND SUICIDE

On a recent Monday morning newspapers carried two striking traffic items. One gave the final figures of the census bureau on last year's auto deaths. The total was thirty-three thousand nine hundred eighty, fifteen per cent more than in 1934. The second item gave the traffic score for the week-end of October 12 and 13. In that brief period, according to incomplete reports, auto accidents killed more than one hundred fifty persons in thirty-seven states—Scores more were injured. The total for 1935, in spite of decreases in such fatalities in some communities, is likely to be higher than that of 1934.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Iowa, from either modesty or paucity, for many years seemed to be the least desirable supply of figures in the world of art and literature. At the New York tea, one must decline to mention Iowa in the union, but someone seldom any from Iowa.

Monte Bell, the director, who has been over in London trying to see just what a fight-making boy could do in a left-handed world, called "War" out a movie script called "War" of 1930. Many called his "The Victory" and determined to face the robots by sporting it upon his return. But coming to the bay his nerve failed and he went to the left, open, his eye wide and let it plug into the sea.

Double taxes probably lost to America, the most expert of the cinema moguls—George A. Fitz, the best reports are, will remain in England making out more picture portraying the life of Sammie West, second to the Knighthood and retire. He has an annuity paying $10,000 a year.

SALMON RIVER TRAGEDY

We heard much of the perfection of science, but how fragile its instruments may become when pitted against nature's forces. The National Geographic Society expedition making its perilous way down the Salmon river to Lewiston.

Every precaution had been taken to assure the comfort and safety of the party on its dangerous voyage. The final result was a most interesting and successful one which the expedition was to keep to itself with civilization about any emergency aid. But the radio had been silent for more than a week. Not until the barges reached an isolated farm-house on the course learned—the only man who knew how to operate the radio in the party, the radio operator, was charged with selling gas.

WHERE IS THE FOOL KILLER?

In Yakima, this week, state game warden arrested a cat operator because he had in his possession a number of Chinese pheasants which he expected to sell. He was charged with selling game. It developed that the birds for the dinner had been provided by Yakima hunters and given to the cat owner with instructions to serve them at the dinner. Then the game warden arrested several of these men. They were freed almost immediately, however, on the theory, we suppose, that having legally shot the birds, the owner could do as he pleased with them. But the cat operator paid a fine of ten dollars in the fee of the fact that he was able to show that he had no intention of charging patrons for the bird meal, that his price for the affair had been adjusted downward.

The Yakima club and another civic organization, planning since the national bird service, objected to go ahead with them as scheduled. They had the birds and intended to eat them at cafes. The whole affair is ridiculous. Resting the sale of game, animal, fish or fowl, is one thing. Applying the law to group meetings of the Yakima sort and persecuting cat operators for possession of game is another. It is probable that Howard Pitt's lit might also have been saved. Mighty lit was, mightier in peace, the alpine came into its own as a messenger of mercy.

BREAKFAST FOOD

It was the busy hour at the busy day quick lunch stand. The overworked waitress exclaimed: "Tea or coffee?" "You can't fool all the people all the time," exclaimed the customer, indignantly. "I know it," replied the waitress. "There's plenty of profit in losing half of them half of the time."

THIS CHARMING ENGLISH COTTAGE WILL BLEND INTO THE LANDSCAPE

Guiding Your Child

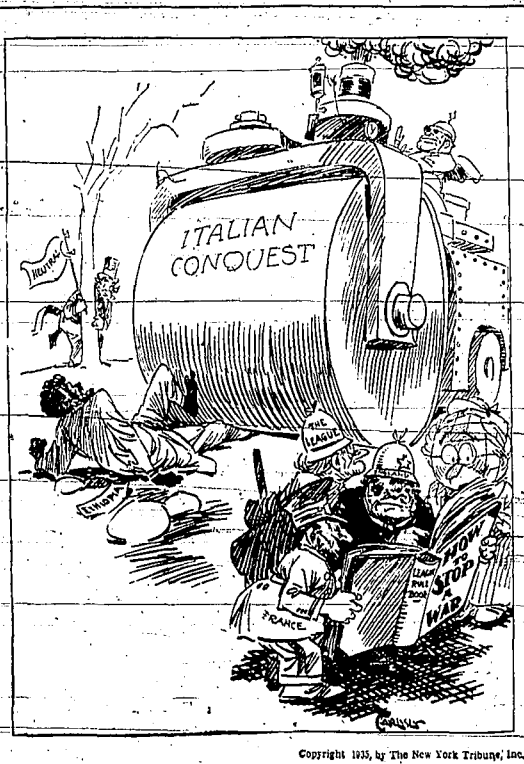

By ALICE CLARISA RICHMOND SUSAN was the despair of her music teacher. She would not take an interest in the pieces she was given to learn, and would not practice. Then she was interesting piece, too, chosen to attract a child, and all of the romantic school of Schubert and Schumann.

MUSICAL TRAINING

It was Susan's mother who suggested that the teacher try a little Bach and Scarlatti instead. The teacher very hesitantly complied. "No child will practice the classics," she protested. "They don't take a story."

But the mother was right. The mathematical exactness of the classics applied to Susan, and practicing, from being a burden, became a pleasure. To suppose that all children can be taught to like and do well in the same things is a mistake. There are certain fundamental differences in people which, though they may be modified by training and environment, can never be done away with entirely.

American Charges of Discrimination Denied in Berlin

Mahoney, New York, president of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States.

North Carolina, In-Midst Of Football Boom, Bids For Rose Bowl Recognition

Tar Heels Playing With One Eye On Pasadena Classic

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Oct. 21.—After winning national recognition in 1934 and scoring a victory over the powerful Tennessee Volunteers this season, North Carolina's Tar Heels are playing with one eye on a possible invitation to the Rose Bowl next winter.

They are in the midst of a tough schedule, but they fear most their neighbor, Duke, which, although beaten by Georgia Tech, 6 to 0, last Saturday, boasts one of the strongest teams in history. The Tar Heel schedule also includes Georgia Tech.

Another Montgomery—Carolina's backfield is a veteran combination. Co-captain Herman Snyder is considered one of the deadliest blockers in the south. Captain Harry Montgomery, brother of Cliff of Columbia and Rose Bowl team, ranks among the smartest in the south. Lead the tackles, Emmett Jackson led Dixie in passing with a record of 10 completions in 15 tries in the two games this season.

In the line are Dick Buck, who is winning fame as a pass receiver, and running mate Stephen, and scholarly Coach Carl O. Snyder is being hailed as a "miracle man" for his work in changing a group of mediocre players into one of the nation's leading gridiron organizations within two years. Three years ago Coach Collins, using the "More Done" system, won 4 games and lost 6. Paced with practically the same material, Snyder had to install his modified "Warner" system last year.

Transition In Two Years—He won 7 games, lost 1, and tied 1 to give the Tar Heels a high ranking for the nation, and George Barclay among the all-America stars.

He ranks among the first ten coaches in the nation to gain won and lost. In his eight years of major college coaching, Snyder's teams have won 50 games, lost 11, and tied 8 for an average of 77.4 per cent.

Snyder, formerly of the University of North Carolina, who holds a M. A. degree and has completed a majority of the academic requirements for his doctorate, is the complete antithesis of the "blatant" and "accru" type of coach—but he is a driver. His team works together like a machine, and the blocking has been praised from every corner.

The 1935 Tar Heels look better than the smooth-running outfit of 1934. But between them and a possible Rose Bowl invitation stands a schedule which includes Georgia Tech, N. C. State and Duke.

Translating In Two Years—He won 7 games, lost 1, and tied 1 to give the Tar Heels a high ranking for the nation, and George Barclay among the all-America stars.

Southern Idaho's Elevens Continue Title Campaigns

Boise, Nampa and Twin Falls Teams Remain Undefeated and Untied; Games Bring Many Surprises

With the field narrowed down to three undefeated and untied teams, Boise, Nampa and Twin Falls aggregations loom as the outfits to be considered in the race for the Southern Idaho Big Ten conference championship this year. In the three other Idaho's of the South Central Idaho district, things also have reached a new climax.

Clare Perry, by virtue of five conference victories to date, last week clinched the North Side Class B conference crown by bounding out a 26 to 7 victory over King Hill. Albion and Hanson, each with four wins and no setbacks, stand out as South Side Class B conference contenders.

ON THE SIDELINES

by Edward J. Neil

Yale, in the hands of Ducky Pond and Eddie Neale, has taken tremendous strides on the football field. The offense is new, different. No more do Yale football players play just for the fun of it, not caring whether they win or lose. They play to win. The Yale now hold victories over Pennsylvania and a fast Navy team.

And the Yale coaching staff certainly can't be accused of falling to do his share. Up in the Franklin Field crowd, high above the Penn-Yale game, the 200,000 spectators are an example for thoroughness that was new to the corner, at least.

Stew Scott, one of Yale's great ends, now an equally capable assistant to Pond and Neale, was in charge of a small Yale section in the back press row that was linked by telephone with the 200,000 spectators. "I had a couple of assistants, but there wasn't a move on the field that escaped their sharp eyes.

For instance, the widely publicized interference lines in between Yale's left tackle, Henry Wright, and Ned Train, end immediately the blow bell tinkles.

"I'll Wright," says Scott, "he's playing too far in. He's got to go wider. Got to change in under that interference line Train floats out into."

"Sucker For Outback" Every man who was caught out of position on a play was immediately checked up. The success of every Yale play was analyzed, and reasons pointed out, related to the bench.

When Yale started coming back in the second half, overtake a 20 to 12 deficit to win finally 31 to 20, the wires were red hot.

"I'll Wright," says Scott, "he's playing too far in. He's got to go wider. Got to change in under that interference line Train floats out into."

Record Football Turnout Looms

Junior Chamber of Commerce Reports Ticket Sales Mounting

With ticket sales already mounting in place for the gridiron classic between College of Idaho, Southern and University of Idaho, Southern Idaho reports a record "pass" sale. So big Jerry Kelly caught two for touchdowns, and the game was won.

Perhaps that smacks of the old cry of over-enthusiasm, but I don't think so. That big guy Wright down there, for instance, was getting a terrific pounding with the "200,000" cheer. He was being smothered for awhile, then he was "200,000" to stop it. He did. From then on he was in no danger of getting badly smothered in a mass attack. He was protecting himself by doing things right.

Laid in the third quarter, Wright wobbled a little getting up after a play, immediately Scott said to his helpers: "Watch Wright closely, he looks groggy." They watched, and he was groggy. No one down on the field noticed it, but I noticed it.

"Better get Wright out of there, he's groggy!"

Wright came out of there. If it accomplished nothing else that justified that system for the day.

PARADE OF JURORS FILES COURT DAY

Kimberly-Rancher Goes to Trial for Shooting of Former Wife

A parade of candidates for jury duty in the district court yesterday occupied the entire court day of the trial of Birch Brown, 30-year-old Kimberly ranchman, on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon in connection with the shooting of his former wife, Janella Murray, at Kimberly last July 15.

Selection of the jury was completed when District Judge T. Bailey Lee recessed the trial at the close of the day, and the recess was taken for the purpose of admitting peremptory challenges for each side, the state yesterday exercising its right to peremptory challenge.

Prospective jurors in the box when proceedings receded last evening were Thomas Carroll, J. N. Clyde, Frank Heintz, Ed. E. Johnson, C. H. Hays, D. W. Rodenhugh, P. A. Habel, Glen Taylor, Glenn Arrington, H. W. Gray, Charles Bennett, and J. H. Hines.

The trial previously had been postponed on account of the illness of Mr. Brown, a pioneer south Idaho settler, who died last week.

Studies Reveal Significance Of Ceremonial Gowns

The decoration of ceremonial gowns was the subject for discussion at the fifth meeting in the guardsmen's training course, presented yesterday morning at the home of Mrs. R. A. Stulliff. Three decorated gowns belonging to Torch Bearers added to the program. The principles applied to given decorations to two gowns are ever identical as the ceremonial gown is decorated with honors which are the symbols of each girl's own choosing.

The assignment with the petition for probate of the will was filed in the probate court yesterday, and hearing was set for November 8. Named as executor, Mrs. Hayward is represented by the probable proceedings by Harry Bennett, Twin Falls attorney.

R. H. Goldworthy of Twin Falls, son of the late R. H. Goldworthy who died January 4, 1922, applied to the probate court here yesterday for appointment as administrator of his father's estate which includes Twin Falls real property valued at $1000. Extensive improvements are under way at the Western Auto Supply company store at the rear of north, which includes the addition of 20 feet to the rear of the building, Westburn, manager, said last night.

The addition will make way for ten feet more room at the rear of the store for display purposes while the remainder of the addition will go for storage space. The addition will include additional basement space, also.

The store interior is being remodeled with dark cabinets and green trimmings. Counters are being done away with and virtually all new articles will be on display with use of "caterpillar bins" under the wall cabinets and shelves.

Experts Address Women's Forum

Mrs. H. W. Clouchek, accompanied by her niece, Miss Gladys Colman, returned yesterday from New York City where she attended a forum of women's club leaders, sponsored by the New York Herald-Tribune and Mrs. William Brown Matney, editor of the magazine, "This Week." The theme, "America Faces a Changing World" was pertinently presented, according to Mrs. Clouchek.

Distinguished speakers, experts in the subjects they discussed, were presented in radio broadcasts, many from England and the continent. They included Sir Joseph Stiglitz, director of the Bank of England; Sir Samuel Hoare, British foreign secretary; Honorable Paul Renaud, of the Department for Peace, and former minister of finance; Hon. Paul Van Zeeland, prime minister of Belgium; Hon. Ogden L. Mills, former secretary of the treasury.

The address of Mr. Mills was one of the most enthusiastically received speeches of the entire forum. Mrs. Clouchek stated, Dr. Glen Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin, gave an excellent radio speech.

With fall flowers and the Rupert club, furnished Halloween favors which were placed at each plate.

The total receipts of the fair were $21,783.30, and expenses totaled $17,664.36.

Cats and grandstand admission totaled $13,708.00, no admission being charged at the gate the last day of the fair. Concessions and carnal yielded $12,027 to the fair's income. Expenditures included $2,427.30 for awards and premiums, $11,000 for acts and $2,003.87 for racing. Rodeo performances were staged by Leo Gremer and R. A. Richter of Montana.
