

OR WOMEN ENDOURSE DORRAN'S WAR CLAIM

Independent Producers Give Hearty Approval to Idaho Hero's Demand

CHICAGO, Oct. 31 (AP)—The broad-fronted campaign has of J. B. Senator William Dorran, 37, who has pushed a bill authorizing the 1936 presidential trial by the "little fellows" of the oil industry.

Without specifically naming him as his candidate to oppose President Roosevelt next year, independent producers and their wives gave hearty approval to the Idaho insurgent's demand that "trust-busting" be the No. 1 issue of the Republican campaign.

The action came in the form of a resolution based on "anti-monopoly" sentiment expressed by Dorran in a letter early this month to Colonel Theodore Roosevelt.

Born in the Illinois oil country, Dorran has been a leader in the constitution the campaign laws and asserted monopolies was a question the party must face vigorously or "go down to humiliating defeat."

New Deal in Montana The resolution, offered by Clarence Schick, of Mt. Joy, Pa., capped the Idaho oil industry's campaign asserted their distrust for the Roosevelt new deal.

The "Monopolies" was asked to adopt a plank of similar import. The independent declared themselves opposed to the proposed resolution for their industry would lose 100,000 jobs.

Major refinery placed their market on the oil business and with the margin allowed independent oil jobbers.

An "effective" rule against selling oil.

Dealers may post any price they see fit, but rebating shall be banned.

Anti-trust legislation is being pushed to competition. The proposed half cent a gallon fuel tax was opposed in another resolution.

W. W. Hamilton, Clinton, Idaho, was elected president for next year, and Boy Fisher, Detroit, vice president.

INVESTIGATORS EYE NEW AIR DISASTER

Flame-Twisted Wreckage Marks Tragio Crash at Cheyenne

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Oct. 31 (AP)—Nothing more than a heap of flame-twisted wreckage to be seen. Investigators tried today to determine what caused a passenger jetliner to crash near here, killing four young men to blasting death.

The plane disaster of October 7 still has tests in the "memory" of Cheyenne folk when tragedy struck through a snowstorm last night and smashed the liner, a United States Airways Lockheed Constellation, against a low hillside six miles south of here.

Two victims were: M. T. Arnold, 35, of Cheyenne; chief test pilot, here for the line; Stanley C. (Bob) Cook, 32, Denver, flying instructor; and Edward Yantis, 28, of Cheyenne; U. A. L. Lincoln, 28, of Cheyenne; and Harold Brundage, 31, of Cheyenne, all students of the airline.

Markets Expected to Soar With Much of Potato Crop Destroyed

Although the current cold was reported to have slackened up somewhat since the existing crop loss is expected throughout south central Idaho and at least 10 per cent of the potato crop has already been reported to be a total loss.

With the temperatures in Twin Falls dropping to 14 degrees above zero Thursday morning and a weather forecast for continued cold, farmers throughout the district yesterday practically gave up hope of salvaging any of the potatoes that remain in the ground and the loss has been estimated from between 10 and 40 per cent of the entire crop.

POTATO CONTROL RECEIVES SUPPORT

Growers and Handlers From 11 Eastern States Back Warren Law

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31 (AP)—Potato growers and handlers from 11 eastern states expressed yesterday their support of the Warren potato control law.

Called here to get first-hand information on the provisions of the act which sets up a compulsory system of production control, the potato men heard chiefs of the farm administration project, lower costs to consumers through utilization of production.

To Make Allowance
Charles C. Davis, farm administrator, announced meanwhile that potato allotments will be made before the November 1 deadline. Indications were AAA officials planned to make public tomorrow the allotments, showing the quantity of potatoes which can be produced in each state without being subject to the three-fourths or more restriction which would have effect on production after December 1.

GROWER SUCCESSFULLY DEFIES WALNUT CODE

VANCOUVER, Wash., Oct. 31 (AP)—A one-man crew against the walnut marketing agreement was placed here today by H. W. Strong of Graham, whose prime purpose was to get arrested so that a test case would result.

But he went his way a free man after a fine and giving away two sacks of Oregon walnuts. A large crowd gathered around his late automobile as he crossed the inter-state bridge from Portland to hold what he termed "the Oregon-Washington walnut party." Just in case Albert E. Wright, northwest walnut code enforcement officer, had made good a previous promise to enforce the now-repealed walnut code, Strong had his attorney along to plead.

New Stamp Shows Likeness of F.D.R.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Oct. 31 (AP)—The new Boulder dam commemorative stamp, in the opinion of Harold G. Gray, Gloucester high school teacher, contains a likeness of President Roosevelt.

By placing the stamp side-ways and writing a magnifying glass, Gray says, the president's profile is clearly defined in the upper left-hand corner.

"My observation," Gray says, "was not accidental because of the fact of construction existing on the name of the dam. I thought this was an opportunity for a little play and hence my signified inspection."

THE BEST YET

According to Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, a new one-dollar bill will shortly be issued which will be the "handsomest ever."

It might be pointed out that mere beauty of design is not the chief or most desirable characteristic of money, be that money dollar bills or coin of the realm. With a dollar which contains only a small fraction of silver value, no gold coin or gold redemption notes in circulation, this matter of money becomes of increasing importance. What we have today is "lavul money," which is to say money with a base consisting of the credit of the United States, which is something altogether different from the money we used to have in the years which preceded the present regime.

Maybe it's all right. The money problem is one upon which few men, even men in high places, agree. If this "handsomest ever" new note will do the business well and good when it comes right down to the gist of the matter what we want in our money is quantity as well as quality.

A SURPRISE NATION

The Italian people are described, in a recent dispatch from Rome, as "stupefied" by the action of the fifty members of the League who voted punitive sanctions against Italy for her Abyssinian aggression.

They would not have been so astonished and cast down if they had been able to read the world's news, as it is read in America and the British countries and a few others where the press is free. But the people in lands ruled by dictators only get such news, and in such form, as the government censors choose to give them.

To the Italian people the war their government is waging has been a glorious national undertaking in a just cause. Naturally it is a shock to learn that nearly all the rest of the world has an entirely opposite view of it.

There must be a good many Italians beginning to wonder now whether it is possible that all the rest of the world is out of step.

FAIR PLAY FOR PIE

Pie, any kind of good pie, has a champion in Monroe Strause of Los Angeles. Strause is an authority on the subject. Making pies is his business. Addressing the National Restaurant Association in Chicago the other day he told them that overeating, not pie, was the cause of the great American stomach ache.

"Properly made pie is highly digestible," he said. "But it gets the blame for the pains and overstuffing feeling, when the real trouble is overloading before the dessert course is reached."

There shouldn't be any argument about this. Mother is right when she warns the small fry to save room for their pie. Father would be wise to follow the advice himself. But why doesn't Mother give them a little assistance in this? Instead of adding pie to her most filling dinner, why doesn't she put it on the menu when the rest of the meal is light?

What could be nicer for a Sunday night lunch than a good-sized piece of "properly made" apple pie accompanied by glasses of creamy milk for the kids, coffee for Dad, and the family's favorite cheese?

POSTERS IN IOWA

An interesting novelty in Pacific Northwest is in Iowa. Organized artists of that state, one hundred fifty in number, meeting in Ames, have adopted a resolution binding themselves "not to paint any poster or draw any cartoon with the specific intent to incite or inspire the youth of America to bear arms in aggressive warfare."

The artists are doubtless sincere about it. And in a free country such a declaration is all right in theory. Practically, though, it probably doesn't mean anything. For it isn't likely that any war this country engaged in would be an "aggressive war," or would be so regarded by Americans. It's always the other fellow who is the aggressor.

YES AND NO ANSWERS ARE NOT EASY HERE (Des Moines Register)

One thing upon which Democratic and Republican campaign planners and orators will be agreed is that the voters will bring to the 1936 polls a candid and keenly critical scanning of issues and candidates—but more than ordinarily informed mind as to both.

Library statistics have evidenced the interest in economics and in political science during recent years. Economic discussions have attracted large audience participation. It will be "smart" politics, therefore, for the campaign manipulators to raise the approval of the audiences of the masses, whose good judgment and intelligence they always praise publicly and deride in the privacy of the inner conference. The United States chamber of commerce, querying its members, asks for a "yes or no" answer to four questions about the new deal:

1. Should all grants of authority by congress to the executive department of the federal government be within closely defined limits.

2. Should the federal government at the present time exercise federal spending power without regard to revenue?

3. Should there be government competition with private enterprise for regulatory or other purposes?

4. Should all grants of authority by congress to the executive department of the federal government be within closely defined limits.

The chamber of commerce may derive great satisfaction from the easily predictable answers, which this referendum will produce. But it is old style political material that won't fit smoothly into the coming campaign. None but the most blindly partisan is ready with a prompt "yes or no" answer to any of these questions if he has thought about them at all. They call for qualified answers.

Noters are "fed up" on the innumerable straw man issues. They're not enthusiastic behind the candidate who replies to a question about his views on inflation by declaring that marriage is a spiritual social institution. Neither will they react to measure-synopses of the "yes or no" variety. The witness always get mad when asked to answer "yes or no" to the "have you quit beating your wife" kind of question.

AN UNJUST COMPLAINT (Caldwell News-Tribune)

Eastern newspapers are complaining in regard to the proposal of the federal Department of Agriculture to provide a subsidy to enable the conversion of surplus potatoes into liquid food starch, alcohol and other finished products that are marketable. The plan contemplates a subsidy of twenty-five cents per hundred pounds for potatoes thus kept out of the regular channels of trade, payments to be limited to 100 per cent of this year's crop. Whether the proposed program is economically sound this newspaper does not pretend to know. It is clear, on the other hand, that the complaint of eastern newspapers that it increases the price to the producer will work an unfair hand against consumers is unjust. This because prevailing producer prices have not, at all justified the expense and labor of production. In the average home, for instance, to open a two-lb can of some sort of food is a merely good thing, not a luxury. It is not only honestly distributed, it would so cover a dining table that there would be no place for a pepper container.

ALL PART OF HIS PLAN? (Idaho, Oregon, Democrat-Iribute)

The "ins" always claim credit for business improvement whenever they are responsible or not, so the president was but following well defined precedent when he did so at Charleston, S. C., on landing from his ocean cruise.

Nevertheless he presumed strongly on the short public memory when he told his audience, "we are on the way back and not by pure chance. . . . We are coming back more soundly than ever before, and we planned it that way and don't let anyone else tell you differently."

If memory serves correctly it was this Mr. Roosevelt and not one of the Theodore tribe who thought the bottom was going to drop out of everything when the "N. A." bucked out. Now a few months later the same brain trust is busy again, but only following the destruction of the largest single unit in his program.

THE VIRTUE OF SILENCE (Caldwell News-Tribune)

Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, he is informed by news pictures now appearing in the paper, has returned from Europe.

The fact of his return was real news to us. We didn't even know he was over there. The fact conflicts so sharply with the consciousness we always had of Senator Pore's European visit—from the time Pope sailed to his lonely home.

The Michigan senator has been mentioned as a possibility for the Republican presidential nomination. He has one attribute which will commend him to Idahoans. He knows enough to keep his mouth shut.

Room in Country Home Skillfully Arranged

Green and tan chintzes upholster the maple furniture.

Prepared by the American Home—In its arrangement—There are several well defined conversation groups, each with conventional tables for lamps, ash trays and a chair. The fireplace, in the center, is carried out in walls tinted in an unbroken tone, a smaller one provides delightful spots to sit and read.

There are numerous differently patterned materials in the room, but there is no confusion or busy-ness because the walls provide the plainness necessary for balance.

WASHINGTON By A. BENNETT

NAVIES "Much eye and little wool" describes in advance the naval policy called by Great Britain. This conference is required by the ending treaty, which expires next year.

Japan having taken the action that terminates the ratio treaty, it is a foregone conclusion that the conference will be abandoned. Hitler's last work in rearmament means that France will not agree to a program of disarmament. An international naval conference with Germany and Russia left would force the parties to the conference to boost their navies and refuse to put a lip to him.

This is the essence of expert opinion obtained on condition that the identity of the experts be kept confidential. Are significant words? They fore-shadow drastic changes—a new AAA to carry on the principle. GOP leadership will be a serious matter. The Roosevelt statement was a confession of the failure of the present AAA and a bold attempt to forestall the effect of a disintegration of the party by holding up a dazzling picture of a newer new deal for the future.

Lawyers felt the writer that the plan outlined by the President is subject to the same constitutional questions as those that constituted the AAA.

TECHNIQUE "It stands to reason that President Roosevelt will continue his custom of developing his plans by sending short special messages to Congress direct, instead of putting everything in a long annual message."

Government management "For everything he wanted when he wanted it by firing in a message dealing with one subject. With it he presented his little bill, nicely prepared and easy to swallow. Congress was 'hit' in the spotlight, it was the essence of expert opinion formerly done with the omnibus legislation."

Government method keeps Congress in the dark concerning his program as a whole. It must act by piecemeal. Congress direct, instead of putting everything in a long annual message."

SYNOPSIS: Anne Farnsworth sees a great fortune and plans to use it as a grand catalyst when Luke and Lucinda Farnsworth, the wealthy butler, are killed. She is killed by her own hand. Her father, who is in the United States, is killed by her own hand. She is killed by her own hand. Her father, who is in the United States, is killed by her own hand.

some clue to the mystery. "Miss Nicki," John Neuman rounded the corner of the house, how furious, you troubled. He had had her a her invitation. "I'm afraid in our social experiment to have you with us, we're forcing you to do something you may regret. "Perhaps you'd better wait to make your final decision. Suppose, forgive me for this, but suppose Mr. Crocker returned and realized what he was losing and came for you, because, you know, if he loves you so... as a man should love the woman he asks to marry him, he'll find you. And then... "Then what?" "Then you'll want to go back." "No," Anne shook her head. "I couldn't go back to the first place. Rob was in love with Anne Farnsworth and there is no Anne Farnsworth and there is no Anne Farnsworth. He loved a position, not a girl. In the second place I could never feel the same. I'd never be sure of having someone to depend upon. I'd never know how we would act in a crisis. "As for the selfishness of Lisa, you know she turned continually. I'm wondering if I had this longing for a home. Lisa speaks about her desire to give me something to occupy my mind. "And can't you realize how wonderful it seems to have someone who is interested in me at a moment, then went on. "You can't, because everyone wants you, always. "It would be nice, to think every one did," mused Neuman. "Mr. Neuman," Anne hesitated a moment then went on a bit defiantly. "You said a moment ago, if Rob loved me as a man should love the woman he asks to marry him. You know what I mean? It makes me wonder how that should be. "I'm sorry I said that. I didn't think how it must sound to you. I suppose different men look upon you in different ways. "But you?" "To me there could be only one, and that one would be the reason for my having lived, perhaps in a little primitive in my view. I almost wish these were pioneer days so that I might build her home with my own hands, and bring her food I had fought for. "He stopped and Anne felt queerly depressed. Of course she was through with love, she would never marry, but the glimpse of what she might have had was making her think. "You feel very strongly about this," she ventured. "In there... I mean as you in love with someone like that?" "However," she qualified, "she doesn't know about it. May never know." "Anne was now all consideration for the girl. As long as she was an intangible quality, Anne felt nervous. "Don't you think it only fair to her to tell her how you feel?" she asked in a maternal tone. "No, yet," she said, with a restless movement he stood up. "It wouldn't be fair... to either of us. Come on, nice night, before I hear the boys coming in." "The boys were in, stirring about the kitchen. Lisa was busy preparing the eternal coffee. Lisa had already told them of her plan and they were listening with grave interest when Anne and John entered. "When the subject of the new girl came up, they branched, they seemed unable to grasp the reality of it. "You thanked Anne, declared it impossible, and even as they made this declaration their eyes grew watery. "Then John stopped into the breakfast room. He was in a firm manner telling them that it was up to them to protect their course, that she was a new girl, and that they should protect her. "Of course," he said in conclusion. "If you want her to go to an outside, or to leave the little money she has I suppose the can, but would an outsider show the same interest in her affairs you would? It looks to me as if the men of the family should protect her." "Oh, looked at Anne doubtfully. "After that John's eyes were fixed on her, as long as there was no one else Anne saw the shoulders square. George replied to John in character. "I'm not putting it that way, we accept. Linnbeck has a new plan, it isn't painted yet, nor is it in the air. I'll buy it at once," his sombre face brightened at the idea. "Then we will be ready to accept the new plan." "When she went to her room that night, Lisa followed, hovering over her like an apprehensive mother.

Mighty Football Aggregations to Face Big Tests

Notre Dame, Ohio State, Minnesota, California and U.C.L.A. Top List of Elevens in Saturday Warfare

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Columbus furnishes the No. 1 battleground for this Saturday's football warfare with Notre Dame and Ohio State the contenders.

It will be equally a hot, even if not quite so crowded on a number of other grids. Most of the unbeaten squads as well as a number of the beaten outfits still seeking top ranking will be very much "on the spot."

Princeton's impressive march will be challenged by a navy team that is threatening for victory after two setbacks in its season.

Army, pining for its Pittsburgh next week, can't afford to take the slightest chance against Major Ralph Scales' Mississippi State "champion" conquerors of Alabama.

Syracuse may be used by Penn State's best team in years. Dartmouth may be Yale's only hope as a rugged Big Eleven. Temple contends Michigan State, an aggregation more than eager to wipe out the impression left in the East by its beating at the hands of Boston College.

Minnesota may be on the Big Ten's hot spot. The Gophers certainly the Bollweavers of Purdue, who may have been overrated previously or who may be together to take on the rebound.

Memphis the experts can make up their minds whether Birmingham, Ohio State or unbeaten Notre Dame is on the spot. The Bucks, playing at home, have to win to retain the Ohio regular.

Scourge as the best since the famous Chick Harley's day, Notre Dame's record book to 1937 tries to pick up the national title trail over Rockne's last team left off in 1936.

Speaking of the Rose Bowl, as they are doing this week around Los Angeles, it is no certainty that the U. C. L. A.-California family feud will settle the Far Western champion. The Pacific Northwest Methodist on November 11, California, even if lucky enough to win the "Big Game" and to be considered to try to handle.

Carnera Meets Rugged German

Walter Neusel Seeks Victory Over Italian and Bout With Louis

By EDDIE BRIEZE
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The "The" Carnera again and will take him back into the boxing was against Walter Neusel, rugged German heavyweight at Madison Square Garden tonight.

The fight is scheduled for ten rounds, but the bout has attracted little waning interest.

It will be the man, mountain's first appearance since he was first brought off killed by the devastating left hook of Joe Louis in the Detroit boxer's eastern debut last summer.

Kayped British Heavy Neusel, who has scored two victories over Carl Peterson, the British Heavy; Tommy Loughran, Ray Impellitteri and King Levinsky among others, has fought twice this year, both times against Peterson in London. He won each time by a knockout.

Neusel is the better jumper he has the half way promise that he will be Louis' opponent in the Garden in December.

U. I. S. B. Plans For Homecoming

Montana State Bobcats to Meet Black Tigers on Armistice Day

POCAHELLO, Oct. 31.—Elaborate plans are being made as the University of Idaho students meet the Montana State Bobcats on Armistice Day, November 11. The Black Tigers are in the prime of condition and will do their best to fight out the game.

Civic organizations and clubs are cooperating with university students in making Armistice and Homecoming the biggest and most festive seen for years. The American Legion parade will be the first of the day by the parade in the afternoon, the game between the Tigers and Bobcats at 3:30, competition between national dance and drum corps, dances sponsored by organizations, a free-to-the-public play at Fraser hall, university dances at Pocahellico dance halls, and a special university mid-night matinee at a downtown theater.

Students are concentrating their efforts on advertising for a four-year university and will distribute a large amount of program to the fans at the game.

SPUD GROWERS ASK REVISION OF PACT

AAA Hearing Records Vote for Amendments and No. Regulation

Southern Idaho potato growers, represented by 30 persons at a public hearing conducted by federal farm administration representatives in Twin Falls high school auditorium yesterday, voted unanimous endorsement of a series of proposed amendments to a proposed potato marketing agreement, and then voted, 18 to 5, against any form of marketing agreement for the 1935 crop.

The hearing recessed early in the afternoon to re-convene this morning at Caldwell where growers are to be heard on the marketing agreement proposed for a district composed of the states of Colorado, Nebraska, Wyoming and Idaho.

The Caldwell hearing will wind up a series of hearings on the proposal, others having been held at Denver, Scottsbluff, Nebraska, and Idaho Falls.

Suggested Amendment Amendments that the Twin Falls hearing recommended were proposed by Carl L. DeLong, executive vice-president of the Vegetable Growers, Incorporated. They provided:

1. All late potato crop producing states of which there are 30, should be brought within the scope of the proposed marketing agreement.

2. All potatoes entering in interstate commerce should be graded to the standard of U. S. No. 1 and U. S. No. 2, size A, as now provided for in the federal standard of grades.

3. A restriction as to marketing of No. 2 potatoes should be placed among potato producing districts.

4. Federal inspection and grading should be made by the federal inspectors where there is no federal inspection.

Growers views on the proposed marketing agreement were given in testimony by several witnesses including W. H. DeWitt, of Hartsell, Victor Smith of Burley, R. H. Young of Parma, J. P. Marshall of Twin Falls, Carl L. DeLong of Twin Falls, Mitchell Hunt of Buhl, and Miss Jennie Baum of Buhl.

Except in Idaho, Kris P. Bernis, marketing specialist who was one of the group of three representatives of the farm administration conducting the hearing, said potato growers of the proposed four-state district are to be heard in favor of the proposed agreement. Presiding at the hearing was Judge Alva E. Ryan of the farm administration legal department, and M. Parolletti, representative of the consumer's committee.

An Associated Press dispatch from Washington last evening said the farm administration is to have the proposed potato marketing agreement ready for approval by growers and handlers next month.

The dispatch continues: A. E. Mercker, farm administration potato control chief, said testimony delivered at the various hearings held would be studied as rapidly as possible. He expressed confidence final recommendations would be worked out within two weeks and the proposed agreement laid before Secretary Wallace for his signature.

Mr. Mercker said he could not tell until the testimony had been studied what action would be taken on a request by S. K. Warrick of Scottsbluff, Nebraska, for elimination of provisions which would give Secretary Wallace authority to prorate shipments of potatoes.

The question would be determined, Mr. Mercker said, on the basis of what evidence at the hearings would provide the most feasible method of rotating potato surplus to other areas.

Mr. Mercker said the weight of the testimony also would be the deciding factor in deciding whether to grant Warrick's request for a ban on consignment shipping.

The marketing agreement was drafted by farm administration potato experts in an attempt to bring prices at the current crop parity. It would be in addition to the compulsory potato control act for which state marketing agreements are scheduled to be announced tomorrow.
