ROSEBERRY GIVES GRADUATION TALK

17 Senior Students Given Diplomas at Annual Commencement

RUPERT, May 23 — An audience that filled every available space in the large auditorium of the Paul high school listened with interest to the commencement address to the 17 members of the Paul senior class given by the Rev. George C. Roseberry of the Methodist church of Paul and Rupert, speaking on the subject, "Progress Comes Through Change."

Showing through illustrations that warfare, philosophers and religion cannot alone save society, Rev. Roseberry declared that all forces for good must work together to bring about the desired end and that the aim of the school system is to fit youth to use all opportunities developing better civilization and make for speedier progress in our changing social, economic and political order.

Presentia Class

The class was presented by Superintendent J. B. Friderley of the Paul school for reception of diplomas and Bishop Davis Green, president of the Paul school board, awarded the diplomas.

Mamie Avelar was salutatorian and Roberta Louderbough, the valedictorian. Miss Louderbough received also the citizenship award medal. Music, under the direction of Miss Rowne Thomas, included processional, played by Miss Thomas in the piano selection; and the girls' exercises—members of instruction and benediction were offered by L. T. Harper.

BUHL STORES CLOSE FOR MEMORIAL DAY

BUHL, May 23 — At a meeting of the Buhl Chamber of Commerce last Monday noon, it was decided that all the stores in Buhl would be closed for Memorial Day, May 30. The stores will remain open the previous Friday night for the convenience of out-of-town shoppers.

The merchants committee for the new club year starting this month will be headed by Harry Grimes, a director of the club and manager of the C. C. Anderson store. The other two men on the committee will be Lawrence Van Riper and G. M. Merrick. This committee handles all promotional stunts, gift days and other community good will stunts during the year.

It was decided to invite Roy Hopkins, auctioneer, and Ted Eastley, clerk, to attend the meeting next Monday noon at which time the Saturday auction sales would be discussed. It was also suggested that the sales grounds might be improved to facilitate the institution.

Lee Howard, secretary, read letters he had received relative to the meat packing plant, but the committee was not present to report on its investigation. A drive was launched this week for 1936 memberships to the chamber of commerce.

Unusual Rosebush Attracts Interest

Creating unusual interest among flower-lovers is the Austrian Copper rosebush now at the height of its bloom in the garden at the E. J. Stettler home, 252 Seventh avenue east.

The bush, from a distance, presents a flame-red appearance. Resembling a wild rose in petal formation, the blooms have the colorings of the Tullman rose, the upper petals being Guinness red, faced with yellow. Mrs. Stettler states that the rosebush is of a fast and hardy growing variety, and particularly well adapted to this climate.

GOODING COMPLETES YEAR OF PROGRESS

Intensive Program of Civic Improvement Reviewed by Mayor James

GOODING, May 23 — An unusual number of improvements have been completed by the present city administration within the year ending last May 1, a survey made by Mayor A. F. James disclosed.

Streets Improved
More than 2000 yards of gravel were used in improving their city streets and this work is being continued this summer.

To aid in maintaining the street graded, thorough and well-maintained, the city purchased a highway grader, or motorized grader, for $2200.

New Pipe Laid
Cemetery Improvements included the laying of 4455 feet of 8-inch steel pipe to replace 6-inch wooden pipe.

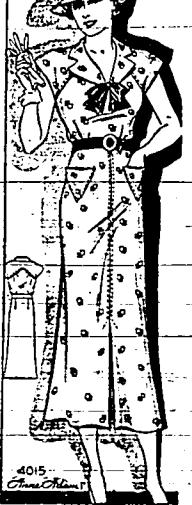

Seven drain wells were drilled in the business section to remove water from gutters during rain storms.

FINAL RITES HELD FOR E. BODENSTAB

Pulitzer Prize Drama Attacks War By Showing How Next One Starts

The play is 'Idiot's Delight,' Pulitzer prize winner. The time is 'the next world war.' The scene is a dramatic one in the life of Irene (Lynn Fontanne).

BY GEORGE TUCKER
NEW YORK (AP)—Robert E. Sherwood's Pulitzer prize winning play, 'Idiot's Delight,' is a forceful argument against war.

The play, one of the financial and artistic successes of the best season of the New York theater since 1929, has been running since 1929.

Plucked by chance from their travels and tossed together at a hotel literally tottering under the guns of the French counter attack.

Plucked by chance from their travels and tossed together at a hotel literally tottering under the guns of the French counter attack.

In the nobleman and the immortal arrangements for her "elimination" because of her thinly disguised contempt for his sordid selfish war.

It is from one of her acridly mocking speeches that the play gains its title. In this scene the woman, Irene, is talking with Achille Weber.

The Drama and Literature Department of the Rural Federation will meet at the home of Mrs. R. G. Lockhart.

Members of the Blue Lakes Boulevard club are requested to meet Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

'Idiot's Delight' is Mr. Sherwood's eighth consecutive dramatic success since he first became famous with 'The Road to Rome,' a decade ago.

SYNOPSIS: The mystery surrounding Hope Joris, the girl who disappeared after Elmer Fleming killed him, has deepened. When Rupert ran away to his northern camp with his young brother, he was suddenly called home by Martin. Martin is Hope's grandfather and Dick is Hope's brother. Martin is Hope's owner, and was told by Hope that she was not there. She was right, too. Now one of the maids, Nora, is explaining to Dick about a revolver she had found in the room.

"Right, sir. This did not happen at that time. This did not happen till after your grandfather died. You were a child at the time, sir... not much more than a baby.

"It was a summer's night, and very still, when there came a sound along about twelve o'clock... like your grandfather's bell... directly over my head, sir.

"I had not waked Mary, so I must have dreamed it. But I got into my clothes and went down the stairs, and opened my door. He was not there. But, standing in the room, was a figure, a lady, sir, all in white.

"Any one you know?" asked Dick. Timothy looked at him.

"It was a ghost, sir.

"Dick felt rebuked, and properly. "I did not see it," he said. "But did you recognize...?"

"I thought afterwards of your grandfather's bell, sir, and I recognized her. The room was dim, merely the night lamp. I saw only that she was slender, and beautiful in a shadowy way, and all in white, with something white and misty around her hair."

"Did she speak?" Dick asked.

"I did not see it," he said. "But I surely looked at me, and I at her. Then I instantly begged pardon, and closed my door. She was not there. Why did she possess it, why did she want it, if she was not afraid? It was a recent acquisition, that he knew, for he had looked into the safe one night himself. Surely she would not have felt the need of such a weapon if she had been in league with the sounds Martin had heard.

If she would only confide in him! She had velvet herself audaciously since that night, watching her in the mirror that night. Perhaps she had never really disclosed herself to him. But now, if he moved carefully, might he not surprise her trust, her confidences?

He went downstairs, and knocked on Hope's door. The door opened almost at once, as if she were expecting some one... Mary probably, who Nora said, was the only one she would see. Having opened the door, she stood without moving, looking at him.

"She was not afraid, or was it indeed a sort of negligence she wore? A pale yellow dress, trimmed just below her breast, and girdled about the throat with white fur. Her hair was rumpled, a tumble of dark curls and she hugged a little shawl of painted silk about her as if she were cold.

Even in the dusk, Dick could observe the change in her, the pallor of her face, the almost tragic shadows beneath her eyes.

"May I come in, Hope?" She drew back, admitting him. When he had entered, however, she did not sit down, but stood beside the bed, her hand resting on the pillow.

"When he had entered, however, she looked like a totem-pole beside the bed so immense and ancient it was. Every doubt, every torturing suspicion, melted at sight of her, flowed

ABOUT GHOSTS

"Was there anything else in the case?" Dick asked.

"There was not, sir. Excepting a bit of dust."

"When was this, Nora?"

"Two days... Three days, sir, before I was called down here."

"Did he say anything when you handed it to him?"

"Well, sir, he laughed and said, 'That's one you know, I said, 'Texas, sir?' For I couldn't remember any name named 'Texas' except in that room, and no one at all has eyes in it since your uncle, Mr. Ryker Joris, stayed with us whilst your father was ill. When I told you that 'Texas' was the name of the girl from Texas. She's not afraid of anything, not even a forty-five gun."

"What that all he said?" Dick asked.

"No, sir. He told me, 'I'll bet she strikes a match with a bullet and she'll die, sir, and she'll laugh and be hearty at his sick looks... I remember though that Mrs. Joris does not smoke. She does not use matches at all thank the saints."

"Oh, I did not. I left Mister Rupert to do what he pleased about it, and I'm thinking he gave it back to her, though it was not in the wall safe next day, nor the day before she came home."

"Was it ever there, is a ghost, Nora?"

"What lie, sir? There is a ghost in the house, I have me-self heard it, though not for a long time."

"Near-by, at any rate, sir. I heard it plainly from the hall, a sound like some one laughing, laugh high like a banshee. Your grandfather had the lower-room thin. He did not have the sound, I remember. That was long ago."

"No one heard it but you?"

"No, that's right, sir, but others heard it from the lower ghost. Timothy has seen it."

"She has seen it?"

"Apparently she had not meant to bring Timothy into the discussion."

"Timothy has seen it," Dick repeated. "What?"

"Just what, I could not tell you. But it was years ago. He does not speak of it. Mary told me that."

"All right, Nora. That will do."

"Nora had moved to the door."

"Mary said to ask you, sir, if you would have havin' dinner at home."

"In an hour," said Dick.

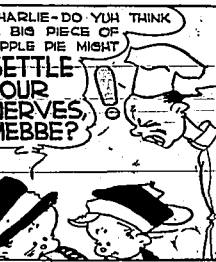

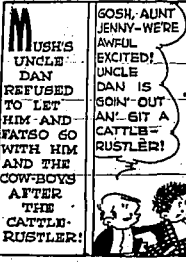

"When Nora had gone he rang for Timothy. Their shadowy world revolved to him, had suddenly become real to him, a world of things and a proper danger of that world."

Timothy came, a bit disturbed. He had no doubt met Nora on the stairs. No, sir, he said, he never spoke from his mind as if it had never been. He knew only that she was ill, that, seeming only to touch the bed beside her, she really braced herself against it, otherwise she could not have stood.

By GAYLE TALBOT BERLIN (AP)—The fallibility of human timers, long a subject of debate in track circles, will be put to a severe test in this summer's Olympic games.

A motion picture camera device, making 100 exposures to the second, not only will decide winners and placings where there is any question, but also will be available to give the exact time of every event if it is desired. Some of its disclosures may prove interesting, officials think.

Chances are, they contend, that times registered by the delicate instrument will employ more than two-tenths of a second faster than those of the manually operated stop-watches. It starts clicking as the trigger is squeezed, even before the sound of the report strikes the ears of the straining athletes.

Comic Race Opens Donkey-Ball Series

Opening with a comic donkey race on Main street beginning at four o'clock Monday afternoon, Jack Bartlett's "Hoe-Haws of 1936" will arrive in Twin Falls to feature two nights of donkey polo and softball under the floodlights of Lincoln field.

Bartlett promises to supply Twin Falls fans with a show which will surpass the entertainment he provided for the Century of Progress exposition at Chicago, making arrangements for the Twin Falls performance enroute to Idaho Falls where his show appeared last evening.

Magoo City fans are awaiting the donkey polo and softball, but considerable enthusiasm rests in the opening program which pits eight Twin Falls men against each other in the race up and down the main thoroughfare, Monday afternoon.

The race will start at the Hoperson hotel and continue to the Junior Power company office where if they are able, riders will reverse their donks and return to the Hoperson.

A feature of the day's show was Betty Hitch debrihed as state champion.

Mrs. N. H. Glisch, the mother smashed 71 targets while her daughter, a great shot, won the Vermont of Billings, Montana, outscored all the marksmen in the men's singles, but only Utah residents were eligible for the title. Rothrock brought down 197 of the 200 dials.

Other singles scores included: E. W. Benfro, Dell, Montana, 194; H. C. Peterson, Dillon, Montana, 194; C. J. Foy, De W. J. Miller, Corvallis, Oregon, 182; Alf Christensen, Wyoming, 176; A. Duffens, Boise, 171; Fred Heuck, Boise, 169; L. E. Wilkinson, Evanston, Wyoming, 159.

Harvey Ostle of Salt Lake City won the junior singles title with 75 of 100.

Teams Clash in Four South Idaho League Conflicts

Diamond Struggles Scheduled at Hagerman, Hazelton, Wendell and Hansen; Tie to Be Broken

TODAY'S GAMES: Kimberly at Hazelton; Jerome at Wendell; Gooding at Hagerman; Buhl at Hansen.

With baseball fans of the district on edge after a series of hectic diamond meetings last Sunday, Southern Idaho league aggressors will swing into action today with leadership in the circuit hanging in the balance.

A four-way tie for first place at the present between Buhl, Gooding, Hazelton and Kimberly teams is scheduled to be broken and unless the hope bucket is out of the league will still be deadlocked three ways when this afternoon's games are played.

Buhl and Gooding are favored to hold undefeated ratings when they meet Hansen and Hagerman, and the third party in the undecided ranks, according to prognosticators, will be the winner between the unbeaten Kimberly and Hazelton teams.

Jerome is a slight favorite to edge out Wendell and break into the top four for their second consecutive losses, if the dope holds out.

Kimberly will play at Hazelton, Jerome invades Wendell, Gooding takes the trip to Hagerman and Hansen will attempt to repulse the invasion of the touted Buhl attack.

Doubleheader Bill On Softball Slate

Burley, Filer Teams Play Here; Chief-Brunswicks Leave On Tour

Twin Falls softball fans will witness a doubleheader bill on Lincoln field this afternoon when Filer and Burley invade to meet a pair of Twin Falls legions.

Play is scheduled to open at 1:30 P. M. when the Van Engelen team of the American invader meets the titching Father-Blue-Ribbons of Filer. Then the Mountain Home team will play a game between the divisions of Burley and the National Division Ford-Vicos of Twin Falls.

The Saturdays edged out the Ford-Vicos at Burley last Sunday and the locals will seek vengeance with Mike Johnson in the mound.

Only out-of-town names for Twin Falls softballers today will see a combined team of Utah Chief and Brunswick players traveling to Boise and Mountain Home for a pair of games.

The locals will meet a Boke team of the Mountain Home team on the way back to meet Mountain Home in a return game. The Chief-Brunswick combination holds a 2-0 record over Mountain Home, chalked up here two weeks ago.

Golfers Battle On Burley Links

Stone Announces Tentative Team to Enter From Twin Falls

BURLEY, May 23—Bull, Burley, Hunter and Twin Falls golf acts will vie for honors in the first of a series of southern Idaho intercollegiate golf matches to be staged today over the Burley Country club course.

Bryan Carter, tourney chairman, today announced that a Burley team would be composed of ten players, to be chosen from a group composed of J. H. Harris, Bryan Carter, Glenn Brennan, Dr. G. O. Espe, Glen Hunter, Roscoe Williams, R. C. Rich, C. A. Bauer, E. C. Williams, C. F. Stinson, Earl Johnson, William Roper and Jack Roper.

The tournament will be conducted over 18 holes and will begin at 9 a. m.

Hustling Indiana Squad Captures Conference Title

Spectacular Ohio State Aoa Duplicates Triumph of Year Ago—Distance Runner Establishes Record

By WILLIAM WEEKES (Associated Press Sports Writer) COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 23—Ohio State's spectacular Jesse Owens staged another one-man victory rampage today, but even his heroic efforts could not keep Don Lash and other hustling Indiana footers from winning their first Western conference track and field championship.

Owens duplicated his quadruple triumph of a year ago at Ann Arbor, Michigan. His record performance today was in the 220-yard dash where he was timed at 21.1 seconds.

That was one-tenth of a second faster than the American record established to Ralph Metcalf of Marquette.

Looking toward the Olympic games at Berlin next August, the Cleveland Negro expended only as much of his power and speed as necessary to win the 100 and 220-yard dashes. The 220-yard run hurried and his favorite event, the running broad jump.

Don Lash Scores As great as was Owens' performance before a home crowd of 14,000, a record attendance for the meet, it overshadowed by little, if anything, the dazzling demonstration of distance running by Lash.

Lash, leader of the great array of distance talent that carried Indiana triumph, shattered the conference one mile record for the second straight year by conquering Charles Penak of Wisconsin, after a stirring duel in the brilliant time of 4 minutes 10.8 seconds.

He came back an hour later to lower the two mile figure from the 9 minutes, 21.2 seconds established

KETCHUM RESORT PLANS COMPLETE

Railroad Officials Announce Immediate Construction of 170-Room Hotel

KETCHUM, May 23 — With arrangements virtually complete for building of a 170-room hotel and resort, plans for immediate construction was announced today by Union Pacific railway officials and construction engineers who arrived by private car to start preliminary work.

In the party were Howard C. Mann, chief engineer of the Union Pacific; W. T. Wellman, of Omaha, chief engineer of the Union Pacific; H. A. Swerthin, engineer in charge of construction; and Laurence Neil of the U. P. Bell Construction company at Los Angeles, which holds the building contract.

Jobs for 200 Men Mann said the hotel would be of reinforced concrete and that the entire project would cost "well in excess of a half million dollars."

Construction work will start immediately and will employ approximately 200 men. Mann emphasized that as far as possible local labor and materials would be used.

The hotel will be erected on the Ernest F. Brass ranch, a distance of about a mile and a half from Ketchum on the west side of Trail creek.

Dedication Planned While no definite opening date has been set, it is understood the formal dedication will take place as soon as possible after construction is complete.

Announcement that a resort would be built at Ketchum was made about three months ago when Count Felix Schaffgotsch and Count Hans Erwin Wilczek of Austria made arrangements for the purchase of the Brass ranch after inspecting the site.

An order is reported to have been placed for 120 dial telephones for the hotel and for a refrigeration plant to assure ice in the skating pond during the entire winter. A dam will be constructed to the top of the recently laid out sking course and another will be built to the top of Boulder mountain for scenic purposes.

POSTAL EMPLOYEES HONOR McROBERTS

Banquet for Postmaster Concludes District Convention

P. W. McRoberts, retiring after 12 years' active service as postmaster of the Twin Falls post office, and Mrs. McRoberts were guests of honor at a banquet last evening at the Park Hotel, concluding session of the district convention of Federal Postal Clerks and Letter Carriers and Rural Carriers. Eighty members of the associations and their wives were present at the banquet. Frank Boughton presided as toastmaster.

Postmaster McRoberts was presented with a sun-gold trophy bearing the inscription, "Presented to P. W. McRoberts by the employees of the Twin Falls post office in recognition of 12 years of association, 1924-1936." The presentation was made by W. W. Frank, to which Mr. McRoberts responded, expressing appreciation for the commendation of his postal employees during his administration. Miss Agnes Stronk presented Mrs. McRoberts with a bouquet of roses. Mrs. McRoberts made a gracious response.

Officials Speak John H. Mitchell, Spokane, first national vice president of the National Federation of Post Offices, discussed organization work and extended the work of Cliff Hildner in organizing the Idaho postal employees. George Keller, Idaho Falls, state president of the Post Office Clerks, urged attendance at the state convention at Boise, Idaho, August 15 and 16.

Other speakers at the banquet, discussing the national convention of 1935 or the approaching state convention, were E. H. Billick, Idaho, state secretary of the Idaho State Federation of Post Office Clerks; C. L. Blanchard, Nampa, delegate to the national convention at Atlantic City in 1935; state vice president of the Letter Carriers' association; Joe Walters, Idaho Falls, state president of the Idaho Federation of Letter Carriers; James Noel, Boise, state secretary of the Letter Carriers' organization; Mrs. George Burdick, district organizer of the Letter Carriers' Auxiliary; Mrs. Frank Boughton, Twin Falls, state president of the Rural Carriers' Auxiliary; and L. H. Denton, Twin Falls, retired letter carrier.

H. A. Smith was chairman of the banquet committee. Miss Carol Phillips and Miss Brenda Rappleye sang a duet on songs. Marie Dunn Helm presented three dance numbers, "Goody Goody," Barbara Johnson and Muriel Pugh; "Rhythm Diet," Barbara and Mary Anna Hoge, and "The Secret," all four of the girls.

Memorial Poppies Bloom On Lapels

Two thousand crimson tissue poppies bloomed on lapels in Twin Falls yesterday when women of the American Legion Auxiliary, assisted by Camp Fire Girls, offered the memorial tissue at an annual sale.

Facilitated by disabled men in Veterans' Hospital, the poppies are sold each year as a means of providing for hospitalized ex-service men and their families.

Chairman of the Poppy committee, Mrs. Ralph S. Reynolds, said last evening proceeds of this year's sale would approximate $183.

Montana Stockmen Hit Trade Policies

BILLINGS, Mont., May 23 (AP)—Continging attacks launched by their leaders against national administration trade policies, the Montana Stockgrowers' association closed its third annual convention today with adoption of a resolution protesting against reduction of tariff duty on wool calves under the Canadian reciprocal trade treaty.

The resolution declared "the prejudice established by the tariff reduction by other nations in demanding similar consideration thus operating to injure the livestock industry." It urged that the reciprocal trade agreements be changed or repealed.

The stockmen also asked the United States to make no further agreements providing reductions in tariffs on cattle or livestock products.
