Grandstands Collapse At Bucharest, Taking Heavy Toll In Lives

King Carol And Son Rush To Aid Of Persons Screaming In Wreckage; 42 Dead And 400 Injured

(By The Associated Press) BUCHAREST, Rumania, June 8.—King Carol of Rumania and his 14-year-old son, former King Mihai, rushed to the aid of persons screaming in the wreckage today when two grandstands collapsed at a gigantic Boy Scout rally, hurling thousands to the ground.

One of the grandstands placed the dead at 42. A censorship was imposed to "prevent panic" and an official statement placed the dead at 13, with 400 injured. This number were in hospitals and at least 100 were regarded at the point of death. About 200 slightly injured were allowed to return to their homes.

Four municipal architects and two construction superintendents were arrested for investigation on charges of using inferior building materials.

Kneeling In Prayer The stands gave way while 50,000 persons knelt in prayer, 30,000 of them spectators and 20,000 Boy Scouts. Occupying a box in the center of the exercises were Carol, Crown Prince Mihai and the dowager queen.

Directly opposite the royal box the stands fell with a great roar, breaking up the prayers of the pious. The scene was being carried to the multitude by loudspeakers.

Carol was among the first to arrive at the scene of the disaster, followed by Mihai in a scout uniform.

Queen Marie burst into tears after surviving the scene from the box with Prince Paul, regent of Yugoslavia. President Benes of Yugoslavia also witnessed the accident.

Apprehension Increases No official cause of the collapse was advanced. The scene from the box with Prince Paul, regent of Yugoslavia. President Benes of Yugoslavia also witnessed the accident.

Borah, Vandenberg Walk Arm In Arm

CLEVELAND, June 8 (AP)—Senators Borah of Idaho and Vandenberg of Michigan are friends, anyway.

The two rival candidates for president today on successive days have claimed the convention headlines, created a minor sensation tonight when they walked through a crowded hotel lobby arm in arm, smiling and chatting.

They made their way through the lobby, passed out the door and, refusing a cab, walked off across the public square together.

There was no immediate explanation of their walk.

SHERIFF DISCOVERS MISSING OFFICER'S CAR IN RESERVOIR

There Is No Doubt in My Mind But That the Men Were Drowned, Boise County Official Declares

(By The Associated Press) IDAHO FALLS, Idaho, June 8.—Sheriff Harry Penrod of Boise county reported recovery tonight of an automobile in which he said an army officer, and two CCC enrollees, plunged to their deaths in the icy waters of Arrowrock reservoir 23 miles south of here last Thursday night.

The bodies were not found. Tractors Drag Car The automobile, a coupe, was dragged by tractors from the reservoir at a point where it is 50 feet deep.

"There is no doubt in my mind but that the men were drowned," Sheriff Penrod said.

They were reported by CCC officials to be Lieutenant H. D. Leslie of Belle Fourche, S. D., commanding officer of the Twin Springs CCC camp near Arrowrock dam, and one of the automobile that was recovered.

Joseph Edward of Underwood, N. D., Gordon Nelson of Washburn, N. D.

"We will station a number of men near where the automobile was found," Sheriff Penrod said, "to watch for the bodies."

"The water is quiet and they should rise to the surface in eight or 10 days."

The three men were last seen Thursday night when they were headed for Twin Springs camp which is located in rugged mountain country.

Tracks Lead to Embankment First indications of tragedy were reported by CCC officials when they noticed automobile tracks leading from the highway to the end of an embankment below which the automobile was found.

"It was seen bubbling to the surface of the water, indicating that an automobile was submerged," Captain N. W. Burkhalter, acting CCC headquarters commander, even after being told of the accident in a tragedy, commented.

"We don't know that these men were drowned. There are indications they might have been. To us they are absent without official leave. We are investigating all clues to their whereabouts."

Tonight Captain Burkhalter, stationed at Boise, said: "I am convinced now that they were drowned. All we can do now is watch for the bodies."

"The automobile in which they were riding left the road on a bend and plunged approximately 30 feet down an embankment before it hit the water. It was badly damaged."

Republicans Map Thrust For National Administration

FRANCE'S STRIKES SPREAD TO MINES

Demanding Increased Pay, Coal-Diggers Call General Walkout

PARIS, June 8 (AP)—France's strike focus turned underground tonight to the coal pits of 150,000 miners.

With the General Federation of Labor urging a million other workers to return to their jobs under the terms of a "proletarian victory" agreement, the coal diggers of northern France called a general strike, occupying the workings.

They said they could not live on the wages of 80 francs (about $4) a month, and charged French miners unemployed in the north while owners gave work to German diggers in the Saar.

The owners, declaring the market depressed, insisted work was distributed fairly.

Some officials held that they were not aware of the workers' order to free.

Scattered new strikes also were called in the Paris building trades. In the Rouen industrial area and on the docks at Antwerp, but generally the "red" area strikers were straggling back to work.

Borah Puts Platform Before Own Candidacy

Idahoan Sets Out To Force Acceptance Of Views

(By The Associated Press) CLEVELAND, June 8.—Senator Borah of Idaho set out to "dynamite" the Republican party toward "progressive leadership" today, expressed outspoken views on candidacies and issues that remained the enigma of the convention.

Surrounded by several hundred newspaper correspondents, who bombarded him with questions, the Idaho senator demanded a plank against monopoly and foreign entanglements, emphasized he would enter into no "stop-Landon" or other coalition, and shot back wicker answers on everything from former President Hoover to his own candidacy.

Platform First In a talk before his own Idaho delegation earlier he declared that adoption of a platform embracing the principles of the average patriotic American was paramount—even to the platform first.

He said he would not be a delegate to the convention unless the platform first was adopted.

Borah Turns Fire Upon Declaration Of Party Policies

Rival Camp Conflict Over Platform New Development In Struggle Between Kansan's Friends And Foes

Landonites Renew Nomination Claim

(By The Associated Press) CLEVELAND, June 8.—The tumultuous eve of the 21st Republican national convention projected a rival camp conflict over a party policy in a continuing struggle between Landonites and anti-Landonites over the nomination.

Senator Borah of Idaho, after stating that he would neither lend nor join in a coalition against the nomination of Governor A. M. Landon, lashed out at those who sought foreign affairs, monopoly and money that he implied were those held-in-the-camp-of the Kansan.

Within an hour there came from Landon headquarters a statement that some of Borah's implications were "not true," that he had a "perfect chance" for finding out what was true and that he himself should submit drafts on the plank he exposes. The possibility of a Borah by Landon was received coldly there.

Against this background the Republican national convention will be called to order at 7 p. m. (Twin Falls time) tomorrow by Chairman Fletcher of the national committee.

After disposing of formalities and selection of various committees, the convention will adjourn until 6 p. m.

The address by Senator Borah, the temporary chairman, will be delivered. It is expected to start shortly before 7 p. m. (Twin Falls time).

Balloting for the presidential nominee will start Thursday.

Supporters of Landon returned planks that the opening would find him assured of the nomination.

The divided but active opponents of each other, the first-day-of-the-convention would be given over to a round of formalities, including the "stop-Landon" plank, which many more says would appear before the first polling of delegates, they contended much could happen in the first time.

A stir was created when Borah and Senator Vandenberg of Michigan attacked Landon in the crowded lobby of the Hotel Cleveland, where the Idahoan has his headquarters.

What they said talked of and were then discussing was not immediately revealed.

Senator Borah, who was all Vandenberg would reply when newspapermen peeped him.

"Ask me," Borah advised them. "Stick by Vandenberg."

Shortly after the Michigan delegation decided to stick by Vandenberg en bloc not only on the first ballot but on subsequent ballots.

From Borah and from within the headquarters of Senator Frank B. Rowland, Landon was the leading candidate. However, far from conceding that the battle was over, Borah had the floor on the convention scene to direct personally his campaign for the nomination.

Senator Vandenberg, who yesterday conjured against a "hardway" run for any candidate, spent hours in conversation with men from Landon's camp.

Nor was Borah's statement that he would join an organized movement to elect Landon taken to mean that he would yield his position as a delegate.

SEVERE STORMS TAKE TWO LIVES

Idaho Farmer Killed When Tornado Winds Demolish Home

BOISE, June 8 (AP)—Severe rain, hail and wind storms were blizzards today for the death of two persons in Idaho over the week end. Orchards and farm crops were damaged. A miniature tornado roared down on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Lough, four miles north of Burban, raising their home and killing the farmer and severely injuring his wife yesterday.

Neighbors found Mr. and Mrs. Lough in the wreckage. Other buildings were demolished.

The water swept a path between nearby farms without damaging them.

Heavy rains and high winds swept through Lewiston, damaging power lines and telegraph. Residents' lights were put out of order.

Rain fell in Pocatello again today—the eighth consecutive day. Wind, rain and hail damaged crops in the Wilder section.

LIBERTY THEME OF TALK TO GRADUATES

California Educator Addresses University of Idaho Class

MOSCOW, Idaho, June 8 (AP)—The "liberty" guaranteed citizens of the United States by their Constitution has a spiritual connection, not economic, Dr. Alexander McKeiljohn, California educator, told 45 graduates of the University of Idaho today.

Dr. McKeiljohn, director of the center for social studies, San Francisco, spoke at the university's 41st commencement.

The first amendment to the constitution—the "liberty" which guarantees freedom of men, men's spirit and the document otherwise guarantees justice in regard to property—no senseless freedom.

To freedom of religious belief, thought, press and assembly, Dr. McKeiljohn added universal suffrage, which he described as "the greatest single piece of legislation of our government," and universal education, which he predicted mix some day be available to all of society.

Awards announced included: Sons of the American Revolution history trophy essay, Alton B. Jones, Weston, Idaho; Marie M. Donnelly, Thule; Philip Sherman Bennett, essay on American Government, Jack McKinney, Salmon, first.

The following Detail Officers will be closed Saturday afternoon during the months of June, July and August.

MAIL-ADDRESSING INSTRUCTION URGED

Idaho Postmasters Deplore Losses Resulting From Poor Mailing

BOISE, June 8 (AP)—Idaho postmasters Tuesday night urged that their annual convention will adopt a resolution tomorrow calling for instruction in stamp-collecting, package-carrying and mail addressing in the public schools of the state.

Mrs. Mae A. Kibler of Del Mar, Calif., second vice-president of the National League of District Postmasters, told the eighth annual convention of the Idaho branch of the organization today that such courses already are being given in some states.

"Losses due to poorly wrapped and stamped and incorrectly addressed packages and mail annually runs into millions of dollars," she declared.

"It is urged that the instruction be given in public schools, by local postmasters, and before the Christmas holidays."

Profit and loss

Orange Lemon, chief clerk of the railway mail service at Pocatello, told the meeting that "the same sums into his pockets to the tune of $200,000 annually to pay the cost of carrying newspapers, and that 'the only mail that loses money is the way it is handled.'"

William L. Statway of Washington, D. C., comptroller of the postoffice department, was the principal speaker at the annual business luncheon.

ROOSEVELT PREPARES FOR SPEAKING TOUR

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP)—Working into to discuss all current congressional business, President Roosevelt turned tonight toward a long-planned speaking trip to Arkansas, Texas and Indiana.

A special train waited to take him on a 4,000 mile, week-long swing southwestward.

He will speak Wednesday evening at Little Rock in commemoration of the 100th birthday of Arkansas; Thursday the morning of June 13 at Dallas, Texas, in celebration of the Lone Star state's independence centennial; and Sunday morning at Vincennes, Ind., where a memorial to George Rogers Clark, northwest explorer, will be dedicated.

The president has announced he would speak on historical subjects. Before ordering his bus packed today, the president visited three more bills, bringing the total of votes for his administration to more than 180.

Utah's Share Of Relief Load Grows

SALT LAKE CITY, June 8 (AP)—Sharply reflected in Utah is the real burden shift from federal to state governments.

A. C. Burton, auditor of the state department of public welfare, announced that during April the federal government contributed only 33 cents for each state and county relief dollar compared to 46 per cent state dollar in April, 1935. Despite this, Utah relief families are receiving an average of $2.70 more a month than they did a year ago, he said.

Twelve months ago the state was paying about $700,000 a month into Utah. The present rate is less than $100,000 a month.

THE COST OF FEDERAL RELIEF

Harry L. Hopkins, federal emergency relief administrator, should be given credit for frankness, Mr. Hopkins states that the cost of relief to the government...

Eventually perhaps the relief program will have to taper off but there is as yet no evidence that this point has been reached...

As before stated there is nothing surprising about the increased cost of federal relief. It would be surprising indeed if the cost did not increase.

DEMONSTRATING HAPPINESS

similar problems seem to exist in other industries. Our industrial system in many ways remains curiously out of joint.

A TREE'S RIGHT TO LIVE

Woodmen spared a tree in New York state recently because a private citizen believes that a two hundred-year-old maple is of greater value than a new road.

Mechanical progress, the tree's defender maintained, surely did not demand the destruction of beauty.

HISTORIC MONUMENTS

It is obvious that the United States is becoming aware of its historic past. Centenary follows centenary, and the stories of the nation's development are told in pageants and postage stamps.

Among the sites sought for preservation are the Old Kirby Wharf at Salem, Massachusetts, the Grand Portage trading post near Duluth, Minnesota...

THE FARM AWAKENING

All over Idaho, in the nooks and crannies of her hills and mountains, farmers as this year as last year are making most of little patches, here and there, that haven't been cultivated for years.

U. S. Offers Three-for-One for Three-Year Construction Program

BOISE, June 8 (AP)—If Idaho can provide $172,000, the federal government will contribute $103,000,000 to a $137,250,000 state highway construction program during the next three years, estimated by J. H. Stiemmer, director of highways, today.

The state's share must come from the 8-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax and a portion of the motor vehicle license.

The federal government's contributions will come from two appropriation acts.

One, for 1937, carried $1,350,000 for federal aid roads; this must be matched by $1,020,000 in state funds.

The second bill provides $3,000,000 for federal aid roads for the fiscal year 1937 and 1938 to be matched with $2,040,000 in state funds.

There is $3,000,000 in federal forest highway funds for the two-year period.

BRONFISH, Dick hoped Jane would keep Hope and Dirk, who is his younger brother, know that Bronfist did not commit suicide. He thought she would know that she knew this. The murder coats which with the mystery which has always surrounded Hope. Dick is now sure that it connects also with a mysterious secret stair which all the Jorkies thought had been burned when a wing of the great Jorkis house burned years ago. Hope is showing Dirk how to enter the secret stair.

CHAPTER 39
MAN NAMED VINES

Instantly a pencil of the wall began to move. As opening as tall and wide as the average door disclosed a narrow hall with one small window and a bed of green and blankets—lay on the floor, an old lantern and a kerosene stove beside it. A narrow stair went down into the black.

The stair. The secret stair. How had Hope found it? "I'll be right down there in five minutes," she was saying. "Help me a little more. It wasn't his fault. Only find him... if he's down there in five minutes." "And if he's not?" Dirk asked.

"Then he wasn't badly hurt. He's gone back to the hospital," she said. "I found me... Twenty-second Street. Go to his room there... on the second floor... the door is the back door. It's open." "You haven't told me his name yet."

"Vines," she said after a pause. "Just ask the landlady, Mrs. Turner her name is. If she opens the front door. But she may not be there."

She turned and opened the door beneath the long mirror. It was mostly, but her back had been more into the south room. She remembered now.

"I'll get it," she said. "I'll give you the key."

He went with her, made her stay in the south room, found hat and coat, and was waiting.

"I'll find my way," he told her. "If I'm not back in half an hour you may know the way into New York." "Close the panel," she whispered. "You'll find the spring on the other side."

Dirk went down the stone steps, moving the pale arc of his flash before him. It was a long flight, descending to a level of the ground floor into the warmth and dampness of the earth.

He found himself in a stone passage, parallel, he determined, with the basement of the house. His flash showed burnt-out matches scattered about the floor and turned on the floor.

He followed the passage slowly, moving his flash with care. He had some hope, a little more than thirty yards when he encountered other steps, stone like the others, but green with moss, and recent mud had been tracked over them. The passage was narrow and narrow, with blackened hinges and ratches on each side.

"He thrust the flash into his pocket and went up the steps, pushing with both hands against the cold metal of the door, feeling it yield and slide rattling along the ratches. He emerged into the starlit world, feeling a vague sense of familiarity with the spot."

Yonder was the river, there the railroad, there the stone wall separating him from Lower Wood. In a circle about him, outside an iron fence, were the snow-bowed cedars. He had just ascended from Uncle Peter's grave.

Dirk descended again into the grave, drew down the bronze door of the entrance, and he had violated that inscription. His childhood dream had come true. But there had never been any Uncle Peter's grave had been a mere doorway for that respected smuggler, Arthur Hans and his partner, Peter.

How had Hope found it? Dirk was moving along the passage through the sliding door whose spring from this side was distinctly visible. He would not disturb Hope. He stood about him, outside an iron fence, were the snow-bowed cedars. He had just ascended from Uncle Peter's grave.

Dirk descended again into the grave, drew down the bronze door of the entrance, and he had violated that inscription. His childhood dream had come true. But there had never been any Uncle Peter's grave had been a mere doorway for that respected smuggler, Arthur Hans and his partner, Peter.

Reds Beat Giants Behind Lerringer's Steady Hurling

New York Team Suffers Fourth Western Setback; Lefty Grove Gains Ninth Victory of Season

Terrymen Three And One-Half Games Back Of Cards

NATIONAL LEAGUE
Cincinnati 7, New York 3
Chicago 2, Brooklyn 1
Philadelphia 6
St. Louis 6

CINCINNATI, June 8 (AP)—The New York Giants suffered their fourth setback in seven western games today when the Cincinnati Reds came through with a 7 to 3 victory behind the steady hurling of Paul Lerringer. The defeat dropped the Giants three and one-half games back of the Cardinals.

Lerringer, going the full distance, gave the Reds his sixth victory of the season, gave the Giants ten hits but kept them well spaced, except for the third and sixth innings.

Derringer also made two of the Reds 12 hits off Harry Humbert and Frank Gabler and drove in two runs.

Cleveland-Washington game postponed.

BOSTON, June 8 (AP)—Bob Lefty Grove gained his ninth victory of the season by a 6-3 margin before 32,500 fans today and the Red Sox then collapsed behind Fred Ostermueller, and tossed the second half of the doubleheader to the Tigers, 12-7.

Grove had the better of Tommy Bridges in a well played game, which became Boston's property when manager Joe Cronin drove a homer over the left field wall, scoring Jimmy Foss and Ossie Melillo. Foss, backed out by Melillo, drove with none on in the sixth.

Eden Auker reversed matters for the Tigers in the second game. Despite errors made by his mates, two of which were charged against Melillo, Auker pitched a four-hit Sox listless for seven innings during the last five frames:

Although three other scheduled games were postponed yesterday, Wendell's fighting aggregation whitewashed Hansen 13 to 0 on the Hansen diamond and advanced into the top division of Southern Idaho league standings.

The other three scheduled tilts: Jerome at Gooding, Hagerman at Hazelton and Buhl at Kimberly, were postponed due to rain and wet grounds and will be played later in the week. Games with the three games postponed the previous week.

Wendell had little trouble with the Hansen team in the game that was being pitched, hitting the ball all over the lot. Grant Zollinger, Wendell third baseman, led the day's hitting with three home runs.

Burley Crushes Visitors, 11-4

ALL-NATIONS NINE VICTIM OF McGuire's Three-Hit Mound Performance

BUTLEY, June 8 (AP)—Hitting all at will four hit innings, Burley's fast baseball team crushed the barnstorming All-Nations nine in 10 1/2 innings, 11 to 4 here Sunday afternoon.

Mac McGuire, ace hurler from last year's team, led the visitors to their first win while his team mates were pounding House of 11 All-Nations for 13 hits. Burley came to bat and punched over three home runs.

The visitors started the scoring with two homers in the first frame. They settled for one more in the second. The invaders again took the lead with two more in the last half of the fourth, but Burley came to bat and punched over three home runs.

STEELS SET PAGE AS STOCKS CLIMB

Wide Assortment of Industrial Specialties Records Gains

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

NEW YORK, June 8 (AP)—Stocks: Firm; steel and specialties quiet. Bonds: Improved; U. S. governments firm. Cotton: Higher; oil and specialties in demand. Foreign exchange: Mixed; gold currencies rally; sterling higher. Coffee: Higher; local and trade buying. Sugar: Higher; steadier spot market. Wheat: Quiet; trade support. Corn: Steady; crop outlook pessimistic. Com: Firm; excellent shipping. Cattle: Steady to shade higher. Hogs: Steady; top $10.25.

By FRANK McMILLAN (Associated Press Financial Writer) NEW YORK, June 8 (AP)—The market advanced to slow momentum, but it covered considerable territory. A wide assortment of industrial specialties marched at the head of the procession. Gains of fractions to 2 or more points were the rule among the day's leaders. Brokers attributed the quiet rally partly to a little better outlook in foreign settlements and partly to general staidness and signs that a standstill business was taking a firm stance against recession which are also being felt here.

Backing the steel equities was the estimate of the American Iron and Steel Institute that the current mill operating rate is 92.5 per cent of capacity, up 1.3 points from a previous week.

Best Raisin in History General and J. C. Penney sounded a high recovery note by announcing that their May sales were best for this month in the history of these companies.

Other farm implement and merchandising stocks were in demand. The rally was stimulated by thoughts that the soldiers draw their bonuses next week.

Foreign observers, while expressing satisfaction with the ending of France's main labor dispute, did not overlook the fact that, as the general walk-out in the steel industry, 100,000 French miners went on strike. Speculative short covering in the steel industry today, which has a currency a brisk upward push in the morning with the natural consequence that sterling dropped sharply, has been followed by a further advance, and sterling narrowed its decline.

At 6 1/4, J. C. Case had a gain of 3/4 at 101. Montgomery Ward was 1/2 higher at 102. General Motors was a small fraction firmer at 6 1/4 and J. C. Penney was down slightly at 40 1/2.

COUNCIL ACCEPTS INSURANCE BID

Contract Awarded Following Submission of Figures by Seven Firms

Twin Falls city council last night awarded a contract for fire and theft, public liability, property damage and non-ownership public liability and property damage insurance to the firm of J. E. Taylor, who submitted a low bid of $400.25.

Other bids submitted were: C. D. Thomas and company, $361.68; (eliminated because fire and theft insurance was not considered); J. E. Roberts, $406.84; J. E. White, $431.56; H. F. Potter, $442.20; P. O. Orvay and son, $447.22; and Investment company, $556.70.

Don't Want Cars Thirty property owners of South Park petitioned the council to eliminate the keeping of cars in South Park and the matter was referred for further consideration. In the absence of Mayor Duncan McDermott, the council did not act upon the third reading of the proposed ordinance to eliminate keeping of cars in the northwest and northeast portions of Twin Falls.

Violators Warned Seventy-five persons were warned for violation of city ordinances. Sixteen were warned for violation of traffic ordinances. Sixteen were warned for violation of sanitary regulations. Complaints investigated totaled 223. 17 street lights were reported out of order. 78 meals were furnished at the city jail. 18 beds were provided persons other than prisoners. 20 dogs were killed and 20 dance halls were closed. CATHOLIC ORDER INITIATES CLASS

Harry Benoit Warns Knights of Columbus Against Communism's Evils

Twin Falls council, Knights of Columbus, conducted initiatory classes here Sunday for 34 new candidates, 20 from Twin Falls, and four from Bluff. Ten members were also initiated. A series of activities, 250 persons from Idaho Falls, Boise, Pocatello, Bluff, Rupert, Jerome, Piler and Twin Falls participated at the Odd Fellows hall Sunday evening.

Harry Benoit, past state deputy for the Knights of Columbus, and president of the local council, principal speaker at the banquet, warned against the Communist propaganda, which is making headway in the United States, asserting that "it is high time that the American people note what's going on and nip it in the bud" before American youth is initiated the "red" propaganda.

It is a well-known fact that there is a well-defined network of Communism in the United States with the headquarters in Soviet Russia and American headquarters in New York. "Advocating" over the years of the American form of government by force, this network is steadily boring from within. Red propaganda is highly successful among the younger people and has fomented recent strikes in the big field. Many professors are not only talking and advocating Communism, but are so much in sympathy with it that they should not be permitted to teach American youth," he concluded.

He praised the supreme court as the bulwark of the Constitution, and spoke strongly against the movement which is attempting to abolish it.

Degrees Conferred

Conferring of initiatory degrees began at 1 o'clock and continued until the hour of the banquet. A 3 o'clock mass was attended by the class of candidates and the Knights of Columbus took communion in a hall. This degree was conferred at Legion hall, Twin Falls degree team in charge of the first degree; Idaho Falls second degree; and Boise, third degree.

Frank Hanneman, Boise, Idaho chief of the Knights of Columbus, was the speaker at the banquet. He explained the objectives of the Knights of Columbus. Charles Cannon, Pocatello, past state deputy, explained the objectives of the American Legion. Joseph E. Wagner, chairman of the banquet and banquet chairman, spoke briefly.

Program At Banquet

Presiding as toastmaster at the banquet was John Keenan. Miss

It sure beats the world the amount of oil and grease and hardwood lumber that is being sold by the Claude C. Pratt Sales Co. We are just about a ready to receive our third carload of hickory. The people in this country must have been out of hickory as they have been hit by lightning. Some have told us that we have saved them about 2 1/2 of their money on hardwood, and about 1/2 their money in grease and 2 1/2 of their money in car grease. In fact, I assure him that I would never handle tobacco of any sort. I don't know which I hate more a battlesman or a cigarette. I will have to change my subject or I will be saying nothing but the truth. Well, going back to the oil, we are sure selling a lot of it, but perhaps not near as much as some persons are selling here. Well, beer and whiskey are other things I don't care for. I don't do any carpentry and I assure him that I do love to fish and milk a cow. And grease a nickel a pound, and I'll be glad to give you a sample of a single oil as good as ours, but if we ever do find one that's better, we are going to sell that kind.
