WHEAT ESTIMATE BELOW AVERAGE

Department of Agriculture Warns of Threat of Drouth Damage

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—A winter wheat production of 432,000,000 bushels, considerably above the 1935 production but far below the 1928 average, was forecast today by the agriculture department in warning of a threat of widespread drouth damage by about July 1.

The 1935 production was 433,000,000 bushels. The 1928-32 average was 518,000,000 bushels.

Crops "Up For Start" — Substantial May rains also fell in Washington and western Oregon but in other parts of the country hot, dry weather gave crops a poor start, the board said.

With the exception of the 1934 drouth year, the board said the 1935 crop in 3 conditions was the lowest on record for spring wheat, oats, barley and rye.

If dry weather continues east of the Mississippi, there is danger of extensive crop failure, the board said.

The severe winter in the north central states and late frosts in Oklahoma and in the Ohio river valley in the southern part of the country have reduced peach and apple production.

formal delegation, announced that there was no effort to make the historic "cross-of-gold" speech with which William Jennings Bryan in 1896 introduced a convention nominating him. Hoover, said Rowell, had no thought of "self-exalting."

Aside from his address, and that of Rowell, the dominant factor in the convention scene was the struggle over a platform. Overtures were made throughout the day by Landowites and others to the shaggy-haired Borah, hectoring the epigones of his pithing.

"The currency proposal, of course, was the most difficult of all. Borah among Landow's supporters have demanded a call for a return to a silver gold standard. Frank Knox of Chicago, like Borah a presidential candidate, also has urged such a step. The Kansas has contended that a move would be "disastrous."

Borah Disapproves — Late in the day, however, Herndon, a prominent Kansas attorney, who, as the Landow choice was made chairman of the platform committee, announced that Borah had been invited to appear before the platform group.

But, said Langworthy, the Idaho senator had declined because he felt "favorable action" on certain of his suggestions had made a personal appearance unnecessary. He would not disclose which of Borah's suggestions had been headed.

Borah himself had little time in telling newsmen that while he did not feel it necessary to go before the committee, "no decision has been reached as to whether a currency plank is desirable."

He added that what had been accepted at the time he spoke was his foreign affairs plank.

"Nobody," said Senator Reed, "is saying that Governor Hiram demands this or Senator Borah insists upon that."

Nominations Delayed — The platform delay, of course meant that the business of choosing a presidential and vice presidential nominee must be postponed until Thursday, at least, and maybe later, depending upon whether an open battle over the committee-drafted platform breaks upon the convention floor.

Even before California's 44 delegates caucused after the Hoover speech tonight, the rush toward the Landow banner produced a surpluse of 180 votes out of seven state and territorial meetings.

Out of New York's 90 delegates, 85 decided to vote for Landow. There was one absentee; two decided to ballot for Frank Gannett, Rochester publisher, and each for Hoover and Alfred C. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors.

Division in Pennsylvania — At over 50 of the Pennsylvania delegates decided to vote for Landow on the first ballot. The others were divided as follows: Borah 19, Senator Steiwer of Oregon 4, Knox 3, Senator Dickinson of Iowa 3, and Vandenberg 1. Chairman Fitcher of the Republican national committee did not vote.

Four delegates from 10 out of 11 from Arkansas were promised for Landow, together with Vermont's 9, New Mexico's 4, Louisiana's 12, and Puerto Rico's 2.

The Vice presidential situation temporarily altered into the back-

FORECAST FOR TODAY AND TOMORROW

—Idaho: Fair Thursday and probably Friday; normal temperature.

—High and low temperatures yesterday as reported by the government weather observer were 78 and 40 degrees; there was a variable wind and the sky was clear; barometer was 30.15 at 9 A. M. with 20.52 inches and the humidity range, 10 and 16 per cent of saturation.

—The outlook for today was partly cloudy with temperatures of 77 and 50 degrees.

Rainfall Again Hits Northwestern Coast

The Arizona low has increased in depth, with consequent higher temperatures in Arizona and California. The low has moved into these states, however, and in Nevada and Utah, where temperatures have returned to normal.

A slight low over eastern Washington and Oregon, paralleled by higher pressures along the northern coast, has caused rain in the coastal area, from Portland northward.

The weather is fair in the northern Rockies, with normal temperatures. A deep pressure gradient exists between the Arizona low and the plains high pressure area, has resulted in unsettled conditions in the western Nebraska and Kansas.

Fair, cool weather prevails in the central states, and it is unsettled in the northern region, as the major depression moves northward.

Meets Borah's Demands — Reserving final judgment until he had examined the final draft, Senator Borah was reported to feel that the platform largely met his demands.

The platform — less than 3,000 words in comparison with the 8,000-word one of 1932 — was presented to the complete resolution committee late tonight but, after brief consideration, it adjourned until 9:30 A. M., tomorrow. That made uncertain when the platform could be presented to the convention.

Borah declined to describe the foreign affairs plank he submitted, but added, significantly, that "it ought to be pretty apparent from my views as I have expressed them."

Borah, a bold declaration against any connection with the League of Nations or world court, with both mentioned by name. The Landowites reportedly were in favor of cooperation abroad, within limits.

Borah Opposes Regulation — The western Landowites pointed ground, was nevertheless an active field.

A group describing themselves as representatives of another national camp approached Senator Vandenberg in an effort to have him seek a second place on the ticket. He said his statement that he would not accept the post still stood.

Steiwer in Spotlight — Members of the Texas delegation started rooting for Knox for that position, another name mentioned and now today was Senator Steiwer of Oregon, whose keynote speech had invited him in the convention.

Chairman Spill was given a round of applause for his handling of the matter this morning on the long runway extending out from the platform that serves as a speaking rostrum.

Just as did Steiwer last night, the New Yorker lost no time whatever in inviting Democrats to join with the Republican cause.

He drew a cheer when he said at the close of his address:

"The people are weary of too much partisanship. They call for those who will give us alike to stand together."

Above Party Politics — Even louder applause was accorded these words:

"When the victory is won we shall give America government high above the plans of party politics. We shall need in executive positions the services of constitutional Democrats and Republicans alike."

Spill struck his principal chord early, sounding a call for party harmony, wooing wavering Democrats and Republican presidential candidates and lambasting the new deal and President Roosevelt.

Applause Indicator Jumps As Former President Speaks

CLEVELAND, June 10 (AP) — Herbert Hoover's address to the Republican national convention skyrocketed the indicator on the novel auditorium applause barometer to its maximum notch — 100.

Electricity picking up the cheers of the 17,000 shouting, stamping and whistling spectators, the machine — which looks like a hand thermometer — reacted immediately.

Bounding up to 80 as he walked down the platform to the speaker's stand, the bobbing indicator leaped to 80 at Hoover's first smile and then mounted to its peak.

For nearly 10 minutes the light hovered around the top as delegates mingled their enthusiasm with the band's blaring strains of "California Here I Come."

"During Hoover's speech, the indicator leaped upward again, reaching a high of 100 at the conclusion of his speech," the indicator took another ride to the top and clung there as the Californian smiled and bowed.

IN COMMON CAUSE

The underlying motif of the Stewler speech at the opening session of the convention appears to consist in an invitation to members of both parties to unite in a common effort to destroy a common enemy.

And again, "there are no party lines when human liberty is at stake." Not so much a partisan speech as an appeal to the basic and true of the American people to cast partnership to the winds.

There was a hint of partnership in the Stewler address than in any another keynote speech before Republican conventions and there are other differences as between previous similar gatherings and that at Cleveland.

Walter Lippmann says these conditions must be met if great and disastrous wars are to be avoided.

First, "the American people of Europe must be well armed and resolute."

Second, "they must be united."

Third, "they must relieve the tension by opening channels of trade."

Fourth, "no one can feel secure again until responsible constitutional government replaces dictatorship."

All this sounds reasonable. But whether the "specific nations of Europe" can meet the conditions is doubtful.

Light on Darkness
The "Black Legion" investigators say, "The American dream is the dream of most people who call it. It represents the fear and horror inspired by recent revelations in Michigan and adjoining states is passing."

Obviously there never was any such membership as some boastful officials of the order claim for it—nothing like six million, probably much less than one million.

It is demonstrated again that the best remedy for anything un-American is simply to turn the light on it.

BONUS VS. RELIEF

The soldiers' bonus payment is not to be a "bonus" in any sense. In many cases and various ways its benefit will be less than the recipients expected.

who receives substantial bonus payments that is not regarded as immediate needs." In some states, laws forbid payments to veterans not really in need.

"Our experience with the veterans," says the relief commission referred to, "when they receive their money from the government, will not be willing to accept further relief."

Even so, there will be a good deal of complaint about such a thrifty policy on the part of relief organizations.

FREIGHT TRAIN REFORM

Without doubt the freight train has been modernized. The freight train has been interested in swift, streamlined passenger trains that it has overlooked this other improvement.

The hopper cars for such perishables as cement and phosphates have water-tight metal covers. There are improved methods for handling such goods.

With all this progress, it seems only fair for crack freight trains to have the same that are used on passenger lines.

BETWEEN US SUCKERS

When you walk over to the county treasurer's office and plunk down your tax dollars, you are not plunking down your taxes.

That experience is painful; your bank account is not. The taxes are not yours; they are the taxes of the sucker.

TO-AVOID WAR

Walter Lippmann says these conditions must be met if great and disastrous wars are to be avoided.

First, "the American people of Europe must be well armed and resolute."

Second, "they must be united."

Third, "they must relieve the tension by opening channels of trade."

Fourth, "no one can feel secure again until responsible constitutional government replaces dictatorship."

All this sounds reasonable. But whether the "specific nations of Europe" can meet the conditions is doubtful.

Light on Darkness
The "Black Legion" investigators say, "The American dream is the dream of most people who call it. It represents the fear and horror inspired by recent revelations in Michigan and adjoining states is passing."

Obviously there never was any such membership as some boastful officials of the order claim for it—nothing like six million, probably much less than one million.

It is demonstrated again that the best remedy for anything un-American is simply to turn the light on it.

CLEVELAND

"The women and children first" at the Cleveland convention was the slogan of the two groups of newcomers are running the 1936 Republican show.

Political adults—the Old Guard—who have manipulated most of the party's history. However, still hidden high-hatted behind the palms in hotel lobbies and closet themselves in upstairs rooms.

This is the most striking, the most significant feature of the O. C. P. It marks the end of the old-guard economic and political. The old order of change means that the Old Guard is washed up.

Female and male—and driver's chair—as it has before at a major party's convention. Certainly, for the first time in many years.

All London, the probable nominee, is still in the forties. He is the only man in the race for the vice-presidential nomination.

Mr. London's local rooters, springing up in every state as each tick of the clock were born in the second place, are the ones who are the old-guard's birthdays tell in the old-guard's existing states and sevens.

There's more than a difference of calendars in the two camps. The old-guard's calendars are as recomposition, purchasing power, agricultural and industrial price levels.

In short, the two factions don't think the same thought or talk the same language. But the two camps are not so far apart as they seem.

New York's most consistent mayoralty contender is a student of the law, party dad man by the name of Stewart Brown.

Many people who are largely for heckling lose their temper, which is defeat. Bryan in early days was frequently interrupted from the audience.

There's another thing about this new generation of politicians. They have nick-names. Mr. London is "The Old Guard."

Such informal monikers would have been heard in the solemn days of Herbert Hoover and Calvin Coolidge.

You can lose aside personalities and platforms at Cleveland. But when the vital, dignified, historic G.O.P. reveals its nicknames and nicknames, it is a party orchestra which is learning how to play popular political ractice.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, June 11.—Dwight Deere Wiman is the dilettante of the theatre. He is more, less, a fair for the theatre that has resulted in several hits.

"On Your Toes," is one of his new productions. The ingredients are his personal selection.

Long before he dabbed in the production end he was one of the first to accumulate first nighters, the ardent sort who drifted to the stage entrance to get a glimpse of the players.

Such a keen observer of the stage as Robert E. Sherwood declares the most thoroughly stage struck producer he has ever known is Dwight Deere Wiman.

Lord Faulstich in revolt: The seven-year-old son of a neighbor brought a corner policeman to his apartment door today and, pointing to his mother, exclaimed: "Arrest her, she's making a nuisance of herself."

CONFEREES SEEK TAX AGREEMENT

House Members Study 289 Amendments to Revenue Measure

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)—Paraphrasing house conferees on the controversial tax bill started working toward an agreement with the senate on tax legislation today with indications the house provisions as favored by the administration might predominate.

Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.) of the house ways and means committee said the conferees spent most of the day studying the 289 amendments which the senate attached to the measure.

Conferees on the $2,450,000,000 deficiency-relief appropriation bill did not meet today on that measure which, with the tax bill, constitute the principal business to be cleared up by congress when it meets again Monday after a week's recess.

The only other measure of importance include the Robinson-Patman chain store regulatory bill and the anti-lobbying measure, but neither predicted there would be no particular difficulty with either.

The chief point at issue in the battered tax bill is the difference between the senate's flat seven per cent levy on undistributed corporate profits as against the house's graduated levy ranging up to 42 1/2 per cent, which more nearly represents President Roosevelt's view.

Senator Connally (D-Tex.), a senate conferee, said that there would be a compromise.
