

Townsend, Coughlin Endorsed Candidates Trailing in Maine

Minnesota Governor And Senator Outrun Opponents In Race For Farmer-Labor Nominations

PORTLAND, Me., June 15 (By The Associated Press) — Secretary of State Lewis O. Barrows received the Republican gubernatorial nomination in today's Maine primary, defeating Bill W. Page, Skowhegan banker who had the endorsement of the Townsend old age pension group.

Although their gubernatorial choice was defeated, the Townsendites won the Republican nomination for U. S. representative in the first congressional district. There James H. South, Portland former insurance agent, who also had the endorsement of Father Charles E. Coughlin, trailed behind the incumbent U. S. Representative Simon P. Thayer, D-R.

Joseph Connolly, whose nomination was asked for by Father Coughlin, trailed behind the incumbent U. S. Representative Simon P. Thayer, D-R.

Executive Councilor Clyde H. Smith topped a field of seven for the Republican nomination in the second congressional district with less than a quarter of the district vote. Among his opponents was Rev. J. Clarence Lockemy, in whose behalf Dr. Townsend made a personal appeal at Augusta yesterday.

With less than half the third congressional district vote, Wallace P. Mabee, former mayor of Eastport, led his two opponents, Mrs. Katherine M. Hildson and George W. Hildson, by approximately 50 votes for the Democratic nomination.

Three Democrats, Governor Louis J. Brand, for U. S. senator, P. Harold Dubord, for governor, and E. J. O'Connell, for U. S. representative in the second district U. S. representative nomination, were unopposed.

THREE GOVERNMENT FLIERS LOSE LIVES IN FLORIDA STORM

Coast Guard Plane Plunges Into Tampa Bay; Tropical Disturbance Brings Deluge in Southern Area

(By The Associated Press) JACKSONVILLE, Fla., June 15 — Three coast guard fliers on storm patrol duty lost their lives today in a blustery tropical disturbance which isolated several south Florida communities by heavy rains.

The coast guardsmen, Lieutenant Charles Martin Perrott, pilot, Radianom Walter Eubanks, were killed when their plane plunged into Tampa bay. The storm, of slight intensity, passed from east across the peninsula and went out over the Atlantic ocean.

Streets Flooded — The seasons' first disturbance brought deluges of rain forcing streams out of their banks, flooding highways and streets of lower coast towns.

Late today the weather bureau ordered down remaining storm warnings in the area.

The advisory said the future course was "uncertain, but probably toward east or northeast."

An acute situation arose at Bonita Springs, 20 miles south of Fort Myers, when the Imperial river rose and backed water varying from one to ten-feet in depth over the streets. Some 400 inhabitants and 100 tourists took refuge in a schoolhouse and an apartment building.

Streets were flooded in Fort Myers and Everglades, but there was no damage.

Pope Pius Creates Two New Cardinals

VATICAN CITY, June 15 (AP) — Pope Pius XI, creating two new cardinals, spoke thoroughly today of his duties, "as long as life lasts."

At a secret consistory, he elevated two bookish friends, Monsignors Giovanni Alessandrini and Bogoslav Trescott.

Then, speaking to 27 assembled cardinals, he said: "I invite the Catholic faithful to pray that the Lord permit us, as long as life lasts, to spend it in unceasing, fruitful work for the divine glory and good of the soul."

The pope, now entering his 80th year, has been reported in somewhat delicate health.

His holiness also bespoke his satisfaction with the activities of the Catholic action groups, "in the face of an increase in the church's membership."

Medals of honor and ritual marked the secret consistory.

Description Given — A description was given of a man who called at the Moore's home last night. The inventor's daughter, Betty, the daughter, identified the stranger went away when she told him her father had retired but later, she said, she saw him walk up and down in front of the house.

Police theorizes that Moore, carrying the supplies he intended to take with him to Bethlehem, had unlocked the door of his garage and opened the door of his car. They believed he then saw a man through a side window and stepped outside to confront him.

Detectives discounted theory the inventor had surprised an intruder in the garage and they also agreed robbery of Moore was not the motive.

Seeks Democracy

WILLIAM H. MURRAY, former governor of Oklahoma, after calling on Governor Alf. M. Landon, Republican presidential nominee, said, "I am advocating Democratic principles wherever I find them. I am not talking about parties or candidates."

Neither Dr. G. H. Hoffmann of Chicago, the superintendent, nor Chief Nurse Jean Neuhoff of Holland, Mich., was hurt. The hospital, belonging to the board of foreign missions of the Reformed church of America, was not damaged.

The pirates, armed with pistols and machine guns, slipped alongside the dachine hospital in a sailing junk.

Concealed at strategic points were three, with machine guns, from the hospital proper, the guns discharged furiously—but briefly.

The attackers fired in a panic for their junk, leaving their dead on the shore. They escaped to sea.

Landon, Hamilton Lay Battle Plan

TOPEKA, Kas., June 15 (AP) — Governor Alf M. Landon and his red-haired campaign manager, John D. Hamilton, laid a plan of battle across the luncheon table today after a significant morning conference between the Republican presidential nominee and the Republican vice-presidential nominee, "Alfalfa Bill" Murray.

Hamilton came home from Cleveland to a rousing ovation from his friends and neighbors just after Murray, Democratic co-governor of Oklahoma, left the Capitol expressing approval of the Republican platform. Murray declined, however, to say that he would support Landon.

"I am advocating Democratic principles wherever I find them," said Murray, "I am not talking about parties or candidates."

So deeply were Landon and Hamilton engrossed in pointing for tomorrow's all-important meeting with Colonel Frank Knox, vice-presidential nominee, and party leaders that their conversation extended late into the afternoon.

Cancellation of Landon's afternoon press conference precluded immediate comment on such points of strategy as the campaign participation of Senator Borah, the independent Republican from Idaho.

Doctor and Nurse Escape Injury as Machine Guns Deals Death to Five in Battle With Chinese

(By The Associated Press) AMOY, China, June 15 — An American doctor and nurse, besieged in their seaside hospital by a pirate band, directed a machine gun defense tonight in which five were slain.

The dead were three pirates and two policemen, the latter part of the defending force which had lain in wait for the attack, expecting the pirates would seek to rescue their chieftain, 71 Chin Hop.

"I was lying wounded in the hospital following a recent gun battle with the police," said Murray.

Neither Dr. G. H. Hoffmann of Chicago, the superintendent, nor Chief Nurse Jean Neuhoff of Holland, Mich., was hurt. The hospital, belonging to the board of foreign missions of the Reformed church of America, was not damaged.

JERUSALEM, June 15 (Palmer Agency)—Guns and torches continued to terrorize the holy land today, despite the stern steps of British authorities to stamp out anti-Jewish violence.

House Slashes $27,000,000 From Senate's $58,000,000 Program For Reclamation

Spending Spree Unlikely Bonus Payment Result

KANSAS CITY, June 15 (AP) — World war veterans are not planning any "bonus sprees" such as followed the 50 per cent bonus payment in 1921, John A. Brody, regional manager of the veterans administration, predicted tonight.

"There'll be a few exceptions," he said, "but the bulk of the bonus cash will be used for buying homes, paying bills, buying furniture and motor cars, said Brody. He based his estimate on reports from all sections of the country.

Veterans are five year older than they were in 1918, he pointed out. "You'd be surprised how their attitude toward spending the bonus has changed."

"The veterans generally are adopting a sane bonus spending policy."

World War Veterans Get $1,650,000 Bonds

WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP) — With a few hitches, the government's bonus distributing machinery today dropped "baby" bonds into the waiting hands of about three million war veterans.

"This done, the treasury and postoffice departments made payment for the next step—to cash all bonds turned in for payment."

Secretary Morgenthau told reporters at his press conference there were "bound to be some errors in the bonus payments, with three shifts of emergency workers laboring at top speed, but added he did not believe the humber was large.

The postoffice department was reported to have sent out a list of 15,000 bonds which were shipped by mistake. Postmasters were instructed not to certify those for payment.

Payment Speedy — Postal officials said veterans probably would begin receiving government checks in exchange for their bonds on Wednesday and that these payments would be fairly well completed by the end of the week.

Although about $1,650,000 worth of bonds have been started to the veterans, it was estimated probably would hold their bonds for a time, to draw interest at 3 per cent a year.

The checks will be sent out in a separate mailing from 248 paying postoffices to those veterans who return their bonds to their local post offices and have them certified.

Needless Worry — Most veterans received small checks, often under $50, in their packets today. With the shipment of bonds each worth $50, it was estimated that they would make up the difference between the highest $50 unit and the total due him on his adjusted service certificate.

Veterans in some cities worried today over reports that bonus packets had been ordered held up by city officials and military officers. The veterans administration here said these orders did not stop shipments to veterans entitled to the bonus.

THREATS MAILED TO J. P. MORGAN $1,000,000 Demand Leads to Arrest of Antique Dealer

NEW YORK, June 15 (AP) — An attempt to mail threats to J. P. Morgan and his associates, including Edvard Ford, was arrested tonight.

The prisoner, Gregor Aharon, 43, was arrested by police officers who said the man had attempted to induce Morgan to pay $1,000,000 for a statue Aharon had attributed to Michael Angelo.

At the arraignment before Judge Charles C. Coffey, assistant United States Attorney John J. Dowling said the antique dealer "had demanded $1,000,000 for the statue in the Metropolitan Museum of Art."

Dowling said Aharon had mailed Morgan many letters, many of which were filled with threats and demands, and Aharon had declined to make public the contents of the letters.

"He first asked $2,000,000 for the statue," Dowling said in court. "He had paid $500 for it. He advised Mr. Morgan that unless he paid the statue, Mr. Morgan would face the consequences," "pay the penalty" or be punished in some way, by steps that would take that would not be favorable either to Mr. Morgan or to the Metropolitan Museum of Art."

Twin Falls Shares In Bonus Payment

Bonus payment bonds approximately $100,000 were received at Twin Falls postoffice for delivery yesterday to 350 World War veterans, and of the total, 200 were certified and forwarded to Boise during the day for immediate cashing.

It was estimated that bonds will be delivered through the local postoffice to approximately 800 World War veterans in and near Twin Falls.

The postoffice was open last night from 7 to 10 o'clock for accounts of veterans in cashing their bonds, and the same accommodation will be continued this evening.

U. S. LABOR BOARD LOSES IN COURT

WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP) — The Supreme court today rejected a petition for enforcement of order.

NEW ORLEANS, June 15 (AP) — The United States fifth circuit court of appeals ruled today the national labor relations board is without the right to regulate employer-employee relations in manufacturing.

It ruled its decision on the supreme court's recent adverse ruling on the Outfitter rejected.

In an unanimous opinion the court of appeals denied the petition of the labor relations board for enforcement of an order requiring the Jones and Laughlin Steel corporation to reinstate certain employees who said they were discharged because of organized labor activities at the company's Allequipp, Pennsylvania, plant.

Quoting from the Outfitter opinion, the court said that the production constitute one thing and actual interstate commerce, the transportation of products through the activities of organized labor, quite another.

Payment Of Bonus Shoots U. S. Debt To New Peak

WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP) — The treasury announced tonight the national debt has risen to a new peak of about $34,600,000,000 as a result of a record peace-time financing program, and allowing for bonus bonds.

The bonus bonds shot the debt up $1,650,000,000—the amount issued for accounts of war veterans. The government reported that the total debt is now $34,600,000,000, including obligations through-cash and a flat 1 per cent super tax on undistributed corporate profits.

In some quarters there were hints that should the senate conference swing over toward such an arrangement, or one along similar lines, the house group would accept the plan. But it will be to increase the public debt to approximately $34,600,000,000 as of the close of business June 15, the treasury said.

This peak may be scaled down as bonus bonds are presented for payment, cash for which has already been received through the sale of securities today.

Chapter 45.

Dirk said, "I know because he was going back to school—Texas."

"He came," she answered. "He wanted to see me, thinking it was the last time. It was the last time."

"The strange thing I had been feeling crazy about him, I've always known when he was happy and well. A sort of happiness always around me. I had this happiness—no, it was more a kind of peace—that night. Not just because I had about decided to tell Rupert and believed he would help us, but because something told me Roddie was safe."

"You see, I was feeling Roddie's quiet mood. He had resolved to go home, to give himself up. He was at the door when I called him."

"I was lying in bed, reading. You know, after Rupert came home—after the nurse left, and I was taking care of the baby—my nerves our rooms stayed open. Only that I might care for him. Only that I might hear the little bell when he came in. Even that was seldom enough."

"It was open that night, and I could see that Rupert's light was burning. Not the light beside his bed, but the one on his desk. I wondered at this. Everything was so still. I thought, 'He sleeps with his light burning. I must put it out.'"

"I went quietly to the door, not wanting to wake him, and I found him sitting at his desk, writing. He didn't see me, and I stood there thinking how white and strong his profile looked against the lamp. I saw how black his hair was. Once he stopped to think, and I thought he was going to turn around—'But he went on writing.'"

"And then suddenly he looked at me. Not at me—something beyond me. I turned, and, as I did, I saw some one in the shadow near the bed. I screamed, though I knew it was Roddie. It was so sudden, so unexpected, that I had never seen Roddie in the long mirror, and Roddie hadn't seen Rupert at all."

"I don't know what Rupert thought. I only know that he was there. The pistol must have been beside him, for it was in his hand."

"Roddie was so quick, so terribly quick. I think Rupert fired first. Oh, Dirk, I know Rupert fired first. Roddie said so. It was the only thing I ever heard him say. He didn't tell me he was hurt. . . . I told him he must go for my sake, he must go. I told him that he would be all right. I would let him know."

"I don't know what the pistol did—had he got the pistol. . . . I must have been one of Yarrow's. Perhaps the one that Torbin had."

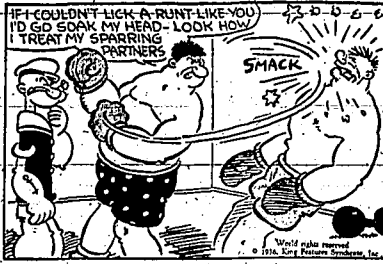

"What did they say, Dirk? About Roddie, I mean, when the case was closed. What was the report?"

"I don't know what the persons unknown," Dirk answered, "he would have wanted it like that."

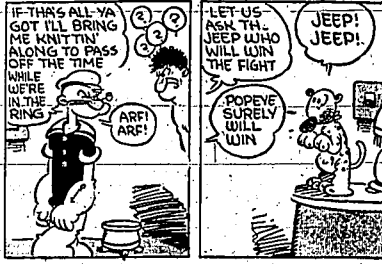

"I don't know what the persons unknown," Dirk answered, "he would have wanted it like that."

Later in the day the bridal couple with her brothers and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Black and Mr. and Mrs. Lane Black were guests at the home of Joe Dorris, step-father of the bride.

Miss Black, who was educated in the grade school of Pioneer district was graduated from Rupert high school and from Albion State Normal school and has taught for the past few years, first in Pioneer she was quiet at last in his arms. From the seat in the bay-window they looked out at the world, while she—still—was—the moon.

Dirk said, "Do you know what day this is? No, you had forgotten that. He knew that he had forgotten time. Knew that he didn't know Roddie had died on Christmas Eve. He was glad that she would never know."

"It's New Year's," he said. "At midnight all the bells are ringing and you need to go to sleep. My father told me that when he was a child they used all to light candles in the windows when the bells began to ring. They thought it brought them luck to carry a lighted candle into the room. Though the new year brought a light, you'd see off everything dark and unfriendly, and everything that loved the light would see it through your window, and come and follow you. I've always thought I'd like to do that—light a new candle when the bells begin on New Year's, but I've always been doing something hilarious instead."

She looked at the snow.

"I'd like to light a candle tonight," she said.

And he.

"There's a fire in the library. Let's go down, and wait there, and watch the New Year in. It will be the New Year I've been waiting for all my life. I'll go down and pull a log on. Timothy's gone to bed."

When he came back she had changed her dress, had slipped into the yellow gown. Slary and twinkling, she went with him down the long stairs. In the library the log-fire blazed and crackled. Two tall red candles stood on the mantel. The old half-moon couch was drawn before the hearth. There was no light in the room beside the fire. Its flames began to shorten as they ate there, to crackle less, to glow more softly.

"Cold?" Dirk asked as they sat close.

No, she was warm. She was thinking how many beginnings there were, she said, how many fresh starts. A new day every morning. And now a new year.

"But this year's different," said Dirk. "As if life were just going to begin when we light the candles. Know what I was thinking?"

"Of Joseph?" she yawned, smiling.

Max Baer Unimpressive In 'Comeback' Bout At Salt Lake City

Joe Louis 3-to-1 Favorite; Little Betting Reported

400 Men Tackle Big Job of Erecting Ring, Placing Seats and Numbering Sections in Yankee Park

NEW YORK, June 15 (AP)—Fight fever gripped the big town today as the advance guard of an anticipated 75,000 fans rolled in for the Schmeling-Joe Louis heavyweight show Thursday night. Mike Jacobs, head of the 20th Century Sporting club which is making the outdoor extravaganza in the Yankee stadium, said only the weather man, with the aid of another certain million dollar gas. Showers followed by two days of almost continuous rain. Max Baer, the former champion, was the main attraction. He was expected to fight Joe Louis, the current champion, in a 15-round bout. The fight was expected to be a close one, with both fighters expected to be in good form. The weather was expected to be a factor in the fight, with rain expected to start on Thursday night. ## 'PRINCIPLE' — NOT $300,000 CASH — IMPELS SCHEMLING TO BECOME JOE'S VICTIM NO. 28

BY CHARLES GRUMICH
NAPANOCH, N. Y.—If you had the privilege of sitting in the front row of a London delivery short order, would you enter the ring with Joe Schmeling?

Joe Schmeling is going to protesting all the while that it isn't this money so much but the principle of the thing that impels him to face the Brown Bomber.

The comeback bug bit Max Baer in a vulnerable spot and here he is, putting up a bold front and stating he has a chance against the other who demolished the same Max Baer who kayoed Schmeling.

The $300,000 Schmeling will get for becoming Joe's victim No. 28 is acceptable, of course, but it is hardly needed in the Schmeling means for Max has achieved a lot of gold in a flaccid career that somehow lacks the stamp of greatness. A large chunk of the earnings is safely cashed away.

And so you have to accept the statement that Schmeling figures, at the age of 30 years plus, that he has a chance to regain the pugilistic heights which he occupied for a brief season as a result of a heavy attack by Max Baer in 1930.

MAX SCHEMLING

Maxie went into the limo-taxed vision of the ring. "They scramble back." At least he had a pretty good show of courage now, and none ever rightfully accused Schmeling of cowardice.

Schmeling partisans — and there really are a few in these parts where he is living — heard the Brown Bomber get where he is today over the prostrate forms of a flock of has-been boxers.

In his major engagements, he points out, he put away old-fashioned prizefighters like the starling, King Levinsky in the first, Paddy Max Baer and old Paulino Uzcudun each in the fourth. When Louis blasted him in the fifth, he was the heavyweight count to Jim Braddock who had been licked innumerable times.

Schmeling men tell you Louis does have to meet any Sharkey, Striziblos or Mike Walkers in the ring to the top.

Former Champion Clowns and Slugs Way to Decision

Slowed Down by Excessive Poundage About Midriff, Ex-Titholder Captures Verdict, Over Tony Souza

NALT LAKE CITY, June 15 (AP)—Max Baer, erstwhile playboy and debauched heavyweight champion of the world, gloomed and dugger-nugger his way to a decision over Tony Souza, San Francisco, in a "comeback" six round, best fight.

Baer, weighing 226 pounds, floored Souza, 236, twice in the second round and three times in the fifth, but otherwise looked only a shell of the batter who smashed his way through the heavyweight title.

Baer's excessive poundage about his midriff slowed him down, and except for the two bursts of slugging, he displayed little to warrant consideration among the present crop of heavyweights—such as Joe Louis.

Slugs George Aitch

Baer stabbed Souza, head and face with both hands—throughout, mixing in his usual clowning act.

Souza offered little resistance. His attack was woefully lacking in the early rounds, but he became in the fourth, fifth and sixth despite Baer's blows carried power when he let loose, but he failed to follow up when he was hit in the third round. He downed his opponent three times for short counts.

A crowd of some 3,000 boomed the battles several times, particularly Souza's "hanging on" tactics.

Mrs. Moody Lauds Wightman Players

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15 (AP)—Helen Willis Moody returned home today with pride for her team's conquest in successfully defeating the Wightman cup recently in England.

"I was most happy to learn our girls won," Mrs. Moody said upon arrival from New York, where she conducted an art exhibit and played some tennis.

Helen Jacobs and Sarah Paulfrey Foster are splendid players and I am glad they retained the cup," she said.

Mrs. Moody said she will begin practice for her forthcoming eastern trip when she will play in the American championship.

She declared her art exhibit a success.

Graham Beats Jadick

UTICA, N. Y., June 15 (AP)—Bushy Graham, local lightweight title contender, continued his march back up the comeback trail tonight with an eight-round decision over Johnny Jadick, Philadelphia, before a crowd of 2,500.

Graham floored Jadick three times, and once both went hurtling into the press box.

There was the usual belated scramble for tickets. When they finally called a day, the advance sale amounted $500,000.

All was quiet on the front at Lakewood and Louis and Schmeling fought about their camps.

ORDINANCE FORBIDS KEEPING OF COWS

Bovine Situation in South Park Unchanged as Residents Petition

Twin Falls city council last night passed a third reading an ordinance prohibiting the keeping of cows in two portions of Twin Falls and also the disposal of milk to the urban in South Park when 171 petitions sought to be allowed to continue keeping cows and promising to maintain sanitary premises. Previously 30 signers had asked that cows be bred from South Park.

Districts included in the anti-cow ordinance are from Blue Lakes boulevard to Washington street between Addison avenue and Heyburn avenue, and from Addison avenue to Blue Lakes boulevard and the city limits. The council advised the public that the city ordinance prohibits the selling of firewater except from June 15 to July 5 and prohibits the firing of fireworks except from June 24 to July 4 inclusive.

Mayor Dunham McD. No action was taken pending approval of the project, which if accepted will be undertaken under plan with 45 per cent of the cost being taken up by the federal government.

The council upon discovery of a low bid submitted by Blue Lakes city motor fuel, rescinded action giving the contract to Stuart Taylor and awarded the contract to the lowest bidder. Taylor's bid was $377.60 and Taylor's, $400.95.

Contract was drawn up awarding to Taylor the contract for the annual city audit for a consideration of $350, and $500 bond for patrolman Arnold Shapiro was approved.

Arrival of Twelfth Dollane Baby Awful
CLALLANER, Ont., June 15 (AP)—The 12th baby in the family of Olive Dollane probably will be born in the same frame homestead at Corbell, near here, as the quintuplets and their older sisters and brothers, it was learned tonight.

Since the advent of the quintuplets into the world there is more money in the family than when the others were born. But that isn't likely to make any difference to Elzira Dollane, preparing for another confinement.

The quintuplets celebrated their second birthday last month, and the new brother or sister is expected "soon." There are five older children. Another died in childhood. Close friends of the family said the arrival is expected before Sept. 1.

Mrs. Alex Legros and Mrs. Ben Labelle, midwives, who assisted the births of the other children, said they expected the new arrival "shortly." They said Mrs. Dollane, however, had not indicated even her closest friends the date she expects her baby.

Automobile in Lake May Solve Mystery

ROSWELL, N. M., June 15 (AP)—Three efforts to lift an automobile found submerged in an isolated lake north of here today as state police sought to determine whether it was connected with the disappearance of four Illinois tourists more than a year ago.

The machine, 125 feet under water and almost completely buried in mud and silt, was found yesterday by E. P. Lane, Texas diver, who was searching the pool for the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. George Lorus and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Heberter. Three times today Lane fastened a cable to the automobile but on each occasion it snapped under the strain of the pull. On the third attempt the hoisting lower collapsed and workers were sent here to bring in bascule-cable and other equipment. Whether the automobile, a surprise find, the search, contained any bodies could not be immediately determined. It was so completely submerged in the mud.

VETERANS Hang on to your bonds!

Set the word an example of level-headed thrift: IT IS hard to resist the temptation to "cut loose" when a considerable sum of money comes suddenly to hand. But to resist is the more prudent way... and pays most in the long run. Don't even cash your bonds unless from necessity or to get out of debt. A fair portion of your money—some of the bonds—with which you will be paid—if put safely away, will provide a competence of great value to you and yours in later years.

We at the Soden Electric Co. naturally want to sell Westinghouse Refrigerators, Ranges, and appliances... but we refuse to appeal to you for the immediate distribution of your bonds. Take your Time!

We invite you to come in, prove to yourself through point by point comparison, that Westinghouse WILL Give You More Dollar Value in Quality, Convenience, AND Economy.
