Appeal to President Follows Floggings In Strike-Torn District

You Eulogized Senator Robinson Without Reference to Peonage and Mob Law, Norman Thomas Tells F. D. R.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 16 — An appeal went to President Roosevelt today to intervene in the coal Arkansas cotton miners' strike while authorities received reports of three floggings. Norman Thomas, socialist candidate for president, sent the request to Mr. Roosevelt after Miss Willie Sue Bladen, 29, of Memphis, and the Clara D. Wilson, 41, of Little Rock, told of being beaten last night by six men near Earle, Ark. The third alleged victim, Roy Morelock, 35, Parkin, Ark., shareholder acting as runner for strike leaders, told Memphis police he was beaten by several men. Morelock said he was seized by the floggers after a deputy sheriff gave him 15 minutes to get out of Earle. He said he "escaped" and made his way to Memphis. Enroute to Funeral Miss Bladen and Williams said they went to Earle to conduct the funeral of Frank Weema, Negro shoemaker, who they said was heard was beaten to death. They said they were accosted by the floggers before they completed the funeral. Sheriff Howard Culin of Crittenden county said a "wide open" investigation would be held if the victims will make a formal complaint. "I have just come back from Earle," Culin said. "I was told the Southern Tenant Farmers union was holding a funeral for Weema. I saw no evidence of a funeral. There was nothing to indicate Weema had been killed."

PETITIONS SURPRISE FRIENDS OF BORAH

Frank Burrughs Comments on Reports From Eastern Idaho BOISE, June 16 (AP)—Reports that a large number of petitions were being circulated in eastern Idaho today for re-nomination of William E. Borah (R-Idaho) for a sixth term in the United States senate came as a surprise to friends of the veteran statesman here. "I don't think Senator Borah knows anything about it," commented Frank Burrughs, Boise newspaper publisher and close friend of Mr. Borah. "It must be a friendly move on the part of some of his friends who want to save him the trouble of circulating his petitions after he gets back from Washington, D. C.," he added. Burrughs recently predicted Senator Borah will seek reelection and carry the Republican party to victory in Idaho. Other friends he declined to be quoted, expressed views similar to Burrughs'. "I don't think Senator Borah has any intention of running for a sixth term," said a spokesman for the senator. "I was quoted in a press dispatch from Blackfoot, Idaho, as saying that he would not run for a sixth term." (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

ACCORD IN SIGHT AT NIGHT SESSION ON TAX MEASURE

Break in Long Deadlock Indicated Reviving Congressional Hope of Adjournment Saturday Night

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, June 16 — Senate-house conferees terminated a three-hour night session tonight without a solution for their deep-set differences over the controversial tax bill but they expressed intimations that they were approaching a break in a long deadlock. Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.) of the house conferees announced from the meeting with this word to reporters: "I think we are going to reach an agreement. I don't know how or when, but I think we will do it in a day or so." Compromise Hint Some hints were dropped after the conferees that a number of participants were interested in representing a possible meeting ground in the text of a revision of rates in a compromise corporation tax plan brought forward earlier in the day by senate Democratic leader Clegg. Doughton's remark kept alive hopes of congressional leaders that the measure, key to a legislative jam might be cleared away in time for adjournment by Saturday night. Further obstacles in the stretch drive for adjournment was shoved aside by an almost complete compromise agreement on the $2,700,000,000 deficit-reducing appropriation bill with its $1,425,000,000 for work-relief next year. Although the legislative situation was definitely clearing up, President Roosevelt cancelled plans to go to New London, Conn., Friday to watch the Yale-Harvard boat race. There have been some intimations that the president might wish to discuss the measure with him again. The latest corporate tax plan, offered by the Democrats, was quoted by a meeting of minds on the part of the revenue bill, containing a 12 per cent tax on corporation income, with a super tax graduated from 5 to 30 per cent on the undistributed corporate earnings and a 20 per cent exemption for all corporations from the latter.

CHINESE SEEK TO HEAL CIVIL SPILT

Peabmakers Find Rocky Road Ahead; Some Progress

SHANGHAI, Wednesday, June 17 (AP)—Negotiations of China's civil war found a rocky road to peace today.

The conference, meeting at Hangyang in Southern Hunan province, were seeking to heal the most serious split in China's domestic affairs in the past decade.

They were trying to smooth out the difficulties resulting from southern China's military and rebel divisions, and to bring about a Japanese penetration in China.

While maintaining that progress was being made, authorities of both the Nanking (central) and Canton (southern) governments disclosed the negotiators were finding a difficult task in surmounting obstacles that have carried China to the brink of civil war.

The Nanking spokesman contended the Cantonese had presented numerous demands with which it is impossible for Nanking to comply.

Canton leaders, on the other hand, said Nanking was not willing to grant South China the measure of political independence which the Cantoners demanded vital if they were to join Nanking councils, as Nanking desires.

JUSTICE COURT JURY FIXES ATTORNEY FEE

A six-man jury in justice court yesterday awarded judgment for $20 to Charles A. North, Twin Falls attorney, on his claim for $500 from M. M. Skyles, of Milwaukee, Okla., for legal services in a criminal case.

The jury before Justice of the Peace H. M. Holler in the county law office, and occupied one and one-half days.

An alleged member of an asserted gold tier ring, Skyles is a prisoner in the county jail awaiting trial on a charge of larceny of property. He was one of five prisoners re-captured within a few hours after a recent break from the jail.

On an action to recover the fee for legal services, the attorney attached was returning to court and it was in trial of this case that the jury's verdict was returned yesterday.

Skyles' payment of $50 to the attorney was admitted. The attorney withdrew from the criminal action shortly after Skyles was arraigned.

Some of the records were buried after the battle of Lexington in 1773. Judge Arthur P. Bean's action in returning the will of Rufus Buchanan, who died March 8, raised knotty legal questions of sovereignty.

Recitals of probate Judge D. D. Jordan of Judge Bean's court asserted there was no law to bar gift of land in one nation to another country, except, of course, the broad general principle of sovereignty.

MYSTERY SLAYER COMMITS SUICIDE

Dead Man Identified as Murderer of Retired Inventor

EAST ORANGE, N. J., June 16 (AP)—Dr. Harrison E. Gerhardt, Essex county medical examiner, announced today that "every indication" pointed to a man who killed himself in a New Jersey hotel today as the mystery slayer of D. McFarlan Moore, retired inventor and former associate of Thomas A. Edison.

The dead man was identified as Dean Phillip Gerhardt, 25, of Staten Island, New York, by a brother, Harrison W. Gerhardt, New York attorney. The lawyer said his brother, who died today, was at his home Sunday evening, had been unemployed and spent much of his time tinkering in a little shop.

Gerhardt shot himself near New Moonmouth as police officers proceeded to question him.

Perkins autopsy

Marland made his announcement in Red Bank, where the noted medico-criminologist performed an autopsy.

Police Chief Earl Hoyer of Middletown township, who witnessed the suicide, revealed that he and special officer Harold Jones were on their way to determine whether the suspect was the "thin man" hunted as Moore's killer.

Moore's daughter, Beatrice, 25, furnished police a good description of a visitor, who called at the Moore home Sunday night.

"That Nut from Brooklyn"

She later observed the man walking back and forth in front of the house, called her father's attention to him. He peered out the window of his bedroom, she said, and remarked that the man had a television patent three years ago.

The motive for the slaying of the 67-year-old inventor and electrical engineer, who had more than 200 inventions to his credit, remained obscure.

The body of Moore, shot twice, was found on his lawn shortly after 11 p. m. last Saturday night, apparently engaged in an argument.

COUGHLIN HINTS AT THIRD PARTY

DETROIT, June 16 (AP)—The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin projected into the political situation today a possible third-party nominee for president.

The Detroit radio priest said the country would know by Friday whether that man, casually unidentified, was to run and whether he would be considered for support by the National Union for Social Justice.

He said a TENTATIVE PLATFORM was prepared to square with principles of his group already had been attributed to the prospective candidate—attributed to him by a person who had brought the plans to the priest's attention.

He added it was possible that the same man had been discussed with Ned Gibbs last Saturday as it bobbed up and down in an eddy in the Salmon river three miles below Northfork.

Gibbs, Northfork rancher, immediately notified the Lenni county sheriff's office and Deputy Robert Haley and Charles Doebler of the county coroner's office retrieved the body from the river.

The officers said that the body was about 55 years old and that the man had apparently been in the water about three weeks. There was nothing in the pockets except 42 cents in cash.

A brief graveside service was held Sunday morning under the direction of Rev. H. C. Oldsmith of the Episcopal church.

WAGE BOOST EXPECTED

NEW YORK, June 16 (AP)—The New York Times says, in a Pittsburgh dispatch, that there were reports in steel circles that the industry is preparing to announce a 10 per cent wage increase affecting its 600,000 employees.

"Nellie Reeves called to her husband to join their dinner guests. Someone has killed old Arthur Burden." "Did anyone there know who or why? The tragic event was to have disturbing consequences for several of them."

"No need to play murder," he said, putting down the phone. "There's been one already."

ICKES HOLDS UP DEAL FOR STEEL

Contractor Branded 'Guilty' of Unfair Labor Practices

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP) — Acting as the referee of the national labor relations board, Secretary Ickes withheld from the Jones and Laughlin steel company today a contract for 1,437,500 pounds of steel for use on the Imperial dam in Arizona.

The interior department chief said the stopping of contract negotiations was ordered because the steel company had been found "guilty" by the labor board of unfair labor practices.

Ickes insisted, however, his decision had been reached before the fifth circuit court of appeals at New Orleans handed down its decision yesterday denying the right of the labor board to force the Jones and Laughlin company to reduce a number of employees at the Allegheny, Pennsylvania plant.

The suit was brought by the board in New Orleans because the company has an office there.

Four Identical Bids

Four steel companies, including Jones and Laughlin, presented identical bids of $40,080 on March 17 for delivery of the steel to the bureau of reclamation at the site of the dam.

"I am glad to take advantage of a case of identical bidding to throw additional weight behind the government's effort to obtain and enforce fair treatment of labor," Ickes said. "It has been the policy of work-giving agencies under my direction to see that labor gets a square deal."

"It certainly would not be fair for the government to give consideration to a bid from a company which has demonstrated that it is unwilling to deal fairly with the general public by placing a competitive bid and in addition that it is unwilling to deal fairly with its own employees."

Board in Huddle

The labor board met today to decide what action it would take as a result of the New Orleans decision which held the board had no power to regulate employer-employee relations in manufacturing. Indications were that the board might decline to appeal this decision, choosing later on a case viewed as giving a more clear cut test before the supreme court. The board is involved already in seven other cases in circuit courts of appeals.

FOES CRACK DOWN ON WAR MINISTER

British Groups at Odds Over Shelving of Sanctions

LONDON, June 16 (AP)—Laborite foes cracked down on Britain's war minister today in a move of an anticipated formal decision to lift sanctions from Italy.

A peer and a member of commonsense used sharp language to protest Secretary Alfred Duff Cooper's statement of yesterday that "it is the duty of those in authority to frighten the people of this country out of their wits."

Lord Ponsonby, the labor peer, told a peace rally that Duff Cooper should be considered as "a deliberate, dangerous and disgraceful scare-monger." Later, Emanuel Shinwell, the laborite who ousted Ramsay MacDonald from his Seaham Harbor seat at the last general election, asked commonsense whether the war secretary should quit "being a bogey man."

Duff Cooper replied acutely: "It might be just as well for me to decide whether I intend to support or retard army recruitment."

Recognition of Failure

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, an informed source stated, will announce in commonsense Thursday that Britain is ready to lift sanctions if the rest of the "sanctionist" nations agree.

Eden, already reported decided upon, is expected to receive the cabinet's formal stamp of approval tomorrow.

Justly fretting Italy from the economic and financial structure, which resulted from her Ethiopian invasion, it will be stated simply that sanctions have failed.

If the British view is backed up, Italy will be ready to trade with Italy, but for less than a month, the war will be open not only for resumption of trade with Italy, but for less than a month.

The decision was expected to fan the flames of opinion in a large sector of Britain already minded to bring the Chamberlain of the Exchequer Neville Chamberlain's declaration that continued sanctions would be the "half-summer of madness."

The government's opposition, women's organizations, the League of Nations Union and militant church leaders were loudly campaigning only for continuance of sanctions but, in many cases, for their strengthening.

POLITICAL EXPERTS EXAMINE RETURNS

Minnesota Republicans Say Primaries Bring Biggest Vote in Six Years

(By The Associated Press)

Political analysts pored today over returns from primaries and conventions held in widely scattered states yesterday, seeking to discover trends in the coming election.

They found that:

In Minnesota, Republicans were claiming that Tuesday's primaries brought out the biggest vote for that party since 1930. On a count from half the precincts, Republicans asserted they would poll about 25,000 more votes than those cast in the primaries of Farmer-Labor party.

The Minnesota primary elections resulted in the Farmer-Labor senatorial nomination going to Governor Floyd B. Olson and the Republican nomination to Representative Christianson. National Democratic committee man Joseph Wolf claimed victory for his candidate for the senatorial nomination, F. C. Eshenbary, in Democratic balloting over Beldin H. Lottgarden on the basis of returns from 2100 out of 3724 precincts.

Recount Demanded

In Maine, record of primary election contests for the governorship or seats in the national house of representatives indicated two candidates backed either by Theodore Coughlin, Detroit radio priest, or Townsend old age pension organizations, were nominated while three others were defeated. SENATE APPROVES $460,000,000 BILL

Housing Measure Passes After Sharp Attack on Spending

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP)—The senate passed the $460,000,000 Wagner housing bill 62 to 24 today, a few minutes after Senator George (D-Or.) had completed a sharp attack on government spending.

The bill, which now goes to the house, would set up a federal housing authority to administer the act authorizing government assistance to local slum clearance and low cost housing projects, and to which the president might transfer housing activities now undertaken by various government agencies.

"The federal assistance in the vote for a fourth indicated defeat, but the candidate demanded a recount.

Indiana Democrats concluded their state convention by nominating M. Clifford Townsend for governor.

A convention of Virginia Democrats instructed that state's delegation of 22 to vote for the renomination of President Roosevelt at next week's national Democratic convention.

Father Coughlin told interviewers in New York that he and his national union for social justice would support neither President Roosevelt nor Governor Landon, the Republican presidential nominee, and indicated the formation of a third party ticket.

three-year housing program would consist of outright grants of 45 per cent of the cost of the projects, and 60 year loans for the remainder.

Annals of the bill, Senator George asserted it would mean a continuance of extravagant spending, and challenged the bill's constitutionality.

SENATE ON RECORD FOR SUGAR QUOTAS

Extension of Limits on Importations Extended to 1938

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP)—The senate voted today to extend through the 1937 calendar year the quotas on sugar imports from Cuba and other sugar-producing countries first set up under the Jones-Costigan act.

Virtually without debate, the senate accepted the measure as revised by the agriculture committee, which deleted from the original bill sections providing for benefit payments and authorizing administrative funds to be passed merely extending the quotas set up by the secretary of agriculture.

Quick house approval appeared certain in view of an agreement made by house agriculture committee members to accept whatever sort of sugar-control measure passed the senate. Chairman James (D-Tx.) of the committee had been advised by the department of agriculture that any kind of extension would be better than to have the bill fall of enactment.

Stop Gap Device

Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), main sponsor of the bill, described it as "purely a stopgap device intended to protect the quota system during the recess of congress."

"It is generally expected," O'Mahoney said, "that on the reassembling of congress in January, the whole sugar problem will have to be re-ventilated."

He added that he and Jones had been in conference with representatives of the larger beet and cane growers' associations studying plans for a permanent production control program.

Charles M. Kearney of Morrill, Neb., president of the American Beet Growers' association, expressed approval of the senate action in extending the quotas.

YIELD OF INCOME TAX ON INCREASE

Government Counts Revenue 18.9 Per Cent Above 1935 Returns

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP)—President Roosevelt's budget expectations for 1936 are 18.9 per cent above revenue during the current fiscal year was virtually realized tonight when the treasury reported collections of $278,953,610 for the first 16 days of June.

This amount, the treasury said, was slightly more than per cent in excess of that collected during the comparable period last year. Second quarterly installments of income taxes must be paid on or before June 15.

Now Showing at Idaho

total income taxes for the present fiscal year, which began last July 1, now amount to $1,353,318,092. Treasury officials said they expected approximately $1,500,000 to be collected during June, indicating the year's total on June 30 would approximate $1,493,000,000—$39,000,000 more than the president counted on.

Official treasury figures show returns only through June 13, but salesgraphic reports from the collection of internal revenue, Guy Helvering, from field collectors, estimated a total of $203,470,174 had been actually deposited between June 1 and June 13 in the treasury or federal reserve banks. They figured an additional $71,483,435 was still in their own sacs, bringing the total to $278,953,610.

During the comparable period last year, total collections for the 15 days amounted to $232,267,824.

Mrs. Roosevelt Makes Impression On Coal Miners

ORAVILLE, Ill., June 16 (AP)—With the assurance of past experience, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt went down today into another coal mine—the New Orient at West Frankfort, world's largest bituminous colliery.

Her visit was part of a 613-mile tour by automobile through southern Illinois. This afternoon she drove to West Frankfort.

Mrs. Roosevelt arrived at West Frankfort just as the day shift was being lowered into the mine. She stood on a flat car, she told the miners and their quickly-gathered families of her interest in learning more of conditions in the southern Illinois coal field.

"I'm here to see and learn, and I hope I will be good for me," she said.

One thing she learned was a local superstition against women going down into a working mine. It kept her from entering the Old Orient, but she was taken instead to the New Orient, which is now being operated at present.

At the 500-foot level, she swung off as a fast clip through the intricate tunnels. As she went, she fired technical questions at accompanying officials that caused one of them to comment, "she knows a lot about mines."

Except for dirty shoes, she came up from the mine "apple pie neat," but not so her companions and their dirty faces and coal dust-spattered clothes amused her.

The Day In Washington

(By The Associated Press)

As indications increased of possible accord between senate and house conference on the controversial tax bill, Senate Majority Leader Robinson urged all members to clear the way for early adjournment.

Another group of house and senate conferees—working on the relief-deficiency bill—appeared likely to reach a full agreement Wednesday.

After listening to a sharp attack on the government's expenditures by Senator George (D-Ga.), the senate passed the $460,000,000 Wagner bill providing for federal aid to slum clearance and low cost housing projects.

The house rules committee agreed to clear a way for house action on the Walsh-Reilly bill, possibly this week. The measure would require contractors accepting government contracts to adopt certain labor regulations.

Treasury officials estimated that more than 18 per cent additional income taxes were collected thus far this year than were taken in over a similar period a year ago.

President Roosevelt disclosed plans to visit his Hyde Park, N. Y., home for a few days after the Democratic national convention at Philadelphia.

The senate confirmed the nomination of Chester C. Davis of Maryland as a member of the federal-reserve-system's board of governors.

Party Chieftains Stay for Lunch At Landon Home

TOPEKA, Kas., June 16 (AP)—So much company came to the bluff-top executive residence of Governor Alf Landon for luncheon today that the hostess, Mrs. Landon, was forced to press three card tables into service.

The occasion was the visit of Colonel Frank Knox of Chicago, vice presidential running mate of Governor Landon, and national committee members here to map Republican battle plans.

Places were set for eight at the regular dining table—the guest list grew to 20. Males were sent scurrying for small tables which were set up by the dining room.

Mrs. Landon, wearing a blue figured chiffon dress, greeted the visitors. She appeared cool despite the hot weather.

A summer luncheon of three courses, with chicken salad the main dish, was served. The menu included tomato soup, strawberries and rolls.

Restless People Build Repertoire For Dance Star

HOLLYWOOD, June 16 (AP)—America's jangling nerves, says Eleanor Powell, have helped make her what she is today—a success.

The beautiful blonde dancer who sooted to fame in her first picture, "Broadway melody of 1936," claims she learned many of her spectacular tricks from watching the restless rhythms of Mr. and Mrs. America on the street.

"I squand an any corner for an hour," she said, "and you'll see a parade of nervous people dancing, unconsciously."

Her vaudeville, before the movies sighted her, took Miss Powell to virtually every major city in the United States. And each one, she said, contributed something to the inexhaustible repertoire of dance routines she now displays.

MURDER TONIGHT BY LAURENCE W. MEYNELL

CHAPTER ONE HOPE ENDERTON HERE had been a touch of frost during the night and when the tardy sun finally brought in the first feeble glimmerings of Monday the eighteenth of January it showed a mystic world of white. Trees in copious abundance were muffled in their white and the ground was frosted over. Round the village of Hope Enderton a good store of eyes peered anxiously out of bedroom windows trying to gauge the amount of bone in the ground and wondering whether it would be too hard for hunting.

By nine the anxious eyes were reassured, the sun came out, riding triumphantly into a clear sky, and the whole earth, men, plants and all growing things, felt strengthened. In the first place in which men live close to nature Hope Enderton began its business early, and by half past ten in the morning most of its inhabitants could look back on the hours work already accomplished.

It was at that hour precisely, precisely that as is reckoned by the clock on Hope Enderton church tower, that Arthur Burdett, curiously clad in gaiters and a coat whose greenish tints proved more than adequate to make his way down the centre of the single main street.

Indeed it is commonly said by the inhabitants of the neighborhood, and to their own way of thinking, that the important villages of Par-Hope and Bundebury, that when the last trumpet does actually sound it will be the village of Hope Enderton that will be the centre of the single main street.

Body in Hope Enderton will hear it. Hope Enderton cares little for such imprecations, a certain team which is supreme for ten miles round a cruciform church with the finest stained glass in West Sussex, and consequently upon the events here is narrated, it achieved the unique distinction of "getting into the papers" and here at that it was, and always had been, content to live its own life, oblivious of sneering tongues and the morning of the eighteenth of January it was busy in its tranquil way, about the daily round of trivialities upon which with a certain grace and hope, all the pretentious, grasping glimmers of the noops were set.

Outside the door of the noops, the bigger of the two Inns in the place, Edward Perry the landlord closed his eyes and his head against a patch of sunshine on the cobble behind him and settled down to a nap. A faint smile came over his face and from somewhere in the old-fashioned courtyard of the place came the cheerful whistle of a man busy about some task.

Perry noted that the scaffolding was creeping up a little higher round the west window of the church; reflected that it was Burdett who had been the man who had reflected the fact when the brewers' truck came from Morechester; cursed himself a disbeliever in the fact that he had seen fresh stocks of tobacco the day before, and wondered what sort of a day it would be.

He saw the broad-shouldered figure approaching down the center of the street and, if he had not been so busy, he would have noticed even had he seen it, even if Hope Enderton, tucked right away in it from main roads and arterial highways, was a good deal of a considerable going and coming of motorists in these mechanized days.

When a man has reached that little room in his heart for life, and yet when Peter Steebie saw him like a flame visited him; parched his throat a little, and made him feel thirsty.

His name, all about Arthur Burdett's avarice and open blasphemy and laughter at the things of God; but it was not these that had troubled him, it was the fact that he had seen which Peter Steebie knew some and guessed others, that made him hate Arthur Burdett.

He looked up as he drew level with the door of the noops, and saw Perry King, that red face, with his heavy Roman nose and close-set heavy light eyes, almost as if he were a red devil, raised a forefinger to his hat. Rain or rain, indoors or out, Edward Perry King was a good deal of a hat with a neck feather of a wild duck stuck jauntily in its band.

The man in the middle of the road sat a glance at him with his lips pursed, and then suddenly, as if he were a red devil, raised a forefinger to his hat. Rain or rain, indoors or out, Edward Perry King was a good deal of a hat with a neck feather of a wild duck stuck jauntily in its band.

He did not really object to one of his eyes, but he was a little annoyed. Burdett had been at Enderton Court time out of mind. If the old man's eyes were to be trusted there had been many a good Burdett in the past. This one was a bad one, that was all.

It did not look as though there were going to be any more Burdett's in the future, and for that Edward Perry was sorry. He was an Englishman and he liked to think that in England things were going to be better.

STEPHAN COUNSELS YOUNG REPUBLICANS

Al Zimmerman, Twin Falls, Named to Head County Organization

Frank L. Stephan of Twin Falls, former state attorney general and candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, addressed an organization meeting of Twin Falls County Young Republicans club here last evening, hurling blast after blast at the present administration...

The club went unanimously on record as favoring Stephan's candidacy.

Attended by approximately 60 young Republicans, the meeting was held in banquet session at the Park hotel.

At Zimmerman of Twin Falls was elected chairman to succeed E. M. Rayburn...

It is the young people of this community who must pay, Stephan admonished. There is no means of escape from the 35 billions of dollars debt thrust upon you by a government that has spent three and one-half long years of experimentation, registration and dictatorship...

In 1933 the Democratic party adopted an almost perfect platform and Franklin D. Roosevelt pledged himself to uphold that platform.

The young people of this country realize the situation. They realize that their shoulders must carry the burden of excessive taxation brought about by new deal spending...

Willie Willis

But if they lick me to make me a better boy, why don't they give up when they see it don't work?

They call Franklin D. Roosevelt, the limousine reared finch from Park Avenue, the pumpered pet of millionaire surindings and yacht owning intimates, the guardian of the common man...

R. P. Parry of Twin Falls, Republican state chairman, Walter Rubey Boise, secretary, and Ed Smith of Shoshone, treasurer of the state central committee, urged intensive efforts in all the precincts of the state by young Republicans...

The club voted to hold regular dinner meetings on the first Monday of each month.

Mrs. Nancy Haddock was toastmaster of the meeting and following the singing program, a string of campaign songs and a political attack by Chuck Helm, dancing was enjoyed.

YAN VLACK APPEAL COVERS LONG TERM

Tacoma Triple-Slayer Likely to See Beginning of New Year

BOISE, June 16 (AP)—Douglas Van Vlack, 20-year-old triple slayer of Tacoma, Wash., will see the dawn of 1937, at least, if attorneys calculated correctly today when the certiorari case on perfection of the condemned man's appeal was filed with the supreme court.

District Judge Adam B. Barclay of Twin Falls sentenced Van Vlack last February 12 to die for the murders of the prisoner's former wife, 22-year-old Mildred Hook of Tacoma, Wash., last November.

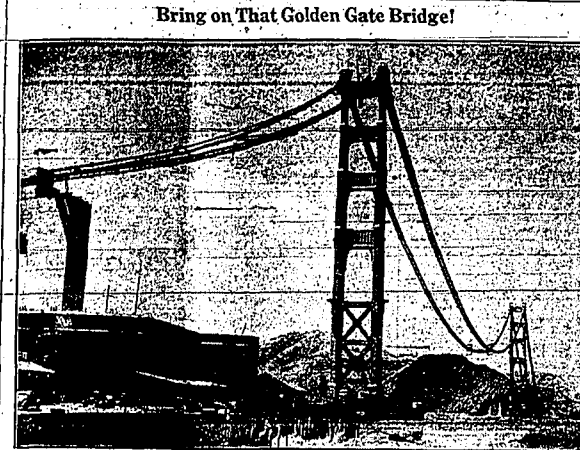

While fleeing with Miss Hook, whom he kidnaped, he admitted he shot state traffic officer Fontaine Cooper to death near Duhl, and mortally wounded Twin Falls County deputy sheriff Henry Olvins.

The certiorari filed today by Frank J. Smith, clerk of the 11th district court at Twin Falls, the final date for filing the filipator's transcript of evidence in the case was given as July 20, barring further extension that might be granted by the court.

Van Vlack's attorney, Leo Teala of Tacoma, Wash., and E. V. Larson of Twin Falls, would have 40 days from July 20 to file their appeal with the supreme court; the state would then have 30 days to answer, and the appellants would have another 20 days to file a final brief.

The date then would be October 18 after which the court may set the case for trial. By the time an opinion came down 30 days or six months may elapse, and then Van Vlack must be taken back to Twin Falls to be executed.

HERE IS San Francisco's Golden Gate bridge structure, towers and cables, all ready for the traffic deck itself, the next item in construction. The 8,940-foot deck will accommodate six lanes of traffic and carry up to 259,200 automobiles a day. This picture is taken from the San Francisco shore looking across the Golden Gate.—(P) Photo.
