

Oil Fortune Heir's Poison Gas Death Declared Accidental

James McDonald, II, Found Dead in Garage Of Family Residence At Boise By Caretaker and Third Wife

(By The Associated Press)
BOISE, July 2.—An Ada county coroner's jury found tonight that James McDonald, II, heir to a $5,000,000 fortune accumulated by his father—one time London partner of John D. Rockefeller—died accidentally today of carbon monoxide poisoning.

The body of the 46-year-old World war veteran was found in the garage of the family residence here by Less Outz, former Blaine county sheriff and caretaker at the McDonald home, and Mrs. Lulu McDonald, his third wife.

Funeral services will be conducted at the home tomorrow at 4 p. m.

The coroner's jury brought in its verdict less than two hours after the first witness, Miss Jane McDonald, first daughter of the dead man, was called by prosecuting Attorney Willis O. Moffatt to testify.

Miss McDonald testified that her foster father had been perturbed a few hours before he was found dead by family financial affairs.

She said she had last seen him in her room at about 3:30 a. m., in the morning, about four hours before he had been found.

"He had had a drink of beer, but I don't think he was intoxicated," Miss McDonald replied to questions put by the prosecutor.

Going for Milk
"When I last saw him, he told me he was going for milk," she said, "and I saw him get into the car and I wondered about it at the time."

Fish's Mistake
LAKELAND, Fla.—Twelve-year-old Elinor Wilson evolved a new fishing technique, but it was not recommended for use on sharks.

While Elinor was in swimwear a shark was seen nibbling on the bright metal buckle on her bathing suit. She grabbed the fish by the fins and waded to shore with her prize.

Safety First
SALT LAKE CITY, Fifteen-year-old Arvid Boon told the city commission: "My cousin sent me a bunch of firecrackers. I know the law to set 'em off, but I don't want to throw them away. I'd sure like to shoot 'em off, if it wasn't for the law."

Said the commission: "Petition denied."

Still an Alien
COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa—John Swanton Conkley of Cumberland, Ky., has been declared an alien because he wasn't a citizen, although he was sheriff of an Iowa county for five years, voted in all elections and served on juries since 1884.

He applied for citizenship when his application for an old age pension was returned with notation to the effect that no records were extant showing his father, a Canadian, ever was naturalized.

Emperor Selassie Takes Two Bold Steps at Geneva; Irish President Urges Immediate Peace Parley

(By The Associated Press)
Geneva, July 2.—Emperor Haile Selassie, "King of Kings," his hopes shaken by developments at Geneva, took two bold steps tonight in an attempt to save his country from complete domination by Italy.

First, he asked the league for a loan of $50,000,000 to "defend her integrity." Then he sent to the assembly a draft of a resolution calling attention to provisions in articles ten and eleven of the covenant for non-recognition of conquest obtained by force of arms.

The Negus, who delivered a personal appeal to the assembly two days ago, said Ethiopia has a right to assistance from the league.

Seeks Clear Reply
Haile Selassie said he had placed before the league questions to which with few exceptions the powers had not given a clear reply "in the present tragic circumstances."

For the sake of nations which may be menaced by future aggression," he said, "it is important to call for an immediate peace conference by leading nations to 'prevent a European war' was made unexpectedly by Eamon De Valera, president of the Irish free state.

The terrible menace which threatens us all today can be warded off," he said.

The New York-born Irish president made his suggestion in a speech to the assembly, following delegates of many nations to the rotunda.

Other speakers touched upon reform of the league, which is to be held up at the assembly's meeting in September. Most urged abandonment of sanctions against Italy.

San Jose, Calif., Jury 7/2

The "photo laying" of Dr. Jasper Gattuccio, San Jose dentist, was declared accidental today by a weeping jury which acquitted Peter Vois, patriarchal prospector.

After deliberating less than an hour, the jury of four women and eight men decided the bearded, 72-year-old wanderer was innocent.

Vois sobbed while each juror, pulled by Judge William F. James, said "no guilty."

Several of the jurors also wept. The shooting of Gattuccio occurred after he declined to pay 90 cents for photographing Vois.

GIRL'S STRANGLER SENTENCED TO DIE

Albert Walter, Jr., Killer of Idaho Falls Woman, To Be Hanged

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2 (AP)—Albert Walter, Jr., self-styled "top man," was held sane today and sentenced to be hanged September 4 for the sex slaying of Blanche Cousins of Idaho Falls two weeks ago.

"That's O. K.," said the wandering young Bohemian. "I asked for it and got it."

"I regard the death sentence as the penalty for all of my crimes. 'I'm a lost man. I know it a year ago and I told my wife about it. Why I didn't commit suicide then I don't know.'"

Wife Collapses
Walter's wife, a New Yorker, collapsed. His father, a Boston salesman, said he would make good money effort to forestall the hanging by employing an alienist and an attorney.

A jury quickly decreed young Walter was sane after hearing three court-appointed alienist testify the 28-year-old wanderer knew right from wrong.

The slayer's equanimity was in line with his attitude when the crime was revealed.

He entered a police station and led officers to an apartment where they found the nude body of Miss Cousins.

WITNESS DECLARES U. S. NAVY SECRETS RELAYED TO AGENT

Roommate and Friend of Spy Suspect Testifies Before Federal Court Jury at Los Angeles

(By The Associated Press)
LOS ANGELES, July 2.—Harry Thompson, former yeoman in the United States navy, prowled through the steel mazes of American warships and relayed confidential information to a secret agent of Japan, a federal court jury was told today.

The statement came from the first witness at Thompson's trial on charges of violating the espionage act.

It was made by Willard Turmino, erstwhile roommate and intimate friend of the accused man. Turmino, a thin, high-voiced youth 18, testified that in 1934 and 1935; he and Thompson boarded the dreadnaught Colorado, at San Diego and Texas, the radio-controlled target Utah, and the destroyed Brooks.

Thompson slipped a paper detailing the movements of the battle force from the naval training office bulletin board in San Diego.

Received Salary
Thompson dispatched this data and other material to a Japanese named "Tanny" and received a salary of $300 to $300 a month from him.

Thompson told him he received his appointment as an aide to the secret agent through the Japanese consul in Los Angeles.

"He told me the consul gave him an address in Washington, D. C., and that he wrote there. A letter came back telling him that a contact man on the coast would call on him," Turmino said Thompson related.

Thompson furnished two navy reports, each bearing a large red "confidential" stamp. One was marked "gunnery school," and the other "range battle practice."

These were turned over to the Japanese agent, "Tanny," and Thompson said he expected to get a bonus because they were "something good."

Enrolled at Stanford
The "Tanny" the government asserts, was Toshio Miyazaki, Imperial Japanese navy, who as lieutenant was enrolled at Stanford university as an "observer."

Miyazaki, also under indictment with Thompson, is understood to be in the far east now, federal attorneys said.

Thompson, also under indictment with Thompson, is understood to be in the far east now, federal attorneys said.

Thompson said, occurred in an automobile. At that time, he said, the agent told him to hurry to work, and gave him a package of small bills totaling $200 to $250.

Turmino identified a letter introduced by the government as one received by Thompson from "Tanny."

Crowd Laughs as First Wife of Charles MacArthur Gives Testimony

CHICAGO, July 2 (AP)—The first wife of Charles MacArthur, the playwright, testified in her $100,000 "heart built" suit against Helen Hayes today that the writer slipped on her feet when she was warned her after their wedding that he "was a peddler."

The wedding, said the witness, Carol Frink, newspaper drama critic, was performed by the author's father, a Presbyterian minister, "because Charles said we could save a few dollars that way."

"You mustn't expect too much of me," she quoted MacArthur as saying to her, "because I'm a peddler."

A Reckless Man
Miss Frink testified she had her doubts about the last three words, for MacArthur was then just a 21-year-old man on a Chicago newspaper, and was earning more money than he.

The romance Miss Frink related while acting Hayes' MacArthur's second and present mate, later was the actor of a story MacArthur said as president.

Homemakers Prepare For Canning Season

During the few weeks when currants are available, jelly-making usually occupies a large share of the homemaker's attention. For all jellies, currant is undoubtedly the most popular. Its few tones and pleasing tang easily create a taste that few can resist. The currant is a rich source of iron.

Especially satisfactory is the following recipe:

Currant Jelly
5 pounds currants
1 ounce stick cinnamon
1 tablespoon whole cloves
sugar

Wash currants but do not remove stems; wash lightly to start. Cook slowly until currants look white. Drain in jelly bag. The pieces in cheesecloth and boil in extracted juice. Remove spices, measure juice, and for each cup juice add 1/2 cup sugar. Boil rapidly to jelly stage. Pour into sterilized jars, seal.

Dainty preserves add the finishing touches to a well planned meal. Fruits or combinations of fruits cooked in proportion of three-fourths as much sugar as fruit, thus causing fruits to retain their plumpness, are commonly used preserves.

Bar-B-Doo
1 pound stemmed currants
2 pounds sugar
1 cup juice (squeezed from some currants held in reserve)

Put juice and sugar in saucepan, cook 5 minutes, stir in cloves, then add the pound of whole currants and cook 5 minutes more; strain our currants, then return juice to fire and boil until thick and clear. Strain and strain through cheesecloth over the cooked currants, then return to fire and boil just one minute. Pour into sterilized jars, seal.

Fruit juices are a delight in the winter, or summer. They add delicious variety to the winter diet and there is nothing more refreshing than cool fruit drinks for the hot summer days. Fruit juices should form an important part of our eating, because of their many uses for desserts and drinks. They cannot be excelled for the invalid's diet.

Strawberry Syrup
Cook several quarts of strawberries until the juice is extracted, or use the surplus juice from canning strawberries. For every pint of the strained juice, use 1/2 pound of sugar. Boil rapidly for 5 minutes and pour into sterilized jars and seal.

Mint Julep
2 cups sugar, 1 quart water, 12 sprigs fresh mint, 1/2 cup boiling water, 1 cup orange juice, juice of 8 lemons, 1/2 cup mint leaves. Strain and add syrup. Bring to boil - pour into clean jars. Put on cap, screw band firmly tight. Process in water bath 30 minutes at simmering temperature, 180 degrees F.

COLD DRINKS

If you wish to serve non-alcoholic beverages you'll find these suggestions timely and interesting.

Fruity Juice Cocktail
Four into a shaker, over 1 cup of cracked ice, 1 cup each of pineapple and strained orange juice (each juice from canned fruit), 1/2 cup grenadine and 4 tablespoons strained lemon juice. Shake sugar and stir in slowly. Strain into glasses, add a fresh strawberry or maraschino cherry to each and serve.

ICED COFFEE ANGIOSTURA
6 cups coffee
4 tbsp. Angiostura bitters
1 cup cream
1/2 cup sugar
Cracked ice
Frozen whipped cream

Add Angiostura bitters to coffee and chill. Before serving add cream and sugar to taste. Serve in tall glasses with cracked ice and top with whipped cream.

FAMILIAR VEGETABLES SERVED IN NEW WAYS

You know how interesting and stimulating it is to meet an old friend in a new suit or frock? There is a real thrill in seeing them in a different light. The same thing is true of the foods we eat. Served in familiar ways they are welcome, of course, but when prepared by original and novel methods appetites respond with zest. Here are some interesting methods for the preparation of some familiar vegetables.

Creamed Cucumbers
Peel and dice 5 cucumbers; salt and let stand for 30 minutes; chop 1 onion, brown in butter; add drained cucumbers and cook 10 minutes. Add 2 cups cream sauce seasoned with salt, pepper and cayenne.

Eggplant and Tomatoes
1 eggplant
6 large tomatoes
2 tbsp. shortening
Salt and pepper to season
A sprig of dill

Peel the eggplant and cut in thick slices. Rub a baking dish with shortening, put in a layer of sliced eggplant, then a layer of tomatoes, and season, repeating until the dish is full. Cover and bake until tender (about 40 minutes). Before serving sprinkle the top with minced-dill or chopped-parsley.

Fried Cucumbers
Use 12 thin small cucumbers, 6 tablespoons shortening, 1 onion, 1/2 cup cream, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1/2 teaspoon salt. Peel the cucumbers and cut in quarters, lengthwise. Slice in half and brown in melted butter, then add the cucumbers and brown on all sides. Season with salt and pepper and cover the pan and let cook to tenderness. Sprinkle with sugar and serve.

DELICIOUS CABBAGE PROPERLY SERVED

It's a well known fact that some foods are just naturally tasty, while others have to be embellished first in preparation. Take cabbage, for instance. Here's a vegetable that can be very very good, or hardly palatable. As the song writer said, "It all depends on you."

Of course, the recipe has a great deal to do with it, so we're passing along an excellent one:

Blend all ingredients thoroughly. Serve on salad green. Garnish with Mayonnaise. Serves 6.

Strawberry Memories

"Strawberries are my favorite fruit," said a chubby, little freckle-faced one day as she spooned up the crumbs of her second serving of shortcake. Even then, strawberries meant more to her than plum berries piled on snowy biscuits. And she can still remember the smell of sun-warmed berries growing in straight rows beyond the berry-and-the-fragrance-ashe-picked them, her fingers constantly sweet and sticky with strawberry juice.

You, too, must have strawberry memories which come back to you each year as the red berries appear on the market. Perhaps you remember finding wild strawberries on a sandy knoll, or your first batch of jam, or the pie you made soon after the June honeymoon.

Besides the pleasant memories associated with strawberry season, probably one of the reasons that strawberries are the "favorite" fruit of so many of us is because of the diversity of ways in which they can be used. Even the most sophisticated would not be likely to scorn fresh strawberry jam with hot biscuits or bran muffins. Sugared berries, shortcakes, ice creams and tart are old stand-bys. Chiffon pies, gelatin desserts, fruit plates, salads and salad garnishes are some of the newer ways in which fruit is used. These recipes are variations of old favorites. Perhaps they will encourage you to pull some new ideas out of your bag of tricks.

FRESH STRAWBERRY PIE
1 quart strawberries
1 1/2 cups water
1/2 cup sugar
1 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 teaspoon gelatin
1/2 cup water
1 10-inch corn flake crumb pie shell

Wash, stem and drain strawberries. Chop into three or four pieces with a sharp knife. Cook water until soft. Strain and add the hot liquid to sugar and cornstarch or bran muffins. Cook stirring until thick and clear. Add gelatin which has been soaked in 1/2 cup water. Cool until mixture begins to thicken, add remaining berries. Turn into corn flake crumb pie shell. Serve with sweetened whipped cream, if desired.

Yield: 1 10-inch pie.

CRUMB PIE SHELL
1/2 cup butter
1 cup fine corn flake or rice kibble crumbs
1 cup sugar
Melt butter in pie pan. Add sugar and crumbs; mix thoroughly. Press mixture evenly and firmly around sides and bottom of pan. Chill before adding filling.

Yield: One 8, 9 or 10-inch shell.

Roll or grid-4-cups-corn-flakes or 3 cups rice krispies to yield 1 cup fine crumbs.

ICE CREAM PIES
Fill baked pastry shells with fresh strawberry ice cream. Cover with meringue, set on board covered with paper and brown in hot oven (500° F.). Serve immediately.

From even the northernmost of the augmented state's farms, cities and towns are assembling here today.

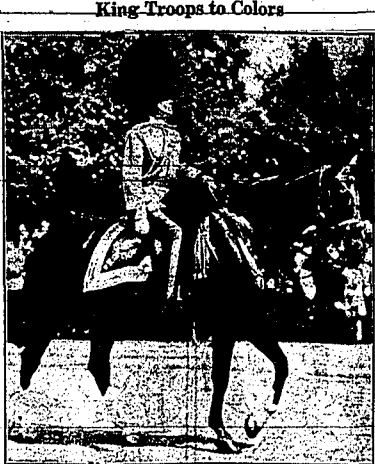

In the audience will be Governor C. Rex Ross, who already has announced for Borah's senate seat, and seven Democratic and one Republican candidate for the office.

Other leaders here will include Frank L. Stebbins, Twin Falls, who took to Ross in 1914 and again hopes to be the Republican nominee for Governor; Lieutenant Governor C. P. Rice, Moscow; and J. W. Wilson, Twin Falls; Marshall George Mettman, Nampa; W. P. Whitaker, Pocatello; Mayor Wendell Clark, Idaho Falls; Secretary of State Franklin D. Kootenai, and Frank Martin, Boise—all Democrats.

Celebration visitors, their cars still ringing with the verbal and chemical explosives arranged for tomorrow, will remain Saturday for another frontier day program which will have as its feature an address by Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for the presidency.

Borah is expected to arrive from the east at 9:25 a. m. tomorrow. Celebration officials plan to meet him with a reception committee of prominent state, county and city officials—and a band. According to plans, Borah will speak at 1 p. m.

CROPS THRIVE IN IDAHO SUNSHINE

Weather Man Reports Vegetation in Good Condition

BOISE, July 3 (AP)—Idaho crops are doing good, reported and sunshine is ample, reported H. G. Carter, federal weather bureau meteorologist, in his weekly summary for the week ending July 2.

In southwest Idaho grains were in good condition and heading; first cutting of alfalfa was made in some places was stacked; pasture and ranges continued in good condition. In the east, corn and truck crops were good; fruits were reported "generally good."

Southeast Idaho temperatures ranged above normal, but slumped toward the end of the week; hay operations were delayed locally by showers and in some places farm help was scarce as a result of workers being needed to fight fighting; a loss in the pea crop loomed as imminent due to water shortage and some farmers reported their crops were burning from excessive heat. Pasture, ranges and truck crops were in the best condition in years.

Northern Idaho continued to have warm weather and crops continued in good condition. In the east, generally good with the exception of where local rains fell; potatoes, beans and stock crops made good advances, fruits are fair to good, and apple thinning is progressing.

MURDER TONIGHT

BY LAURENCE W. MEYNELL

SYNOPSIS: Inspector Hytton has found at least two persons who have had dealings with old Arthur Burdett. Since that ancient history has been passed, the Inspector is interested. And now Burdett's solicitor returns from France, hears of the murder, and arrives at the police station in Hope, Enderby, with a copy of Arthur Burdett's latest will—a good deal of excitement.

Chapter 16
NEW SCENE

"I want it to be clearly understood," he said almost severely, "that I am doing this on your orders and authority as a police officer and that no initiative rests with me in the matter whatsoever.

"Dear Mr. Hanley," Hytton laughed, "a policeman's life is practically one long round of investigations. I'll take full responsibility for looking at the will—so no need to feel as well as the familiar feel of a legal document seemed to give little Hanley more confidence and clearing his throat he read aloud:

have a game now. It's wonderfully good for clearing one's brain. A little surprised, but nothing loath, White answered, "All right, sir."

In the living room White produced the board and man. From the table, then each man settled down and there was something about the other's attitude that was familiar to Hytton he might be in or a surprise.

Very little conversation was heard of the next thirty minutes. Then James White leaved back and said, "I think you'll find that's the male."

Secretly, Hytton was just a shade chagrined; he rather prided himself on his chess and it was some time since he had been beaten in a game.

"Oh, just a bit of luck," James White said modestly, but with a hint of pleasure out of his voice.

"Luck for the Law, eh?" Hytton murmured and then he said, "I shall need it all before we're finished with this case."

Government Demands Corn Loan Payments

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP)—The government in effect "called" its outstanding 1935 corn loans yesterday.

Thousands of farmer-borrowers who have not already done so must either set their sealed up grain at current market prices in coming weeks or accept a 4 percent interest on the money loaned them at four per cent interest.

Loans on corn sealed in cribs were made between December 1, 1935, and March 31, 1936, maturing on July 1, 1936, at four per cent interest. Farmers borrowed 45 cents a bushel and at the peak the loans totalled approximately 64,000,000.

Constitutionality of Labor Act Attacked

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP)—An attack on the constitutionality of the Wagner labor act reached the supreme court for the first time yesterday and immediately brought from national labor relations board officials a contention it would not permit a "hit-test."

The challenge was made by the Bradley Lumber company of the state. In a suit, appealed from the fifth circuit court of appeals, seeking to enjoin the board from holding hearings in connection with a strike in the firm's plant.

Labor board officials said the suit did not challenge the law "on its merits" and that a decision on the validity of the act probably would be sought from the supreme court in other cases in October.

Williams Entry for Secretary of State

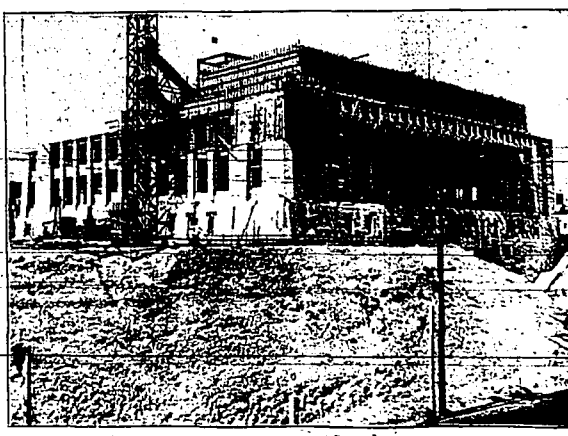

BOISE, July 2 (AP)—The race for the Democratic nomination for secretary of state attracted a sixth candidate when Lewis Williams, commissioner of public welfare, announced he would seek the office.

Williams was born at Samaria, Idaho, in 1870. He was a member of the U. S. House of Representatives, where he spent 10 years as a congressman in the building of the Mormon temple at Salt Lake City.

Other Democratic candidates for secretary of state are H. H. Masters of Blonkton, State Representative and Goodwin of Sandpoint. William Jackson of Cascade, John J. O'Rourke of Moscow and Frank H. LaFrenz of Coeur d'Alene.

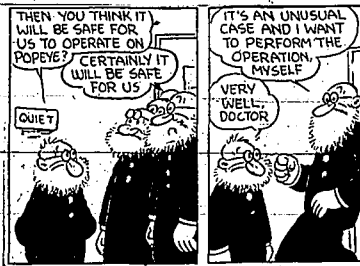

Mr. Republicans have formally announced but politicians are being circulated by Frank Burroughs, veteran Boise newspaper publisher.

Anglers Discover New Ice Cave On Rim of Canyon

Winnert and Requist were lowered nearly 100 feet into a crevice before they reached the floor of the cave, which they had found about two weeks ago while on a fishing trip. They report finding two rooms that were visible by infiltration of sunlight from the surface crevice down which they were lowered by Reigan. They were unable to explore deeper into the cave, but report a long corridor of ice columns extending back for at least 100 feet. The original cavern of considerable proportions had been filled with rocks and boulders from the surface crevice, they state.

Ice columns of more than two feet in diameter were reported in both rooms of the cave. The walls are sheathed with ice several inches thick. Requist reports, samples of the snow had been taken. The water in the outside cave now were brought in to substantiate their discovery.

Further investigation is being considered and it is possible that a ladder will be installed so that access to the underground wonder may be made easier.

Drought-Stricken-Farmers-Fight to Save Crops

WITH pastures burned to a crisp and a milk shortage threatened, farmers in southern Illinois, one of the areas stricken by drought, are fighting desperately to pull their corn through. Former-Statehouse Employe Sentenced To 3-10 Year Term

BOISE, July 2 (AP)—Five days after he was charged with embezzlement of $18 in state funds, Hugh Watson, former director of the Idaho inheritance tax bureau, entered state's prison yesterday to begin serving a 3 to 10 years sentence.

Watson waived his preliminary hearing before Probate Judge John Jackson yesterday. Judge John Jackson yesterday was directed by Justice Charles F. Koshoff immediately to proceed in admission of guilt, heard the verdict and was taken to the penitentiary.

He personally asked for the court's mercy on the grounds that he planned to reform and refrain from intoxicating liquor to which he attributed his downfall.

Watson admitted to the court that he had previously been convicted in the penalty of forfeiture of a $10 check, that he had served a ten-year term and had been paroled last October. He was relieved from his duties as bureau director in the department of finance last January by Ben D. Hays, state education commissioner, who said losses were covered by bonding companies.

Berkman, Anarchist Dies by Own Hand

NICE, France, July 2 (AP)—Rejected by both old and new orders, Alexander Berkman, the anarchist, died in disillusionment and hospital authorities said, by his own hand.

A bullet wound in the stomach suffered last Saturday—the 6th birthday anniversary of his life-long friend and associate, Emma Goldman—ended the career of the 60-year-old fighter who served nearly 18 years in prison for his attack on the Henry C. Frick, Pittsburgh steel magnate, in 1892.

Police said Berkman was in ill health and pronounced him a suicide.

Neighbors were "shocked" when they heard Berkman had been an anarchist. They said they knew him as a quiet, bald man who translated Russian books into English.

American Meets German Star In Duel For Title

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 7 (AP)—For the fifth time in her career, Helen Hull Jacobs fought a single point last year when she muffed the simplest kind of a smash against Mrs. Helen Willis Moody.

Almost without exception, the 14,000 spectators who watched Helen carefully chop her way to a triumph over the plump, plump-faced Mrs. Moody.

At the same time, after marveling at Frau Sperling's seven-league strides and deadly accuracy in disposing of Mrs. Simone Mathieu of France 6-3, 6-2, they realized Helen will have a mighty high jump.

Meanwhile, Fred Perry, defending champion, and Baron Gottfried von Cramm, who'll meet in the men's final tomorrow, took things easy. Perry's foot, blistered in his match against Day Good yesterday, were heavily taped.
