HEAT CAUSES 65 PER CENT GAIN IN CITY DEATH LISTS

Report Coincides With Estimates Showing Drought Damage to Crops Less Than Previously Forecast

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, July 25.—Reports that insects have caused a 65 per cent increase in the number of deaths in principal cities coincided today with estimates that drought damage to crops would be less than previously forecast.

Deaths in 86 large cities during the week ended July 18, the census bureau said, totaled 12,183 compared with 7,439 in the corresponding week a year ago.

The week in 1935 was normal with respect to temperature," the bureau said, "and from the standpoint of mortality the 1936 heat wave was much more severe than the 1924 wave."

Simultaneously, Jesse W. Tapp, chairman of the inter-departmental drought relief committee, estimated drought damage to certain crops than had been indicated by previous surveys.

Deciding Period—"The drought is beginning to tell on corn prospects in Nebraska and Kansas, and the plant is tasseling short in other important regions," Tapp said.

Government drought relief units looked to next week as a deciding period for many of their activities.

LONDON'S ADDRESS HELPS TO CLARIFY CAMPAIGN ISSUES

Tempo Quickens in Preliminaries to American Choice of Chief Executive, Judgment on New Deal Policies

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, July 25—Words from the candidates of the two major parties are outlining the political battlefield more clearly day by day. Governor Landon of Kansas has now stated the issue in the broadest aspect as he set forth his reaction to the various events this week to portend more constant gunning hereafter.

Both President Roosevelt and the Republican nominee plainly are leaving the future of their own party open to the future, but some details, such as in the attack and defense on questions of returning the farm to the farmer, and administration, already are shaping up steadily.

On Broad Grounds In the ultimate election between the general warfare, said Landon in accepting the nomination at Topeka, the most important question will be the power to delegate more and more power to the chief executive or do we desire to preserve the American form of government?

The choice the people must make in November as stated by the Democratic platform, is between a public administration that has and would again regiment them in the service of privileged groups and a Democratic administration dedicated to the establishment of equal economic opportunity for all our people.

Among recent developments which attracted attention was a conference in New York between John Hamilton, the Republican chairman, and Alfred E. Smith, the 1928 Democratic nominee, whose agreement to the new deal had been vehement.

The Roosevelt order putting all postmasteres under the civil service in New York, and in other ranks, while Senator Vandenberg (Mich.) called it a "great scheme to give life jobs to party incumbents."

Democratic Chairman Jim Farley reputedly "dodging" to Landon in the event of his election, and labor leaders found fault with the section on collective bargaining. The speech made at Topeka had the speech had a highly enthusiastic approval.

He worked there on arrangements for a series of speeches in which Colonel Frank Knox will accept the party's vice-presidential nomination. He will be in Topeka, Kan., to strike out on a western speaking tour.

TIMBERLAND BLAZE ISOLATES 56 MEN

Scores Battle Flames in Forests of Alberta and Saskatchewan

CALGARY, Alta., July 25 (AP)— Alberta and Saskatchewan lumbermen are busy spreading for the fire today.

Ranging on two widely-separated fronts, the fire swept eastward in Alberta, cutting scores of men were rushed into the area. More fire fighters were needed.

When the blaze broke yesterday at the summit of Middle Kootenay pass, near the Alberta-British Columbia boundary, men cut off from their base camp.

In northern Saskatchewan, numerous small fires were being held in check by the fire department, but a dangerous proportion, reports said. The fire hazard was high because of recent hot weather.

TEACHER ASKS TO REMAIN IN JAIL

Sheriff Announces Release of Slain Girl's Uncle

ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 25 (AP)—Sheriff Laurence E. Brown announced tonight he had released Ernest W. Clever, the uncle of a slain girl, from his hotel room here, but that the 34-year-old bachelor "chose" to remain in jail.

The sheriff told newspapermen "Professor Clever was released by me this afternoon, but he is voluntarily remaining in jail to cooperate with us in solving the murder of his niece."

"I feel rather unusual, isn't it?" the sheriff was asked. "Yes, it is."

"You mean to say Prof. Clever is in jail rather than in the jail hall in the city?" "I did not say that," the sheriff retorted.

No Charges Filed —Clever, dairy-specialist at N. C. state college who was in the body yesterday on his return from Ohio, where he attended the funeral of his niece, Clever, who was shot in her room at a fashionable hotel ten days ago.

Technical Release Given only two persons, Daniel H. Garvey, the hotel night watchman, and L. D. Roodly, Negro elevator boy, in custody.

No charges were filed against any of the persons detained in the case. The sheriff held simply "for questioning."

The sheriff said he "understood" a writ of habeas corpus for Professor Clever's release was drawn this afternoon.

When Prof. Clever found the sheriff's office, he was going to stay in jail until this thing is cleared up. He's staying with us voluntarily."

NIGHT CLUB OWNER IN KIDNAPING PLOT

Federal Grand Jury Convicts J. P. Peller of Part in Abduction

ST. PAUL, July 25 (AP)—A federal court jury tonight convicted John P. (Jack) Peller, night club owner, on a charge of conspiracy in the kidnaping of William Hamm Jr., St. Paul brewer.

Called by the grand jury of 12 men and one woman, reached its verdict nearly 25 hours after it received the case.

Federal Judge M. E. Joyce deferred sentence until next Wednesday and the defendant was released on the same bond of $25,000 for which he had been at liberty.

Named as "fingerman" Peller named as the "fingerman" in the abduction, had been indicted as one of seven conspirators. He led the only one who stood trial, after four had pleaded guilty.

They are Alvin Karpis, one-time America's public enemy number one; "Big Boy" Fitzgerald, Los Angeles, who pretended to shake hands with Hamm as he seized on July 17; and Byron Bolton, reportedly a machine gunner for the Barker-Karpis mob.

Two others, Arthur (Doc) Barker and Elmer Farmer, are serving terms in Alcatraz prison for the $200,000 kidnaping of Edmund O. Bremer, St. Paul banker, and were not to be named in the indictment.

Secret Protected —CLEVELAND, July 25 (AP)—Twenty-two years ago a modern clean Valetan escaped from the Oklahoma state reformatory at Granite, Okla., and after being located here police protected him last night.

When a telegram from the superintendent arrived at the Cleveland Jail, giving his Cleveland address, detectives went to his home and his past record was threatened to disrupt his future.

But Acting Detective Inspector Charles O. Nevel ordered him released, giving these reasons: "He is a man who, when a boy of 16, committed a burglary. After less than a year in the reformatory, he escaped."

"Worse than he has been a respectable citizen. He came to Cleveland five years ago and got and kept a job. He is married and has two children. He has no record since."

"Neither his wife nor his children know of his past. So far as I'm concerned, this man's secret is safe. He has served his last day in prison."

"I'm going to write a long letter to the Oklahoma authorities, telling them of his record and asking them to get about it and let him alone."

DEATH CLAIMS SON OF CHURCH LEADER

Colonel Willard Young, 84, Dies at Utah Home After Stroke

BALT LAKE CITY, July 25 (AP)—Colonel Willard Young, 84, son of Brigadier General Brigham Young, leader of the Latter Day Saints church, died today following a month's illness.

Death came just as all Utah completed a week of celebration of the 80th anniversary of the arrival in Utah of the pioneer.

Willard Young followed his famous father in active church work, becoming a high priest, but managed to combine with his religious interest a notable civil and military engineering career.

Graduating in 1876 from the military academy at West Point, he spent two years in geographical survey work. He then returned to West Point as instructor and later as professor in engineering.

On Columbia River In 1883 he went to Oregon to supervise construction of the Cascade locks and of river and harbor improvements. He had charge of the Mississippi river improvement project in 1900 and a year later resigned from the army to become president of Brigham Young college.

Appointed Utah adjutant general and national guard commander in 1896, Young re-entered the army to engage in the Spanish-American war as a colonel. He won commendation from President McKinley for sanitation work in Cuba. During the world war he had charge of army engineering projects on the Missouri, Osage, Gasconade and Kansas rivers.

He was born here April 30, 1852. Death followed a stroke suffered this morning. He is survived by his wife, Harriet Cooper Young; three daughters, Mrs. Nepli Morris, Mrs. Joseph Howell and Mrs. J. Allan Spencer, all of this city; a son, Jay Sidney Young, Fort Warren Wyoming; 14 grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

BORAH ENDORSES LONDON'S SPEECH

Idahoan Finds Assurance in General Principles Stated

BELLEVUE, Idaho, July 25 (AP)—William E. Borah, Republican candidate for the sixth consecutive term in the United States senate, said today he "liked" Governor Allan M. Landon's presidential nomination acceptance speech.

"I like the acceptance speech, more particularly because of its elevation of tone and its augur of freedom from mere attack on the opposition."

"Of course an acceptance speech cannot go into detail, but the general principles stated seemed to me assuring when details come to be dealt with."

The senator made his statement after studying the text of Landon's address.

Borah left this morning by automobile for Salmon City where he will participate tomorrow in the dedication of a monument on the site of the birthplace of Sacajawea—Shoshona—trader who was guided the Lewis and Clark expedition through the Rocky mountain wilderness more than 125 years ago.

Boy Enlists Aid To Rescue Sparrow

NEW YORK, July 25 (AP)— Seymour Miller, 19, called on a city's might—as well as the American Society for Prevention of Cruelty to animals—to save tomorrow a baby sparrow which had been wedged between window panes of an unoccupied apartment.

Seymour called the police, the fire department and finally the ASPCA. A fireman at great risk called a ladder to save the bird. Society gave it a cotton-lined cage and planned to release it Sunday.

NATIONAL PARK FOR IDAHO URGED

Four Reasons Given for Creation of Sawtooth Playground

BOISE, July 25 (AP)—A movement to create a national park in central Idaho gained impetus tonight.

R. C. Cole of Boise, president of the Idaho State Automobile association and the Idaho wild life federation, urged in a letter to the Idaho congressional delegation that the state should take action to create a national park in Idaho.

"Stanley basin with its thousand lakes, its massive Sawtooth range, its countless streams offering untapped fishing and its great timbered areas with its adjacent million-acre areas—offers an unusual opportunity for establishing a national park in Idaho," Cole wrote, adding:

Idaho Tops List

"Tourist travel is fast becoming one of the major industries of our country and Idaho is well equipped for all other states in facilities for fishing, hunting, camping, mountain climbing, nature studies, and winter sports, but is practically unknown to a large percentage of the people of this country."

Cole cited four reasons for creation of the park:

"First: Tourist travel is the state's third or fourth ranking business.

"Second: It can be enhanced even more certainly than agriculture, mining or timber.

"Third: Every other western state has from one to four national parks.

"Fourth: The Sawtooth and Stanley basins within our state surpassing those of any national park, and could be made into the most attractive of the country's recreational grounds."

OUR HOME TOWN

Main Street—and by that term, I mean all the business that goes on there to make up our business section, is a mirror that quality of progress of which we can and should be proud. Here is merchandising done in the most modern manner, and yet every transaction has, as its basis, a solid foundation of friendliness.

Fortunately we have rather more than our share of old-fashioned business men—men whose motto is that the customer is a friend. And they buy their merchandise because it is worthy to pass to friends.

The local merchant cannot advertise one thing and sell another and so he does not hide in many cases, he knows our needs better than we know them ourselves and he takes a personal interest in seeing that we get full value for every cent we spend with him. His critics may seem, at first glance slightly higher than the larger city stores are, but really we are wiser because we are pretty apt to get better values. And we are dealing with friends whose interests are the same as ours, in building up this community.

Next Sunday Mrs. White of the White Mortuary will comment on "Safety First."

MURDER TONIGHT

BY LAURENCE W. MEYNELL

Chapter 19
 "It's about this 'ere business on Monday night, mister," Alf Durley said to Hyton at the kitchen table. "What I told you about meeting the young gentleman who had the cigarette case was gospel, I swear to that. I bet you're all about when I left. I thought I ought to tell you of, like."

"What happened then?"
 "Well, mister, after the young gentleman had gone I thought to myself, 'All Durley where's yer supper?' and seeing I was near the big case up the hall, I thought I'd go up and see if there was anything doing."

"If you could steal anything," the Superintendent put in. "Go on."
 "I thought I'd see if there was anything doing. I mean the young boy was pretty close to 'em, but I'd thought so 'em in 'aving a look round, so up I went. There was the young fellow run up to the house from the lane and I was just about turning in there when I 'eard some-one whispering to the other. I took a bit into the shadow and in about 'alf a minute along comes the sergeant."

"The what?" Hyton asked.
 "The police sergeant from Enderton, the same one as you look me to see last night."
 "Hyton looked from Durley to the Superintendent. 'You're talking through your hat, Durley, you must have made a mistake.'"

"Not likely, I saw him as plain as day. I've seen Sergeant White about on the roads fifty times and I recognized him."
 "What time was this?"
 "Not many minutes after the 'ar'-hour."

"What half hour?"
 "The 'ar' hour, mister. I was in Enderton before eight."
 "Hyton stared at the tramp with a worried expression on his face. He was recalling vividly that unexplained moment in the police office when Alice had picked him up by the arm."

"You're kidding a yarn, Durley," he said suddenly. "What's at the back of it? What have you got against Sergeant White?"
 "I'm not to say, mister. It's the truth, I haven't got a thing against the sergeant. He's never 'ad me up or anything. All I know is the truth and that is Sergeant White comes down the back drive there as near after 'arf past seven Monday night as does any other."

"Supposing we pretend to believe you for a minute, what did you do then?"
 "Well, mister, Alf Durley said with great earnestness, "I beat it straight to the 'ops at Enderton. I was there before eight."
 "Why are you suddenly telling us this yarn, Durley?" Hyton asked.
 "This last night and another now."

"Because I've been thinking Miss White's 'ere business was the first thing I says to myself when I 'eard the old boy had been kilted was 'Killed your tongue, Alf Durley, then as don't speak the can't get into trouble, I says. All right, then comes yesterday, me asking for a bit of trouble, and I'm coming all this pack of trouble."

"It was fair put about I can tell you, specially when I'm coming all this pack of trouble."
 "I told the tale as I thought best at the moment, saying about going as near the big 'ouse that the end of the lane. But last night in the cell I 'ad time to think it all over, and I thought, 'suppose the sergeant saw me same time I was sent in.'"

"My Gawd, that put me in a sweat. I don't mind telling you, mister, I could see myself 'aving me bit of trouble, and I'm coming all this pack of trouble, and I'm coming all this pack of trouble."
 "I told the tale as I thought best at the moment, saying about going as near the big 'ouse that the end of the lane. But last night in the cell I 'ad time to think it all over, and I thought, 'suppose the sergeant saw me same time I was sent in.'"

"Well, what do you make of it?" the Superintendent asked.
 "Hyton shook his head. "I honestly don't know what to make of it. It must be 'yine of course, but why?"

"Why should he go to all this trouble to lie?"
 "Dammit, all that's just what I'm asking."
 "Unless he really is scared that White saw him there then."
 "But White wasn't there then, that's the whole point; he didn't get to the house until 'arf after nine, we know that."

"No that's right, Inspector. I wonder if White has had any dealings with Durley before—had him up for vagrancy or anything?"
 "He didn't say so last night, but it's possible."
 "Do you know, Inspector, I can't help thinking that fellow is telling the truth, somehow."
 "Who, Durley?" Hyton laughed.
 "Well, to put your mind to rest I'll go straight back to White and see what he says about the whole thing."

"Well, maybe that's best. Shall I order the car for you?"
 "Hyton stopped the car at the 'ops and sent it back from there. He was feeling so ravenously hungry that he decided his interview with the sergeant White could be postponed for twenty minutes. This interval was put to excellent use in the 'ar' room at the 'ops and it was a more cheerful Hyton who set out on foot later for the Police College."

frightened of?
 "White did know something about the man, for more certainly would have come to light before they could be taken. All that was left forward on the surface of his mind; underneath aided by the feeling of "consequence" with good food and tobacco, was the comfortable thought that when the Durley business was done he would be of class with Sergeant White would be a very pleasant thing."

No light was showing in front as the Inspector and the sergeant went round to the back. All this, too, was in darkness, rather to his surprise, surprise which was increased considerably when on making to knock on the kitchen door he found it to be locked."

He felt certain that the house would hardly be left unlocked with nobody in it and that the door being open he stepped inside and called "White."
 "His voice ran round the little kitchen and 'ad no answer. He went forward on the surface of his mind; underneath aided by the feeling of "consequence" with good food and tobacco, was the comfortable thought that when the Durley business was done he would be of class with Sergeant White would be a very pleasant thing."

Once again he called out "White" and once again there was no answer, he took a sudden pace into the kitchen to investigate and then abruptly stopped. His step had brought his face into contact with something on the floor and something which gave a bit to the touch. In complete bewilderment he put up his hand to examine the unexpected object, and found that it swung away from him with a ponderous faculty. His fingers encountered the roughness of serge cloth, the smooth roundness of a button.

"What the devil—" he muttered to himself and then stopped in a cold sweat of horror and fear.
 "Gawd," he swore stupidly to himself and without more ado backed away until he hit the kitchen wall and his hands touched the electric light switch.

The marvellous efficiency lit up the small kitchen. The table had been pushed, or kicked to one side, and what now adorned the centre of the room was the body of Sergeant James White, supported by a stout piece of rope from a tie rod that ran close to the ceiling.

"What the devil—" he muttered to himself and then stopped in a cold sweat of horror and fear.
 "Gawd," he swore stupidly to himself and without more ado backed away until he hit the kitchen wall and his hands touched the electric light switch.

"What the devil—" he muttered to himself and then stopped in a cold sweat of horror and fear.
 "Gawd," he swore stupidly to himself and without more ado backed away until he hit the kitchen wall and his hands touched the electric light switch.

The marvellous efficiency lit up the small kitchen. The table had been pushed, or kicked to one side, and what now adorned the centre of the room was the body of Sergeant James White, supported by a stout piece of rope from a tie rod that ran close to the ceiling.

"What the devil—" he muttered to himself and then stopped in a cold sweat of horror and fear.
 "Gawd," he swore stupidly to himself and without more ado backed away until he hit the kitchen wall and his hands touched the electric light switch.

He felt certain that the house would hardly be left unlocked with nobody in it and that the door being open he stepped inside and called "White."
 "His voice ran round the little kitchen and 'ad no answer. He went forward on the surface of his mind; underneath aided by the feeling of "consequence" with good food and tobacco, was the comfortable thought that when the Durley business was done he would be of class with Sergeant White would be a very pleasant thing."

Once again he called out "White" and once again there was no answer, he took a sudden pace into the kitchen to investigate and then abruptly stopped. His step had brought his face into contact with something on the floor and something which gave a bit to the touch. In complete bewilderment he put up his hand to examine the unexpected object, and found that it swung away from him with a ponderous faculty. His fingers encountered the roughness of serge cloth, the smooth roundness of a button.

"What the devil—" he muttered to himself and then stopped in a cold sweat of horror and fear.
 "Gawd," he swore stupidly to himself and without more ado backed away until he hit the kitchen wall and his hands touched the electric light switch.

REDMEN DENOUNCE U. S. INDIAN SERVICE

Federation Declares War On Communism and Atheism

SALT LAKE CITY, July 25 (AP)—The American Indian federation accused the federal Indian service today of "adopting regulations counter to federal statutes and Indian welfare."

The annual convention adopted this resolution and others, then elected Joseph Bruner of Sappa, Oklahoma, president; John Paconka, Rehoboth, New Mexico, first president; George Red Hawk, Pendleton, Oregon, second vice president; W. W. Le Flore, Bennington, Oklahoma, secretary; W. J. Coiro, Santa Isabel, California, treasurer; and Floyd O. Burnett, Happy Camp, California, resolution chairman.

The Indians adopted a resolution which said: "We solemnly pledge our lives, property, resources and everything we possess to the total fight for America, our homeland, and the preservation of Christianity and our American form of Christian government."

Right to Fish. Descendants of the once savage Redmen declared a fight to the finish on "communism and atheism."

The "wandering Americans" accused the Indian service of exercising "onerous jurisdiction" over tribal estates and charged Indians are deprived of legal resources.

The convention demanded repeal of the Wheeler-Howard act, which returns tribal administration from the federal government to the Indians.

They asserted the Indian service is "dominated and controlled by a few forces."

Proposed division of the vast Navajo reservation in Arizona and New Mexico was opposed. The members of the Warm Springs and Umatilla reservations in Oregon voiced protests against dam building in the Columbia river, which they interfere with fishing, they charged.

Idaho Indians suggested that the Mrs. F. H. Agnew be moved from Moscow to the reservation at Lapwai.

President Bruner said that a 1927 convention in city will be chosen next month.

MAKE THIS MODEL AT HOME

Twin Falls Daily News Pattern

BUTTONS ON A "SIDE LINE" TRIM; MID-SEASON SPORTS MODEL. PATTERN 2604

When Anne Adams decides to turn out something "different" in the way of a gay sports and runabout frock, she's apt to use buttons as a way out—as in Pattern 2604.

See what a lot of importance they receive at the smart side-closing! There's style aplenty in the trim, good skirt, comfort in the brief rayon creases and more than a dash of originality in the saucy, button collar. It's a frock you'll love, and find easy to make, in a narrow waist corset, shantung, washable neoprene synthetic or shirting. So send for this simple pattern today, and wear the frock right into Fall.

Pattern 2604 is available in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40. Size 18 takes 3 1/4 yards 36 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

SEND FIFTY CENTS (10c in coin or stamps) for this pattern. For Mrs. Adams' pattern, write to Mrs. Adams' Pattern Service, 1000 N. 1st St., Twin Falls, Idaho. Send for this simple pattern today, and wear the frock right into Fall.

PHILIPPINES DISCUSSED AT MEETING OF CLUB

Mrs. C. T. Burt, guest speaker at a meeting of the Knoll Home Betterment Club, Friday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Frank Johnson, discussed the customs and schools of the islands.

Mrs. R. K. Anderson conducted the business session in the absence of the president, Mrs. E. L. Taylor. Nineteen members responded to roll call by telling of their "pet economy" and voted to continue as a social club rather than a home economics class, and also voted to change the name of the club to the Emmanon Club.

Guests in addition to Mrs. Burt were Mrs. Mack Knoll, Miss Beth Rockwood, Mrs. E. L. Taylor, Misses Gertrude and Hollie Welch Clinton, Missouri; Misses Alice and Virginia Waddell, Mrs. E. J. Colbert and Mrs. Carol Holloway.

Mrs. Ray Jones and Mrs. D. R. Gathro assisted the hostess in serving refreshments.

NEEDLECRAFT CLUB PLANS AUGUST DINNER

Nine members of the Needlecraft club met with Mrs. C. H. Edred Friday. A short business session was held presided over by Mrs. Doss. The next meeting will be postponed.

Members of the club will meet at 8 o'clock the date to be published later. Refreshments will be served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. S. L. Denny.

CATHOLIC WOMEN'S LEAGUE ENTERTAINS

The lawn social sponsored by the Catholic Women's League Friday evening at the home of Mrs. E. L. Taylor, was largely attended by members of the parish and their friends.

The evening was spent socially playing games. Mrs. Mary Lopez, president of the league, was chairman of arrangements.

CALIFORNIA GUESTS HONORED AT DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. John Fishery and Jack and daughter, Donna, of Oakland, California, house guests of Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Dwight this week, were honored at a dinner at the Coliseum tea rooms Friday evening. Mrs. Charles Dwight was also present. Later a number of friends were entertained at the Dwight home.

WIDOW OF TEX RICHARD WEDS CHICAGO BROKER

CHICAGO, July 25 (AP)—Mrs. Maxine Richard, widow of George L. (Tex) Richard, the sports promoter, was married today to Thomas A. Gill, Chicago broker, at Our Lady of Mount Carmel church. Mrs. Gill who has been living in a hotel (the Belmont) here with her daughter, Maxine, 6, was the former Maxine Hodges of New York. She married Richard shortly after the Dempsey-Carpenter fight in 1920. Richard died in Miami in 1922.

Representatives From Four Towns Embark for Camp

One hundred Camp Fire girls, guardians and councilors from Twin Falls; 25 girls and councilors from Buhl and Caldwell, and ten Camp Fire girls from Boise will leave today for Casley Hot Springs on a week's outing. Mrs. Floyd Campbell, camp director, left yesterday to get into camp in readiness for the girls.

The first of the two insured buses will leave this morning at 9 o'clock from high school for the outing. The second bus, taking the Buhl and Caldwell girls, and any who were unable to find room on the morning bus, will leave at 3 o'clock for the Sawtooth mountains.

Girls will be assigned to their tents immediately upon registration at the camp. An outdoor supper Sunday evening will officially open the camp and classes will begin Monday morning.

A number of local residents are assisting the girls by taking extra luggage in their cars as far as Ketchum or Eagle.

Coming Events

RED CROSS—Twin Falls chapter, American Red Cross, will meet tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. W. L. Aldritt. Refreshments of all service clubs are urged to attend.

Court Strikes At Taxicab Racketeer

CHICAGO, July 25 (AP)—Judge Willis, 25, who said he was from Lincoln, Nebraska, explained to Judge Charles A. Green today how he ran up a $52,500 taxicab bill without riding in the cab.

Willis was brought into court yesterday by John Kilmoway, 22, cab driver, charged with failure to pay Judge Green, declaring the amount to be absurdly high, ordered both Willis and fare examined by the court psychiatrist.

Kilmoway said Willis hired the cab Monday night and rode in it until "Tuesday night 10 o'clock." Willis related that he met Kilmoway Monday night and the driver suggested they arrange a party in Willis' apartment. Willis said he agreed and they carried out the idea.

"Tuesday night I found Kilmoway had left the meter running all the while," Willis said.

Judge Green asked police to seize Kilmoway.

"A jail sentence will teach him and other cab drivers they can't victimize people visiting here," the judge said.

Lindbergh Delves In Nazi Air Laboratory

BERLIN, July 25 (AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh today indulged his passion for the scientific side of flying so freely that he missed a yachting trip.

The trip was scheduled, but the colonel was not willing to schedule when he visited the aviation research center of Adlershof, on the outskirts of Berlin.

It was late afternoon before he took his nose out of charts and machinery. By that time it was too late to sail.

"Almost secretly, the American flier entered the research center. For five hours with typical thoroughness, he examined the latest additions to German equipment for the study of airplane design and motor improvement.

Adlershof is one of four great research centers in Germany, being supported by the Hitler government for the study of airplane design and motor improvement.

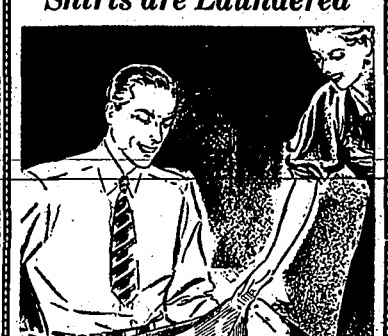

Judges Announce 14 Winners of Theater Tickets

If the numerous contest entries which taxed the judges to capacity are any criterion, there are hundreds of movie fans eagerly waiting an opportunity of seeing Kay Francis in her latest release, "The White Angel," opening a three-day engagement at the local Orpheum theater today.

Owing to the number of neat, complete and accurate replies to the contest, 14 awards of a pair of guest tickets each will be made by

The News in place of the former mentioned 10. If your name is listed among the winners in the following newspaper: call at the Twin Falls Daily News office Monday or Tuesday for your pair of guest tickets to see this outstanding attraction. The contest winners are as follows: Allice Peavey, 100 Seventh avenue north; Mrs. R. E. Leighton, 213 Fifth avenue north; W. R. Tiesse, Fifth avenue north; A. Eleanor Holm Jarrett Hurls Broadside At Officials Son Of Famous Turf Champion Wins $35,000 Arlington Classic

Aquatic Star Opens Bitter Attack After Last Hope Vanishes

Shapely New York Swimmer, Dismissed From Team, Charges U. S. Olympic Chiefs With 'Misconduct'

By ALAN GOULD
 (Associated Press Sports Editor)

BERLIN, July 25 (AP)—Eleanor Holm Jarrett heard tapes recorded by her Olympic swimming coach today and then attacked with a bitter verbal broadside at officials of the American Olympic committee.

Charges of misconduct on board the S. S. Manhattan en route to Berlin which led to her dismissal from the team were handed out at officials by the shapely 22-year-old New York aquatic speedster.

Militantly defending her own behavior, Eleanor charged officials "disgraced and miscondemned" themselves on the board and that "at least 100" other athletes were guilty of infractions of training rules during the ninety-day voyage.

She lashed her attack in a 700-word prepared statement after her last hope of reinstatement vanished when her name formally was withdrawn from the 100-meter backstroke event due to Los Angeles four years ago.

Foreign Athletes Watch Americans In First Workout

Cunningham, Owens, Torrance Draw Biggest Attendance During Strenuous Practice Session at Berlin

Among the officials she named Gustav T. Kirby, New York attorney and treasurer of the American Olympic committee, a mock marriage and mock trial, she declared, Kirby "so handled the Olympic having to do with making a mockery of the Olympic committee." Kirby said there was no general rule making among athletes, that the bar was open daily and nightly in two sections in which the athletes were quartered, and that "on at least one occasion the bar didn't close until well after midnight."

"Under such conditions how did the American Olympic committee expect to maintain such a high level of discipline, or condemn me because I was unwilling to make a secret of the fact that I like champagne?" she asked.

Mrs. Jarrett's statement failed to move Brundage to alter his decision. Called to Berlin to attend the Olympic committee, she said she was "not a member of the Olympic committee."

"It was necessary to convene two special meetings of the American Olympic committee aboard the Manhattan," she said, "to consider Mrs. Jarrett's condition and behavior in public."

"At the second meeting more than an hour was devoted to ascertaining the facts as to reports that Mrs. Jarrett, occupying a room with two young swimmers, could not be aroused by the team physician and the ship doctor."

"There was no difference of opinion among a score of leaders in college athletics and their decision was unanimous."

Allison To Quit 'Serious' Tennis

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—William Allison, national singles tennis champion, said today he would not defend his title this fall and that he definitely was through with "serious" tennis.

KIRBY DENIES CHARGES
 HAMBURG, Germany, July 25 (AP)—Gustav T. Kirby, treasurer of the American Olympic committee, today denied Eleanor Holm Jarrett's allegation that the mock marriage and mock trial staged aboard the S. S. Manhattan had entrance to Berlin was "shocking."

"All I have to say is that only an Olympic committee could do anything proper in the performance," Kirby said. "There was nothing to offend anybody. I acted the part of a judge and prosecuting attorney; the bride carried a bouquet of vegetables. We were all merry and the whole thing was done in a spirit of fun without anything offensive whatsoever."

Albion Normal's Coach Counts on Veteran Gridmen

Prospects Appear Bright For Panther Eleven; Teachers Face College of Idaho In Season's First Game

ALBION, July 25—Faced by one of the stiffest schedules in the history of the school, Coach O. H. Hill has begun to meditate over prospects for turning out a winning football team at Albion State Normal school this fall.

In respect to the apparently look bright for the Panthers this year, however, for in the ranks will be 15 lettermen from last years' grid outfit. On the other hand, the team is scheduled to be extremely light, five beefy regulars having graduated from the 1935 team's powerful line and Melvin Gruell, backfield ace, will not return.

Quarterbacks returning to lead the Panthers this fall are Gene Cooper, 160, Glenn Perry, and Max Dowling.

Returning at full will be Lee Lantz, 130, Glenn Perry, and at the half-back posts will be Sterling Macfarlane, 140, Albion; Cleo Short-house, 150, Castelfield; and Elpheth Hale, 145, Oakley.

Line men were graduated include Hedrick Rupert, regular center; Macy of Nampa, guard; Warren Bingham of Burley, tackle; Clarence Hughes of Hansen and Carl Osterhout, of Declo, ends.

In addition, Coach Hill expects several freshmen to show lively prospects—but expressed need-of-center, another fullback and tackle.

The schedule this fall includes nine games against College of Idaho, Westminster college, Gooding college, Montana School of Mines, Bala college, American University of Idaho, southern branch, Eastern Oregon Normal and Boise Junior college.

The schedule follows:
 Sept. 15—College of Idaho at Caldwell.
 Sept. 15—Westminster college at Albion.
 Oct. 3—Gooding college at Albion.
 Oct. 10—Montana Mines at Albion.
 Oct. 17—Ricks college at Burley.
 Oct. 24—Weber college (place undecided).

Nov. 6—U. S. S. B. at Pocatello.
 Nov. 11 or 14—Eastern Oregon Normal at Burley.
 Nov. 20—Boise Junior college at Albion.

Sportsmen Praise New Self-Cleaning Fish Screen Demonstrated At Hailey

By LYNN DUKE

Being demonstrated in a small stream at the present time, this week is a working model of a self-cleaning fish screen that is so revolutionary in principle that it is expected to revolutionize sportmen, who see in it a major step forward in fish conversation.

Simple in design to the last detail, it consists of an eight-foot by twelve-foot wooden box anchored to the bed of the stream; on the down stream end of the box revolves a large paddle wheel which drives a shaft to the upper end of the box. The shaft turns a horizontal arm across the front of the box to which are suspended smaller arms pulling a heavy metal scraper in a circular motion. The scraper moves across the bottom of the box, the arm turns and the scraper, with the motion of the paddle wheel, sweeps upward over the screen which is made of closely veined vertical wire mesh. As the scraper moves upward, it scrapes the screen and disposes of the debris in the box below where the paddle wheel pushes it to the stream.

periments in Hailey last Monday showed that strips of wet cardboard placed securely against the screen would throw up the debris but the scraper removed the obstruction in five minutes.

Did you ever fish in a irrigation ditch with a plichfork? If you have, you undoubtedly have heard the story about the catch that way, or how, when the water has been turned out of a canal, thousands of fish in the remaining pools were left to die as the water receded. The hope and despair of these clubs has been a fish screen across these canals—where the mass of screenings is sometimes estimated at high as 75 per cent—that would check the fish and remain free of debris without requiring attention. Granville Scores Smashing Victory On Chicago Track

William Woodward's Speedy Colt Captures Three-Year-Old Championship Before Crowd of 30,000

By CHARLES DUNKLEY
 (Associated Press Sports Writer)

CHICAGO, July 25 (AP)—Granville, now nine years old, won the muzzling gate down in Kentucky, sent another of his sons out to win the $35,000 Arlington classic today.

Granville, son of the famous champion of 1930, rolled along into the three year old championship of the American turf before 30,000 cheering spectators at Arlington park by defeating Mr. Bone, by two and one half lengths. Hollywood, who third, a half length back of Mr. Bone, and four lengths ahead of Count Morse, which finished fourth. Memory Book was fifth in the field of 12.

Granville, carrying top weight of 126 pounds ran the mile and a quarter in 2:05 1/2.

Three For Woodward
 As a result of Granville's victory, Woodward, New York banker, achieved the proud distinction of winning the famous Arlington classic three times. He captured the honors with Granville in 1930, and last year, another son of Grant Fox, Omaha, repeated for owner Woodward.

Today's race had a gross value of $35,252, and of this amount $24,000 went to Woodward, owner of the Star stud. Mr. Bone earned $400 for John Jay Whilney of New York by finishing second; Hollywood received $200 and Count Morse took down $100.

a 70 over the 72 par course, while Lewis and Colwell recorded a 69.

Vray Cracks Par
 For Vray it was even a greater triumph. The Magic City veteran, playing "the lie" with a two stroke penalty for every move of the ball, smashed par to his as he recorded a 34. Stone followed close behind with a par 36 while Lewis shot a 43 and Colwell a 42.

"To date the unbeaten ace has downed Dewey Hutchinson and Jimmy Winterholler, Fred Huth and Jack Moss, A. C. Campbell and J. O. Tolson, Mel Ouffert and "Sprout" Leichter. Rupert Williamson and Charley Casey, who also admit that they "pretty fair."

Amateur Golfer Annexes Crown

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 25 (AP)—Ken Black, young Canadian amateur, won the $2,000 Vancouver Golden Jubilee golf championship today, cracking par on the last 18 holes of the 72-hole route with a 63, a new British Columbia championship record.

Black's total of 275 for the tournament was 13 strokes under par. His last 18-hole score was 9 strokes under par.

Black's dizzy round of birdies and pars gave him a new course record scarcely 24 hours after Lawson Little, former amateur King, had cracked the former mark with a 61-in yesterday's 18-hole round.

Jimmy Thomson, Shawnee-Ontario, Pa., and Byron Nelson, Ridgeway, N. J., professional, tied with totals of 278 for second place in the field and top spot among the pros.

AUTO CRASH FATAL TO BUHL MECHANIC

Donald McKibben Dies of Injuries in Accident On Grade

Donald McKibben, 30, Buhl mechanic and operator of several threshing machines, died as a result of injuries received Saturday afternoon from concussion of the brain and severe internal injuries received Friday evening when the car in which he was riding overturned at the top of Banbury grade, 12 miles northwest of Twin Falls.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the Evans and Johnson funeral chapel in Buhl, Rev. C. G. Goldstein officiating. The casket will be in place at the service but will not be opened as the body cannot be viewed Monday afternoon and on Tuesday morning from 9 to 10:30 o'clock.

The accident occurred at 1 o'clock Friday evening when the car, which McKibben was driving, failed to make a turn and crashed into a concrete curb. He was taken to his home at the Clinton hotel in Buhl and Saturday morning was brought to the hospital at Twin Falls and died following the accident.

McKibben was born March 1, 1906 at Clarkston, Washington, and came to Buhl 20 years ago from Parma, Idaho. He attended the high school and at the time of his death was a mechanic and operated several threshing machines in the district.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Blanche Dutton of Caldwell; a sister, Miss Ruth McKibben of Caldwell; a cousin, Mrs. Emma McKibben of Piler, Warren McKibben and Harold McKibben, both of Buhl, and Walter McKibben of Caldwell. His father preceded him in death several years ago.

IDAHO SOCIALISTS TO MEET IN TWIN FALLS

IDAHO FALLS, July 25 (AP)—Dr. George Woodruff, state secretary of the Socialist party, said today that the party nominating convention will be held at Twin Falls Monday and Tuesday. Woodruff said that the party will be held at Boise as previously announced.

George A. Henson, of Wisconsin, socialist vice-presidential candidate, may be a speaker, he said.

BISHOP ENDORSES COUGHLIN'S WORDS

Turning to other subjects, Father Coughlin predicted that an election code deadlock would force the election of a president and vice-president into the laps of old newspapers. He said that the present newspaper that the Union party, and its candidate for the presidency, Representative William Lemke of North Dakota, would gain enough electoral votes to keep either the Republican or the Democratic party in a minority of votes in the electoral college.

The Republican party is rapidly qualifying for a place in a museum, he said. "As for the Democratic party, it has altered the spelling of its name until it is now spelled 'sojourn.'" You've got to take it as a joke."

Spain Blocks Rebels in North, Turns Wrath On Revolving Fascist Strongholds in South

More than 150 American refugees remained inside the embassy at Madrid, awaiting evacuation. Their situation was reported to the state department as "satisfactory" with no serious trouble expected unless troops "ran wild" in the street.

Government Claims MADRID, July 25 (AP)—The Spanish government, in an international broadcast early today, claimed the nine-day-old rebellion was clearly dominated by loyal forces and that rebel centers would be suppressed in a few days.

Albacete, key city in the south-east, was captured from rebels last night after the government forces, supported by government planes, the administration of Premier Jose Giral Pizarra asserted.

The important northern cities of Cadix, Seville and Cordoba were surrounded by the liberal regime's forces and the government declared, adding that victory at those points was certain.

Four main gateways to Madrid were blocked by strong government forces.

TWIN FALLS PAINTERS AT WORK ON DEPOTS

Twin Falls painters, under a contract awarded by the Union Pacific system, have begun painting of the Oregon Street bus passenger depot in Twin Falls.

The contract was awarded to H. H. White of Twin Falls. It provides for painting of both exterior and interior of the passenger depot, and redecorating of the freight depot interior.

The other group in Buhl attending the camp is Ankiya and the following girls will attend: Billie Anon, Dorothy Allen, Beas Webster, Doris Venier, Kathleen Orr, Harriette Holmes, Marion Wilson, Marjorie King and Billie Lou Van Ripper. This group will not attend the camp but Mrs. C. O. Will will be chaperone for the girls until Wednesday and then Mrs. H. Rose Wilson will be with the girls the remainder of the camp.

All the girls will leave Buhl Sunday afternoon at two o'clock and will meet the girls from Twin Falls at the camp and they will all go to the camp on Monday. The camp is also planning on attending the camp from Castleton.

SHIPLEY TO COMMAND KIMBERLY LEGION POST

KIMBERLY, July 25.—Demp Shipley was elected commander of Kimberly post, American Legion, here Thursday evening, succeeding Lee Fancher.

Other officers named include Harold Broadhead, adjutant; E. Emerson, vice commander; C. Arnold, sergeant-at-arms, and Floyd Stewart, chaplain.

Shipley, Fancher and Emerson were elected delegates to the state convention to be held at Idaho Falls August 9 to 12.

The liberals sought to solidify their control over the three jagged pieces which attacking fascists sought vainly to penetrate in bloody clashes during the past three days.

Three separate movements plunged toward Zaragoza—already reported to have been captured by the rebel forces—were reported to have been taken near Zaragoza declared.

Orledo, chief city of the Asturias, was reported in the hands of the rebel, Colonel Aranda, the stated after pretending to lead liberal fighting units through its streets.

CHAMBER PREPARES TO WELCOME PLANE

Capital Airlines Service Opens With Test Flight Along Route

Pomp and ceremony will greet the beginning of air passenger and express service to Twin Falls Tuesday when the Capital Airlines plane arrives to inaugurate the daily schedule between Boise,ampa, Twin Falls, Burley and Pocatello, according to announcement last night by O. T. Koster, chairman of Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce transportation committee.

The first run will not be on the regular schedule, which according to Harry J. Creswell, Boise, general manager, will start the following day.

A large crowd is expected to greet the plane Tuesday and Koster last night urged that all Twin Falls residents be on hand to assure a rousing turnout. The plane will arrive 10:15 a. m. for a stop of 25 minutes and the program will include a speaker yet to be named, Koster said.

Passenger Travel Making the initial trip will be Harry J. York, Boise postmaster; Austin E. Anon, Nampa secretary of the Idaho Shippers' association; and Walter York, Boise postmaster. Chamber of Commerce, Bob King of Boise, regular pilot, will make the flight.

Plans are under way for improvements at the local airport and L. O. Dean, Twin Falls, president of the corporation, has announced that negotiations are being made to secure a contract to carry mail.

The plane is a radio equipped biplane with a cruising speed of 170 miles per hour.

HAGERMAN MOTORIST INJURED IN COLLISION

An army medical officer at the CCC camp at Hagerman early yesterday morning picked up a motorist and gravel out of a deep gash in the arm of Harry Leymore, Jr., 37, of O. G. Goldwater, who collided with another automobile driven by Mrs. Viola Clegg of Glenns Ferry at a curve on the highway north of Hagerman.

Mrs. Clegg and an 11-year-old girl, Mercedes, were in the car with her, escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

Leymore's companion, Albert Mayfield, fled from the scene and was found by officers in his bed at home, declared that he had not been in the car.

The Crock of Gold

James Stephens tells us, in his beloved story, that the Crock of Gold is gathered by the little elves of Ireland to use as an answer in case they are taken captive by a human. At the end of our rainbow we, too, keep a crock of gold filled with reliable medicine, given us by our physician to guard against disease.
