FOREST AND BRUSH FIRES RAGE IN SIX NORTHWEST STATES

70 Business Structures, One Residence and Church Leveled By Flames at Seneca, South Dakota

(By The Associated Press)
ST. PAUL, Aug. 1.—A new crisis in the fire menace linked with the dry weather developed tonight, with flames raging in scattered areas of six northwest states.

Forest and brush fires ravaged parts of Montana, Minnesota, Michigan and Wisconsin while prairie fires in South Dakota and North Dakota proved troublesome. Destruction of twelve buildings in Seneca, South Dakota, was attributed, first reports stated, to grass fire. Ten business structures, a church and one residence were leveled.

300 Homes Threatened
Late tonight, just off the north shore of Lake Superior, was the scene of a forest fire that had destroyed thousands of cords of pulpwood and was being fought by conservation department employees from Michigan. Help also was summoned from Minnesota.

Flames, burning through timber and grass lands, threatened dozens of homes at Seneca, South Dakota, and were checked only when a shower fell in the late afternoon. A few miles east of Seneca, which is about 25 miles from the border, flames three hundred men fought flames sweeping through brush and swamp land.

In northwestern Wisconsin, near the south shore of Lake Superior, the fire broke out near a resort including buildings called the "Summer White House" in 1922 when the late President Coolidge vacationed there.

Firemen and volunteers halted a main fire near a lodge. Wooded areas which included a barn and destroyed hay.

HUNGER FAILS TO BREAK SPIRIT OF RIOTING CONVICTS

Yells and Shattering of Window Panes Echo From Cell Blocks of Oregon Penitentiary at Salem

(By The Associated Press)
SALMON, Aug. 1.—Parings of hunger failed to break the rioting spirit of 700 convicts at the Oregon penitentiary tonight and yells, accompanied by shattering of window panes, echoed from cell blocks where the defiant prisoners retreated yesterday following an unsuccessful escape attempt.

The 12 leaders of the revolt, staged in protest against a court ruling barring automatic release on good time credits, were in the "bull pen," taken there after the riot was quashed with the aid of state police. One prisoner was killed and two others wounded seriously.

Warden James Lewis refused dinner to the rioters last night and they were given no food blocks. Preparations were made for trouble when the first meal is served, possibly Sunday morning, and the convicts file to the dining room.

Guards Unsuccessful
Guards, working in pairs, patrolled the cell blocks, armed with small tear gas guns, and attempted to quiet the defiance of the rioters, but met with little success.

An inquest into the death of the prisoner, Thomas Baugh, 30, shot through the abdomen, will be held Monday.

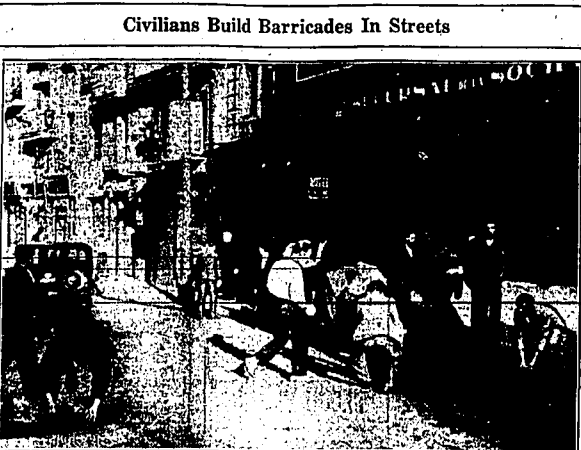

The condition of James Hamilton, 36, who was shot through the lung, continued critical tonight. Joseph Dupuy, sentenced to two years for burglary in Portland, was shot through the hand.

Deprived of groceries and various weapons, taken from the commissary and butcher shop, the convicts continued breaking windows by hurling shoes, snuff boxes and other materials from the cells.

Government Builds Fingerprint Files

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—The justice department reported today its civil identification section had recorded fingerprints of more than 150,000 men and women volunteers in an effort to protect persons against burial as unknown dead or wandering the country as victims of amnesia.

The section, established in 1933, filed during June the fingerprint cards of 16,347 persons.

WIFE FILES CHARGE AGAINST DRUG HEIR

Wealthy Chicagoan Accused Of Taking Children In Violation of Order

CHICAGO, Aug. 1 (AP)—Cornelius Peter Van Schack, 27, drug fortune heir, was arrested tonight on a charge of disorderly conduct on his estranged wife's accusation that he carried off their two young children.

He was held on that charge by Police Magistrate J. J. Peters, of suburban Wilmette, after Peters refused to issue a warrant Mrs. Van Schack offered to sign on a kidnapping charge.

The magistrate ruled there was not sufficient evidence to support an abduction charge.

Van Schack, who admitted taking the children, Arden Clair, 4, and Cornelius Peter, 3, from their mother's home and returning them two hours later, was held in $50 bond to await hearing on the disorderly conduct charge.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (AP)—The Dancing Masters of America, Inc., opening its 53rd annual convention here Sunday, is all set to present to the country a new "alphabet dance" in which a couple forms letters while whirling across the floor to fast "swing" music—that is, if the masters' ballroom faculty approves.

The dance, an official spokesman for the association said today, had been "created" and is ready for the faculty verdict.

It is a dance that is faster than the fox trot and the letters of the alphabet are formed by the couple—both by them and by the shadows on the floor.

GIRL CONFESSES HATCHET MURDER

Police Chief Reports Radio Religious Hour Singer First to 'Break'

BAYONNE, N. J., Aug. 1 (AP)—Clayde MacKnight, 17, called the "most cold blooded girl" he had ever seen by Chief of Police Cornelius O'Neill, calmly confessed today she hacked her mother to death with a hatchet while her young sweetheart cried "kill her again."

A late supper which delayed their tennis game was blamed by the pair, Chief O'Neill said, for the quarrel between mother and daughter, which preceded the slaying in the kitchen of the MacKnight home.

After signing statements describing the arrangement at which she and her companion, Donald Wightman, 18, radio religious hour singer, were ordered held on first degree murder charges.

Contending Forces Spill Fresh Blood On Far Flung Front

Madrid Gathers Strength To Withstand Expected Assaults From Northern Rebel Army Battling Through Mountains

(By The Associated Press)
Fresh blood was spilled last night by Fascist and Loyalist Spanish troops locked in combat over control of the Spanish republic.

Bitter guerrilla fighting occurred north of Madrid where the depleted ranks of General Emilio Mola's legions met with the challenge of government militias standing with their backs to the capital city.

Fresh troops poured into Robledo, Mola's headquarters 40 miles north of the city.

Government militia converged on Zamora, northwestern Spain rebel meeting ground. The Fascists encircled there were determined to consolidate what they had described as fresh gains in north central Spain.

Loyalists at Barcelona, threw up a barricade against a feared rebel attack by land, sea and air as troops up to now had been in insurance against assault were dispatched to Zaragoza to help crush the revolt.

An appeal to world powers from France to insure non-intervention in the civil war was coupled with a warning to any nations backing the rebels.

The government announced it had been "forced" to reserve loyalty to the leftist government after an investigation showed "foreign powers" were sending war materials to rebels. The countries involved were not named.

Great Britain, a high authority said, welcomed the plea for strict neutrality and strongly supported the move.

Planes Carry Troops
General Francisco Franco, generalissimo of the rebel force, was prepared to pour more troops on to the Spanish peninsula from Spanish Morocco by airplane.

Details of the seizure of the two motor planes reached the department of state with advice that 85 American refugees from Franco's fascist regime from Madrid had been taken into the United States by the heavy cruiser Quibrey and that 40 others from Palma de Mallorca islands had been safe.

FRANCE PROTESTS AID FOR FASCISTS

Frenchmen Given Permission to Fight for Loyalist Spain

PARIS, Aug. 1 (AP)—France tonight launched an appeal to world powers not to intervene in Spain's civil war, coupled with a warning to any nations backing the rebels.

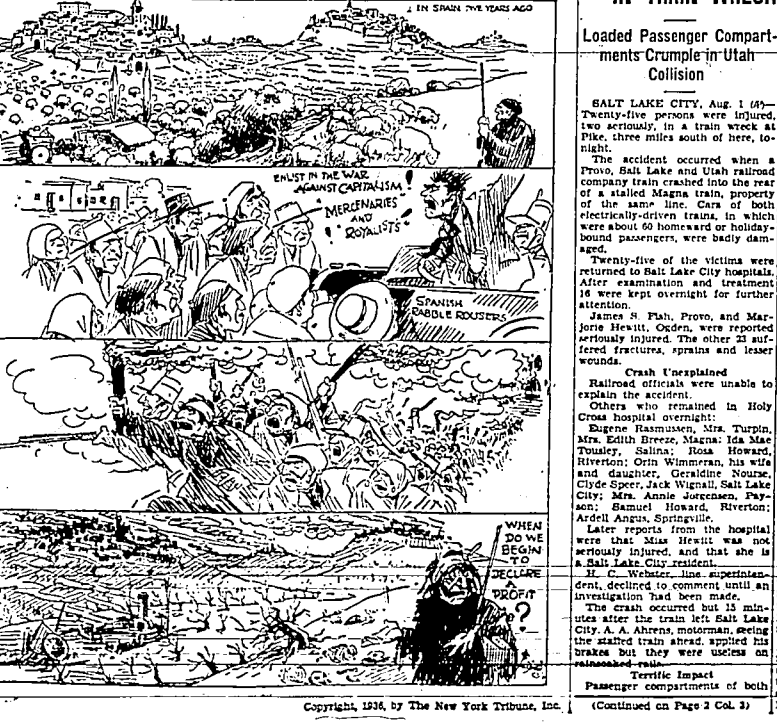

The government officially announced its investigation had shown the rebels were receiving supplies from the Spanish republic.

The statement followed an investigation of the rebels' aid was given to Madrid by an authorization for Frenchmen to fight against Spanish Fascists.

French citizens can fight in the civil war if they carry "regular passports." But diplomatic sources said passport stipulations effectively limited volunteers to those who met with the approval of representative of the British government.

Telegrams were sent to Rome and London, officials asserted, urging the British government to join the Spanish civil war. Similar offers will be sent to other powers if Britain and Italy agree to the plan, it was said.

END OF LOGGING STRIKE FORECAST

J. W. W. Official Hints at Settlement of North Idaho Dispute

SPOKANE, Aug. 1 (AP)—J. W. W. official hints at settlement of the logging strike in the north Idaho area. The official said the strike is settled next week. He said the strikers' principal demand is for improved living conditions in the camps. He said C. L. Billings, of Lewiston, general manager of the Weyerhaeuser operation in the strike zone, expected the camps this week. Billings has refused to discuss the strike.

"The boys are determined to remain on the picket lines," Glover declared. He said he had sent financial assistance from the Weyerhaeuser company to the strikers. He said, "are going to serve their time. It wouldn't take long to deplete our funds if we started paying fines."

They had sent $225.00 to the strikers. An I.W.W. bulletin charged the Weyerhaeuser company with the strike zone. The company's headquarters are far below the government specifications for CCC camps.

Government standards for CCC barracks, which are no palaces, required 60 square feet of floor space per man, 72 cubic feet of air space, the bulletin contended. The bulletin said the men at camp in the headquarters are crowded in old barracks, where "each man has not more than 20 cubic feet of floor space and less than 20 square feet of floor space."

POCATELLO STRIKE CLOSES TWO CAFES

Women Take Up Picket Duty When Waitresses Walk Out

POCATELLO, Aug. 1 (AP)—Two leading Pocatello cafes were closed and four others were being picketed today by women strikers when waitresses walked out over a wage dispute.

"We have reached an agreement with Pocatello's Culinary Alliance, local No. 510, on a new contract, proprietors of Fred's cafe closed during the rush hour around noon when the help struck, and the Manhattan closed in the early evening, just before pickets took up their march at the entrance.

Pickets patrolled four other cafes that remained open.

One eating establishment was understood to have met demands for a raise of pay from $2 to $2.50 for an eight-hour day and six-day week.

Apparently ready to oppose demands of the strikers, the pioneer restaurant of Pocatello, advertised for new help and hung a sign in the door, "Closed for re-training today."

President Wants Greater Numbers Taken From Relief Ranks

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 1 (AP)—After a personal checkup on flood control and relief situations in Vermont and New Hampshire today, President Roosevelt told newspapermen he was going to insist on a larger ratio of relief workers being employed on PWA projects.

He said he found only 61 per cent of the labor on Vermont PWA projects was coming from relief rolls and only 53 per cent in New Hampshire.

"This was entirely too low," he added. "As far as it goes, it was going to be more hardheaded in the future and insist that greater numbers be taken from PWA lists before approving any more projects under the PWA revolving fund sections of the 1933 relief act."

Before heading for a special train at Hanover, New Hampshire, for his third state conference of the day at Springfield, Massachusetts, the president made an automobile inspection tour of large flood control dams planned for New England.

The president arrived late tonight at the home here he left July 31 on his two weeks sailing cruise in the Pacific.

He expects to remain at the family estate on the Hudson until sometime next week, when he will return to Washington.

BOYS BREAK CAMP AT INDEPENDENCE

Raleigh W. Smedley Leads Four Burley Troops on Week's Outing

BURLEY, Aug. 1—Boy Scouts from four Burley troops who have spent the past week at Camp Independence will break camp today, returning to their homes. The successful outing trip has been directed by Raleigh W. Smedley, camp director last year, who was assisted to lead the Idaho jamboree troop to Washington, D. C., and who took 18 boys on a trip to Washington, D. C., and New York city when the jamboree was cancelled.

Surprise religious services will feature Sunday's camp activities. Saturday evening the boys were given opportunity to put into practice the knowledge they had acquired in sign, knotting, and other scoutcraft in which they were given instruction during the camp, which opened July 27.

Various Activities

The initial camp fire program was held last Monday evening, following the setting-up of camp, which occupied the opening day. Monday was spent in instruction in scoutcraft in individual troop hikes on Tuesday.

A nature study hike, conducted by the camp director, a camp fire song fest and individual troop stunts marked the program Wednesday. The camp was closed Thursday, when the boys were given instruction in scoutcraft in individual troop hikes on Tuesday.

HEAVY RAIN MAKES FLOOD IN STREETS

Downpour Drenches Jerome And Twin Falls; No Rain at Burley

A drenching downpour struck Twin Falls shortly before 7 o'clock today, continuing for 20 minutes and then abated as suddenly as it had begun leaving many residential streets completely flooded.

As automobiles plowed through the streets, some taking the appearance of canyons, street department workers batted in vain against the flood waters. Every manhole along the streets was opened in an effort to take care of the overflow, but the flood continued until it finally ran out its course at the city limits to the west of Twin Falls.

Burley meanwhile, reported not even a trace of rain, but Jerome reports that the morning rain was considerable and that the rain, along with a heavy rainfall that lasted for a period of two hours.

New Treatment Fatal To Growth of Noxious Weeds

A successful method for control of noxious weeds, sought for years by the state department of agriculture, has apparently been discovered if results on a farm owned by A. J. Penney, Twin Falls, Idaho, are confirmed.

The treatment, introduced first in this part of the state approximately a month ago by H. B. Penney, was applied to the weeds of southern Idaho territory, between Boise and the Wyoming line, is a product of California Spray Chemical corporation and is called "Pen-tol."

Applied in solution form with a pump sprayer at the Penney farm a week ago, an inspection trip yesterday revealed that three-fourths of an acre of morning glory and a half-acre of Canada thistle had apparently been completely killed.

And to obtain complete assurance that the treatment has no ill effect upon the soil, Mr. Penney yesterday had the morning glory patch sprayed with a solution of the same material.

Monday expects to start cultivation for planting oats.

THIRTEEN TREATED

Next came the field of Canadian thistles, sprayed at the same time as the morning glory patch. Two small areas in the center of the field were found to be free of vegetation and it was explained that four years ago Canadian thistles had been sprayed with the same material and that a gas treatment had been administered. Since that time no form of vegetation has grown on the patch.

But on all sides of the two small areas, the field was choked with nothing but the thistles, and a deep brown and apparently dead. Inspection of the roots of many of the plants revealed that they actually were entirely dead, while on others there was evidence that the weed was still working down to the bottom of the roots.

Definite Killer

Mr. Long pointed out, however, that while the treatment is guaranteed as a definite killer of the morning glory it is still in an experimental stage so far as thistles are concerned, although it appears to be effective.

Forty parts of water to one part of the material was used in spraying the two patches, the treatment being administered at night by using a pump sprayer. Three or four inches of rain were reported as having fallen, and successful treatment. The ground must be completely covered by the plants must be mature and the leaves must be completely sprayed.

After treatment to the morning glory plants, Mr. Long said, the tops die within 24 hours while it usually takes several days for a complete kill of the roots.

Eye On Fire

HAVER, Mont., Aug. 1 (AP)—Fire in the Rocky Mountain forest, which killed three men and destroyed three villages during the past week, were reported "almost under control" today by forest service officials who turned their attention to rumors of incendiaries.

W. B. Willey, supervisor of the Lewis and Clark national forest, said the fires had "just about reached their natural limit" after having burned over more than 30,000 acres of green timber on a 25-mile front.

Therrell R. Campbell, of Phillips county, and Willey, both in investigation with Indian service officials into the rumors that the fire, the first in the area since Lodge Pole canyon area, was incendiary.

The little mining villages of Landusky and Zortman and the Port Belknap logging reservation near Hays, all situated on the flames rushed to their doors, apparently escaped from destruction when the fire, which had been scattered the flames late last night. The more than 600 residents who made their way to the town of Hays, returned immediately to their homes, however.

By being the first to accomplish the feat of flying from the west to the east, Chaney was responsible for a direct move in the progress of aviation. He was interested toward flying is said to have been partly inspired by the stories of Berliot's early life. When Chaney was 15, he was a second lieutenant in the French army and was shot down in the air. He was captured and taken to the United States. He was held in the United States for a long time. Ross Wants People to Decide Fate of State Sales Tax

BOISE, Aug. 1 (AP) — Governor C. Ben Ross signed today 14 bills passed by the third extraordinary session of the state legislature during the four-day session that ended last night.

They provided for $400,000 for relief, an unemployment insurance fund, several supplemental appropriations, legalization of county and city participating in state and federal relief activity programs and the cleanup of legislative business.

The governor commended the session for "speedy action on vital measures" and prepared to leave on a week's tour of the state before the primary election August 11.

Speaks at Wendell

Tomorrow, he said, he will go to Wendell to address the annual turkey-growers' meeting.

Regarding criticism of the lawmakers for his sponsorship of the sales tax before it was passed by the 1935 legislature, he said:

"I want the people to decide at the referendum next November 3 if they want this law. I still am in favor of any tax that will reduce the burden on the property owner. Monday the governor will go north to speak at Coeur d'Alene, Sandpoint, Bonners Ferry and Orofino. At Orofino, he said, he will confer with parties negotiating for settlement of the lumbermen's strike, which he predicted "will be peacefully settled soon."

Eight of the 12 state traffic officers assigned to the strike districts are being withdrawn, he said.

'ROMEO AND JULIET' MAY MARK
ERA OF SHAKESPEAREAN MOVIES

Norma Shearer's hair is arranged in medieval style as she plays Juliet in Hollywood's latest Shakespearean production.

BY HUBBARD KEAY
HOLLYWOOD — This land of make-believe is of the opinion that M. G. M.'s production of "Romeo and Juliet" will determine, more or less permanently, whether Shakespeare is motion picture box office.

The picture was previewed for a selected audience the other night. This audience came away from the interrupted two-hour presentation with much to praise for its splendid photography, its elaborate settings, its beautiful costumes, its apparent fidelity to the original.

It granted that Norma Shearer is a beautiful Juliet, perhaps the most beautiful, and it surprised some that she seemed fully to comprehend the unaccustomed dialog. It agreed that Romeo, in the person of 22-year-old Leslie Howard, was most convincing. It complimented scenery-chewing John Barrymore for his Mercutio (even though it couldn't always understand him) and it applauded others of the cast.

Scores of Statues
The other include Basil Rathbone as Tybalt; Edna May Oliver as Juliet's nurse; C. Aubrey Smith as the Bishop; Roy Wood officiating. During the services C. G. Stallings sang two numbers: "One Sweet Summer" and "I'll Be Home Again." Mrs. Carrie Rappleye and her daughter, Brenna, sang a duet, "Whispering Hope." Bishop J. M. Hunt also spoke during the services.

Pallbearers were Opal Wood, Mary Cox, Isabel Hansen and Miss Jensen. Flower girls were Vivian Paul, Billy Paul, Verda Hunt, Betty Stallings, Lawrence Wood, Bernice Hare, Luella Cox, Helen Allenbach, Donna Rappleye, Mary Lou Hansen, Alton Mallory, Deloris Haxman, Helen Watkins and Vesta Maushin.

Edna June Law died at the Twin Falls hospital on Wednesday morning from the effects of streptococcal infection from an insect bite. She was born June 27, 1928 in Buhl and was a member of the L.D.S. church.

Surviving, besides the parents are three sons, and one daughter.

SIX DECADES BACK

By CHARLES SHIRLEY WALGAMOTT

A Series of Historical Sketches of Early Days in Southern Idaho

(Last Sunday Mr. Walgamott described the system of stations built on the Ben Hallyday stage line in 1853 and 1854.)

At Rock Creek
Desert Station was so named on account of being situated on the edge of the desert at the last water available to the west until Snake River or Mud Springs, eighteen miles distant, was reached. Desert Station was built on the brink of Rock Creek Canyon, the walls of which are almost perpendicular and more than half a hundred feet high. The water supply came from Rock Creek by means of a rope or whip carrying a large bucket or barrel and hoisted by a horse. Desert Station was a relay station, and like the others was built of lava. In its construction mud was used in lieu of mortar, and as a precaution against Indian attack, which caused considerable trouble at that time, provision was made for portholes by fitting without mud and at a convenient height on the outside wall every four or five feet blocks of lava that could be easily removed. Many thirsty travelers from the west, after crossing the desert, would give thanks when they reached Desert Station.

Present Appearance Deceptive
The building of the Oregon Short Line Railway on the north side of Snake River in 1883 replaced the mail and wagon transportation through the south side of Snake River. As Desert Station was situated on no-man's land, and its roof had become decayed from age, heavy fall of snow in its dirt roof caused it to cave in. Later, when sheep were brought into the country, some shepherds, who spent several winters there, procured rock from the old station walls, and with the remaining rock, built a corral sufficiently large to hold their sheep at night. Soon the roof of this building fell in, and the walls that had been thrown together by means of a rope or whip carrying a large bucket or barrel and hoisted by a horse. Desert Station was a relay station, and like the others was built of lava. In its construction mud was used in lieu of mortar, and as a precaution against Indian attack, which caused considerable trouble at that time, provision was made for portholes by fitting without mud and at a convenient height on the outside wall every four or five feet blocks of lava that could be easily removed. Many thirsty travelers from the west, after crossing the desert, would give thanks when they reached Desert Station.

I understand that the patriotic ladies of the Daughters of the American Revolution are seriously considering, or have taken, steps for the reconstruction of this station. This would be a most commendable act. Desert Station is one of the very important historical points in southern Idaho.

Document Found
Renard Mee, son of Judge Mee.

while driving past these old ruins one March day, stopped thoughtfully to look them over. On peering into the tumbled wall he discovered a bottle. He removed the cork and sheltered it to find that it was corked and sealed and contained a written document of some kind. Young Mee broke the bottle and wrote in an old-fashioned, but very legible hand the following message:

"To all whom it may concern, that I, William Bolivar Mayne, the son of Elmon Bolivar Mayne, French immigrant and first family of the State of Virginia, have undertaken to set forth certain facts pertaining to my life and to seal them within this bottle on the fifth (5th) day of November A. D. 1893, at 12:35 a. m. I was at this old Port or stage house of the Utah-Idaho-Montana and Oregon stage road. At this time point of vantage and see the train and hear the Ogdens Silver Comet Band.

Celebration Prepared
Some of the people had never seen a railroad, many had never seen a train, and many had never seen a stage line. In and around American Falls for fifty or seventy-five miles, cowboys came on the train, and the excitement and expectation of an entertainment from the train's passengers, the boys and girls, and the American Falls station some time before the train arrived, and proceeded to look over the cigar-box sign-board platform. A whistle blew, announcing the arrival of the train, the cowboys, with their broad-brimmed hats, and their leather pants, formed a line around the outside of the station platform, with their horses. The train stopped, and the boys and girls, and the American Falls station some time before the train arrived, and proceeded to look over the cigar-box sign-board platform.

OLD WAGON DAYS AND THE COMING OF THE RAILROAD
The old Rock Creek stage building was built in 1853 by James Bascom, who in later years became noted for his many good business qualities. The building was planned to catch the immigrant traveler who passed over the Oregon Trail, and the needs which might develop from the Ben Hallyday stage line, which was just being put into operation.

James Bascom operated this store successfully until 1876, when he sold it to Herman Stricker, who was in business for years. The building is still standing on the Rock Creek. Much of the history of early days in Snake River Valley is written in this building. It was here that the first trading post west of Fort Hall, it stood in the midst of the real West, where the Indian outfitmen, and where the bad man sometimes grew worse from the lack of civilization.

It was here in the 60's that Hugh Quinn was killed by rattlers for no other apparent purpose than to start a graveyard. It was here that midnight oil was burned and cards were dealt for big stakes.

Many travelers, made weary and despondent by the dusty, tedious travel over the Oregon Trail, were given a new lease on life by the hospitality and service given them at this store. It was here that the early settlers came, sometimes from many miles, for their supplies, and received them, either with or without script. It was here that glasses clinked and the cordial handshake sealed a friendship that lasted a lifetime.

From 1869 until the construction of the O. & N. railroad from Granger, Wyoming, to Huntington, Oregon, in 1884, the largest volume of wagon transportation in the United States passed by this store at Rock Creek. Large organized freight outfits of from fourteen to sixteen mules or horses, carrying freight to the mining towns in western Idaho. It was conservatively estimated early in 1884 that in the Boise Basin alone over twenty thousand men were engaged in mining during the summer months.

Thousands of immigrants passed over the Oregon Trail; a daily stage line passed; it brought a daily sack of mail with respect to the inhabitants. The popular papers of the early days were the Silver City Avalanche, the San Francisco Examiner, and the Boston Herald.

Although the settlement was one hundred miles from the railroad, they felt like they had the advantages of modern transportation. O. S. L. Harms Rock Creek. In 1882 the O. S. L. railroad from Granger had reached the Idaho line. It seemed sure that Idaho would get an east and west railroad through the Snake River Valley, and almost before the settlers could realize it had happened, it was built across the territory to Huntington, Oregon, reaching that place in 1884. This placed the Rock Creek settlement considerably nearer to a railroad, but the effect was not a favorable one.

alone. The train was to carry, besides some officials of the road, one hundred tourists and also the Ogdens Silver Comet Band. The train was herded through the country, and people from far and near made arrangements to go to the time point of vantage and see the train and hear the Ogdens Silver Comet Band.

The first range cattle brought into Snake River Valley, southern Idaho, and that part which now comprises Twin Falls county, was a herd of some three or four hundred head of Texas cattle driven in by A. D. Norton and M. G. Robinson. Norton and Robinson had been introduced at Dry Town on the Snake River, and had brought in a small bunch of beef cattle in 1871, the responded as quickly to the grass that grew among the sagebrush that they decided to run stock cattle in the valley. The idea of using the mountains for summer range had not been taken into consideration.

The cattle were turned loose on the Snake River, and the range established on the Cottonwood a few miles south of the present city of Twin Falls. A year later, in 1872, A. J. Harrell, a wealthy California man, conceived the idea of bringing to the Snake River valley a herd of cattle from the mountains for summer range had not been taken into consideration.

The first band consisted of between three and four thousand Texas stock cattle. These cattle were driven to the mountains, and the range was established on the Cottonwood a few miles south of the present city of Twin Falls. A year later, in 1872, A. J. Harrell, a wealthy California man, conceived the idea of bringing to the Snake River valley a herd of cattle from the mountains for summer range had not been taken into consideration.

These men knew nothing of the country to the north, until one day when Harrell was riding in the neighborhood of Oat Springs he was able to look into Snake River valley, and felt as Jim Hill used to say, "It was the biggest country I ever came to without anybody living in it." Harrell rode into the valley and was surprised to find signs of human habitation. He later found A. D. Norton at his camp on Cottonwood creek, who informed him that a stage line from Kelton, Oregon, to the Dalles, Oregon, had been recently established, and all the freight to the Boise Basin and adjacent lands carried by ox- and mule-drawn teams through the valley, using the Old Oregon Trail. General store on Rock Creek gave them a hearty welcome.

When the information was conveyed to Mr. Harrell he realized that his winter range was made manifest by this discovery, and he immediately commenced bringing in more cattle from Texas.

The condition of things in the mountains was ideal. There was an over-abundance of pure sparkling water flowing from many springs, and a few miles south where vegetation in the mountain parks and coulees that would yield two to three tons to the acre if cut. Sagebrush was unknown in the mountains except on the low dry ridges, and there only in small shaggy groups.

Range Becomes Crowded
As Mr. Harrell was augmenting his band, which became known as "Shoe Bash," other companies came in, the "Winners" and "H.D." both having headquarters on the tributaries of Goose creek and on Nevada side of the Snake River. At this time cattle were cheap. Old steers were worth fifteen dollars, stock cows with calves at their sides, eleven dollars. All beef cattle were sold for food and the loss was computed to be one per cent. but in a few years the range began to show signs of overcrowding; there were thousands of five- and six-year-old steers on the range, and too many breeding animals.

In 1882 two wealthy cattle men, John Sparks and John Timmin, who previously had bought the Snake River range, paying a jump bid of $450,000, which was thought a considerable sum in those days. This made the Sparks and Timmin holdings probably better than 175,000 head of cattle, ranging from Goose creek or Junction Creek on the east to Brunau or Devil creek on the west. Snake River on the north, and the Great American Desert on the south.

Sparks and Timmin immediately began improving their stock by introducing Herefords and Shorthorns, and undertook to decrease the number of calves by extensive culling and shipping of steers and sterilization of the young breeding animals, which in turn would become shipping the Goose Creek range.

Drought Brings Sagebrush
In 1885 this concern branded 38,000 head of calves. During the winter of 1885 to 1891 the entire country suffered from the effects of drought. Springs and creeks dried up, the range was left to the ground. The snow that fell in the mountains fell on frozen ground and was taken off by Chinook winds, leaving no moisture in the soil. This drought made it possible for the sagebrush to move to the hills where it still remains.

In 1891, on the same range where six years before 38,000 head of calves were branded, 60 head represented the entire year's crop. From 1891 rainy seasons were again enjoyed, but this immense herd had almost been depleted.

Harrell with his son Andrew came to the rescue, taking over the Timmin interest and stocking the range with 2,000 cows, thinking that the former condition of the range would return; but, alas, the sagebrush had moved to the mountains to stay; another cycle in the evolution of nature had lapsed. Later the Shoe Bash brand and holdings were sold to the Utah Construction company, and the cattle industry of southern Idaho while it still existed, is now in the hands of the woman.

Admirable Men
These men met by appointment at a cabin on Cottonwood creek, and a few miles south where Twin Falls now stands, to counsel. Not toicker and drive hard bargains, but to find ways and means to place this depleted cattle business on its feet. Mr. Harrell was wealthy and was willing to invest his money. Mr. Sparks, while he had no money, he had invested all of his capital in the failing enterprise, and with the exception of a few calves of horses, had no capital left. He had decided that Sparks and Harrell would restock the range and go on with the business. John Sparks turned down and said to John Timmin, "John, you're broke." "Yes," said Timmin, "I lost." Sparks says: "John Timmin, there are some things you have not lost; you still have principles, honor, and knowledge of cattle; here is a check for $65,000. Take it, go to the sand hills and look for a good many years, if still alive, he would be quite an old man. Mr. Harrell died in California a very rich and respected citizen, still as healthy as a ripe old age. John Sparks was elected governor of Nevada and served with honor, but I am informed that he died some years ago a poor man. When returns met him in his old days he paid to the last farthing, relying on his resourcefulness to keep himself and family from want.

Olympiad Before Overflow Crowd

Suddenly Changing Plans, Big United States Delegation Abandons Salute; Flag Regulations Obeyed

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

BERLIN, Aug. 1 (AP)—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler, attired in a brown uniform and smiling genially, formally launched the 11th Olympiad today amid ceremonies obviously fraught with political as well as sporting significance.

An overflow crowd of 105,000 packed the stadium to see the record-breaking gathering of nearly 4,500 athletes representing fifty nations take the Olympic oath during a program that reached its peak when French and Austrian athletes gave the Nazi salute while the chancellor's reviewing box.

The big United States delegation, swayed in its only by the Germans who formed the procession as rear guard, was accorded a doubtful reception. The Nazi salute was suddenly omitted to avoid the appearance of giving only a modified Nazi salute under the original intention to extend arms with hats in hand, the Americans reverted to the former custom of doffing their hats and placing them over the heart while giving "eyes right."

Reception Not Comparable

This change, coupled with traditional objections to regulations barring the American flag from being dipped, apparently contributed to the character of the Nazi reception which was mostly enthusiastic but not comparable with the warm, good-natured welcome accorded entirely willing to adopt the slogan: "When in Rome do as the Romans do."

Elaborately staged, the all-day civic celebration was marked by Chancellor Hitler's announcement that his government would underwrite the completion of ancient Olympic excavations in Greece.

The United States was one of four nations not dipping their flags, the others being Bulgaria, Ireland and India which did not manifest a salute of any kind while passing Hitler's reviewing stand.

Formalities included a speech by Dr. Theodore Levald, president of the German organizing committee, Hitler's proclamation opening the games, the blood German Olympic middleweight weight-lifting champion, Rudolf Ismayr's taking the oath in behalf of athletes, and the picturesque lighting of the Olympic fire by a German runner bearing the torch ceremoniously relayed by Olympic athletes.

As guns boomed, 20,000 pigeons were released, a chorus of 1,500 voices sounded with the thrilling strains of the "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's "Messiah," and trumpeting fanfare then accompanied Hitler's departure from the stadium.

Pays Tribute to Hitler

Hitler was presented to the overflow throng by Dr. Levald, who paid tribute to the chancellor "in gratitude and veneration for the wonderful stadium built according to your will."

Hitler's part in the ceremony was brief but impressive. As a salute of silence fell over the massive assembly, he said:

"I declare the games of Berlin in celebration of the 11th Olympiad of modern times have opened."

The athletic program tomorrow will be launched with the start of five sports—track and field, wrestling, fencing, field hockey and the modern pentathlon—athletes who will engage in an equestrian cross-country race.

Gooding All-Stars To Enter Tourney

Players selected for the all-star aggregation include Vaght, Bright and Robinson, pitchers; Bell and Jewell, catchers; Hutton, Arentz, Blumstein, Feldman, Webb, Skelley, infielders; Berryessa, Wrennstrom, Beaman and Loeber, outfielders.

MAX SCHMELING

JIM BRADDOCK

JACK SHARKEY

JOE LOUIS

By CHARLES GRUMICH

NEW YORK—The "new" fistie boom bulges away in a direction almost entirely unexplored and uncharted prior to the bursting of the Brown Bubble.

For one thing it brings "three old men" of the ring into the spotlight that, none, not so long ago, on the prize ring's erstwhile solist, Joe Louis, who is now reduced to the status of journeyman boxer some steps removed from the rank of challenger for the crown.

And for another thing, it brings the ponderous Madison Square Garden corporation back into the business of promoting heavyweight fights in its own bowl over in Long Island City.

Promoter Mike Jacobs, who held trumps in the business of amonishing big boys like Joe Louis from the ring unblemished, is reduced to the status of a little boy acting in an advisory capacity.

The Garden cut in on next September's Jim Braddock-Max Schmeling title bout quite logically enough. After a lot of sparring over contract matters and hints that there would be considerable legal preliminary to the championship fight—if there should be one—the ringmen settled it all in very properly fashion and with great simplicity.

The Garden overlaid had to name a "suitable opponent" for the champion, Braddock, so they laid their case before the boxing commission, Jacobs, who came forth with a list of names, signed Schmeling for one of the subsequent bouts before the Louis fight when few, if any, thought Der Schlager had a chance of surviving the Louis go-much less winning over the Brown Bomber.

The Garden fellows came to the conclusion that the challenger to Braddock certainly had to be Schmeling, who had been told by the commission that he must meet Louis before they could consider his challenge to Braddock.

So they upped and said, oh, commish, we'll name the suitable opponent for Braddock. It's Max Schmeling. I've have the champion signed for the defense of his championship, so you get the challenger for us. Surely, you don't expect us to give up the champion or have him go begging for a match with the challenger. These may or may not have been the exact words, but anyway, the Garden and Mike Jacobs sealed an agreement to the effect that the Garden would handle everything and that Uncle Mike could sit around and tell them how to make money out of fights, with 50 per cent going to Jacobs. "Twenty-first Century Sporting Club, Inc." The Garden immediately began planning to remodel the Long Island stadium not long ago, and whereas, the Garden charged $20 the night, Braddock was left-handed out of the championship by Braddock in a fight that drew 29,308 and netted $20,367.

Mike Jacobs, meanwhile, has his hands full with the promotion of the Joe Louis-Jack Sharkey business at Yankee stadium, August 18.

Uncle Mike bides his time, because all agreements with the Garden are off after the Braddock-Schmeling bout. . . . and he's a pretty good hand at catch-as-catch-can "promotism" in an open field.

Johnston and G. J. Griffin.

Mrs. Dorothy Andrus of New York and Don Budge, the Davis cup star from Oakland, Calif., won the mixed doubles title in straight sets from Oregon Wheelers, Santa Monica, Calif., and John McDiamid of Fort Worth, Texas, who yesterday

ed on the men's singles. The scores were 6-4, 6-4.

In the semi-finals Mrs. Andrus and Budge eliminated Mr. and Mrs.

John Van Ryn of Philadelphia, 6-4, 6-4, while Miss Wheeler and McDiamid overcame Miss Babcock and Allison, 12-10, 6-4.

America Draws Easy Olympic Assignments

John Woodruff Only Exception In Preliminary Heats

BERLIN, Aug. 1 (AP)—All Americans, except for John Woodruff, lanky Pittsburgh Negro 800-meter star, drew comparatively soft berths today when the International Amateur Athletic federation drew preliminary heats in the Olympic 100 meter dash and 800 meter run.

Woodruff was placed in the fourth heat, with Paul Martin (Switzerland), five-time Olympian, Gerald Backhouse, Australian "dark horse," Esabo, the feet-footed Hungarian and five others. The first four in each heat will qualify for the semi-finals tomorrow afternoon.

Charles (Chuck) Hornbostel of Evansville, Ind., and Harry Williamson of High Point, N. C., drew much easier assignments. Hornbostel was drawn in the first heat, while Williamson was placed in the second along with Robert of Finland.

Jesse Owens, who will attempt to duplicate Favo Mumm's feat of scoring three "firsts" in one set of Olympic games, was drawn in the last heat of the 100-meter dash. The first two in each heat tomorrow morning will qualify for the quarter-finals in the afternoon.

Ralph Metcalfe, Chicago Negro and co-holder of the world record at 102 seconds, was drawn in the seventh heat.

Guldahl Leads in Seattle Tourney

St. Louis Pro Holds One-Stroke Edge Over MacDonald Smith

SEATTLE, Aug. 1 (AP)—Ralph Guldahl, of St. Louis, western open champion, gained the lead at the halfway mark in Seattle's 72-hole $3,000 open golf tournament today.

His par-hitting play on the 72-par Inglewood golf course.

The St. Louis professional had a 36-hole total of 139—seven under par—and a one-stroke lead over MacDonald Smith of Nashville, Tennessee.

Other scores included George Schreiner, Salt Lake City, 71—80—151.

Olympic Schedule

BERLIN, Aug. 1 (AP)—The program for the opening day of competition in the Olympic games tomorrow:

(Subtract eight hours for Mountain Standard time.)

9 a. m.—Modern pentathlon, cross country run.

11 a. m. and 6 p. m.—Calisthenics, catch wrestling preliminaries.

10:30 a. m. and 3 p. m.—Track and field, 100 meters first trials; high jump trials, shot put trials (all morning), 100 meters second trials, women's javelin final, high jump final, 800 meters run trials, shot put final, 10,000 meters run trials.

3 p. m. and 8 p. m.—Fencing, men's foil preliminaries.

8 p. m.—Weight lifting, featherweight and lightweight finals.

Veterans Return To Bobcat Squad

15 Lettermen Back in Suit For Opening of Gooding College Season

GOODING, Aug. 1.—With 15 lettermen coming back for the Bobcat football team this year, Coach Perry is hopeful of one of the best teams in Gooding college history.

To reinforce the letter wearers, Perry will have about 15 or 20 high school stars from Idaho schools. Many of the outstanding prep players in this section have signified their intention of enrolling at the reputed college this fall.

Lettermen return are Malcolm Reid of Oregon City, Harzell of Kings, Ken Gruse and G. Uhl of King Hill, Art Daniels of Shoshone, Frank Rellinger of Twin Falls, Huel Nelson and Lon Daldwin of Fairfield, Chuck Hancock of Nampa and Jack Gooding, Rist, Don Blakey, K. Daniels, Owen Berryessa and Frank Meserole of Gooding.

Only three regulars of last year's team, Jack Smith, K. Glazier and Jim Maffey, will not be put out when the call is sounded September 1.

Travis Jack Lovelock's record 4.076 as representative of modern mile-run record-breaking, becomes evident that today's best mile, traveling a bit faster than 2 yards a second, could give the world record holder of 40 years and a 70-yard start and beat him by two-fifths of a second.

Tennis Title Won By Alice Marble

Los Angeles Star Triumphs Over Carolin Babcock At Seabright

SEABRIGHT, N. J., Aug. 1 (AP)—Alice Marble of Los Angeles gave a superb exhibition of power and accurate stroking in the first real test of her comeback march today to overwhelm Carolyn Babcock, ranked fourth nationally, 6-0, 6-3, in the finals of the 49th annual Seabright tournament.

In the men's doubles final, Wilmer Allison of Austin, Texas, dignified his probable retirement from competitive tennis by teaming with John Van Ryn of Philadelphia to overcome the national clay court champions, Robert Rignos of Los Angeles, and Wayne Sablin of Portland, Oregon, in straight sets, 6-3, 6-2, 6-0.

Allison and Van Ryn, the national doubles champions, retired the present Seabright bowl from competition by their victory. The last bowl was won in 1923 by William T.

DOES YOUR CAR

Grind Away WASTE Tires Gasoline

Does it shimmy, wander, weave or steer hard? Misaligned wheels and axles cause the tires to be dragged sideways instead of rolling along. For instance, a 4.75x19 tire out of alignment less than an inch will be dragged sideways ONE MILE for every 10 miles of travel—result: Ruined tires. Proper aligned wheels will roll true and allow the tires to wear uniformly on their entire surface instead of grinding and scuffing away in spots, and you'll get the mileage guaranteed by your tire dealer—it's not his fault if your wheels are misaligned.

While you watch, our motor experts will put the Willard Electrical Check System machine on your car and immediately tell you the condition of spark plugs, distributor, valves, rings, pistons, connecting rods, timing gears, carburetion, compression, main bearings, cam shaft, in fact, they can tell in a few minutes just what shape your car is in and what it will take to put it in good condition. No guesswork, this marvelous machine will tell you all about your car. We will also check your carburetor jet, it may be that gas is being wasted by the wrong size jet.

Attendance of 200 delegates at the state convention is required under Idaho's election law, and about 100 already have been pledged and delegated from southeastern Idaho.

Representatives from several delegations are expected to arrive in Twin Falls. Delegations from Twin Falls and other south central Idaho centers will be organized this week, Donahue said.

In addition to nomination of presidential electors and candidates for state offices the convention here will choose the Socialist candidate for second district congressman.
