Loyalist Warships
Hurl Fire Against
Spanish Rebel FortsShelling Destroys Argentinian Consulate And Silences Fascist Guns At Algericas;
30 Killed, Many Wounded

(By The Associated Press)
GIBRALTAR, Aug. 7.—Three loyalist warships tonight hurled shells against the Spanish rebel forts at Algericas, destroyed the Argentinian consulate there and apparently wrought heavy damage to Fascist guns.
The attack was the second of the day and brought no return fire from the rebel fortifications, indicating their artillery may have been damaged irreparably.
Reliable reports stated 30 were killed in Algericas and many wounded. The infantry barracks and the British-owned hotel, Oriental, were damaged.
It was believed casualties were heavy in the rebel batteries between Algees and Tarifa.

Under Big Guns
The Jaime I, loyalist battleship, accompanied by the gunboats Libertad and Cordoba, came close into shore and unlimbered its heaviest guns against ships in the harbor and the Fascist fortifications. The two gunboats fired a hail of shells from a longer range and huge clouds of smoke and flame were seen to arise after direct hits.
A rebel airplane sought to join in the battle, but was driven back by the loyalist craft which flew overhead and it was noted the ship, Jaime I, was unable to fire from its port side, indicating apparent damage in the earlier engagement today.

Gun Crew Killed
In the first battle the Jaime I fired a rebel gunboat, the Dato, despite heavy return shelling from shore. The Dato was hit in the bow and the crew of the Dato were killed by the first shot from the Jaime I. It exploded in the foreground.
The remainder of the crew abandoned ship. Cordoba and Libertad fired a salvo to England were destroyed by the shells.

Recent Victim of Hot Lead

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Four recent gang killings reminiscent of the slum-bang days of the prohibition era set metropolitan police on the alert tonight for a new underworld war.
Latest victim of the hot lead that flew so freely in the days of Al Capone was Vincent (Mad Dog) Coli, Jack (Legs) Diamond and other major racketeers, was Dominic Di-
Dido, 30, who was described by police as a gangster.

IDAHO STRIKE ZONE
QUIET AS ACCUSED
MEN PLAN DEFENSE10 Woodsmen, Held in Connection With Bloody Clash, Have First Conference With Attorney

(By The Associated Press)
OROFINO, Idaho, Aug. 7.—Ten logging strikers, arrested for the bloody Sunday night clash in which five pickets were shot and several woodsmen beaten, planned their defense today at their first conference with W. C. Donovan, Spokane attorney.

The men, along with seven woodsmen who were alleged to be truck from which bullets poured on the pickets, are held on open charges. No date has been set for their hearings.

The most badly wounded of the pickets, Mike Seitz, was reported in a critical condition today.
"I see it," Donovan declared after conferring with the prisoners, "the only charge that can be placed against the men is assault, my men did not carry guns, and therefore did not engage in the shooting."

A funeral quiet continued throughout the lumber strike area today. There was little to mark the martyrdom of the men who died in the Sunday's violence except the crowded jail.

The strikers continued a picket line of seven men outside Orofino and another of seven—the limit allowed under Colonel P. C. Hummer's ruling—outside the old time gold mining town of Pierce, now the strikers' headquarters. Most of the 90 national guardsmen in the county are at Pierce.

The L.W.N. strike leaders did not express any great concern today over the statement of C. L. Billings, the Weyerhaeuser general manager in north Idaho, that there would be no jobs in prospect open to the strikers. The Weyerhaeuser organization operates the Clearwater region's largest camps.

Billings said the operation camps will continue to run, "but the company has no intention under cover of military protection of attempting to open camps not now running."
The L.W.N. leaders were divided on how to interpret Billings' pronouncement. While some accepted it as final, others viewed it skeptically as a possible bluff.

"Assuming that Mr. Billings means what he says, what is the best move in the situation?" a leader in a group of strikers was asked at Pierce.
"Well, if he means what he says, giving we'll find work in the Clearwater camps, PWA or WPA," replied the strikers.

Officers reconvened the entire group at Orofino today.

Zioncheck Dives Through Fifth Story Window To
Instant Death At SeattleIn Tragic Plunge
Congressman Leaves
Incoherent Note
In Office

(By The Associated Press)
SEATTLE, Aug. 7.—Representative Marion A. Zioncheck, Seattle's playboy congressman, died head first through a fifth story window tonight in instant death tonight. Coroner Otto Mittelstadt reported.

The congressman's body, hurtling down on a sidewalk, was missed striking W. M. MacFarlane, loan broker, who was walking by.
Zioncheck's attractive blonde bride, who was waiting for him in a parked automobile, collapsed and was removed to a hospital.

The coroner, after a hasty investigation, expressed belief Zioncheck had committed suicide.
Zioncheck's valet-in-law, William Nadeau, was in the room used for campaign headquarters, at the time, the coroner said.

Starts to Leave Office
The coroner quoted Nadeau as saying they both started to leave the office, but Zioncheck whirled and ran to the window from which he dived head first.
"It was horrible," MacFarlane said, "I saw the congressman diving from the window. I was standing in the doorway when he fell."

Mittelstadt said "all indications pointed to Zioncheck's death being a suicide," but an inquest would be held Friday, August 14.
Looking over the dead Nadeau, the coroner said he was a "cool, steady body" and a "few feet from where his wife, also former Ruby Louisa Nadeau of Arkansas, Tex., was waiting."

Mittelstadt said Nadeau had gone to the office to get Zioncheck to attend to a matter of business, and that Mrs. Zioncheck remained in the car.
The office door was locked, but Nadeau said he got a key to unlock it and found Zioncheck writing a note, the coroner said.

"Looking over the dead Nadeau, the coroner said he was a "cool, steady body" and a "few feet from where his wife, also former Ruby Louisa Nadeau of Arkansas, Tex., was waiting."

Tempting? Certainly this baked ham slice is enough to tempt even the most jaded appetite. It is a favorite not only with the diners, but also with the housewife who has the meal preparation on her shoulders, for she can just place it in the oven at a low temperature and forget it until it is done.

The ham slice shown here is center slice. This cut makes the best appearance, but if center cut slices are not available, have thick double slices cut from the ham. If the center being cut not quite through, so that the double slice may be opened to form a single slice resembling a center cut slice in appearance.

In preparing a ham slice for baking or broiling, no parboiling is necessary. Thanks to modern methods of curing and smoking, the tangy flavor is just right.

Ham, like any other kind of meat, should be cooked at a low temperature if you would have it tender and juicy. The temperature may be increased if necessary for just long enough to brown the ham, but no longer. In preparing a ham slice either by broiling or baking, clip the center being cut not quite through, so that the double slice may be opened to form a single slice resembling a center cut slice in appearance.

Stain-Removing Methods

Whenever possible remove stains when fresh to prevent them from setting. Always use cold water to remove stains made by food containing proteins, such as milk, blood or meat juice. Hot water will set these stains. Use hot water for fruit and similar stains, as cold water will set them.

Blood and Meat Juice
Soak in cold or lukewarm water until stains turn light brown. Do not use hot water, as it will set the stains. Then wash in hot water, unless material is silk or wool, in which case use cold or lukewarm water. For blankets apply a thick paste made of raw starch and cold water. Allow the paste to dry and then brush it off. Repeat until all signs of stain are gone.

Chocolate and Cocoa
If stains cannot be removed with soap and hot water, sprinkle them with borax and soak in cold water. Then rinse thoroughly in boiling water, if material is washable. For silk or wool sponge with lukewarm water.

Coffee
If stains cannot be removed by warm water and soap, pour on boiling water from a height of 2 to 3 feet. With alkali, put between clean damp cloths and press with a hot iron.

Egg
Use cold water. Do not use hot water on the stains when wet. Then wash with warm water and soap.

Fruit and Berry
If stains are fresh, pour on boiling water from a height of 2 to 3 feet. Repeat, if necessary, and then bleach in the sun. If this is not entirely successful, apply lemon juice to the stains and bleach in the sun.

Grass
If the stains cannot be removed by soap and warm water, apply grain or wood alcohol.

For washable materials, use warm water and soap. For silk or wool, use clean white blotting paper, a piece on each side of the stain, and iron with a warm iron. For coarse materials, use cornmeal or salt, brushing off as the cornmeal or salt absorbs the grease, and repeating. Chloroform, benzol, naphtha or gasoline may also be used for spotting out of grease stains, especially where dirt is mixed with the grease, but these agents must be used with care.

Ink
Printing ink stains may be removed by rubbing the stain thoroughly with lard, and then washing with soap and warm water. For writing inks, try washing with soap and water first. Then try cornmeal or salt or French chalk or talcum powder, brushing off as the ink is absorbed and repeating. If this is not successful, soak the stains in milk for one or two days, changing the milk as it becomes discolored. Or rub the stains with a cut lemon, squeezing on some of the juice and rinsing frequently.

Iron Rust
Rub lemon juice and a little salt on the stains and bleach in the sun. Repeat or add more lemon juice if necessary.

Milk or Cream
Use cold water. Do not use hot water on stains when wet. After rinsing cold water, wash with soap and warm water. If material is not washable, after using cold water, sponge with chloroform, gasoline or benzol.

Paint
Dip in acetone and squeeze out. Material does not need to be washed if acetone is used, and it will dry very rapidly. If acetone is not available,

Superb Supper Dish

After a motor trip or Sunday afternoon excursion into the country, there is nothing better than a hearty supper, served at home. And in order to make serving easy for the hostess, should there be a able, use turpentine or benzol. Then wash with warm water and soap.

Tea
If washing with soap and warm water is not successful, apply lemon juice and bleach in the sun. Keep the stains covered with lemon juice during the bleaching.

Vanish
Rub with wood or grain alcohol or ether. Then wash with warm water and soap.

number of guests, why not serve the superb buffet style, where all the food is placed on the buffet or table and each person helps himself? It is wise to have at least one substantial hot dish even in warm weather. Beef-Noodle Frazzle is especially popular with men, and is ideal for that "no hostess" supper to which bridge-playing wives frequently invite their husbands. It is also one of those all-in-one dishes so handy when the evening is too warm for dinner in the dining room. It's so easily transported to the back-yard or garden for one of those chummy out-of-door meals to which you treat the family now and then.

Health Protection FOR CHILDREN'S LAUNDRY!

MOTHERS will confirm the extreme importance of hygienic cleanliness for baby's comfort and health. This means that frocks, nightgowns, diapers, bibs, sheets and cotton crib covers that are soiled in laundering with cottons and linens, a mild Clorox solution bleaches, brightens, softens, disinfects, and deodorizes in one easy, economical operation. Clorox also disinfects, deodorizes and removes stains from refrigerators, food containers, drainboards, sinks, bathtubs, basins, toilet bowls, tile, linoleum, stickroom utensils and garbage receptacles.

You'll be amazed to learn the number of ways that Clorox can help you. The label lists many important household and personal uses. Clorox is concentrated for economy. Always order by name. There's only one Clorox.

ALBERTA PUSHES
SOCIAL PROGRAMRegistration Under Way as First Step to Payment of 'Dividends'

EDMONTON, Alta., Aug. 7 (AP)—A 35-year old economist turned promoter, who upset Alberta economic traditions with a program of social credit, tonight, his supporters declared, was a step nearer his goal—a "just price" for commodities and payment of dividends to citizens.

Registration of citizens as a first step toward the dividends was under way throughout the province and the first "prosperity certificates" were in circulation.

Just one year ago this month, William Abernethy's newly formed social credit party was elected. His platform included plans to cut deficits, decrease taxation, raise from $120,000,000 to $150,000,000 in a new social credit and give the people a "just price" for commodities.

The plan contemplates payment to every citizen the monthly dividend suggested at $25. An economic price control system will be introduced to fix a just price at which goods and services will be made available.

As Fowler and Hudson, desolved into thinking the struggle was near an end, drew alongside in their boat, the white whale plunged suddenly beneath them. The Hanking dictator, anxious to quiet the troubled political and military situation in the two southern provinces heretofore dominated by the Canton regime, was represented as still hoping Kwangtung militarists would forsake their arms.

An unconfirmed report said 2000 Kwangtung militarists, while drilling at Lungchow mutinied and killed two Japanese instructors, fleeing to the mountains. Another report said a Kwangtung plane was shot down last Monday.

Correction of Constipation Is Often a Matter of Menu

For years, the medical profession has insisted that proper diet is more effective in promoting health than the indiscriminate use of patent medicines. Today, they are seeing their teachings bear fruit.

For instance, millions of families have learned that common constipation is largely due to insufficient "bulk" in meals. Many of them correct this condition by the regular use of Kellogg's All-Bran.

This delicious cereal supplied generous "bulk" in effective form. Within the body, its "bulk" absorbs moisture, and forms a soft mass. Gently this clears out the intestinal wastes.

Kellogg's All-Bran also supplies vitamins and contains iron, may be served as a cereal with milk or cream, or cooked into tempting soups, puddings, etc.

Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. Stubbler cases may require All-Bran after, if not relieved this way, consult your doctor.

Kellogg's All-Bran is not a "cure-all"—but it does correct common constipation. It is guaranteed by the Kellogg Company, Sold all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek, Mich.

THE WORLD WITH A FENCE

A New Novel by Maria Sims

SYNOPSIS: Carol Torrance has taken a job teaching in the Ash-boro high school, largely because she can't bear her home town any longer. She plans to go on from Ash-boro to Atlanta or some other city—but then she meets Denis Ford. She is determined that Denis shall not stop her. She knows he is a newspaper man out of work and a rebel and probably unstable, but she knows Denis is sitting beside her on the front porch, she finds that she has told him her story. And gladly.

Chapter 11.
THE CATES BOY
A car stopped before the house and Denis stood up, pulling her with him. "The traffic'll be thick here from now on. Let's go."

In the street Carol looked inquiringly at his reaction and he chuckled. "My kid brother. He's a potential captain of industry. Five years ago he'd be able to buy out the family—Dad included."

"Where is there to go?" "I wish I knew. Besides, I don't want to go anywhere; I want to sit still and talk to you. Under the circumstances we might as well be forgiven for parking."

"Oh, hell!" There was genuine anguish in the whisper. "Well, we'll go and get a soda. Anybody can park in front of a drug store."

She ordered a cherry phosphate, not because she liked it, but because it cost five cents. Then she said: "It's your turn, Denis, to begin at the beginning."

"On the last job," he explained, "one of my chores was the movie screen. They got me kicked out."

"Her throat ached intolerably—for him, and for herself. All rebels, and all groping in the dark. She said quietly:

"And now what?" "He shrugged. "I'm waiting to hear from a job with a Washington paper. A friend who's got the job now is going abroad soon, and I'm supposed to inherit it, and in the meantime—"

"He grinned down at her—"you guess."

"You're writing The Great American Novel?" "None, I'm revolutionizing the short-story form."

Denis said that again. She asked curiously: "Are they any good?" "The editors don't think so."

"Bringing around some time and let me see what I think."

He started the car. "Of course. Tomorrow night?"

Denis was going to be hard to manage. "Not tomorrow; one night next week."

He said emphatically: "Tomorrow. One night next week I may be on my way to Washington." He put his hand on hers. "Yes?"

She gave in, and desisted herself for an involuntary, loathing herself. "We can sit in the parlor under Notre Dame and you can read aloud to me." "If that didn't discourage him nothing would."

"Oh, I'll think of some other place by that time."

He found an unpaired country road and began driving more and more slowly. Suddenly he stopped the car and took her in his arms. "Carol—there's not much time. She hadn't felt this way since Bill Faraday, and it frightened her. He expected, Carol—newspaper men do."

BUHL F. F. A. BOYS HIGH IN JUDGING
BUHL, Aug. 7.—At the Judging of beef-cattle-at-the-Floyd-Morrison ranch south of Murtaugh last Saturday, Noel Brittain won high score. Out of a possible 600 points he scored 516, and other boys from Buhl scored as follows: Junior Williams, 585; Billy Taylor, 633; Howard Rutherford, 631; Vernon Weaver, 631; Thomas Moleworth, 677; Bill Stokesberry, 678; Sterling Jacobson, 671; Elmer Hoffman, 670; Melvin Oppenier, 650; Volney Hopkins, 634, and Elmer Weaver, 620.

Dee Harris won high in sheep judging last Sunday with a score of 363 out of a possible 400 points. Junior Williams took second with 323. Howard Rutherford received 241, Melvin Oppenier, 246, and Noel Brittain 232. Several of the other boys did not judge in the sheep judging.

On this Saturday, August 8, the boys will judge horses at the Miller farm between Piler and Twin Falls. This will be the only chance to judge horses and the group will meet at the high school building at 9 o'clock to judge his Holostein cow. The Jael farm is located six miles south of Buhl. Carl Hennings, Smith Hughes instructor, will meet the boys at the high school at 8:30 o'clock.

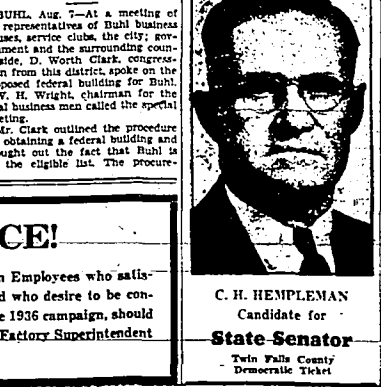

"Nothing is more expensive," she pointed out, "than this miserable policy of giving everybody a chance. One boy or girl like that can demoralize a whole class of decent students who are worthy."

"He shouldn't, of course. But this is a public school. As long as a child behaves we have to give him valuable desk room and here he'll outgrow his indifference. But of course this offense is grave enough for expulsion if you think best."

A foul tip from the bat of St. Louis pitcher George Barnhart hit Gabby Hartnett's foot in the second inning and injured it so severely that the ace receiver had to be taken to a hospital. Pending an x-ray examination to determine whether a fracture occurred, it was impossible to say when Gabby would return to the lineup.

The Cubs, after dropping three straight and the National league lead to the Cards, landed on five St. Louis pitchers with an 18-inning lead today, sewing up the victory with an eight-run barrage off Roy Parmelee in the fifth.

(By The Associated Press.)
Earl Averill of the Cleveland Indians moved into the tie for second place in the American league race of baseball's batting "Big Six" yesterday, getting one hit in three trips to the plate to keep his average at .377. Luke Appling of the White Sox also collected one hit in three trips to the plate, but his average fell to .361. The Yankees' league leader, remained idle.

The standings (three leading hitters in each league):

A foul tip from the bat of St. Louis pitcher George Barnhart hit Gabby Hartnett's foot in the second inning and injured it so severely that the ace receiver had to be taken to a hospital. Pending an x-ray examination to determine whether a fracture occurred, it was impossible to say when Gabby would return to the lineup.

The Cubs, after dropping three straight and the National league lead to the Cards, landed on five St. Louis pitchers with an 18-inning lead today, sewing up the victory with an eight-run barrage off Roy Parmelee in the fifth.

U. S. Coach To Call on Owens For Relay Duty

Lawson Robertson Decides to Summon Ohio State's Triple-Winner Back into Action in Olympic Games

BERLIN, Aug. 7 (AP)—Lawson Robertson, coach of America's Olympic track and field forces, decided definitely tonight to call on Jesse Owens, Ohio State's triple winner, for duty in the 400-meter relay competition tomorrow and Sunday.

With 10 first places already sewed up on the best track field showing since the 1912 Olympics at Stockholm, Robertson decided to overlook no bets and summoned Owens back into action despite the fact the Negro already has won the 100-meter, 200-meter and broad jump championships.

The information that the Germans quietly have built up a quartet which has been clocked in sensational style as the Olympic Dutch threat, prompted Robertson to change his mind after he previously had said he would not call on Owens for relay duty.

Ralph McFarlane, Sam Stoller and Frank Wykoff were expected to handle the station on that order before.

Discards Lavalis

Robertson lost no time deciding not to use Jimmy Lavalis, Los Angeles Negro, in the 1,500 meter relay due to his shaky finish in the 400-meter final this afternoon. Meanwhile the possibility loomed that Archie Williams, University of California Negro who won the 400-meter title, might be named along with Al Wright of South Pasadena, Calif. Eddie O'Brien of Atlantic City and Robert Young of Bakersfield, Calif.

Tobin said Nalimath understood about the incident but the doctor remained quiet and showed a happy face as the players of the American Olympic committee's efforts.

"What's more, no ceremony was planned for Dr. Nalimath, who is naturally the most important figure in basketball."

Nevertheless, the colorful, if poorly attended, event, was arranged on short notice and held in the expansive "hall of German sports," where a miniature opening day parade of nations and speeches by Dr. Nalimath and the German official entertained a crowd of 200.

Williams Captures 400-Meter Championship While Decathlon Trio Leads At Half-Way Mark

California's dusky Archie Williams clinched the 400-meter championship and giving the United States her first first-racing sweep through 800 meters in the Olympic games since 1912 while three western stalwarts exceeded America's fondest expectations by occupying the first three places at the halfway stage of the decathlon competition.

Bob Clark of San Francisco and Glenn Morris, Fort Collins, Colo., world record 1000-yarder, set a record-smashing pace through the first five events of the two-day battle for all around honors. Each outlasted two events and finished only two points apart at the end of the day.

Clark, 4194; Morris, 4192; Jack Parker, 4187. The trio of 5 a ramente, Clark, was third with 388 in the 100-yard dash, 24 in the 100-yard dash.

Glenn, as was expected, furnished the winning margin in the 100-yard dash, 24 in the 100-yard dash.

Hoover Favors Change In Snake River's Name

Former President Interested In Idaho's Development And Republican Success

Herbert Hoover, former president of the United States, is an advocate of changing the name of Idaho's Snake river as well as of the election of Governor Alf Landon of Kansas, Republican presidential nominee, he disclosed in informal conversation with friends here last evening.

The former president, returning to his home at Palo Alto, California, from a 10-day fishing trip to the Thornton ranch, just outside Yellowstone national park near West Yellowstone, arrived late in the evening to spend the night here and continue his trip back to California this morning by way of Wells, Nevada. He was accompanied by J. B. Howell, San Francisco, mining engineer.

"How did it happen," the former president inquired, "that such a magnificent and useful river as this was named the Snake?"

"It is deserving of a name more in keeping with its grandeur," he declared.

Then when one member of the group remarked that "other names have been changed under the New Deal," the former president said with a smile, "yes, perhaps it had better wait until after we have elected Governor Landon."

The conversation dealt momentarily with political affairs, and Mr. Hoover inquired as to the prospects for Republican success in Idaho this fall, and asked, "What do Senator Borah think of the situation in Idaho?"

Assured by a Twin Falls man that there is no question in the mind of Senator Borah's friends that he is actively and sincerely supporting the Republican national ticket, Mr. Hoover indicated his own gratification.

Discussion turned to the monopoly issue which Mr. Hoover said is "not the big trouble in our industrial and commercial life."

He proceeded to define as a more serious problem the "inflexibility of prices and wages." This "inflexibility," he said, was brought about by resistance which is "only natural" on the part of manufacturers and dealers to lowering of prices, and on the part of labor to reduction of wages.

The agricultural problem, he said, grows out of the fact that "seven million producers are operating in a free market," in contrast to the inflexibility of industry.

Possibilities for further use of Snake river waters for development of new reclamation projects in Idaho engaged the former president's attention, and he inquired closely as to the use now being made of Snake river waters, and the extent of the remaining sagebrush-covered area.

In his estimation it was a mistake to permit the construction of a power plant at Thousand Springs in Snake river canyon, northwest of Buhl.

"Why did they ever permit power development to encroach upon such a wonderful piece of scenery?" he asked.

The former president said he had enjoyed a pleasant vacation on the Yellowstone fishing grounds. "One can catch rainbows all day long there, if he wants to work at it that long," he said.

DRAMATIC READING AT UNION SERVICES

The union Sunday evening service in the city park tomorrow evening will be in charge of the First Baptist church. Instead of the sermon, the religious play, "The Terrible Mock," by Charles Fennell Kennedy, will be presented as a dramatic reading by Jesse Morgan Cook, of the Cornish school of art, Seattle.

The setting of the play is the total darkness of a wind-swept hill; the time, that of the crucifixion of Christ, and the characters are a peasant woman, an army captain and a soldier.

CANDIDATES ON BILL AT TOWNSEND MEETING

Townsend endorsed candidates, including Byron Defenbach for United States senator, and Duncan McD. Johnson of Twin Falls for Second district congressman, will be introduced at a public meeting in Twin Falls city park this evening at which John Weir of Los Angeles, representative of the Townsend national headquarters is to be the principal speaker.

The meeting is expected to "fill the park," and to be one of the largest Townsend gatherings of the season in Idaho, local sponsors said.

E. O. Davis of Boise, Townsend state area manager, is to preside and introduce the speakers.

She asked for $20 a month for support of herself and child; taxymon and taxymon are her attorneys in this action.

Capricious Cereus Blooms Once More

Mrs. C. W. Parks' night-blooming cereus blossomed again last evening—the first time in a year—for such is the peculiarity of the plant. Friends and neighbors of Mrs. Parks were attracted to the porch to view the perfectly formed blossoms. There were two of them this year.

The flowers which take a year to develop, resemble a cup and saucer of shimmering white petals, centered with floral ostrich tips, separated by pink spikes. The blossoms this year measured nine inches from tip to tip, and were not as large as those last year.

The buds started to open at 7:30 o'clock and by 9 o'clock were in full bloom.

Arrival of Plane Recalls Memories Of Initial Train

Inauguration of regular passenger and express service by air when Capital Airlines plane made its first commercial flight over southern Idaho yesterday, brings back to the pioneers of Twin Falls a memory of that day 31 years ago yesterday.

The old "autumn" 1905 wound up the tracks from Minidoka, to bring Twin Falls its first passenger train.

On August 7, 1905, Twin Falls received its first train service. Thirty-one years later, to the day, commercial air service became a reality.

In the old days, when Twin Falls was a minute oasis in the desert, a trip to Portland, Oregon, sounded something like a trip to Europe would today. But now, the air journey to Portland from Twin Falls takes exactly two hours, 35 minutes.

F. R. Colthrop Capital Airlines Twin Falls representative, reported that the plane leaves here at 1:40 p. m. and after a ten-minute stop in Boise connects with a United Airlines plane, arriving in Portland at 4:35 p. m.

Colthrop said that yesterday's initial commercial trip was made exactly on schedule. The plane arrived here at 8:15 a. m., eastbound, and arrived at 1:40 p. m., westbound.

Runaway Horses Bring Grief To Murtaugh Farmer

MURTAUGH, Aug. 7—Moroni Peck, Murtaugh farmer, has formed a great dislike for runaway horses.

His team, known as habitual runaway, two weeks ago ran away with a mower, threw Peck off and injured his shoulder. That was enough, but insult was added to injury today.

This morning the same horses got out of control as Peck was taking them to a nearby farm to assist with haying. He was riding one and leading the other when they whirled
