CHARGES OF 'LIAR' ENLIVEN OLD AGE PENSION HEARING

Judge Threatens to Throw Rival Attorneys Out of Courtroom Following Verbal Outburst

By ARTHUR BOSTWICK
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

CLEVELAND, Aug. 25 — A threat by the judge to "throw" rival lawyers "out of court bodily" when one cried "Liar!", concluded today a hearing in which Dr. Francis E. Townsend described the financial operations of his Old Age Revolving Pensions, Ltd.

The "liar" hiderry Dr. Townsend had testified the pension movement "would go to pieces overnight" without his leadership when Attorney Charles H. Hubbell arose and pointed to Ben F. Sacharow, attorney for the Rev. Alfred J. Wright, ousted Townsend director, in a $1,000,000 accounting suit against the organization.

Halls Accusation

"Paper he submitted here last night was stolen from our files," said Hubbell, representing Townsend interests, "by Robert E. Clementa (former national secretary of the Townsend organization). It proves he (Sacharow) is in Clementa's employ, he called me a liar yesterday—"

Sacharow leaped to his feet.

"I'll call you a contemptible liar again," he shouted, "and a peddler of perjury."

"Stop it, both of you," ordered Common Pleas Judge George Kerr, "or I'll throw you out of court.

Raises Poultry—

BUTLER, Ga. — Gurvis Locke, grocer, accepted some eggs in payment for merchandise sold to a farmer.

The eggs were placed in a box under a counter and forgotten during a period of hot weather.

A fine brood of chickens greeted Locke one morning when he opened his store.

Burglar Leaves Notes—

COLUMBUS, O. — Mrs. Elinor V. Lewis asked police to look for a daily burglar who raids her ice box about noon.

It's been going on for months, she said, and on occasions he prepares a dessert, cooks a meal, washes his dishes, turns on her radio, reads her magazines, and leaves "thank you" notes.

Taxpayer Cools Off—

KANSAS CITY — With Joseph Centimano 24, it was a plain case of 100-degree heat and doing something about it.

Police found him wearing trunks and sitting on a curbing, enjoying a stream of water from a fire hydrant. "I am a taxpayer," he explained. "The water is public water and I was hot so I went with my wrench and turned on the hydrant."

He was ordered to tell it to the commissioner of water collections.

Vacation From Jail—

TUCSON, Ariz.—Moran Lester, 42-year-old Indian who won considerable notoriety as Tucson's most frequently arrested man, declared today he was "heading for California and a vacation from jail."

"I'm getting in a rut here," Lester, who has been arrested on intoxication charges 43 times since December, 1932, told the desk sergeant.

Senators Harrison And Byrnes Win Primary Battles

South Carolina, Mississippi and California Returns Shade Interest With Other Political Developments

Norris to File on Independent Ticket

(By The Associated Press)

Two administration chieftains in the senate ran up weighty leads last night as the tallying of primary votes in South Carolina and Mississippi began.

Senator Pat Harrison, chairman of the senate finance committee and one of the guiding hands on administration fiscal affairs, appeared to have won nomination for a fourth term over his opponent, former Governor Bennett Champ, on unofficial returns from 1,332 out of 1,659 precincts. Harrison had 115,592. Champ 58,411.

Senator James F. Byrnes, in a three-man contest in South Carolina's Democratic primary, on the basis of returns from 944 out of 1,474 precincts had this standing: Byrnes 142,172; Thomas P. Stoney, former mayor of Charleston, 14,483; W. C. Harllee, retired marine colonel, 7,107.

Lead in Eight Districts

Townsend-approved candidates held leads over opponents in eight districts but were trailing in five other areas early today in the California congressional primary.

Delaware Republicans were called into convention today to make national and state nominations. Indications are that Senator Daniel O. Hastings may be renominated.

James Quigley, Democratic state chairman of Nebraska, said at New York that the veteran Senator George W. Norris, would file as an independent candidate for reelection "within a few days."

Townsend Attorney Trails

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25 (AP)—Townsend-approved candidates held leads over their opponents in eight districts but were trailing in five other instances tonight on the face of incomplete returns from the state primary.

Sheridan Downey, attorney for Dr. F. E. Townsend, was running behind Representative John H. Buck for the Democratic nomination in the third district, where the pension plan membership waged a vigorous campaign.

Seattle Woman Admits Ax Slaying of Daughter on Birthday

SEATTLE, Aug. 25 (AP)—Examining alienists reported tonight they would continue the questioning tomorrow of Mrs. Ester Hilda Olson, 37, confessed birthday killer of her daughter, Rose, 16.

Dr. Edward D. Hoedemaker, spokesman for physicians, said he questioned the mother in the county jail for 30 minutes today but had not reached any conclusion regarding the case. He said he and Dr. Walter Kleton would talk with her again tomorrow.

Mrs. Olson, Chief Criminal Deputy O. K. Bodle said, admitted she killed her daughter with an ax and butcher knife after she came home from a party honoring her birthday.

Mrs. Olson, held on an open charge, said her daughter had been "running around too much " and that she killed Rose because "she couldn't have the pretty things other girls have."

AMENDMENT URGED FOR PRIMARY LAW

Attorney Opposes Required Announcement of Party Affiliation

BOISE, Aug. 25 (AP)—Z. Reed Millar, Boise attorney, said today he would ask the Republican party at its platform convention in Pocatello Thursday to declare for amendment to the state primary law to eliminate required announcement of party affiliation.

"I propose that when a voter goes into the polls that he be handed two ballots—one Republican and one Democratic," the Ada county Republican nominee for the house of representatives said. "In the booth the voter can make up his mind as to which ballot he will use; he can destroy one and hand the other one to election officials.

"Many persons are not voting because they prefer not openly to declare their party affiliations."

Millar, mentioned as possible chairman of the state party, said he would "not be in a position to accept the party chairmanship, if it were offered to me."

Agents Find Letter From Former King

MADRID, Aug. 25 (AP)—Government agents reported tonight they had discovered a letter from former King Alfonso assuring rebels "victory will be ours."

The letter, they said, urged the insurgents to "respect nothing," and assured them "you may count on me for any assistance you may need."

It was found during a search of the home of Ramon Alberola, former aide to Dr. Jose Maria Albinana, rightist deputy to the cortes, government agents said, and was addressed to Alberola.

ROOSEVELT HEADS WEST TO INSPECT DROUGHT SECTORS

President Leaves on Long Tour; Senator Glass Reiterates Pledge of Support to Chief Executive

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 — President Roosevelt turned westward tonight for his long planned drought inspection tour after a series of governmental and political conferences, high-spotted by a renewed pledge of support from Senator Carter Glass.

Thursday, at Bismark, N. D., he will hold the first of a series of individual and group conferences with federal officials and sixteen state governors.

Landon to Attend

His Republican opponent for the presidency, Governor Alf M. Landon of Kansas, will attend one of the conferences, to be held next Tuesday in Des Moines. It will be attended also by the governors of Iowa, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Missouri.

One of the first presidential callers during the day, Senator Glass came out of an officially announced political conference at the White House with a statement he was going to vote for the reelection of Mr. Roosevelt.

Asked if the president requested him to speak for the new deal ticket, the 78-year-old Virginian, who has opposed some of the chief executive's financial and spending policies said:

"He did not."

Quick Response

But he volunteered quickly: "If you want to know whether I'm going to vote for the reelection of the president, I am. I never had any other idea."

A rodeo program, livestock show and horse racing marked today's program.

The fair will end Saturday.

SECRETARY DERN'S CONDITION CRITICAL

Head of War Department Suffers Setback In Long Illness

By LLOYD A. LEHRBAS
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25—Secretary of War Dern was fighting for his life in Walter Reed general hospital tonight after a serious setback in his long illness from influenza.

War department officials said the 64-year-old secretary's condition was "alarming" with heart and kidney complications. John Dern, the only member of the family not here, was called from Chicago to be at his father's bedside.

The White House disclosed that President Roosevelt, apprehensive over Dern's condition, was receiving frequent reports from the hospital. The president visited Dern at the hospital two weeks ago before leaving on his survey of the Pennsylvania and New York flood areas.

Friends Apprehensive

When attending physicians reported today that Dern has passed through his second successive unsatisfactory night friends of the Dern family made no secret of their apprehension as to whether his heart could withstand the long and severe strain.

Nazi Germany's Military Challenge Alarms France; Madrid Orders Executions

Populace Urged To Rise Against Moors

(By The Associated Press)

MADRID, Aug. 25 — The Government tonight called on the populace to rise against the "Moorish invasion," following reports that Moorish legionnaires brought to the mainland by rebels had increased their activity.

Officials declared "no mercy will be shown these uncivilized barbarians."

It was asserted in Madrid tonight that 500 Moors had charged government troops in the Naval Peral sector armed with hand grenades, but had been driven off with 80 killed and many wounded.

The bodies of the Moors, it was learned, were cremated on the field of action after being covered with gasoline drenched brush.

The government tonight threw a heavy guard around Getafe airdrome outside Madrid bombed by rebel airplanes Sunday. Three bombs, Premier Jose Giral Pereira said today, he was "convinced" had been made in Europe outside Spain.

Government adherents, meanwhile, carried out a new purge of Fascist rebel sympathizers in their midst, arresting among others, the aged Father Jose Fernandez Montana, one-time confessor to the royal family of Spain.

In swift reprisal for the fire and attempted rebellion in the Loyalist capital's prison Saturday, government firing squads today put to death four rebel officers.

FRANCE TO MEET NEW NAZI THREAT

Expansion of Germany's Army Causes Grave Concern

By RICHARD MASSOCK
(Associated Press Foreign Staff)

PARIS, Aug. 25—French parliamentarians tonight cast about for ways and means to meet the challenge of the expanded war machine of nazi Germany.

Convinced, they indicated, that Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler was preparing to go to war over the wheat fields of the Russian Ukraine, government socialists heaved overboard their previous efforts to reduce France's military service period.

Hitler, they said, was going to make war on them "under (pulse of) a crusade against the red peril."

Cites "Bolshevist Perils"

The nazi chancellor, in extending the German compulsory military training period from one to two years, thus swelling the ranks of those under arms or in training to more than 1,000,000 men, cited "Bolshevist perils" as motivating the German action.

French officials listed their nation's fighting forces at but 605,000 as against the reich's reported goal of 1,282,000 men by October under the nazi colors.

As French officialdom anxiously pondered the quick developments in Germany, Fernand Laurent, member of the chamber of deputies' army committee, asked Chairman Guy La Chambre to call an emergency meeting to discuss what could be done to strengthen the French forces which he held were outnumbered two-to-one by the increasing nazi standing army.

French authorities said that Hitler by raising his army from "equality to superiority" had heightened the danger of Europe's being divided into two armed camps with Der Fuehrer in the role of protector, attracting the smaller nations to his banner.

Shotgun Blasts Break Up Rioting in Georgia Penitentiary

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Aug. 25 (AP)—State penitentiary guards killed one convict and wounded 15 today in subduing a five-hour riot led by a former inmate of the federal government's Alcatraz prison.

The guards let go with shotgun blasts at the yelling, stampeding convicts after Superintendent R. H. Lawrence failed in persuasive efforts to restore order in the sleeping quarters of the prison's 500 white convicts.

Lawrence attributed the trouble to "convicts who just wanted to get out" and named T. B. Burrus, recently returned from Alcatraz, the ringleader.

Burrus was brought to Milledgeville as an escaped convict upon completing a term at the San Francisco bay prison.

The disturbance started last night in the second floor dormitory of the brick and stone building.

NAZIS PLAN ARMY OF 1,812,000 MEN

Compulsory Training Decrees Create Mighty German War Machine

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, Aug. 25 (AP) — Nazi Germany will have 1,812,000 men living in military barracks by October 1.

This figure was the latest total tonight of the men to be conscripted under the Nazi colors for compulsory training under a series of decrees promulgated Monday and Tuesday by Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler.

Under the decrees:

1. The manpower of the army, navy and air force will be swelled to between 700,000 and 800,000 under extension of compulsory military training periods from one to two years.

2. 182,000 youths will begin six months of "labor service," a preparatory schooling for actual army service.

3. Hitler's picked storm troops will number 200,000.

Newspapers in Berlin continued their anti-Russian campaign. One newspaper quoted the "red army's war strength at 9,000,000."

It was Bolshevist peril" that Chancellor Hitler cited as the reason for his extension of the military training period.

BISHOP BLAMES GREED FOR WAR

Titus Lowe, Attending Pocatello Conference, Sees Church as Peace Ally

POCATELLO, Aug. 25 (AP)—Bishop Titus Lowe of Portland has definite opinions on worldly and ecclesiastical problems he revealed in an interview here tonight soon after arriving to attend the Idaho annual holy conference of the Methodist Episcopal church.

He believes war is not inevitable, that the principal causes of war are selfishness and greed, and that the church is a means of preventing war, and that war accomplishes nothing for the people.

"It takes me and my son in death and piles up taxes and devastates nations," he said.

Asked concerning positions of religion and politics, Bishop Lowe said

Whippings Await Convicts After Kidnap Plot Fails

CANON CITY, Colo., Aug. 25 (AP)—Warden Roy Best turned in for "a good sleep" tonight so he can crack a whip effectively tomorrow on five Colorado prison convicts who plotted to kidnap him and escape with smuggled pistols and ammunition.

"They probably will ride the old gray mare," the warden said, referring to the wooden horse in the prison yard where unruly convicts are whipped. "She's not her tall up and rarin' to go."

In Solitary Confinement

The five convicts were placed in solitary confinement and the two pistols and 100 rounds of ammunition, concealed in a masonry wall, were confiscated.

Best, a heavy set, powerful man, whips mutinous prisoners himself. He said he was "too tired" from digging through the wall to recover the firearms and cartridges, to whip them today.

The warden disclosed he had known of the plot for three weeks. That long ago he received information the convicts planned to kidnap him and hold him hostage. Best walked around the prison unattended but with an extra heavy guard on duty.

Sunday was the date set for the break, but nothing happened.

"These men will be in solitary from now on," the warden said. "They are all desperate convicts."

The convicts are: Lemmie Grose, serving life for murder; Ray McVey, 20 years for aggravated robbery; Charles Carlisle, life for rape; Joe Bean, 15 years for aggravated robbery, Joe Casey, short term for grand larceny.

Prospectors Throng Idaho Hills As Gold Values Rise

BOISE, Aug. 25 (AP)—Idaho's historic mining towns are coming back.

Such villages as Silver City, Bellevue and Idaho City, populous before the turn of the century, bid fair to regain, in some measure, their former glory.

Placer miners are returning to the deserted "diggings" in search of precious metals — spurred by improved gold prices, improved roads to isolated claims and reported discovery of pay dirt.

Picturesque regions of Idaho such as the Salmon river country, the mighty Seven Devils area and the wooded back country of north Idaho are luring prospectors, State Mine Inspector Arthur Campbell said today. Within three months more than a score of new companies have organized.

Campbell Comments

"The effects of the increase in the price of gold by the federal government two years ago and improvement of transportation facilities are definitely discernible everywhere now," observed Campbell.

"Ghost towns of the sixties are coming back.

"They're a long ways from what they were 60 to 70 years ago, but activities in those vicinities and others are more intensive now than in recent years."

Road building in the interior by the civilian conservation corps and federal and state highway bureaus have made many mining properties more accessible.

Over 6,000 Employes

More than 6,000 men are employed in Idaho mines, at wages ranging from $4 to $7 a day, records at the inspector's office showed.

"There are hundreds of men scattered over the state, in addition, of whom we have no record," Campbell added.

Mainly, he said, new activities are centered in Idaho, Clearwater, Boise, Elmore and Boise counties.

Mining in Shoshone county, in which reputedly is located the world's largest known silver producing property, and other major mines is flourishing.

Government of Spain Purges Capital of Fascists

New Drive Looms

WAR SUMMARY

(By The Associated Press)

France, fearful of war, seeks way to match army against Nazis' increase of fighting forces to 1,100,000—Nation-wanted—Fascists and anti-Fascists might plunge Europe into wholesale "revolution."

Britain seeks Anglo-French steps to halt reported "atrocities" in Spanish civil war.

Spain's Premier Pereira "convinced" rebel bombs made in Europe were the duds dropped on Madrid airport.

Fascist rebels' incessing Irun-San Sebastian bombings believed to presage major assault on northern front.

(By The Associated Press)

Europe worked last night to soften some of the grave potentialities of the Spanish civil war as France sought means to meet Germany's new military challenge.

French parliamentarians, apprehensive lest Adolf Hitler's increase in Nazi fighting forces to more than 1,000,000 soldiers mean he was preparing for war, anxiously sought a way of increasing the size of their own army.

Ramifications of the struggle in Spain were apparent even in this, as French Socialists sympathetic to the Madrid Loyalist government and fearful France might in some way become involved, abandoned their objections to increasing France's two year military training period.

The mesh of European potential entanglements in Spain's warfare was further snarled by the expressed "conviction" of the Spanish Premier Jose Giral Pereira that bombs dropped by rebel planes on the Madrid airport were made in some other European country.

Rebel Officers Killed

The war between the rebel Fascist and government forces in Spain itself yesterday centered around a government purge of Fascist sympathizers within Madrid.

Four rebel officers were put to death by the new "people's court" tribunal for allegedly firing the Madrid jail in an attempted break. The aged Father Montana, erstwhile confessor to the Spanish royal family, was among those arrested in the government's relentless campaign to rid Madrid of enemies.

On the northern Spanish front, incessant rebel bombardment of the Irun-San Sebastian sector was believed to presage a new major offensive to capture the two cities from the government defenders.

Britain Makes Move

LONDON, Aug. 25 (AP) — Great Britain tonight moved to enlist other powers in a joint appeal to end the reported "atrocities" in the Spanish civil war—such as the alleged massacre of hostages and killing of civilians.

The British sentiment along these lines, it was authoritatively stated, was fanned at Hendaye, France, where a little band of foreign diplomats, accredited to Madrid, are living on the edge of almost daily violence.

Informed sources tonight intimated, however, that the chances of Great Britain taking a definite lead in any move to put pressure on the Spanish belligerents were slim because of Great Britain's reputation to sit back and let others take the lead in European action concerning the Spanish internal warfare.

Turning from the Spanish situation, official circles today disclosed Great Britain had declined to assume a League of Nations mandate over western Ethiopia at the reported request of Galla chieftains.

It was said by informed persons that Great Britain had soft-pedaled the request, being loath to evoke an Italian outcry.

PRESIDENT NAMES NEW AMBASSADOR

William C. Bullitt Succeeds Jesse I. Straus as Envoy to France

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP) — Dapper, well-to-do William Christian Bullitt, of Philadelphia, first United States ambassador to the Soviet Union, today was named by President Roosevelt to be ambassador to France succeeding Jesse I. Straus, of New York.

Retirement of Straus because of ill health, was announced by the president a few minutes prior to the naming of Bullitt.

In announcing acceptance of his resignation with regret, the president made public a letter he wrote today to the New York department store operator commending him for "the splendid service which you have given to the United States as ambassador to France."

Bullitt, who has been in this country on leave from Moscow for several weeks, announced he would sail for his new post about September 20.

Pending the appointment of his successor to Moscow, Roy Henderson, counselor of embassy, will continue as American charge d'affaires in Moscow.

Bullitt introduced polo to the red army, acting as personal tutor in the game to Clementi Voroshilov, the Soviet war commissar and to General Budenny, Russia's foremost cavalry officer. His subordinates in the embassy taught Russians how to play baseball.

New Colored Rays Used in Treating Stomach Ailments

CHICAGO, Aug. 25 (AP) — Use of colored light as a treatment for stomach trouble was described today to the American Academy of Optometrists.

The "color cure" was also recommended after six years of research by its developer, Dr. H. Riley Spitler, of Eaton, Ohio, for headache, dizziness and high or low blood pressure.

The treatment was indirect in each case, Dr. Spitler explained, correcting the physiological symptoms by either stimulating or relaxing the nerves of the eye.

Each color had its individual effect, Dr. Spitler asserted.

Blue or violet light stopped headaches by relieving distress due to ocular reflex.

Red light increased blood pressure, and stopped the type of dizziness which occurs when an individual rises from a sitting position.

Yellow green or blue green light relieved stomach trouble and other digestive ills.

"There is no place in religion for partisan politics. Other religious leaders may attempt mixing the two, but not I. I feel it is my right as a citizen to vote and believe what I may politically, but that is apart from religious activity. And I am no pussyfooter. I have definite opinions and am not afraid to state them."

He expressed his opinion that the Idaho conference will vote for unification of the Church North, South and Methodist Protestant.

"Turning to Religion"

During the past 18 months the whole ecclesiastical situation has been very much more encouraging, in the bishop's opinion.

"It is not a question of finances, but I think people are turning to religion.... from a sense of need," he said, "they want something that will give them a sense of steadiness and security."

Group discussions in seminars will replace committee work in reaching conclusions at the 53rd annual session of the six-day church conference.

Youth Conference

In connection with the conference will be the youth conference to be held this week-end. Delegates are housed in dormitories at the University of Idaho, southern branch, and eat at the university dining hall.

Principal conference speakers include Dr. Owen M. Greer, of the Methodist board of education, and Dr. Paul Arthur Schlipp of Northwestern university.

Dr. Ernest E. Tuck, missionary from China, will represent the board of foreign missions in New York City, and Dr. W. E. Blackstock of Philadelphia, headquarters of the church.

Dr. Frank B. Ebbert, of the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals also is expected.

Temperatures Drop In Northwest Area

A vast barometric depression continues over the central and western plateau and Rocky mountain regions and extends eastward over the central plains area with low pressure centers over the Kansas-Nebraska states and the Arizona-California inland valleys. High temperatures and clear skies prevail over this entire region.

The north Pacific high pressure *persists in its position and has ex-tended eastward throughout Mon*tana. Relatively low temperatures are reported with some light sprinkles occurring in Montana.

Unsettled weather with lower pressures and some rain continues over the Great lakes and central Atlantic coast regions.

Hearing Adjourned

Before the clash between the lawyers, Judge Kerr had adjourned the proceedings, a deposition hearing in Wright's suit, until October 27.

Dr. Townsend testified succession of the suit, which asks a receivership "would mean immediate demise of the O.A.R.P."

The adjournment was agreed upon between counsel after Sacharow explained he wanted to inspect books of the Prosperity Publishing company, of Los Angeles, publishers of the Townsend weekly; of National Visual Education, a Baltimore concern in which Dr. Townsend is interested, and re-examine books at the Townsend movement's national headquarters in Chicago.

Voices Opinion

Gilmour Young, Clements' successor as O.A.R.P. secretary, was called to the stand at the close of the hearing that "the paper Sacharow introduced is an original and was taken illegally."

The paper in question bore the signature of B. G. Rankine, O.A.R.P. treasurer, and was addressed to Clements as an inter-office communication. In it Rankine informed Clements Townsend ordered him to turn over $500 of O.A.R.P. funds to Visual Education, and instructed Rankine "to keep still" about it.

ATTORNEY RAPS COURT PUBLICITY

Proposed Statute Placed Before American Bar Association

BOSTON, Aug. 25 (AP)—A proposed statute to prevent "newspaper interference with criminal justice" was pleaded before the American Bar association today by Philip Lutz, jr., attorney general of Indiana as eminent lawyers and journalists assailed the "publicity evil" attending celebrated trials.

"The most serious criticism of American criminal procedure today is that the judges of the courts permit newspapers to usurp the court's own functions and duties," Lutz told the section of criminal law at the 59th annual meeting in his report as chairman of the committee.

Asks Support of Press

Thomas D. Thatcher of New York, former solicitor general of the United States, in an address before a concurrent meeting of the conference of bar association delegates, called upon the press of the country to support the association in ridding the courts of the "publicity evil."

"Those judicial proceedings in which American criminal justice most needs to be a calm investigation of the facts," Attorney General Lutz declared, "are, on the contrary, most violently 'hippodromed' and 'panicked' by the press."

Unlike the 15 underworld pals his stories placed in barred cells, Bolton was given leniency by Federal Judge M. M. Joyce who sentenced him to three years in a penitentiary.

Townsendite Leading

Representative John L. Koeppel, Democrat, recently convicted of conspiring to sell a West Point appointment, was well behind W. R. Peeler, Townsendite, in first returns. There were 14 candidates in the field for the Republican and Democratic honors.

Representatives Harry L. Englebright, Richard J. Welch, Albert E. Carter and B. W. Gearhart, Republicans with Townsend endorsements, led their fields.

Democratic Congressman John H. Tolman, J. J. McGrath, H. E. Stubbs and Charles Kramer, all favored by the pension organization, were ahead.

Three Grid Heroes Stand Out In Football Picture

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Aug. 25 (AP) —Out of celluloid scraps of end runs and forward passes film editors pieced together today what may be all-American screen careers for three football stars of 1935.

They are Stanford's Rose Bowl veterans, Bones Hamilton and Monk Moscrip, and New York university's Irwin (King Kong) Klein.

Make Football Film

With a squad of leading players gathered from the nation's colleges, they manufactured Hollywood's latest football classic under a hot August sun a few days ago. The movie is now in a studio cutting room.

"All the boys, from Bill Shakespeare of Notre Dame to Jay Berwanger of Chicago, did good jobs before the camera," said Director George Nicholls today.

"Hamilton, Moscrip and Klein were standouts.

"Klein was a natural comedian, just like Andy Devine who was playing with the squad."

Moscrip, a strapping, dark-haired six-footer, was mistaken for Robert Taylor several times while he was on the RKO Radio lot, Nicholls said.

"He's fine material for developing into leading roles," the director added.

Hamilton expressed a desire to work in westerns and Nicholls said his athletic ability would be a strong advantage if he really wanted to try it.

But the remaining teammates of the movie eleven were content to leave Hollywood with the picture completed and go back to other jobs.

PARTY STRATEGY ENGAGES LANDON

Busy Day Includes Conferences and Chat With Theodore Roosevelt

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 25 (AP)—Governor Alf M. Landon reached the final speaking stop of his eastern campaign swing today and plunged immediately into conferences on party strategy for winning New York's 47 electoral votes which included a chat with Theodore Roosevelt, jr.

In a crowded day, the presidential nominee drove four miles through Buffalo streets waving greetings to onlookers, lunched with Erie and Niagara county Republican officials, met numerous other party leaders, told a peace delegation that war is the greatest threat of democracy," attended a reception of western Republican women, and dined with friends at the home of Edward H. Butler, publisher of the Buffalo Evening News, before retiring there for the night.

Studies Speech

Between times, the Kansan took a last look at the speech on government finance he will deliver tomorrow night. It will be the last of three major eastern talks.

The meeting with young "T. R." took place in Landon's hotel room after postponement of a conference originally scheduled at Topeka.

"He is the truest kind of a liberal," Roosevelt told newsmen after half an hour with the Kansan.

Describing Landon as a "clear thinking, hard-hitting American," Roosevelt said he was the first candidate the people had called by the first name—"Alf"—since his father was known as "Teddy."

COURTROOM FIGHT LEADS TO ARREST

Three Brothers Face Charges of Resisting Officer at Burley

BURLEY, Aug. 25—Following a fight in the court room at the conclusion of a probate court hearing before Judge Henry W. Tucker this afternoon John Davis, Ogden attorney, and two brothers, S. L. Davis and Edward Davis were arraigned before Judge Tucker this evening on complaints signed by Sheriff E. D. Pace, charging that they resisted, delayed and obstructed Sheriff Pace in the attempt to discharge the duties of his office. Defendants reserved pleas until Wednesday morning at ten o'clock, and bail was set at $1000 each.

Bonds Being Prepared

Bonds were being prepared in a local law office this evening. The Ogden attorney was here representing his brother, S. L. Davis on a larceny charge involving a trailer brought here by Davis from California. On motion of the prosecuting attorney, Judge Tucker dismissed the case and participants in the hearing were about to leave the court room, when Sheriff Pace sought to hold the defendant, S. L. Davis on request of A. D. Prince and David Hahn, sheriff and prosecuting attorney, respectively of Washington county, Utah, on a charge of issuing checks without sufficient funds. The latter was described as a felony in a copy of warrant for arrest. Attached to the letter of reuest issued by H. S. Snow, justice of the peace of St. George, Utah, precinct.

Brought by officers

The parties from the Utah officers had been brought here by W. A. Ross, police officer, who was here as a witness in today's hearing to identify the trailer.

Sheriff Pace said Attorney John Davis struck him and the fight began with W. A. Ross, Los Angeles police officer and Chief of Police Holl Church coming to the assistance of the sheriff. Judge Tucker said he sought to part the contestants, and exhibited a bloody shirt sleeve in confirmation of his statement. The court room floor and railing were sprinkled with blood.

COOLING BREEZES END TORRID WAVE

Midwest Showers Bring Welcome Relief From Intense Heat

CHICAGO, Aug. 25 (AP)—Showers and cooling breezes started a rout of the late August heat wave from much of the Middle West tonight as President Roosevelt began a journey into the area for first hand drought information.

General rains during the day over Illinois, Wisconsin, parts of Michigan and Indiana were to be followed, forecasters here said, by showers and lower temperatures in parts of the Dakotas, Minnesota, Nebraska and possibly Kansas and Missouri.

New Heat Records

New heat records for so late in the summer were set, however, in Iowa with readings of more than a 100 degrees over most of the state and the long unbroken succession of 100 plus maximums at Topeka, Kansas, was extended to 32 days.

Advices from Pierre, S. D., said that state's western prairies, normally the range for thousands of head of livestock were now affording feed for little more than foundation herds after probably the worst summer season in the history of the state's range area.

Girl Receives Five Year Prison Term

POCATELLO, Aug. 25 (AP)—Judge J. L. Downing sentenced comely 22-year-old Joyce Deschevrieux to serve five years in state's prison today after she pleaded guilty with two companions to armed robbery.

Jess Cox, 27, and Lynn Crosby, 28, were given suspended sentences of five years each.

The trio confessed, police said, to robbing W. M. Lockwood. They asserted the woman lured Lockwood to a lonely spot on a highway outside the city on the ruse she had been left in town by a brother. Lockwood told officers he drove her to a spot which she said was her home. The woman, police said, had a previous criminal record and that the men never were in trouble before.

Missing Jurist Reported Seen In California

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 25 (AP)—Detective Captain Walter C. Allen of the police missing persons bureau pondered a story told by an elderly gold prospector today that a man who claims to be Joseph F. Crater, long-missing New York supreme court justice, now is a gold seeker in the California mountains.

Captain Allen, after talking to 65-year-old "Lucky" Blackett, a prospector, wired details of the report to New York police authorities.

He said that if New York police requested it, he would himself go into the San Diego county back country and search for the missing justice.

The prospector walked into the police headquarters here and told Captain Allen that he "talked with Crater August 1," Allen said.

Film Stars Favor Habit of Singing Before Breakfast

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Aug. 25 (AP) —Singing before breakfast, as an obligato to the strops of the razor and crackling of the bacon, was warmly endorsed today by two film notables who did it.

Matutinal music-making has been known to strike unresponsive chords in the breasts of listeners, but Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy regard it as a highly desirable practise.

Neither is married, but the red-haired songster's engagement to Gene Raymond, platinum blonde leading man, was announced last week.

Offers Advice

Nevertheless, Miss MacDonald plunged fearlessly into a word or two of advice.

"If your better half doesn't sing before breakfast, then is the time to worry," she said. "Singing is a sure sign that the singer is starting a happy day."

Eddy thinks this would be a better world and happier-if-more-men sang before the morning meal, especially in the bathtub. He offered physiological facts to back up his theory.

Many a business man stands by his window, and with a sour face and a frown, does his deep breathing to start the day," he declared. "If you want real deep breathing, just sing. Even if you hum, you must inhale plenty of fresh air."

THOUSANDS VIEW BONNEVILLE DAM

Huge Construction Job Attracts Tourists on Columbia Highway

The giant power and navigation dam Uncle Sam is building on the Columbia river 42 miles east of Portland at Bonneville is being viewed by thousands of visitors every day. Tourists and others do not have to go off on some out of the way road or highway to have a look at this $42,000,000 project being built under the direction of the army engineer corps. The dam is almost under the Columbia River highway (U. S. 30) which parallels the Oregon side of the Columbia river. In fact, one looks straight down on the herculean project where thousands of men have been employed the past three years.

The project is scheduled for completion next summer. The power house is built. The ship locks are completed and working. The work of throwing the main spillway dam across the river is progressing rapidly. It consists of a series of huge piers which will have giant gates installed between them permitting control of the water head.

Bonneville dam when fully installed will supply approximately 600,000 horsepower. It will afford deep, slack water navigation 50 miles east of the dam to The Dalles, allowing ships to steam right into the heart of the wheat producing section of Eastern Oregon.

The dam is only one of the innumerable attractions on the Columbia River highway, one of the greatest, scenic routes in all the world.

Many ranchers are spraying all their animals and premises more often than usual to keep down flies and insects. A black mosquito is credited with carrying the disease.

The territory having the most cases reported is around the Castleford district. Many of the farmers have lost horses or have sick ones at the present time.

Engineer Repeats Charges of Waste In WPA Activities

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP)—The Republican national committee last night made public an affidavit by John T. Stapleton, Bloomington, Indiana, city engineer, reasserting charges of WPA waste and saying he had denied them after going through "two hours as bad as any third degree in a murder case."

The national committee published last week a statement by Stapleton charging waste in WPA activities in Monroe City, Indiana. The statement said WPA costs were 300 per cent above private contracts and that a community cabin which cost $14,000 could have been built for $2000.

Noting that two days later Stapleton denied the charges, the Republican committee said in his affidavit today, the engineer "not only adheres to his original assertions, but states that he was given the third degree by WPA representatives, and coerced into signing a denial which had been written by some other person."

SOME FIGURES

Twin Falls should come in for a good deal of favorable advertising of a national character as a result of figures recently brought to public attention in respect to the City's annual volume of business in comparison to that of other Idaho towns. While the results quoted are based upon figures as of nineteen hundred thirty-three the ratio has remained unchanged. In the matter of retail sales per capita of population Twin Falls tops the list.

It is interesting to note that Boise, for instance, with a total retail sales volume of over eleven million as against Twin Falls' slightly under six million, falls behind when the figures are reduced to a per capita basis. Boise spending amounted to five hundred forty-two dollars per individual during the year while in Twin Falls six hundred and sixty-two dollars was used by each individual.

If further evidence were required in support of the proposition that Twin Falls ranks high from a commercial standpoint the figures would seem to supply it.

GREEK ORDER

There is no more political confusion and strife in Greece, Premier Metaxas, military dictator of that famous little country, has wiped out all such troubles with a wave of his hand. "If any of you belong to any political party," he says, "forget it. There are no more political parties in Greece."

It may look like a civic heaven to people in various other countries ravaged by political strife. There are even Americans who will sigh for political repose. And to tell the truth, such repose is growing in the Old World—far more so than in America. There are no political parties in Germany, Italy, Russia and most of Central Europe.

But that is on the surface. The trouble with such pacific arrangements is that there is always ferment underneath, with discontented citizens, good or bad, ready to erupt. Free government is stormy, and often inefficient, but nations usually come back to it in the long run.

A PROBLEM TO MEET

Twin Falls, in common with a good many other towns and cities, may be said to face a major problem in the matter of handling its traffic, both auto and pedestrian.

During no previous period have there been as many cars on Twin Falls streets or as many persons on the sidewalks. This is true of all daylight and evening hours but the climax is reached on Saturday afternoons and evenings. At such times cars follow each other at such close intervals on the principal business streets that others coming in from cross streets have difficulty in getting into the main traffic streams. Parking is out of the question and stops of any kind are dangerous. And pedestrians fare as badly as drivers. The picture, at such times, is one of traffic congestion at its worst.

The condition has come about naturally enough. There are more cars and more people in and around Twin Falls than ever before, and probably there will be more still. Under such circumstances traffic regulation is not only advisable but necessary and the City is to be commended upon the steps already taken to improve matters.

AMATEURISM

There is glory in amateur sport, but no money. The rules are strict. A champion athlete usually has to choose between the two sooner or later. Generally speaking, only a rich sportsman can afford to keep his status pure.

Hence the temptation for sports stars like Jesse Owens to "cash in" on their fame while it is bright. For people forget, and anybody's public may soon "walk out on him."

No one can properly blame a lad used to poverty for taking advantage of his present position and making some money for himself and his family by paid public appearances, as long as he is on the level with his profession. There is plenty of room and value in professional life too, for good athletes and good sportsmanship.

THE QUEEN MARY'S RECORD TRIP

(Salt Lake Tribune)

The big ships come and go. Not one of those acclaimed as record breakers prior to the great war is now in use. There had been 168 listed liners of over 15,000 tons. Twelve registered 40,000 tons or over. Nine were more than 800 feet long: The Majestic, 915.5; the Berengeria, 883.5; the Bremen, 898.5; the Rex, 880; the Europa, 890; the Leviathan, 907; the Savoia 514; the Olympic 853.5; the Aquitania, 868. Four flew the British flag, two the Italian; two the German and one the Stars and Stripes.

The average life of an ocean liner for first class service is less than 20 years, owing to vibratory strain, insidious corrosion or competition of newer, speedier, completer craft. When the French launched their Normandie it was a great achievement and a challenge to British supremacy on the seas. The Queen Mary was England's answer.

This vessel has just docked in New York City after making the voyage across the Atlantic in the record time of four days, seven hours and twelve minutes, beating the best time previously made four and a half hours. The Queen Mary carried 2000 passengers on her last trip, including a number of celebrities. She also carried an insurance of $24,000,000 on which a premium of approximately $300,000 is paid annually.

Competition is keen and inventors are busy, so the present prize winner may find a new record set before she becomes altogether obsolete or unseworthy. Rivalry is stimulated not only by national pride but by subsidies or other forms of governmental aid.

No matter how long it is permitted to stand, the record just made by the Queen Mary is another evidence that inventive genius is trying to satisfy the growing demand for speed.

OUR WHEAT "SURPLUS"

(Idaho Statesman)

For those who like statistics the National Grange Clip sheet contains some significant figures on the deficiency in the United States wheat crop. This will be the fourth year in which the United States has had a deficiency.

To quote:

"The 1932 crop totaled more than 745,000,000 bushels; the 1933 estimated at 529,000,000 bushels, the lowest production recorded since 1896. Then came the drought year of 1934, which gave us only 496,000,000 bushels; followed with 623,000,000 bushels for 1935.

"The July 1 estimate for this year's production was 638,000,000 bushels, but it is expected that later estimates will show a big drop.

"While the world's carry-over of wheat amounted to more than a billion bushels several years ago, this was reduced to 865,000,000 bushels on July 1, 1935 with an indicated decline this year of 225,000,000 bushels."

Calling attention to the fact that the figures show the wheat surplus in the United States has been entirely wiped out during the last three or four years, the Grange writer naively concludes that "Under these conditions, arbitrary restriction of acreage no longer seems as important as was the case a few years ago."

That is putting it rather mildly.

MAN'S BEST FRIEND

(Spokesman-Review)

There is nobody like him—he will follow you to the end of the earth. His smile whatever you do is all right. You never have to make company of him. You have no rival in his affections. He eats what is put before him and asks no questions. He never sulks when you mistreat him. He misses you when you are away and welcomes you when you return. He never pries into your secrets. Such is the dog.

National Dog week lies in the offing, September 20 to 26, and bids everybody pause and think kindly of man's best friend, his dog. The nicest thing about a dog is that it doesn't matter what your face looks like or whether you are stranded on the day's road, he is still your friend. And the nice thing about a dog is that he doesn't have to be a fine breed or have any fancy looks to make you love him. All he needs is eyes and a tail and when he looks at you with eyes full of adoration and wags his tail in appreciation of the slightest attention, he wags himself straight into your heart.

More hound dogs probably been loved than those with long pedigrees. For some reason or other, the hound dogs seem capable of giving more love than those that come from fancy kennels. Possibly they know that they are homely and are doubly appreciative of having a master—who knows? But the hound dog has made his place in the world.

The committee of National Dog week is using as its slogan, "Every home needs a dog and every dog needs a good home." If the world were the combined halfway many around this week can wag its tail in appreciation.

BREAKFAST FOOD

LEADING UP TO IT

In the dressing room of the train the Scot had been boring everyone with tales of great deeds he had done.

"Well, now," said an Englishman at last, "suppose you tell us something you can't do, and I'll undertake to do it myself."

"Thank ye," replied the Scot. "I canna pay ma railroad fare."

BE CAREFUL, BILL

Bill was an enthusiastic dancer, but awkward. Emily was light as dandelion down.

"My, but you're a graceful dancer," Bill exclaimed as they fox-trotted. "I wish I were in your shoes!"

"Nice of you," she exclaimed, demurely, "but would you mind not trying to get in them until after this dance?"

INDIRECT COSTS

Jones—"How much did it cost you to see the opera?"

Dobby—"$18."

Jones—"I didn't know the tickets were so expensive."

Dobby—"They weren't. It was my wife's new hat that was expensive."

JUST LIKE A MAN

"I can never find a thing about this house," grumbled the husband. "I would certainly like to know where my hat is."

"So would I," replied his wife sweetly. "You weren't wearing it when you came home last night."

PLANNED ECONOMY

A Scotchman was leaving on a business trip and he called back as he was leaving:

"Good-bye all, and dinna forget to tak' little Donal's glasses off when he isn't looking at anything."

REBELS TO WIN. A leading American financier telephoned to the Spanish ambassador in Paris, an old personal friend. The American was told categorically that the fix in Spain would be over within a week and that the rebels would win. The man at this end has great confidence in the judgment of the diplomat, and entire trust in the good faith of his informant.

WASHINGTON

By RAY TUCKER

ESTOPPEL. Smart Democratic lawyers think they have discovered a way to checkmate the fancy system of decorating steaks and chops and lingerie with labels advertising the tax collector's rakeoff on the family budget.

There is, to be sure, no law barring a butcher from blackboarding for complaining customers the extra amount they pay for meats because of taxes which accompany the animal from the ranch to the roast. Likewise the baker and suitmaker may belabor the burden which the taxes imposes upon their products. But unless the political conspirators exercise extreme care, they will find themselves in the predicament of Shakespeare's Shylock.

If the tax item is figured erroneously by so much as a penny—and it is admittedly impossible to estimate the exact tax a pound of lamb chops carries—those responsible will be liable to federal prosecution for misrepresentation of the price. A cease-and-desist order would lie against the practice. The blackboards then would have to be locked in storage pending final decision—and that would not be handed down until long after election!

SLOGANS. New Deal strategists are obviously disconcerted by the prospect of this flank attack on the administration's spending policies. Ace Publicist Charley Michelson gnawed his pencil for fifteen minutes when the sell-'em-on-taxes idea was first relayed to him from his scouts in Chicago.

The ex-Hearst reporter sicked the lawyers onto the proposition. But meanwhile, he speculated on more direct action. Tentatively the counter-attack in the field will assume the shape of old-fashioned political pressure. Known New Deal sympathizers, including the vast army of AAA, WPA and PWA beneficiaries, will be encouraged to register their resentment with butchers, bread-makers, and grocers who blackboard taxes. Buyers' strikes will be fomented.

The humble marts of commerce will be transformed into an armed camp, and the question of "Have you a blackboard in your shop?" will rank in its place in the history of America with such stirring commands as "Don't give up the ship!" and "Don't shoot till you see the whites of their eyes!"

REPORTS. Two extremely acute observers—one a New Deal partisan and the other a Sunflower worshipper—recently slenth-scoped the voters of New England, New York and Pennsylvania. Here are their essential conclusions:

There are only two issues—Roosevelt's personality and his expenditure of billions. Nobody seems interested in Landon, and many call him "Langdon." People are either for or against the president. *They resent most vocally the out*pouring of money through WPA channels, yet he is the handling of projects rather than the spending which sticks in their craws. They look on most WPA workers as "lazy, no-good riffraff." Everybody has some sort of grouch against the government, and thinks reports of recovery are exaggerated because it hasn't hit them. A common nickname for FDR is "Amant Alex." Church people complain of his children's divorces and escapades.

Not a single person *mentioned the constitu*tion or FDR's seeming disparagement of the supreme court. They have no interest in foreign affairs or war threats. Only in easternmost Massachusetts and eastern Pennsylvania was there mild interest in the Lemke-Coughlin-Townsend ticket. The observers' considered opinion is that the Republicans could capitalize this disgruntlement and win, but that, as the Landon campaign is dragging now, they won't.

ASSET. The one New Deal agency which is speeding along with a minimum of ballyhoo or blunders is the rural electrification administration. It is quietly "remaking" a slice of the world beyond the dreams of Professor Rex Tugwell.

Aready REA has constructed, started or awarded funds for almost 30,000 miles of wire that will revolutionize life on the farm. The number of people who will benefit, not counting members of the family, are approximately 109,000. That's the list of "customers"—or heads of families, etc.

Chief Electrifier Morris L. Cooke has rigidly barred politics from this permanent government agency. But his friendly relationships with farmer cooperatives, building contractors and even private utility heads shrocked by other New Deal schemes may turn out to be an invisible asset for FDR.

NOTES. Impartial observers expect to see comfort for both parties in the Maine election September 14—a Democratic senator and G.O.P. congressman. . . . A new commission will struggle with the problem of splitting cost of government at the national capital between the community and the U.S. . . . Townsendites are accused of planning to trade off FDR for votes for congressmen.

NEW YORK

By JAMES McMULLIN

FLOW. Well-posted financial men are uneasy about the power Europeans have attained over our markets through their heavy purchases of American securities. If they should ever choose to pull the plug of concentrated liquidation, a tremendous crash in stock prices would probably follow.

Such liquidation might or might not be planned intentionally. It could arise through chaotic depreciation of Latin currencies. For the past three years dollars have been a great bargain in international exchange, which largely accounts for the steady flow of foreign capital to this country.

If this situation were suddenly reversed, these floating funds might flow out much faster than they flowed in—with disastrous consequences for Uncle Sam's internal economy.

ALERT. It is worth noting that European liquidation of this nature would presumably bring large profits to the sellers of American equities.

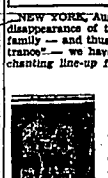
The bulk of foreign buying took place at prices well below current stock market levels. Further, by keeping the proceeds in this country for a while, European speculators could be fairly certain of picking up the same stocks nice and cheap when the collapse was over.

There are few indications that any such devastating development is imminent. At the same time, exceptionally shrewd analysts warn that we should be alert to the possibility, especially in the event that the Spanish civil war leads to internal trouble in France.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 26 — With the disappearance of the old-fashioned family — and thus the "family entrance" — we have today a disenchanting line-up for ladies at the beer bars. Ladies feeling high, roguishly, bouyantly bunned and entirely too come-hither.



O. O. McIntyre

They look at one as though to say: "Whatever it is you were going to say, don't say it. We've heard it before. We know all the answers, etc." Thus develops a class that not only mentions unmentionables but shouts them. And in this we have lost something. The blushes, shyness, self consciousness.

It would be apt just now to recapture the fun of the old huskinbee, with its red ear and all that. I am thinking of a church supper given out our way—a crotch of the creek place of mooing cows, oaken water buckets with gourd dippers and gnarled apple trees.

And I recall the fresh, red faces of those bosomy matrons who served such a swell chicken dinner — flakey fried chicken and cocoanut cake with two-fingered icing—and I'd like to trade somehow about two dozen girls of the beer bars for one blushing gal in blue gingham.

I met the late Tommy Meighan but once, although we had exchanged several notes over a period. The meeting was at a Billy Seaman dinner and Meighan was already beginning to show the wear of the devastating malady that consumed him. His name was tied chiefly to "The Miracle Man," which made him, Lon Chaney and Betty Compson. Betty Compson is recalled for the curl of her lips in that picture. She played a lady of the underworld. The story buzzed that she had gone through plenty of trouble trying to calcin on in Hollywood and was drafted for that picture when in full blown pout at careering. And the director recognized the value of keeping her in that mood.

Meighan talked chiefly of George Ade, his friend whom he invigled with over-night success into scenario writing. There was no one so great in literature, friendship or understanding to him as Ade. Indeed, one of the most devoted friendships I ever knew about was Meighan and Ade did a sort of reappearance later. That is, Meighan played in a picture Ade wrote called "Back Home and Broke," a swell picket-fence drama with touches only Ade knew how to scatter.

Russ Cole and I were musing today what our Eugene Fields might say if they could return to see the announcement that the Newspaper Guild will be seated at the next A. F. of L. convention and behold cartoonists picketing the New York magazines in the manner of the garment workers. What a different world it has become in a quick spin of the wheel.

There is a snow white doorway on Gramercy Park, West, that is, indeed, a museum piece. It's worth a detour to see, especially when dusk is sifting its silvery quietude over the maples. I have visited it many times and always there is a loiterer or so catching its poetic glint. A vein of this old world still speaks Gramercy. During the present summer, I have seen families dining in basement dining rooms by candle light and practicing every courtesy and leisurely manner attributed to the period of older and less hurried epochs.

Gramercy Park, as it stands, somehow recalls that era when wives, *feeling that their cham*ber of commerce husbands lacked color, dashed off to "the Continent" for a turn with the "hand blues." The lost era when American husbands were content with a hard day's work and a little porch rocking in the dusk.

A famous impersonation of the newspaper shops is one by Jimmy Swinnerton of an old time minstrel man on parade. It was, of course, back in the horse and buggy days and the fellow Swinnerton imitates was a marching trombone player who keeps one eye on the music as he plays and marches with the other on the street debris which he sidesteps nearly and then gets back into the proper line without missing a step or beat of a drum. It is so hilarious managing editors had to forbid it during working hours because it disrupted the staffs.

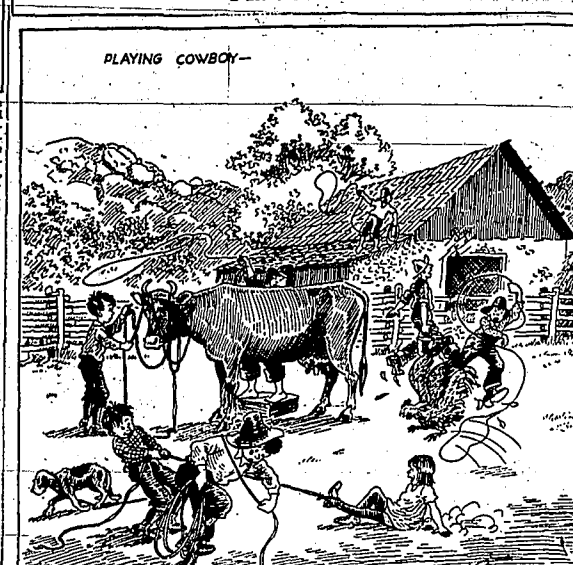
Fun On The Farm



INSTRUCTORS CLOSE TRAINING SESSIONS

RUPERT, Aug. 26—The five-day course given in the Smith-Hughes farm shop of Rupert high school to vocational agriculture instructors of this section of the state came to a close Friday afternoon.

According to Thomas Maberly, local ag teacher, the course was exceptionally interesting and a valuable aid to vocational agriculture instructors who were in attendance. These men were Virgil Cross of Heyburn, R. R. Osborn of Gooding, Glenn R. Kunkel of Burley, Harold J. Broadhead of Kimberly, D. A. Longenbaugh of Twin Falls, Henry T. Schodde of King Hill, Russ Hall of Homedale and Wilder, Robert Corless of Filer, Virgil Siple of Jerome and Thomas Maberly of Rupert.

University Instructors

Instruction was under the supervision of E. N. Humphreys, assisted by J. B. Rodgers, both of the agricultural engineering department of the University of Idaho. They were further assisted by V. T. Saville of Boise, a representative of the Linde Air corporation of Salt Lake City, E. A. Dufford of the Idaho-Portland Cement company, and a representative of the General Electric company.

The subjects under consideration included oxy-acetylene welding, farm motors, electric fences and farm sanitation. As phases of the welding and sanitation courses, a welding table was constructed and left in the local farm-shop to be jointly used by the school shop classes and the commercial welding for the school garage, and a septic tank was installed on the Thomas Maberly ranch.

Guiding Your Child

By ALICE CLARISSA RICHMOND

CRYING WOLF

The lifeguards on a crowded bathing beach recently made the complaint that the unnecessary screaming of the children in the water caused them a great deal of anxiety. They could never be sure whether the child was in trouble, and so had to keep answering false alarms on the chance that cries were really calls for help.

It is true that children at play are bound to shout. It is impossible for happy, normal children to romp and play silently.

Most children like to attract attention and often scream unnecessarily loudly and with a pretense of agony, just to start something. It does not occur to them that lifeguards and parents may at some time be in danger of answering false alarms and not turn up when they are really needed.

The story of the boy who called "Wolf!" once too often is apt to be repeated in some form again and again through life, and the sooner children learn it, the better. The time to begin training a child not to scream in the water or at play is when he is very young.

He can shout or call as often as he likes, but the minute he lets out an ear-piercing yell which brings mother or neighbors running, he should be reprimanded and shown the very real danger of the practice. A simple, sincere talk should be effective. If, in spite of this warning, he continues to startle the community by his screams, the best plan is to stop him from playing and either bring him indoors or make him play alone until he has learned that whatever the attention his noise brings is distinctly undesirable.

After a few punishments of this kind, administered without heat and without fail, the child will learn to control his voice and not to cry "Wolf!" when he plays.

BURLEY ODD FELLOWS ENJOY ANNUAL PICNIC

BURLEY, Aug. 25—Burley lodge of Odd Fellows held their annual picnic Sunday in East park where a lunch was served at noon. A program followed the lunch with Presley Horne, secretary of the grand lodge of Idaho, speaking on the development of the state along with Odd Fellowship. Musical numbers included two duets by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Payne and xylophone solos by Ed Schroeder accompanied by Miss Lera Aylor.

Plans are being rapidly completed for the entertainment of the visitors to Burley when the grand lodge convenes here on October 20, lasting three days and guests are expected to arrive here as early as October 18, according to George H. Scholer, chairman.

Janitor Injured In Schoolroom Accident

RUPERT, Aug. 25—O. W. Doyle, janitor of a local grade school, was varnishing schoolroom desks last Friday.

He would sit on one desk with his feet in the seat in front and brush varnish on the top of the adjoining desk. When he was through with one desk he would slip backward and sit on the next one behind.

He came to the end of the row quicker than he thought and fell over backward, receiving a hard jolt on the back of his head. Doctor E. H. Elmore feared a concussion would result.

600 Brain Fever Cases Reported in Minidoka County

RUPERT, Aug. 25 — With 600 cases of the malady already recorded in Minidoka county, the dreaded brain fever continues to sweep the project.

Dr. T. W. White, state veterinarian, who met here in the court house last Wednesday evening with over 400 farmers at the request of Dr. H. E. McMillan, local practitioner, the county commissioners, and County Agent O. W. Daigh, agreed that the Rupert area is the worst section in the state of Idaho where the disease is raging.

It was decided that another man, a deputy state veterinarian would be sent to Minidoka county to assist and work under the supervision of the local veterian, who, although working from dawn until eleven or twelve at night is still about fifteen or twenty calls behind. Most horses are sick from 24 to 36 hours before they can be treated.

'Problem Child' Weds—

CHICAGO, Aug. 25 (AP)—Sixteen-year-old Mary Belle Spencer, 2nd, on several occasions the center of court action because of the refusal of her parents to send her to school, was honeymooning today with J. Edward Wright, six foot, four inch athlete with whom she eloped last Thursday, the Daily Times said in a copyrighted story today.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. Richard Vance Spencer and Attorney Mary Belle Spencer. They confirmed today that the couple was married last Thursday at Lapart, Indiana, by a justice of the peace.

Mary Belle and her younger sister, Victoria, were "problem children" of the Cook county courts during the past two years, when the Chicago Heights school board sought to compel their parents to send them to school.

The parents refused, saying the children could obtain their learning as they "darned well pleased."

BEAN HARVEST OPENS IN VICINITY OF EDEN

EDEN, Aug. 25—With the grain threshing about completed in this section, the harvest of the early plantings of beans has been started.

The peak of the cutting season is not expected for about another ten days owing to the larger per centage of the beans being later to mature as a result of late spring plantings. The condition of the crop at present is about normal on Great Northern variety, while garden beans, that last year were almost a total failure, are said to be the best prospect for several seasons.

Small grain yields were cut at least 15 per cent as the result of rust that appeared during the latter part of the ripening stage.

HEALTH CAMP AT BUHL ENDS TERM

59 Children Enrolled for Assistance During Summer Session

BUHL, Aug. 25—McClusky Health camp closed Sunday after a six weeks' period for the younger children. There were 59 enrolled for the camp, representing Gooding, Jerome, Lincoln, Bingham, Bannock, Franklin, Cassia and Gem counties. Twin Falls county was represented by almost half of the camp.

On last Saturday afternoon C. C. Voellor treated the camp to a free motion picture show at the Ramona theater in Buhl. Mrs. Kathryn Athey of Boise, executive secretary of the Anti-Tuberculosis association, was a visitor at the camp for several days last week and expressed her appreciation for what the camp has done this summer.

Personnel Listed

The following were the personnel of the camp for the summer: Mrs. Harriet Stevens of Twin Falls, superintendent; Miss Mary Reams of Twin Falls, dietician; Mrs. J. L. Smith of Buhl; Miss Jean Whitney of Kimberly, Miss Agatha Houk of Castleford, playground instructors; Blanche Perrin of Buhl, recreational project, in charge of the instructional work and the games; Kern Thurman of Buhl, first aid work; Lawrence Jones of Buhl, swimming instructor; Miss Mable Jones, office work; WPA and NYA furnished the help for the kitchen. All the laundry work and the baking was done by women furnished by the WPA.

Furnish Food

The country districts surrounding Buhl were divided into groups and furnished fresh fruits and vegetables and all the eggs and chickens for the camp. The granges also helped in this work.

The boys' dormitory is nearing completion and will be ready for next year so that more children can be accommodated. The WPW is doing this work, having also completed a swimming pool, a cellar, laundry room, shower rooms, placed rock foundations under the old buildings and are now fencing the grounds.

Longer Terms

For next year it is hoped that the camp will be open early in June so that it will give eight weeks for the younger children's camps instead of six. The first three weeks of the summer are turned over to the older girls' camp and then the camp for younger children follows. It is also hoped that next year that the camp can be an all-southern Idaho project with all counties in southern Idaho sending children and sharing the expenses.

The camp is managed by the Twin Falls County Anti-Tuberculosis association with Mrs. Orr Chapman of Twin Falls as president. The local board members are: Mrs. Louise McClusky, Mrs. L. P. Runyon, and Mrs. Clyde Smithson. The local committee members include the above three mentioned and Mrs. J. C. Hamilton, Miss Florence Allen, Mrs. A. J. Finke, Mrs. A. H. Jagels and Mrs. Harry Wilson.

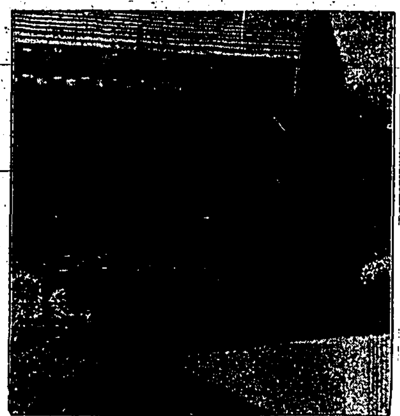
OUT-OF-DOOR LIVING ROOM

It's Easy To Convert Porch Or Garden House



Waterproof cloth covers the cushions of the willow chairs.

(Prepared by The American Home for The News)

At this time of year we are apt to have our actual rooms for living out-of-doors, simply furnished, but suitably and with a great deal of decorative charm. They may be porches, garden houses, open terraces, but they all bring us nearer to the out-of-doors and any vagrant summer breeze.

The garden living room shown is charming in its simplicity. Big comfortable chairs cushioned and covered in waterproof material and convenient little tables create an extremely restful "room." Very important are the incidental touches of green, such as the hanging wall brackets filled with ivy, the potted plants on the tiled floor and the conventionally shaped shrubs in big tubs.

There is no limit to the color possibilities. With white-washed brick or white clapboard background, bright blue stick willow furniture with yellow cushions would be one idea. Another would be coral furniture with brown cushions. With dark walls, white furniture with colorful cushions would be the thing. Porch rugs will always aid and abet a good color scheme.

CATTLE-BUYING AREA ENLARGED

Heavier Purchases Predicted Unless Soaking Rains Materialize

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP) — Heavier government purchases of drought-distressed cattle unless good fall rains occur were forecast today by William O. Fraser, chairman of the agriculture department's drought cattle committee.

Twenty-three counties in five states were added during the day to official drought territory eligible for emergency federal relief.

Rains Improve Corn

Encouraging word came from the weather bureau, however, in advance of its regular crop report to be published tomorrow. An official there said recent rains had improved corn and forage prospects in northern portions of the Ohio valley, in the upper Mississippi valley, the Great Lakes region and the northern plains states.

"Precipitation over a vast territory indicates a material improvement in corn and forage crops," said J. B. Kincer, crop expert of the bureau.

Reveals Apprehension

Fraser, predicting a decision by the end of this week on whether the government will buy sheep from the drought area, said of the cattle buying program already under way:

"We are apprehensive that feeders will have used up too much of their reserve forage to winter the large cattle numbers which will pour out of the national forests and mountain country in September said October, and that it will be necessary to set up government purchases if good fall rains do not occur."

There were some feeding areas, short on forage and water, in the 23 counties in Arkansas, Illinois, Minnesota, Nebraska, and Virginia, which were added today to official drought territory, now including 1044 counties in 22 states.

There has been a heavy run of mountain cattle in Montana, Colorado and Wyoming, particularly in the Jackson hole and King mountain country, Fraser said, and while they will not be herded out until cold weather large numbers are expected to reach the markets beginning not later than September 21.

The wedding march was played by Miss Mary Mathews and rose petals were strewn along the bridal path by little Re Nay Gillette, sister of Wanda. The ceremony was performed by Bishop W. W. Hearst of the Declo L. D. S. ward.

Miss Wanda Gillette wore a red taffeta dress with white accessories and carried a bouquet of red gladioli. Miss Frances Gillette wore a blue crepe dress and carried a bouquet of pink gladioli. The two couples attended each other.

Reception Held

Following the ceremony, light refreshments were served to 30 guests, including relatives and close friends of the brides and bridegrooms.

The two girls both attended Declo schools. Miss Wanda Gillette also attended college at Logan, Utah. Mr. Norby was graduated from Rupert high school and the University of Idaho at Moscow. Mr. Williams was graduated from the Declo high school and attended Albion State Normal and the University of Idaho.

Friday evening the couples left for northern Idaho on their honeymoon, after which they will return to Declo and later go to Jerome where Mr. Norby and Mr. Williams are teachers in the Jerome high school.

GRAND CANYON, Ariz., Aug. 25 (AP)—A government is of necessity "of a people and by a people," Miss Mary Stewart, vocational advisory chairman of the national federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, said in an address tonight, "but whether or not it is for a people depends on their degree of enlightenment and uprightness."

Miss Stewart said 150 years of national life "have shown us that freedom does not inhere alone in the intelligence and integrity of the people who make, administer and interpret laws, and in the intelligence and integrity of the governed."

RAM SALE PRICES UNDER 1935 MARK

Wool Growers' Secretary at Loss to Explain Reduced Values

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 25 (AP) — Royal bloods of the range sold at a discount today at the annual ram sale of the National Wool Growers' association.

Breeders kept a firm hold on their pocketbooks as prize Rambouillets went on the auction block and sale officials expressed surprise at relatively meager prices commanded by stock that a year ago sold as high as $1,275 a head.

Top price of $350 was paid today for a 18-month-old Rambouillet by John K. Madsen of Mt. Pleasant, Utah. The day's average for 47 rams was $87.50, compared with $148.27 for 49 rams in 1935.

Higher Bids Predicted

F. R. Marshall, secretary of the National Wool Growers' association, was at a loss to explain the low prices. He had predicted bids above the 1935 figures.

Buyers from a score of western states, Canada and Russia came for the two-day sale.

The Soviet was represented by three agents of the Amtorg Trading corporation.

Madsen received top price of $40 a head for a pen of 25 yearling Rambouillets, from Edward Sargent, Chama, New Mexico.

Dore Assails Hearst In Seattle Strike

SEATTLE, Aug. 25 (AP) — Mayor John F. Dore, addressing a wildly cheering crowd estimated by police at more than 2000 persons, tonight described the strike of the Seattle chapter of the American Newspaper Guild at the Post-Intelligencer as a "battle of all wage earners of the community.

"Whether the citizens of this city are going to run this town or whether William Randolph Hearst is going to run it is the main issue at stake in the strike of the newsroom of the Post-Intelligencer," Dore said.

"As to radio reports of mob violence, there has been no mob violence since I became mayor and there never will be," he said.

The mayor said if "Hearst brings his gang of gorillas into Seattle we will make it hotter than hell for him."

NEW YORK, Aug. 25 (AP) — Democratic State Chairman James C. Quigley of Nebraska said today Senator George W. Norris, progressive Republican, would file for re-election on an independent ticket within the next few days and would have the support of the state's Democratic senator, Edward R. Burke.

Burke joined President Roosevelt last spring in urging Senator Norris to seek re-election.

THE WORLD WITH A FENCE

A New Novel by Marian Sims

SYNOPSIS: Carol Torrance has established herself in her new job as copywriter in Blake Thornton's advertising agency in Atlanta. She has made contact with some old friends, among them Cornelia of college days. And she has sensed that something is wrong between Blake and his older selfish wife Irma. Irma is almost never in Atlanta; right now she is at Rockbrook, high in the Blue Ridge mountains, playing bridge with three old ladies and awaiting Blake's arrival for the week-end.

Chapter 26
DEAR IRMA

Irma looked demure and deprecating, and hoped Blake wouldn't arrive in that horrible old linen suit. She said sweetly:

"Well, I like him. . . ." And cut the cards for Mrs. LaConig to deal.

Blake arrived at half-past five, wearing the horrible linen suit, because it was cool and he didn't care how he looked when he got there. He slid from under the wheel and walked stiffly up the steps; dusty and wrinkled and hatless, with his thin, fair hair in complete disarray. Irma rose and went quickly to meet him.

"Blake, darling! You look like a tramp."

He grinned without mirth. "I feel like one."

She was lifting her face to him, and he kissed her in surprise. It was the audience, no doubt; in the privacy of their room she would have waited until he was clean and then offered her cheek. She presented him to the three women and then said:

"Shall I come down to the cottage with you?"

"Thanks," his voice was dry, "I think I can find it by myself. I want to clean up first of all."

"Then I'll be down later, when we've finished this rubber. . . ."

But he was back again, shining and smelling of soap and talcum, before this rubber was finished. He looked much better now — almost handsome, Irma thought complacently—but, oh, he still looked too young! He looked sometimes, desperately and pathetically young. She said eagerly:

"Come take my hand, darling," and the inevitable followed. "No, take mine. I really must dress for dinner, anyhow. . . ."

Blake held up his hand. "I'm not going to take anybody's. I'm going to sit here and read the paper, if you'll excuse me."

Irma glanced at the women and smiled tolerantly. "Let him alone. You know men and their wretched newspapers. . . ."

I wonder why I come two hundred miles to be so bored? he thought. I could stay at home and be bored with so much less effort and expense. God knows how Irma stands it. . . . He wanted to feed his heart and eyes on the quietness and beauty before him, but if he put the paper aside those old harpies would start dragging at him again, so he clung to it doggedly.

But there was no escaping the harpies that evening after dinner; he had to play with Irma against two of the worst of them—a set game at a twentieth of a cent. He abhorred gambling with women, but he couldn't insult them by refusing.

When the hands of his watch had creaked rustily to midnight the ordeal ended, and he was alone with Irma in their cottage.

She began fastidiously to undress. "I never saw such bridge,' she complained.

He shrugged, too weary even to unbutton his coat. "Well, you saw who won."

"Yes, but you got by with murder."

"Damn the bridge anyway," he said, and kissed her with his mouth quick and thirsty.

Instinctively she stiffened and then relaxed, but he had noticed her reflex.

Revulsion swept him suddenly, icily, and his arms dropped like weights to his sides. He turned slowly away.

"Never mind," he said dully. "I'll let you alone."

He heard her draw in her breath in sharp astonishment. She was silent for several seconds, then she snapped:

"Oh, very well. . . ."

And the thought penetrated his weary, beaten mind that she was actually insulted and a little disappointed.

He arranged a golf game the next morning with another weekend husband who was champing to get away, and Irma furnished another surprise.

"I think I'll walk around with you," she decided.

He glanced at her delicate clothes, at the high, sharp heels on her white pumps. "Not in those shoes, surely."

"I don't see why not. They're perfectly comfortable."

"Sure they are—under a bridge table. Not," he added tardily, "that I wouldn't be delighted to have you. But you ought to wear low heels; I can't stop in the middle of the game and carry you home."

"These are the lowest ones I have." She looked wounded. "Well, never mind."

He should have insisted on her coming, of course, but he was too completely indifferent to exert himself. The realization nagged him for several holes, and he dropped two dollars before he could get his mind on the game.

The course was beautifully kept; a great sprawling carpet cupped in the hollow of the mountain's hand. Through occasional breaks in the hills he saw distant valleys, folds upon folds of dim blue plush. He thought suddenly and unaccountably of Carol, in that apartment house that must be this morning as hot as the hinges of hell. Ben Tyler had said she played pretty decent golf; it was a shame she couldn't be the one who was enjoying this.

When he came back to dress for lunch his conscience was once more nipping at his heels and he attempted, at the table, to still it with lively talk; all the intimate scandal that was food and drink to Irma. She sulked for a while and then remembered the rest of the dining-room. It would never do for Mrs. LaConte and the others to think she wasn't happy. She laughed and chatted and demanded further details, which he invented shamelessly.

"How is business?" she asked with metallic vivacity when the gossip was exhausted.

"Fair. I've taken on a regular copy writer since you left. Decided it would save money."

He wondered why he had said that. He never mentioned the office to Irma because it bored her, and a new member of the force was less than nothing in her life. If it hadn't been for the dining-room she would even have disregarded the information that now she said:

"What's the name?"

"It's a she. Her name's Torrance."

"I thought men wrote copy."

"Not necessarily. This girl's going to be damn good, at about half a man's salary."

Irma looked suspicious. "Is she good-looking?"

He grinned suddenly. "My Lord, I believe you're jealous! If you are there may still be hope for me."

"Don't be a half-wit. Is she?"

"I hadn't really thought." That was a lie; he had considered her beauty — dubiously, it was true—when he hired her. "I—yes, I guess she is."

"Where did you get her?" Irma's tone was that of a prosecuting attorney and he stared at her in astonishment.

"Look here," he said with a laugh, "I've had two or three dozen girls in that office since I started. Why pick on Carol?"

"Well, you've gotten to first names," Irma pointed out, and he cursed his carelessness.

"I called her that in the beginning. She's a friend of the Tylers, in Ashboro. Went to school with Cornelia Fgrar and a lot of other girls in town. Why shouldn't I call her by her first name?"

"Well, Irma said flatly, "you neednt go falling in love with her. It won't get you anywhere."

He grimaced. "Are you telling me? I can't even imagine a man's trying to make her; she's not the type."

He turned the suggestion around and smiled at it. Fall in love with Carol Terrance? With Carol. . . . The smile vanished slowly into gravity. She was out of his reach, but it was easy enough to imagine some other man's falling in love with her.

He left Rockbrook in the middle of the afternoon. Irma said he might just as well have dinner there and drive home "in the cool of the evening," but he declined. It made him too late getting home, he said, and he would start the week all fagged out. This way he could have a late dinner downtown, then go to bed immediately afterwards. She shrugged resignedly.

In full view of the squadron she locked her arm in his and went with him to the car. He kissed her dutifully and the car roared off, as if it too were chafing to be gone.

For two more weeks at least he would live in peace, even though it was the peace of loneliness. He wondered briefly if Carol was spending her own weekend in solitude, and hoped she wasn't.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 25 (AP)—The wildest winning drive of the current baseball season carried the New York Giants into first place in the National league today as they opened their "revival" western invasion with a 6 to 5 victory over the Reds.

The victory, achieved only after the Reds had come from behind to tie the score with a four-run rally in the fifth, was the 13th straight for the Giants, the 19th in their last 20 starts and the 33rd in the 38 games they have played in the surge that has carried them from fifth place to the league lead.

Deadlock Broken

The defeat of the Cardinals in the first game of their doubleheader wint Boston pushed the Giants to the top, breaking the deadlock that has existed since yesterday.

A smart move on the part of Manager Bill Terry paid dividends in the encounter. He put Hank Leiber, a right-hand batter, in the outfield in place of Jim Ripple, because the Reds started a left-handed pitcher, Bill Hallahan, and Leiber came through with a two-base hit that drove in the winning runs in the seventh.

Johnny Fischer Tops Qualifiers

Walker Cup Member Cards 137 to Earn Place in National Amateur

NEW YORK, Aug. 25 (AP)—Youth took command of the situation today as aspirants for the national amateur golf championship, vacated last winter by Lawson Little, accompanied final qualifying rounds in 29 districts.

Fischer Cards 137

Top honors went to Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati, a member of the Walker Cup team which will play Great Britain's squad at Pine Valley, N. J., next week. Fischer elected to play his qualifying rounds at the country club, Brookline, Mass. That his choice was a wise one was seen in his 36-hole score of 67-70—137.

His morning round slashed three strokes off the competitive course record, set in 1922 by Jesse Guilford. The total was one stroke better than the pair of 69's carded by Frank Strafaci of Brooklyn, 1935 national public links champion, in winning the metropolitan district test at Winged Foot, Mamaroneck, N. Y.

Course records were smashed all to pieces by the big "met" field of 206, which competed for the big total of 31 qualifying places. Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie, ripped the east course apart with a 66 in the morning, four strokes under the previous record. But he skidded to an 80 in the afternoon and wound up sixth. Roger Peacock, District of Columbia champion who led the Washington district qualifiers, shot a record 67 at the Columbia country club.

Hard Pressed

Two members of the Walker Cup squad pressed Strafci hard for his metropolitan honors. Albert Campbell of Seattle was second with 72-72—144 and Reynolds Smith of Dallas tied third with 72-73—145. George Voigt also qualified safely with a 151 but Harry Givan of Seattle couldn't hit his stride, shooting a 77 and 82 for a 159, five strokes above the limit.

Ed White of Austin, Texas, another Walker Cup player, won his berth at Philadelphia with 152 and Walter Emery of Oklahoma City played a tie with his townsman, Joy Cole, at 142 for the two places at Tulsa. Charley Yates of Atlanta had little difficulty making the grade in his home district.

Two Walker Cuppers, Captain Francis Ouimet and George T. Dunlap were exempt as former amateur titleholders.

Baseball's BIG SIX

(By The Associated Press)

Lou Gehrig of the Yanks picked up more ground on Earl Averill of the Indians yesterday in his chase after the American league batting leadership. While Averill managed only one hit in three times up to hold his average at .385, Gehrig hit safely in both of his official trips to the plate to boost his mark three points to .382.

The standings (three leading hitters in each league):

	AB	R	H	Pct.
Averill, Indians	426	104	167	.392
Gehrig, Yankees	456	143	174	.382
Weatherly, Indians	201	32	77	.383
Medwick, Cardinals	499	90	183	.371
Mize, Cardinals	393	62	107	.363

Buckeyes Cheer Sprint Champion

Jesse Owens' Home Town Extends Noisy Welcome to Hero

CLEVELAND, Aug. 25 (AP)—Jesse Owens came home today from brilliant Olympic conquests to the thunderous cheers of his fellow townspeople.

The 22-year-old Negro flash grinned broadly and waved a handkerchief incessantly as the automobile in which he rode moved through streets flanked by thousands of admirers.

"Ily-yah, boy!" called many of his friends.

Voices Happiness

"Friends, I can't tell you how happy I am," said the record-breaking Ohio State university star at public auditorium, where the formal reception was held. "This is the greatest reception I've ever seen. It makes me very proud to be a citizen of Cleveland."

Governor Martin L. Davey, Mayor Harold H. Burton and other officials paid tribute to Owens' sensational athletic feats. Owens was presented with a $500 gold stop-watch with an engraved scroll carrying resolutions of the city council lauding his triumphs. Publicity subscribed funds purchased the watch.

In Cleveland's Negro district the welcome reached its noisiest peak. Hundreds of colored boys and girls, dressed in their "Sunday best," shouted and whistled as those "who knew him when" sighted the beaming Owens.

Jesse Owens' Dad Voices Pride In Boy's Exploits

By PAUL MICKELSON
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Aug. 25 (AP)—Henry Cleveland Owens is definite proof of those theorists who contend the great unsung heroes of the world are fathers who sit quietly on the sidelines while others receive the plaudits of the noisy crowds.

When his boy, the human streak that is known as Jesse Owens of Olympic track fame, arrived home on the Queen Mary, Pop Owens, as completely was lost in the shuffle that no one noticed him until the homecoming party was about to break up.

Athletic Looking At 53

Yet, Pop Owens actually was the outstanding hero as his son received an ovation and greeting fit for a king. It was from him that Jesse inherited his lithe body and tremendous speed—a glance at Pop proves that for at 53 he is lean and athletic looking. And it was Pop Owens who had the courage to leave a quieter and surer living among kind White folks in Alabama to strike out for the more materialistic north.

"I am a very proud man," he told his half-apologetically—but a great thing that a boy like J. C. can be honored so? It's just something like this that makes me so happy and proud that I can live in a country where all races, creeds and colors can reach the top."

He waved his hand at the crowd that milled around his son.

"This is a big-big business, I guess. But let me say one thing, my boy is a good boy. All this excitement won't spoil him one bit. He's the kind of a respectful boy that the White folks down Alabama way really love. He's not smart alecky."

Paul Dean Put on Retirement List

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 25 (AP) — Paul Dean, St. Louis Cardinal pitcher, was placed on the voluntary retirement list by the St. Louis Cardinals tonight.

Dean's application to be removed from the active list was mailed to Ford Frick, president of the National league, the Cardinal office said.

The younger of the famous brothers, who has been out most of the season with a sore arm, made his first appearance on the mound since July 4 against to Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday and was batted out in the fourth inning.

Tiger Pennant Hopes Fade, But Rowe Finds Life Rosy

SCHOOLBOY ROWE

DETROIT (AP) — Amid the gloom of apparently departed pennant hopes, the Detroit Tigers find a freshening spirit in one Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe.

Still much the same lad as when he broke into the American league in 1932, the native Schoolboy is in his element despite Detroit's defeats.

The likable Rowe, who never has gotten over the exclamation—"P gosh sakes!" which he brought along from Eldorado, Ark., has his fast one working again.

He can put the "burn" on the New York Yankees, where other Tiger twirlers fail. Life, therefore, is good.

Teammates and camp followers voice the opinion that Rowe—a family man, but still the Schoolboy—is having a better time this season, all things considered, than he ever had before.

Once He Made Speeches

In the championship days, he had to bear down, grant autographs by the score, and make banquet speeches.

Once, too, the impetuous Manager Mickey Cochrane used to fret right over the Schoolboy Rowe's deliberate mannerisms taxed his patience. They don't matter so much now.

The languid Schoolboy almost lost his characteristic mannerisms in the spring season, by his own doings. He reported to camp in the best early season shape of his career.

Cool Weather Stopped Him

Cochrane, please, more than he could say, envisioned a stunning campaign for his ace hurler—particularly when Rowe's first two starts were shutouts.

But cooler weather nipped the Schoolboy's arm, defeats followed, and Rowe's brilliant start was darkened. No matter, Rowe recovered and forgot.

As long as Rowe can boom that ball for a "fer piece" over the wall and elsewhere, he's feeling "pert." In taking two games in a 4-game series from the Yankees, he even showed Murderers' Row how home runs are hit.

Mrs. Hall Retains Trapshoot Crown

Missouri Woman Shatters 25 in a Row to Keep Championship

VANDALIA, O., Aug. 25 (AP)—History repeated today in the grand American trapshoot as Mrs. Lulu Hall of Strasburg, Mo., and Joe Helstrand, the Hillsboro, O., farmer boy, retained the North American clay target championships which each won a year ago—but the story belongs to Mrs. Hall.

Mrs. Hall needed 48 of her last 50 to win the event which she captured a year ago with a score of 191. She dropped two of the first 25-and-needed-25-in-a-row then to win.

A heavy wind was blowing and a slight rain was falling. But Mrs. Hall broke the 25 in a row, posted her 196 of 200, and then sat back on the throne.

Mrs. Grant Stars

While she was still on the traps, with 50 targets to go, upon the board went the 185 out of 200 score for Mrs. Marie Grant of Fort Dodge, Iowa, the nation's high average woman gunner. Mrs. Grant's score was three targets better than any mark ever registered in the woman's meet.

Clerk Answers Beery Charges

Lucile Bailey Says Actor Has No Case Against Game Department

BOISE, Aug. 25 (AP)—Lucile V. Bailey, chief clerk of the state game department, said today screen actor Wallace Beery "hasn't any good reason to kick about conduct of Idaho officials in their dealings with him."

"I have investigated Beery's charges of last Sunday to the effect that our deputy wardens 'pawed' through his things three or four times to find out if he had a fishing license when he was over in Fremont county last week, and I can't find any foundation for his complaint," Mrs. Bailey said.

"The trouble with Beery is that he's still thinking back two years to the time when one of our boys caught him without a license.

"Even then he had no reason for complaint. Our deputy warden was a gentleman. He reminded Beery of the fishing license law and sold him a license before Beery actually caught any fish. There was no arrest and no trouble."

Beery entered his complaint against the department in a statement to the press Sunday.

Riggert Bests Hagler in Final of National Division Playoff; Co-op Wins American Crown With 7-3 Victory

Pat Daly's green-shirted Brunswick warriors last night found the realization of a season's dream when they turned on the heat to upset Jimmy Winterholer's Utah Chieftains and win Twin Falls city league's National division championship for 1936 by a 6 to 3 score.

In the opening game on Lincoln field the Jerome Cooperative Creamery of the American division copped the junior circuit crown with a 7 to 3 win over Troy Laundry, first half champs.

The Brunswick-Chief game was a thrilling pitching duel between Walt Riggert and Elmore Hagler. Riggert breaking up the battle to win his own game in the sixth inning when he lashed out a home run with two men on base to break a 2 to 2 deadlock.

Brunswick Scores in Opener

Brunswick scored one in the first but the Chiefs tied the count in the second and took a 2 to 1 lead in the last of the fourth. Brunswick tied the count in the first of the fifth and Riggert's homer brought the count to 3 to 2. Another Brunswick runner scored in the sixth after Riggert's homer. Chiefs made a vain attempt to come back in the last of the seventh and scored one run before the rally was nipped.

Riggert held the Chiefs to five hits while Hagler allowed six, each fanning two men. Riggert passed two and Hagler, four. Brunswick committed two errors to five marked up against the losers.

Two big innings spelled victory for the Co-ops in the evening opener. After the men of Troy took a 1 to 0 lead in the first, Creamery came back to counter three in the third and a like number of runs in the fourth, winding up the scoring with another in the sixth. Troy scored again in third and fifth frames.

Feature of the game was an unassisted double play by Lemoyne Stevens, scintillating Troy shortstop who is decried by many fans to be the flashiest infielder in Twin Falls today. Norm Sogn of the Co-op held the Laundry to eight hits. Edwards of Troy allowed ten. Troy committed four errors to five against the winners.

First game was umpired by Mike Routh and John Wells while W. W. *Frantz, George Paulson and Jim*my Mullen served as arbiters for the Brunswick-Chief fray. Glen Gee scored both games.

Grant and Hall Eliminated by Virtual Unknowns; Premier French Tandem Meets Defeat

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 25 (AP)—Two University of Chicago undergraduates, Norbert Burgess and Norman Bickel, who share the "Big Ten" conference tennis titles, made their first serious bid for national recognition today by out-battling the experienced team of Bryan (Bitsy) Grant of Atlanta, and Gil Hall of Orange, N. J., for a 6-3, 4-6, 3-6, 6-0, 6-3 victory in a second-round men's national doubles match at Longwood.

Tomorrow they move against the defending champions, Wilmer Allison and Johnny Van Ryn, for a quarter-finals bracket.

Berkeley Tandem Wins

The surprising upset was matched in the women's tourney, when a pair of unranked Berkeley, Cal., girls, Margaret Osbourne and Gussie Raegener, abruptly halted the march of the third seeded Dorothy May Sutton Bundy, and her Los Angeles townswoman, Dorothy Workman, 8-3, 8-3, in a second-round upset.

Another seeded team to fall during the second day's play was the top-ranking French pair, Jacques Brugnon and Bernard Destremau, who succumbed to aggressive John McDiarmid of Fort Worth, Tex., and Hal Surface, of Kansas City, 8-6, 6-2, 5-7, 6-3.
