Butterwrappers Printed at The Times Every Day In the Week at the Same Price.

TO ALL "TIMES" SUBSCRIBERS

The mid-week and Sunday editions of the TIMES in the late past have been favored with a large and rapidly growing list of subscribers. Having determined to change from two to six issues each week the publishers propose to show appreciation of such favor by sending the entire six issues of the new daily edition to each of its present subscribers at the same rate heretofore paid for three—namely, $3.00 per annum.

To secure the paper at this rate it will only be necessary that, before June 1, 1918, all arrearages be paid and advance payment for not less than three months be made on the daily. All amounts now outstanding to credit of each subscriber will be applied in payment for the daily upon the basis stated. So soon as the clerical work can be done, each subscriber will receive a statement of his subscription account with explanation of the new arrangement. Should any one prefer only the same number of issues previously received per week, at the same price, instead of six, he will please notify us at once. That all may be democratically served alike, no subscriptions for not less than three months will be received at same rate ($3.00 per annum) if paid in advance prior to June 1, 1918. After that date and other than as herein specified, further notice will be given. To the numerous subscribers who have already paid at a larger rate the excess will be refunded.

TO ALL "TIMES" ADVERTISERS

Although the consolidation of the "Twice-A-Week" and the "Sunday" Times subscription lists will give a larger circulation than was before reached by either edition, the advertising rates will remain for the present as per the "Twice-A-Week" schedule. As the basic principle of one cent per column-inch for each hundred subscribers is believed to be equitable, an increase may be demanded in the future. Advertisers will find a great advantage offered by the six issues each week, all reaching the entire Times audience. They will now be able, not only to get quick action when desired, but also to bring any particular article or line of goods, to the notice of customers at a special advertising moment.

It will be necessary that all display advertisements be filed not later than the night preceding the day on which they are expected to appear; and any other advertisement must be in hand by 9 a. m. of publication day to insure its appearance.

International adjustment qualified by the president.

It carries nothing for persons, as it had before, except as instruments for beneficial purposes. It is nobly indifferent in regard to whether John F. Nugent made J.H. Smith or John Jones had a primary election campaign in 1918. It does care something about whether a man favors a tariff on trust-made goods or whether he wants to turn the railroad back to its former owners, or whether he wants to be "liberal" in the matter of power franchises. Sometimes it wonders where the "New Freedom" stands on some of these things, especially since the time of the sale of power stock. The TIMES would gladly let all economic issues not determinable during the war, so over until its termination. If the trust representatives would. The spirit of criticisms uttered by both Democrats and Republicans from trust states prove that they will not.

The "New Freedom" in the last paragraph says the best thing noted for a long time regarding William Edger Borah.

It threatens him with exorbitance because he is about to desert his old friends. Now, this indicates that the "New Freedom" is "thicker" than it ought to be with said "old friends" who seemingly want to use it as an instrument of these purposes. It is a monorail, and it is not a "New Freedom" year that its conversion is sincere. While he stood in the good graces of these "old friends" the TIMES had little hope for him. It might have been a case of "Old Dog Tray" but the "old friends" can't tell anything worse than the TIMES has been tempted to suspect by reason of the reputation of some of these "old friends."

If they do tell him, it may be proof positive that the senator is sincere in desiring them to support the measures of a Democratic president, who is a Democrat in fact as well as in name.

If such is this case, after the baptism by fire and accompanying spiritual and political regeneration, he would be a better man than before and would make a better senator than any of the "old friends," even among those who serve Mammon while masquerading as Democrats.

OUTLAWS ARE OUTLAWED

If the "New Freedom" has a real DEMENTIA of the Thomas Jefferson type to run against Borah, let it trot him out and the TIMES will support him. If it has not, why should either it, or the TIMES want to get up a sweet trying to beat a man, who for the present deserves credit for doing right, in the interest of a man, who is sure to be wrong on the real issues, which are above party?

A WISE STEP

The establishment of a labor exchange here under federal supervision, with G. S. McLaw at its head will prove beneficial to workmen and employers alike. This is along the line of construction. The help long advocated by the TIMES. The present administration has shown a sympathetic grasp of the labor situation, that leads to understanding. The operation of the employment bureau law in Idaho and the splendid work of the farm bureau have laid the foundation for better understanding between employers and employees in this state. President Woodrow Wilson yesterday that the labor conditions in this country were just, better than last year, because of the co-operation and confidence existing, and this is very largely due to the organization of which he is head, and to no small degree to his personal efforts.

CANTEEN WORKERS CATER TO POIL'S APPETITE FOR OYSTERS AND SALADS

By ELEANOR ROBSON BELMONT.

WHEN I left for Europe a few months ago I had no real reason for the Red Cross. When I returned from Europe I brought with me an unbounded belief in the organization. I had seen enough to make me realize that this was the best method of serving the soldiers and sailors. We are waging an economic war, therefore the surest and most effective way to help is through the established channels selected for that purpose by the government.

The main work of the American Red Cross, however, is, of course, carried on in France. The policy of those heading this work is to back up the French in their own efforts and to help them develop along their own lines, not to root out French institutions and transplant American ones. Whether we work, then, in canteens, in warehouses, in dispensaries, for polio or for refugees, in Paris or in ELEANOR ROBSON BELMONT, of the devastated districts, for the children or for the aged, it is always on the same plan of backing up the French if they have any organization or plan.

Polio Like Oysters and Salads The canteen work is one of the most gratifying ways of helping the men. To see those people enjoying the delicacies they have had for days is a soul-satisfying sight.

After all this inspiring activity of the Red Cross on the other side, it is a matter of surprise that their children will be neither killed nor injured, but on the contrary benefited by baths, how they do look forward to them! After all this inspiring activity of the Red Cross on the other side, it is a matter of surprise that their children will be neither killed nor injured, but on the contrary benefited by baths, how they do look forward to them!

THE RED CROSS

By EDGAR A. GUEST. AM too old to share the fight, Too many years have come and gone Since first I saw the morning light, My youth has been and traveled on, I am too old to join the ranks again, Full-fledged fighter truth shall live; I may not die for what is fine, But I am not too old to give. I am not yet so old that I Have drifted from the world apart, I still can hear the helpless cry, And mercy still can reach my heart, I still can share from day to day, The burden that our youth must bear, And I thank God that I can say, The Red-Cross is my symbol true. I am too old to bear a lance, Across the shell-toned Flanders field, I may not go where troops advance, I am too old to see the boys re-avenged, But I can hear the helpless call, And I can serve them while I live; And I thank God that through it all, I shall not be too old to give.

The school has been recognized by an exceptionally fine type of students; and these boys have shown that they are not only successful through their efforts—but they have been coached by men who worked with the greatest persistence to develop their talents to the maximum. Success is also due to the adoption of the season ticket plan of financing the sports. The plan has worked so well that the students had the opportunity of attending all games and participating in the sports. The financial basis was realized at the beginning of the season.

TRAINED NURSE FATALLY SHOT

NEAR BUHL

THE YOUNG WOMAN WELL KNOWN IN TWIN FALLS

A Sad and Unfortunate Occurrence

Coroner's Jury Return Verdict That Fatal Wound Was "Accidentally Self-Inflicted"—Victim Lived an Hour but Never Recovered Consciousness.

Coroner C. J. Crosby was called to Buhl yesterday afternoon to hold an inquest upon the body of Miss Judith Morrissette, three lying dead from the effect of a gunshot wound. Miss Morrissette was a trained nurse who has been for some time employed at Dr. Meyer's hospital in this city and who was known as an estimable person in all respects. She had recently been suffering from an attack of grippe, and went a week ago for a visit with her close friends, Dr. and Mrs. McClusky. What subsequently happened as disclosed at the coroner's inquest was substantially as follows:

Yesterday afternoon Miss Morrissette was called to assist upon the body of her sister, Mrs. Roy Whitaker, who lives one mile east and four miles south of Buhl. During the day Sunday an outing was taken by the family, Miss Judith carrying a small rifle with which she fired a number of times at some animals or observations. Monday morning, when Mr. Whitaker was about to go to work, his sister-in-law declared her intention of accompanying him, and did so, again taking the gun, which was a Winchester 22, and in which "22-shot" cartridges were held.

Upon arrival at the field, which was quite a distance from the house, the lady said, "now while you are setting out irrigation water, I'll walk up to the hedge and see if any weasels are in it." This she accordingly did and she suddenly being only twelve to fifteen rods distant, she had "set a head," Mr. Whitaker testified, he looked up toward the hedge and was willing to see the young woman standing up there, where, to his horror and surprise he found her lying at full length on the ground, with her head in a ditch. Life appearing to be extinct, he hastily laid her on the bank and ran for assistance. During the time she stretched upon which she had carried her some hundred yards toward the house before noticing some movement of the head and arms.

As soon as the house was reached and the young woman placed on the ground, she was found to be dead. Mr. Murphy was reached and came to the Whitaker home accompanied by a nurse. On his recommendation she was taken to the general hospital at Buhl, but barely lived long enough to reach there, expiring without having regained consciousness for a moment. The investigation of the coroner's jury last evening developed the fact that the bullet entered under the chin and passed through the soft palate at the back part of the mouth, lodged in the brain.

The coroner's jury, with Mr. E. N. Day as reporter, and consisting of Messrs. A. Hancock, C. A. Jem, D. O. Rees, R. J. Smithwick, W. Lane and A. J. Smith, after a hearing and the presentation of all the evidence, submitted the following verdict: "We, the jury, find that deceased met her death from the effect of a gunshot wound from a 22 rifle, accidentally self-inflicted."

"Y" WORK IN GREAT CANTONMENT REV. FRANK, FROM CAMP GORDON

How Blank Thousands of Young Soldiers Are Cared For and Amused—Good Clothing and Good Food, and Plenty of Both—Uncle Sam Is Onto His Job—The Black Soldier in Evidence—Shortage of "Y" Workers.

Rev. L. B. Franck, Rector of Ascension Episcopal Church in this city, who has been for some six weeks on duty at Camp Gordon, the great cantonment located near the city of Atlanta, Georgia, recently wrote a letter to the people of his church and congregation—describing conditions there and, especially, the work of the Y. M. C. A.—and his own part in feeling the connection therewith. THE TIMES has been permitted to give its readers some extracts from this letter which can not fail to prove both interesting and informative:

Rev. L. B. Franck, Rector of Ascension Episcopal Church in this city, who has been for some six weeks on duty at Camp Gordon, the great cantonment located near the city of Atlanta, Georgia, recently wrote a letter to the people of his church and congregation—describing conditions there and, especially, the work of the Y. M. C. A.—and his own part in feeling the connection therewith.

Dear People: I have enjoyed my work very much. I have a job that is quite beyond my ability to handle, and as I feel I think all of us feel in this work. We are all up against a big thing. In many ways we are our own worst enemies. I believe every man has the right to feel that he is making good and doing more than he ever dreamed he was able to do. And as we in the Y think about our work, I am confident the men—officers and privates, outside this.

I suppose it will be difficult for you to catch a vision of the immense work the Y is trying to do. Here in Camp Gordon we have 150,000 men; there is the Administration building and the Y. W. C. A. Postoffice House, each of these buildings is a tremendous structure, well planned, and delightfully furnished, with every accommodation and convenience the system of the camp could wish for. There is supposed to be six secretaries at each building—Administration, Educational, Physical, Business. Thus you can form some idea of the numerical strength of the Y working in our camp, not forgetting the big force needed at the Administration building.

And when you consider the vast number of equipments, camps and stations for our army and navy here and across the sea, you can at least form some idea of the magnitude of the program the Y is carrying on. Now when I tell of the shortage of men for a position to know something as to how much each one of us has to do. At the present time we hardly have more than three men for a building; most of the time since I have been here we have had only two or three men. Of course, we cannot begin to carry out what we might consider a full and efficient program. We can only hammer away at it to place our lives and being about as much practical result as possible.

An Educational Secretary, I have at least had several big programs on my hands. When I came here to Building 161, I found that this building was situated in the midst of a different division Training School, and the Radio division—undoubtedly the most intelligent and cleanest branch in camp. My life in an army camp is a state of hurried and sudden changes. Thus far the past two weeks our building has been a scene of physical unfitness, the eliminations from all the various departments of the camp. Here and now, on short notice, I have an entirely different set of physical unfitness, the eliminations from all the various departments of the camp.

And by way of complementing my government. I may speak of the railroad working condition. Our government has made many mistakes, but I never got anywhere if it didn't fit you tell the critic to change his mind. However, I stand ready to be closed. I hope to stay in this work till the middle of September; then I will have about two weeks more in the eastern churches for funds with which we can procure more things the church there is deeply in need of. I do not know how long I will be here together, and that my health will keep up.

Well, dear people, I have taken more time for this than I had counted. It is now late, and have blown the whistle. The call has gone out once the affairs of the night. Tomorrow is a heavy day. I must get my rest. So with the benediction that I will rest about you rest about you dear people, in manifold form, may the spiritual benediction and grace which I believe you may have together in the life that you may have live everlasting, I am.

Affectively, your rector, L. B. FRANCK. GREAT INSPECTION POSTPONED WASHINGTON, May 6.—Postponement of August 1 of the great inspection of a system of grain inspection at terminal markets was announced today by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The secret to have become effective today, but a widespread protest resulted in the order being deferred. Grain seed for the field has been red, and straw were to have been affected.

Dr. Hillis Flays the Kaiser in Speech

Noted Lecturer Tells of Hun Kultur and Scorns the Head of the German Empire Severely.

LOS ANGELES, May 6.—Charging the Kaiser and his war lords with direct responsibility for the crimes perpetrated by the German army in Belgium, Dr. Nowell Dwight Hillis, pastor of the Plymouth church, Brooklyn, speaking at the Trinity auditorium last night declared that the reign of frightfulness was deliberately and systematically planned by the Kaiser.

In support of his statement, Dr. Hillis quoted from the war manual of General von Hartman these words addressed to the German soldier: "Give no quarter, take no prisoners; let all who fall into your hands be at your mercy. The day of judgment will ask no reasons."

Every seat and every inch of standing room in the auditorium was filled and many unadmitted people were turned away. For two hours Dr. Hillis told what he had seen and heard of the frightful acts of the enemy in France and Belgium. His audience was awed into silence by the bare narration. He told of deliberate murder of sick soldiers at their holy masses; of the slaying of whole families on the charge that they had concealed their valuables; and of placing girls in captivity in the cellars of churches. He described the scenes of desecration that for an area of 120 square miles was left in the wake of the German retreat last fall.

"No one understands the German people as well as the Kaiser," Dr. Hillis said. "The president is a spirit of magnanimity, patience and good will, distinguished between the Kaiser and the Prussian government, and against them put the German people. But Germany's chamber of commerce, Hamburg's board of trade and certain popular assemblies would have none of this, and in the fury of their anger passed resolutions, saying: 'What our government is, we are. Their acts are our acts. Their deeds and military plans are our plans.'"

"Knowing his people through and through, the Kaiser has decided before him and gave them this charge: 'Make yourselves more frightful than the Hun under Attila. See that for a thousand years no enemy mentions the very name of Germany without shuddering.' Why do the German people say they feel so terribly because the authors of the world call them 'Huns' and 'Barbarians' who named them 'Huns'?"

"Let the Kaiser's words stand: 'For the thousand years no man shall say the word "Hun" without shuddering.'"

Illustrating the address were pictures of towns of France, Belgium and Holland, destroyed, towns, ruins of homes in which the bodies of slain lay exposed to view while Dr. Hillis expatiated upon the facts that had been gained about the atrocities.

Charged With Using Religion For Fraud Referred Large Sums of Money by Such Means.

LOS ANGELES, May 6.—A complaint charging Lloyd E. Noble, a real estate agent, with using religion for fraud, was filed yesterday by the United States district attorney in office and a warrant issued for Noble's arrest. Deputy U. S. Marshal J. G. Kelly was sent out to take him into custody.

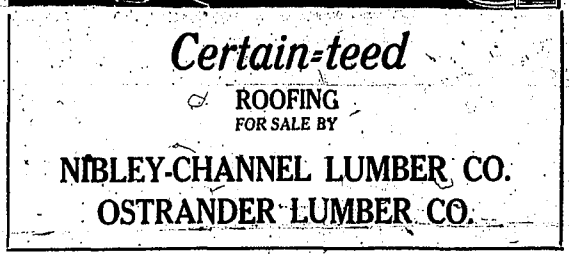

According to the information in the hands of the federal investigators, Noble is a resident of Los Angeles, California, and is the owner of Riverside property for $175,000. His name, he said, was signed in blank and was filled in by Noble with his wife's name as grantee and beneficiary.

On April 17, Mrs. Celia M. Noble, wife of the real estate operator, received a letter to Mrs. Julia L. Handolph of Montevita, Slater of Cannon, advising her that her husband had sold property to $175,000 worth of property formerly in Cannon's name and that the writer proposed to sell this valuable property to her for $175,000. She was informed in this letter that if she cared to redeem the property within ten days for $175,000, she could do so. This letter is said by the federal officials to have been written by Noble himself.

Baseball "Aces" Magnets for Fans

Popular Stars of Pastime Keep Turfmites Busy on Road Trips.

Jack Velock, (I. N. S. Sports Editor.) NEW YORK, May 6.—The ball club that has to worry along without a playing "ace" is a back number as a thing out on the road. The outstanding stars are the "aces" in the big show, for their names are kept before the public, and the fans go out to see them perform. Without them in the lineup of big league clubs many and many thousand fans would wander away from the turnstile.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND. May 7.—His file had been spent in the backwoods of Kentucky, in the land of moonshiners and fraud. He was long and lean of form, and he wore the khat in a manner that betokened a new revival. His countenance registered astonishment as he gazed upon the tall building and strange signs of the floater metropolis. He was one of the Kentucky selecta sent here for training for the city of imitation.
He had been in rapid rotation until now time. It was the first army meal for the drafters, and the chaps had done nothing but eat and drink. The lady tailor and set into the board was cleared. Then he stretched his angular limbs and sighed.

"Days, if this heat, is such a hell as he wants to fight and die right here."

"Want To Go Home" Unknown to Sammie

Sergeant Ralph Atherton writes a "Charity Letter" From "Over There" Pleads to go Home and All Anxious to Do It.

Dear Father: Yours of March 25, came through in good time. Yes, I have gotten several letters from you, but have just returned without realizing they had been received. The matter is very good, considering the distance and all.

Received a letter from Uncle Ed the other day, but it was delayed because it got no registration number on the envelope and it had to go to Washington, D. C. and was re-mailed from there; so you see that Uncle Ed's letter is not so good as you get returned to the recipient. However, he is over here. Do you ever see his folks? If so, how is Archie getting along?

I don't know where Vernie Lawson is, as he was left in U.S. with the mumps when we left, and has not as yet returned to the recipient. However, he is over here. Do you ever see his folks? If so, how is Archie getting along?

ONE HUNDRED-MERCIFUL MILLIONS

By HERBERT KAUFMAN

ONE Hundred Millions for the Red Cross and not one penny, of it for red tape.

The mightiest charity, the noblest and broadest volunteer movement of history.

The Red Cross shares no enmities, serves no flag but its own. It is God's agent, His healing, merciful will—the answer of twenty-gentler centuries to red barbarism.

Twelve million orphan children are wandering about Europe—twelve million frightened little boys and terrorized little girls, sent adrift to sob alone and perish in the wastes—to live like swine and die like curs, unless magnificent America ransoms them from death—and worse.

How many of your pitying dollars will search the desolations and save them for Tomorrow's?

The Red Cross needs another Hundred Million, to glean the battle areas for this precious seed before it rots in mind and body—before grief and horror and disease and unrelenting irrevocably blight them.

One Hundred Millions to prevent famine and stifle pestilence, to stamp out hideous levers, to check an earth-wide wave of tuberculosis, to destroy shuddering filths where verminous plagues feed and breed and threaten all the universe.

One Hundred Millions to found hospitals and build rest stations; to send nurses to the Front and refugees back, to forward surgical units and furnish artificial limbs, to buy medicines and operating instruments, to re-educate the mutilated and show the blind where Hope still shines.

One Hundred Millions to maintain communication with detention camps, to provide war prisoners with food and delicacies, to take messages out and bring letters in, to negotiate comforts and privileges for the captured, to buy blankets for them and clothes and books and tobacco.

One Hundred Millions for No Man's Land—for stretchers and ambulances, for anesthesia and bandages and antiseptics; to train nurses and orderlies, to outfit and transport skilled specialists, to make sure that a dear one shall have a clean, sweet cot and a sweet, clean girl from home beside it.

One Hundred Millions to keep the world sound and wholesome, while the armies of Justice hold it safe.

I Am the Red Cross

HENRY PAYSON DOWST
(With acknowledgments of Robert H. Davis, author of "I Am the Printing Press.")

I am the Symbol of the pithy of God.
I burgeon upon the flaunting banner of victory and the drooping cloud of defeat.

I am the token of peace in the midst of battle, of gentleness shining through the sombre mists of hate.
I am a chevron on the sleeve of mercy, an honor mark set high upon the brow of compassion.

I am the color of blood spilled for democracy, the form of Christ's tree of agony, and my followers, at need, crucify themselves to make men live.

I carry the hope of life into the red pits of death, and a dying soldier salutes me and smiles as he goes to touch the hand of God Almighty.

I stand for the organized love of mankind, the co-ordinated impulses of young and old to do good, the sacred efficiency of human service.

I mark the flag under which are mobilized the forces of industry and finance, of church and school, of capital, of labor, of genius and of sinew.

I am Civilization's Gospel to those who defend her; I am the message from home.

I am the Symbol of the pithy of God.
I AM THE RED CROSS.

750 Children Herded In Dirty Dilapidated Building Typical Red Cross Case

An official of a French city that was flooded with gas bombs by the Germans found himself confronted with the problem of looking after 750 children. The Red Cross attended the sick; nurses were secured for the babies. But the food was provided for all, and they were so crowded as to provide against the separation of families; also an organization was formed to take care of the permanent care of these children. They had been in the hands of the Germans for a year and 720 children under eight years. They were herded in an old, dirty, unfurnished building, without a suggestion of sanitary conditions. It was the best and safest the French official could find at such a moment, but you would not think it fit for a dog.

And here was the American Red Cross brutality and lying as they came through his home bank.
