It means that, when the Hindenburg finally renews his drive, that the boys from the United States will have a part in the great task of beating off what may be the most terrific assault of the war.

"Win War For Permanent Peace" Is Slogan Of National Gathering at Philadelphia—Prussianism Scored by Dr. R. H. Dabney

PHILADELPHIA, May 16.—Four thousand delegates representing every state in the Union are gathered here for the opening session of the "Win the War for Permanent Peace" convention. There are several hundred women among the delegates—a person of consequence, at least in her own or her country's eyes, and a number of state and national reputation. Between two and three hundred of them were appointed by governors of their respective states. Some 200 organizations, including the American Federation of Labor, the National Grange, the American Bankers' Association, the International Association of Rotary clubs and others of national membership are represented by official delegates.

The convention is under the auspices of the League to Entrench Freedom and former President Taft, the host of that organization, will preside at all of the sessions, covering two days. The purpose of the gathering, as announced in the call and prominently displayed on the program, is to send forth to our allies and our enemies alike an explicit declaration of the will of the American people to fight the war through to a military victory, as the only means of winning a peace that will last.

Tomorrow there will be a special conference at Independence hall, between seventy delegates from the past and former governors, with Charles Evans Hughes, ex-governor of New York, presiding, and Governor Bruce Mitchell, of Pennsylvania, as the guest of honor. The conference will address of welcome. The convention will end Friday night with an Allied march for which nearly 1,000 persons already have obtained tickets. Speeches at the dinner will be made by the diplomatic representatives of the Entente Allies and by Secretary Daniels of the navy.

Heinrich von Treitelcke was described as the "the War for Permanent Peace" convention today as one who, next to Bismarck and the Kaiser himself, had done most to mold modern German political thought and bring on the present war. The speaker was Dr. Richard Heath Dabney, who studied von Treitelcke in Berlin. Dr. Dabney's topic was "Germany's Dream of Domination." "Treitelcke's whole aim," he said, "was to Prussianize Germany and to Germanize the world."

"I heard him at the height of his powers, from the Fall of 1883 to the spring of 1903. His appearance was imposing, and his command of language was marvelous. Many of his phrases—even his words—were stuck in my memory as no other man's ever did. No lecturer under whom I studied either in this country or at the three German universities that I attended was his equal in power. Differ with him I did, frequently and vigorously, for never a moment was he dull. All his classes were large, and one course was attended by several hundred—every seat in the large hall being occupied while many stood—drinking in his passionate words, uttered with all the earnestness and fervor of a Hebrew prophet. Very early in his career he had declared his aim to be "durch die Gehechliche politik zu wirken"—to propagate by means of history, his political views. In the final word of his definition of the state is contained, as in a nutshell, the gist of his political philosophy. That definition reads: "The state is the organized people as an independent and definite political unit."

"Upon other persons he poured forth like a fountain of words, particularly upon the English and ourselves. 'The Englishman,' he said, 'is a low willful, selfish, self-handling, a hypocrite who, with a Bible in one hand and an opium pipe in the other, diffuses throughout the universe the benefits of civilization.' We German idealists, I heard him say, 'have time to meditate upon beauty. The American Chasees do not.' We German idealists, I heard him say, 'have time to meditate upon beauty. The American Chasees do not.' We German idealists, I heard him say, 'have time to meditate upon beauty. The American Chasees do not.'

"Treitelcke's theory of the State as an all-gigging power has become held at the Gerae mind. In the presence of the State—their semi-divine metaphysical colossus—the individual divides into a pygmy creature, whose gigantic creation of his own imagination. The German, submerged in the sea of the State, seeks dominion through the State over others. The American, intelligent and individual, seeks rational freedom for himself and for his people. In Prussia our armies the Prussian theory of the State, and the American conception of the State, as an organization deriving its moral authority from the collective consent of intelligent individuals, will prevail from the earth.

"The two men who best embody the American and the Prussian ideals respectively are Patrick Henry and Frederick the Great. The latter, you remember, carried upon his person during his Seven Years' War a vitriol poison—to be swallowed if ever the time should come when his Prussian power must fall. Domination of death! 'These were the alternatives for Frederick the Prussian. Not so for Patrick Henry, the American, whose immortal words might well be adopted today as our battle cry and that of our heroic allies: 'I know not what more I can do for my country, but I will give me liberty or give me death!'"

Ex-Governor Urges W. S. S. Purchases

State Director Hawley Says School Contests Stimulate the Thrift Stamp Campaign.

BOISE—Ex-Governor Jas. H. Hawley, state director for war savings for Idaho, as well as the executive secretary of the State Savings Bank, has intervened in regard to the part in the war savings campaign taken by the public schools expressed themselves as follows:

"Up to the present time the most encouraging feature of our war savings campaign is the active part in the work has been taken by the public schools throughout the state. Since the objects of the campaign are twofold, namely, education and moral training, it is natural that the efficient school organization should be looked for as an important part in the work."

The state superintendent of public instruction and practically all of the county superintendents have shown a most enthusiastic interest and have brought about results in the schools which have been little short of remarkable. If this interest is continued, the prompt offers of assistance on the part of several of the larger business corporations in this state, and the public schools are well equipped and has been productive of large results. The Boise-Payette Lumber Company, with headquarters at Boise, throughout many of the counties of southern Idaho, offered to furnish the money for prizes in each locality where their yards were located. The Gem State Lumber company followed suit with a similar offer of money for prizes in its localities, with headquarters at Coeur d'Alene, in the northern part of the state offered to do the same.

The Idaho Ad. Club, which has been directing part of the publicity work for the war savings campaign, suggested school contests of various kinds which proved to be a great incentive to the children in the way of creating more interest in the war savings work. The interest in the school work and the early assistance on the part of these public spirited business firms, has led to the plan for these school contests. It is proved to be an aid of no small importance. The Idaho state headquarters of the war savings campaign, in view of what they have done in connection with one phase of the war savings campaign.

Governor Hawley added that it must be borne in mind that because of the success of the school part of the war savings campaign, it is not surprising that the children of the state are now being turned to the adults and were to be centered upon their part in the campaign from now until the end of the year. If the war savings campaign is carried on as the children have already shown that they are going to do, there will be no question as to the successful outcome of the campaign, and they will certainly surpass her quota.

Willard Retires

From Prize Ring

Musky Kansas Says Notices Were Misunderstood And He Will Hike Back to the Sunflower

ST. LOUIS, May 17.—(Special Correspondent.)—CHICAGO, May 17.—(Special Correspondent.)—I didn't want to fight Fred Fulton so I'll never fight again. I'm through with the ring forever. I'll retire unconditionally. I would like to get a big financial aid to my country; secondly, to see if Fulton or any other man in the heavyweight division, need a deserving of my title. It all off now, however."

These were the words of Jess Willard, heavyweight champion of the world, as he departed from Chicago today for his new home in Lawrence, Kansas.

Willard recently sold his home in Rogers park and took his family by auto to Kansas. He has a big ranch there, on which he intends to spend the remainder of his days.

The passing of Willard from the pugilistic world marks a blow to the profession. After Joe Louis' defeat of Jeffries the boxing game was in ill repute. It looked as though Johnson would retire, and Fred Fulton's defeat of Willard, and the loss of his championship remains with the black race. But out of the mass of wild hopes came Willard and once more lifted the name on a high plane.

Willard rose from poverty to wealth and fame in that one battle, and gave a match with the "Prize Kid" which died again in his career as champion. Speaking of his retirement, Willard said: "I have been hurt by the recent actions of public and officials, but I am proud to complete my career. I have sold to go into the trenches and fight if I wanted to fight. That isn't a just attack. I'm past the drag age and when my eye comes I'll be 37 or 38. I'd be a bigger thing, but it was rejected. I wanted to fight and turn over to the black race. Not a part but every cent. The clinched and when I went to Colonel Miller, to do battle for him, the cents were spent and the public attack forced me to retire."

"If I had been allowed to fight it was my plan to give my end to the war charities. My wife had a big heart and I planned long among the soldiers realizing that fighting spirit is not to be lost. It was my plan to see that no soldier was taken in the wrong light. I was sincere, but because I can't step out and command people, I was made to feel the greatest shame of my career. I'm sorry, but I am through."

Investors, Land Buyers and Homeseekers

Come and Investigate the Wonderful Opportunities on the Emmett Bench

Where conditions for General Farming and Stock Raising are unrivaled in Idaho. These Lands all lay near and under fine, deep soil, gravel sub-soil, no alkali, no hard-pan and absolutely free of stones and shale. An unending water supply diverted from the Payette river and distributed by an excellent gravity system make these Lands among the most desirable in the State.

The climate here is above criticism with an altitude of only 2350 feet and no strong winds or dust to take the joy out of living; fine domestic water is obtainable at from 40 to 65 feet and all these advantages and wonderfully productive Lands are located within two to five miles of Emmett, Idaho, and only one and one-half hour's ride by auto from Boise on fine State Highway.

No more productive lands can be found in Idaho. Alfalfa yields 6 to 8 tons, wheat 40 to 70 bushels, barley 20 to 40 bushels; all other crops proportionately as large and conditions for raising Clover Seeds cannot be more favorable anywhere. In our opinion all the Farms listed below are wonderfully good bargains and should increase in value not less than $25.00 to $50.00 per acre before the first day of January.

We invite the closest investigation on your part. We are sure you will agree with us that all points considered, the Emmett Bench Lands are the best bargains in Idaho today. Possession in some instances can be secured at once, while others are leased for this year to good tenants and the owners share of the crops go with the place if sale is made before May first.

War Conference At Boise May 20-21

Gathering From All Parts of the State For Important Meeting Monday and Tuesday.

BOISE—Idaho's first war conference will be held in Boise May 20 and 21. It will be attended by representatives of all war organizations, both state and county, over 100 of whom will probably be present.

Every county council is expected to have one or more delegates present at the conference. This is also true of the woman's committee, the food and fuel administration and other branches of war work.

Dr. J. A. B. Scherer, Professor Guy State State, will represent the national council, and Lieutenant Paul Perigord, a hero of the battle of the Marne and Verdun, representing the United States ally, France.

May 19 express to the war workers of Idaho my profound appreciation of the public spirit that has led you to call a war conference at Boise May 20 and 21.

The national representatives who will be present are more prominent in the war work than in progress in this state.

Dr. J. A. B. Scherer is president of the Boise branch of the American Legion, Calif. He has traveled extensively in Japan and for the past six months has been the traveling representative of the course in the defense, going from state to state to study and discuss and eliminate the war work.

George Brinton Chandler is recognized as one of the most capable public men associated with the war work. He took charge of the state council of defense and made a complete success of it.

The following is the two-day program that will be followed by the war workers in attendance at the war conference which takes place in the house of representatives at the state house.

Monday, May 20: 10:30 A. M.—Meeting of state defense council, Dr. Bryan presiding; address by Governor.

Tuesday, May 21: 9:00 A. M.—Red Cross meeting; address by Mrs. C. G. P. Markhus; address by Governor.

10:00 A. M.—Meeting of county and community councils; meeting of the state council of defense.

Allen Markler, (L. N. Staff, Correspondent)

NEW YORK, May 16.—After countering unprecedented difficulties in transportation, a police "hot" thoroughbred is now at Jamaica track, Jamaica, L. I., for the opening of the local racing season tomorrow.

The striking feature, in the East and even in the Bluegrass region this year, is the fact that such an exceptionally large field of imported horses will again be in the race.

Some of these horses were brought to this country last year, and raced some part season, but will take a more active part in the present meet.

Some of the same horses which took part in the Freshman Handicap race now at the track. Among them are Tombo, Men of the Hour, Roy's Grand, Tanya Ben, American Dash, etc.

Prager Will Be Urged by Men on Trial For Murder.

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill., May 16.—That the defense of the eleven Edwarsville, Ill., men on trial here for murder in connection with the lynching of Robert P. Prager, will be based largely on the fact that Prager was an enemy alien and suspected of espionage, was brought out during the examination of witnesses today.

Although this is the fourth day of the Prager trial and about 200 witnesses have been examined, not a single juror has been accepted by both sides.

TO WIN WOMEN MUST FURNISH DUTIES OF KITCHEN

(By Edna Heber Church)

WASHINGTON, May 16.—American women must leave their old province as the home of the war is to be won. They must go back to the soil. They must forget their individual aims and turn to and produce food for the fighting men.

The time has come, Mrs. McCormick says, when woman's place is in the kitchen, producing food for the men who are fighting "over there."

Of course, it can't all be done in a day. Even Mrs. McCormick, enthusiastic as she is, admits this.

There was an enormous amount of work done last year in the way of individual gardens. Some of that effort was wasted for the reason that it was impossible to get the crops harvested and distributed.

It is now being brought to their realization that there is a big outdoor field for the women to work in.

HELP WIN THE GAME

The efforts of the Home Interests to get your trade is similar to the fielder of our team to catch the ball before it lands outside the grounds. He knows that once it is over the fence the outsider will pick it up, so he does not spare effort to catch it.

The merchant is always doing his utmost to offer you the best grade of merchandise at the most reasonable price. He has to buy the better grade of goods than the out of town house, because he wants your trade continually. He must meet the deficiencies of his representations. Let us co-operate with the home interests by getting our trade down, and allow the home team to win.

(Entered at the Twin Falls postoffice as second class matter as a daily publication, April 17, 1913.)

The TIMES is an independent Democratic newspaper that it knows no politics as opposed to the most unbridled and vigorous prosecution of the war that is possible. Therefore, if a LEGISLATOR, any man, Democrat or Republican, caught throwing hard words into the machinery of his hands or with his mouth if this be "partisan," make the most of it.

"UNCLE JOE" GIVES SOUND TALK FOR GOOD BILL

Whatever may be the shortcomings of old Joe Cannon, former speaker of the lower house, he is an American who knows that it is necessary to stand by the president in acts as well as in words during time of war and evidence his faith by works and by vote. It is therefore with pleasure that one must note the sturdy manner in which the veteran returned the "knockers" during the final debate on the Overman bill before its passage in the lower house.

The noted Republican leader declared that he recalled how critics called Lincoln a traitor, a buffoon, a despot and murderer, and had charged that great president with trying to undermine the Democratic life of the nation while pretending to support it. The famous legislator declared such arguments worthless then and worthless now. He would have none of them and while expressing the belief that the president, by reason of his war powers, could exercise most of the authority involved without legislation, he said he wanted it put in black and white.

No wonder the old war horse got an ovation, after the months of weary yombone indulged in by the senate over this necessary measure.

The following are the principal provisions of the bill: Authorizes the president to consolidate or co-ordinate any executive or administrative commissions, bureaus, offices or agencies of the government.

Permits the transfer of duties, functions and personnel of one office or bureau to another.

Enables the president to direct money appropriated for one office to any other office to which the functions of the former may have been transferred.

through four different departments, thus losing a year's crop, through laws preventing expedition and coordination. All this is bad enough in times of peace, but it is intolerable when it interferes with war work when our boys are fighting at the front.

All of which indicates that "Uncle Joe" had sound sense as well as sound patriotism behind him in his really effective way of "standing by the president."

ROOTS SPLENDID APPEAL FOR PATRIOTISM FIRST

The proposal put before congressional leaders Wednesday by a delegation of the League of National Unity is on its face so reasonable and commendable as to enlist the sympathy of all right-minded men. It can be made to operate, as it should be made to operate, fairly in the coming congressional election.

Says the appeal of the league: If in any congressional or senatorial election there shall be a danger of the election of disloyal candidates, it will become the duty of Americans, regardless of party affiliations, to defeat such candidates and to set forth the nation above personal party loyalty.

Let no party nominate or elect to Congress a candidate on a so-called peace platform. The American nation, under the leadership of the president of the United States, commander-in-chief of the army and navy, is for peace, but a righteous and enduring peace cannot be secured until America and the allied powers have achieved victory over the armies and governments of the central powers, or their peoples, having repented of the crime of warring, initiating and carrying on the war, shall, in the interests of a just peace, have recovered their right to control their own destiny.

Former Secretary of State Elihu Root is one of the signers to the appeal and in a personal letter to Representative Woods he stated the following admirable and patriotic words:

I do not believe that there is a single congressional district which has not a staunch, loyal majority, but I believe that there are many districts from twenty to thirty districts in which there are enough pro-German and pacifist and extreme socialist voters to make it possible for a disloyal candidate to be returned, by a plurality if the loyal voters is divided among itself.

Of course, parties must continue their organizations must be maintained, and neither one ought to make the mistake of the other a means of obtaining an advantage for the future; but, after all, the differences between the two parties are of no great importance as compared with the overwhelming issue of life or death for our free republic, which depends upon what will be done if in any district there is the least chance that a disloyal man may be sent to congress, even there is only one issue in that district, that in the issue of loyalty.

main people will stand by and for their ruler and all his works until they are soundly whipped.

Peace terms will not be signed until that is done. Whether the time will be long or short depends on the result of pending operations on the west front. But the American people should take nothing for granted. They should consider on one hand that the immediate rushing of men to the front may mean the defeat of the Kaiser and the end of the war very soon and should all unite to send men over. On the other hand they should take into consideration the very remote possibility of a German victory in the battle now being fought and prepare as rapidly as possible for that improbable contingency.

HEBEGGING

Today the majority of the senate committee on military admits that there will likely be little gain found by Judge Hughes in his investigation, but still insists on carrying on the inquiry on their own hook, and making it extend over the period of the war, with some slight modifications.

The figures quoted by Congressman Baer today to show that instead of $50,000,000, or as some senators had it $20,000,000, only a total sum of $165,000,000 had been spent by the aircraft are not new, though their repetition is worth while, since the misrepresentation made a deep impression. Contracts on which work has not begun which will raise the total sum up to something like $500,000,000 have been entered into, but the impression, deliberately conveyed, that that amount is already spent with practically no result is false.

Mastodon Achievement in Animals

It may not seem so much to the layman to see guinea pigs and elephants performing together in a circus arena, but so well do scientific zoologists—the average circus patron will see only the smallest and largest animal performing together.

The chaceans, a tiny rodent, is a native of Africa and Asia, the same as is the elephant, and both are very fond of a tiny red berry that thrives all over the world.

It is only natural that this elephant into his new habitat, and the mouse being the nearest resemblance to the chaceans will drive a whole herd frantic.

It has been the plans and purpose of the animal world, Mr. A. J. C. Barmes, to create an animal to dispel every element of fear, of which the animal life has a great element.

CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTORS ARE PLACED ON TRIAL LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 16.—Trial ten conscientious objectors began at Camp Zachary Taylor today. The men refused to obey the commands of officers, and are being sent to the front.

Peace terms will not be signed until that is done. Whether the time will be long or short depends on the result of pending operations on the west front. But the American people should take nothing for granted.

WE'LL WIN

What does it mean to you to know that your American Red Cross:

- Is supporting 50,000 French children.
- Sends supplies to 3,425 French military hospitals.
- Provides 2,000 French hospitals with surgical dressings.
- Is operating thirty canteens at the front lines.
- Is operating 36 other canteens at French railway junctions, serving 30,000 French soldiers a day.
- Operates a movable hospital in four units, accommodating 1,000 men.
- Is operating a children's refuge in one part of the war zone; and in another a medical center, and traveling dispensary, both capable of accommodating more than 2,000 children.
- Has opened a long chain of warehouses stocked with hospital supplies, food, soldiers' comforts, tobacco, blankets, etc., all the way from the seaboard to the Swiss frontier.
- Has warehouse capacity for 100,000 tons.
- Has 400 motor cars and operates 7 garages, making all repairs.
- Had shipped 46 freight car loads of assorted supplies to Italy from France within two weeks after it began operating in the former country.
- Had a battery of motor-ambulances at the Plave-front four days after the United States declared war on Austria.
- Started a thousand different activities in Italy at the time that nation was in its most critical condition.
- Has established 5 hospitals in England and operates a workshop for hospital supplies employing 2,000 women.
- And that 120,000 cases of supplies have been received at the Paris headquarters of the American Red Cross from your various chapters scattered throughout the United States.

What does all this mean to you? And that is but a fraction of the work your Red Cross has done and is doing. It means that without this ceaseless, heroic work of the American Red Cross we could never win this war.

Without your Red Cross quick, vital help to keep Italy in the fight for Liberty would not have been possible.

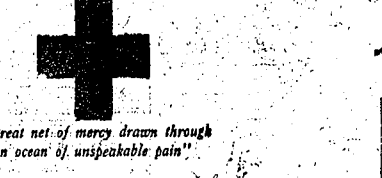

Without your Red Cross thousands of French soldiers now gallantly fighting for you at the front would have died of wounds, exposure and lack of food.

And great and wonderful as has been the work of the American Red Cross in the past, still greater and more wonderful must it be in the future—for now your boy is in the fight.

Your Red Cross cannot neglect France, England, Italy, Serbia, Roumania and little Belgium. It must give them all constantly increasing help, for the men of these countries have been fighting our battles.

But now we must all redouble our efforts and sacrifices for our Red Cross because a million mothers' sons are going to carry the stars and stripes to the greatest victory God has ever given to men fighting for honor and liberty.

With the help of your Red Cross your boy will win.

Psychology Teacher On Trial For Life

GRACE LUK, psychology teacher, for the murder of Mrs. Mary Newman Roberts, widow of Dr. David Roberts, the man Grace Lusk loved and for whom she killed, was resumed this morning.

Shortly after the court opened the jury was sworn in and it was taken in automobiles to the scene of the slaying. Miss Lusk accompanied by her attorneys in another automobile also went along.

scene of the slaying. She darted about the garden, sniffing the new buds and picked a bunch of cherry blossoms. Then she stopped into the house where she slew the doctor's wife.

"Oh I never want to go back to that cold, terrible court house and the cell," she exclaimed. "I want to stay here. Everything is so beautiful here."

And all the while the 12 jurors eyed her keenly. The reaction came later. The party returned to the court house and the prosecutor began his opening statement, an impassioned attack upon the defense of "insanity," and began to outline the state's version of the shooting.

IMPORTANT SESSION OF SILENCE SCHEDULED FOR CHICAGO TOMORROW

CHICAGO, Ill., May 17.—The most important meeting in the history of the National Silo Association is scheduled to open here tomorrow at the LaSalle hotel.

The change in the original date of the meeting of June 16 to tomorrow is due to a national movement to promote the silo as a great food conservation device. The farmers' interests are looking to the silo to save a vast amount of foodstuffs thereby maintaining and increasing the livestock production.

The added importance of the silo is aptly expressed in a recent article sent out by the National City Bank of New York City, which said in part:

"There ought to be a million silos built and filled this year before the growing season is over. They will not only help win the war, but will make living cheaper after the war."

Several states are now promoting the silo through the State Council of the Atlantic.

HUN SHELL HITS A YANKEE COOK SHACK KILLS 3

VETERAN REGULAR TELLS HOW HIS WORK WAS STOPPED Adds Thrilling Incident to Story

American Taken Prisoner by Nine Boches Scattered Them and Brought Back German Sergeant as Prisoner of War.

Bert Ford. (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.) WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, May 17—Color Sergeant Thomas J. Flaherty, of Johnson City, Tenn., who is among the American troops holding part of the line on the Picardy front, has been mentioned in general orders for saving a German comrade when a German shell burst near a "chow gun" (portable cook stove).

Flaherty, who has been in the regular army for twenty-three years, was enthusiastic over the way the American guns have been answering the Germans.

"Before me, our guns have been keeping Heine hopping," he exclaimed. "It has been one thing, but enemy communication is impossible, and the Hun cannot bring up grub to their first line most of the time. We give twice as much as he sent. That's Uncle Sam's pace.

"That it was dangerous for too many of the fellows line up at once at the old 'chow gun' barn (the company cook had evidently established himself in a barn) for the Germans were exploding everywhere. Suddenly a Hun shell busted right in the kitchen, killing three and wounding a few others. It was beyond me over too. The old barn just tumbled down and placed some of its fellows down on the wreckage, but I managed to drag them out. For once the guys who kicked because I wouldn't let them crowd around the 'chow gun' scattered and patted me on the back.

SCHOOL DAYS ARE NOW OVER

(Continued from page one) Student Roman empire by barbarians was itself an uplift to humanity and civilization, as it cleared the way for democracy. He told of the rise of autocracy in France and its overthrow with the falling of the Bastille, or later, the speaker, in eloquent words and most progressive of the peoples of the old world to this country and their fanning of colonies here, in order that they might enjoy liberty and race the reappearance in the world of the autocratic element after each vestige of its regime had been strangled, but in America. But, he said, the autocratic control was never permanent, because right was right and the masses were in the majority, so it could not last. He declared that with the beginning of the twentieth century, the common with most people, thought, though we were at length beyond the era of autocratic control and that the last great world-war had been fought in its eloquent words and portraying the invasion and ruin of Belgium at the ruthless hand of the soldiers of the Kaiser and declared that France, Germany could come to a conference of peace with clean hands she must voluntarily scutcheon her hands and make restitution. He deprecated the idea of carrying out a policy of hate, but demanded that means be taken to secure the world from a recurrence of such outrages.

Dr. Goslin pleaded for the full and hearty support of the war and saved the speaker in unmeasured terms. He pointed out that we had now learned that it made a difference to all of us whether Russia was cut out and free or not, for if free and educated she would end the war within a month. Likewise it makes a difference whether we shut down the streets, or letting living wages be paid, and John will never again work as cheaply as he did before. Sooner or later, the speaker was convinced, the right would prevail throughout the world, here and abroad, whether by application of altruistic, humanitarian impulses, or through the use of force. He appealed to each graduate to do full duty in taking a personal interest in the welfare of the world of the same creed or race or not.

The address was frequently applauded enthusiastically. Dr. Goslin's splendid address, the orchestra gave "Our Own Red, White and Blue," and Principal Downham was presented with a diploma by President Decker. The speaker was complimented with standing until the benediction by Dr. Strand concluded the memorable evening's events.

CHILD CONSERVATION LEAGUE ORGANIZED
The members of the Child Conservation League met in the parlors of the Montgomery hotel on Tuesday afternoon to organize their "local circle." The national organizer, Charlotte E. The second or fourth meeting in each month was selected as days for the regular meetings, the hour 3 p. m. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Bert Macle, 311 3rd avenue north, on May 22. All members are urged to remember the date and be present. If anyone desires to bring a friend notify the hostess of the day.

Carl Mays and his underhand pitching stopped the Tigers in Boston. Mays gave up four hits.

A triple by Sanders, one of the new pirate pitchers, drove home two runs against Brooklyn with Jack Coombs diving and paved the way to victory.

The Cubs missed a chance to pinch on the Giants when they lost to Philadelphia with the tieup run on second base in the ninth inning.

Ledy Thormahlen, youngest Yankee pitcher, sparred the Browns with whitewash. St. Louis got four blows.

CHICAGO, May 17—Ban Johnson, president of the American league, is on the trail of the draft baseball players who are seeking bombproof jobs. He declares that all players of the big leagues who have sought employment to shipyards and other war industries in preference to active military service "should be yanked into the army by the cost collars."

PROVIDENT ARMY said he had taken up the question with Charles M. Schwab, head of the nation's ship-building.

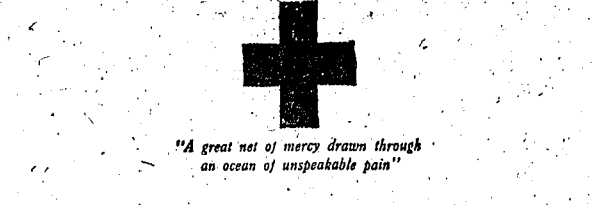

"Some American league has lost more than seventy players in the draft and through enlistment and promises to lose more, but it does not approve of players trying to get into the service," said Johnson. "Some of them apparently have been badly advised."

Joe Jackson is the latest to join the ranks of the ship workers. Joe "as a star outfielder" for the White Sox.

If You Were There Instead of Here

If you should see a French child—a tiny girl—sitting by the roadside, sobbing quietly because she is too weak from hunger to cry very loud, you would sell your watch to buy her breakfast.

If you should hear somewhere in the restless wards the low moan of an American soldier, you would gladly sit by him all night, if that would save his life.

You are not there, but here, where these sights and sounds are not brought home to you! But the Red Cross is there—and you can make it your representative!

Over there the Prussians are crucifying the incarnate Liberty of Man, and they are making the world black for little children!

The money you give to the Red Cross now will give you the right, when the Beast is beaten down, to think. "There are happy children, clear eyed women and strong men alive today, because my money went across!"

What are you going to do about it?

Every cent of every dollar received for the Red Cross War Fund goes for War Relief.
The American Red Cross is the largest and most efficient organization for the relief of suffering that the world has ever seen.
It is made up almost entirely of volunteer workers. The higher executives being without exception men accustomed to large affairs, who are in almost all cases giving their services without pay.
It is supported entirely by its membership fees and by voluntary contributions.
It is today bringing relief to suffering humanity, both military and civil, in every War-torn allied country. It plans tomorrow to help in the work of restoration throughout the world.

It feeds and clothes entire populations in times of great calamity.
It is there to help your soldier boy in his time of need.
With its thousands of workers, its tremendous stores and smooth running transportation facilities, it is serving as America's advance guard—and it's helping to win the war.
Congress subsidizes.
President Wilson backs it.
The War Department audits its accounts.
Your Army, your Navy and your Allies enthusiastically endorse it.
Twenty-two million Americans have joined it.

Soldiers Cheer For Dr. Henry Van Dyke

"Strong Theological Language" Used
"Lick Hezney, Then Treat Him Honey" Is His Motto.
GERAT LAKES, Ill., May 16.—Thousands of rocky soldiers here today cheered Dr. Henry Van Dyke wildly when he fired this parting shot at the Kaiser before he left for the Pacific coast.
"It's up to us to put the kibosh on the Kaiser. You don't simply want to win him, you want to mash him to a pulp, ball him down and then put him in a can afterwards."
"Strong theological language," the speaker termed it, and then told them to be sure and put the accent on the second syllable in referring to the "Fotadung gang."
"They wanted this war and plotted and laid, lick the enemy and when you have him licked treat him with humanity."

TODAY AND TOMORROW AT THE ORPHEUM

Fred Fordland, a talented young man of France, and a pleasing entertainer appearing in his own company of whistling imitations and monologues. Whistling as a fine art is something you know nothing about until you have heard Fordland whistle the Arls from Pagliacci while Casuso made famous with his voice. He also does a popular medley and sings many more songs and many 116-Ho imitations. One of the features of his act is Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever." He masters some of the most difficult musical compositions you can imagine. It is an act worthy of your consideration. The Hanley company, more attractive and versatile young ladies, make pleasing entertainment in a refined singing and dancing act.
Butler wrapper headquarters is at the TIMES office, where they will be printed at any time, in their form, like any other job.
